The numerous scenes that make up Southeastern State College and its students are as varied as the goals of each student. Yet, underneath the kaleidoscope of beauty, the purpose of the school—to serve others and prepare people for responsibilities—remains constant. In achieving this goal, the route to graduation passes through academic, cultural, and social experiences that are both easy to identify and beneficial to the student.

The campus, located near popular Lake Texoma, reflects a relaxed atmosphere as well as year-round beauty. Its huge magnolia trees, abundant over the entire main campus, have caused Southeastern to become known as the "Campus of 1000 Magnolias."

Students Seek Personal

Students' academic experiences are not limited to the classroom.

Student life at SE is climaxed by the donning of cap and gown.

Campus beauty is seen in the faces of students such as Susan Martin as well as in its popular magnolias.

SE's close student-faculty relationship is typified in a conversation between Vickie Baker and Dr. Dave Stevens.

Goals On "Campus Of 1000 Magnolias"

The architectural contrast between the library and administration buildings is evidence of long-time tradition as well as recent progress.

Rigid Standards Of Academic Excellence
Provide The Best Atmosphere
For Learning

Under the auspices of formal education, the search for knowledge and the pursuit of learning maintain only one standard—excellence.

To achieve such a standard, administrators, faculty members and students encourage an atmosphere conducive to learning. Growth of knowledge and skills is the natural result of this type of environment.

Modern technology and its mounting complexities offer great challenges to the students. They meet these challenges through classroom instruction, laboratory experiences, individual study and close contact with their instructors.

Karen Allen and Elizabeth Badger find laboratory experiences both fun and practical.

Individual study is easy for Martha Patterson, through the use of modern equipment.

Commencement speaker Charles Ward and President A. E. Shearer relax before the summer commencement exercises.

Complete Facilities Extend Opportunity

For Advancement

In keeping pace with this rapidly changing world, Southeastern constantly analyzes, evaluates, and updates its entire program.

Through complete and efficient facilities, a progressive administration, and a forward looking faculty, students are provided an opportunity for advancement which is unequalled.

In this way, students are prepared for service to themselves and to those they will come in contact with after graduation.

Taking advantage of one of the more than 70,000 books in the library, Bobby Willis finds an opportunity for quiet study among the stacks.

Art Club members Karen Frost, Elaine Chappel, and Jim Giacomo and sponsor Max McClendon gather materials for their homecoming float.

Sharon Brown gets practical experience in home economics lab;

Dr. Sally Leonard lectures to a beginning psychology class; and Ellen Ladd checks a test she is taking.

NAIA All-American baseballer Jim Holderfield awaits his turn at bat during a Southeastern game.

Track star Tommy McVay carries the baton in a relay race.

An opposing ball carrier is surrounded by Savage defenders in a typical football game.

Sports Give Students Special Rewards

Participation in sports requires moral as well as physical strength of the athletes. Long, hard hours of practice are required for a few short moments of glory. At the same time, cooperation, honesty, and acceptance of responsibility are to be gained by the dedicated student.

Southeastern's varsity sports include football, basketball, tennis, track, baseball, and golf. More than 600 students participate in intramural sports each semester.

The physical education facilities include football and baseball fields, tennis courts, gymnasium, track and indoor heated swimming pool.

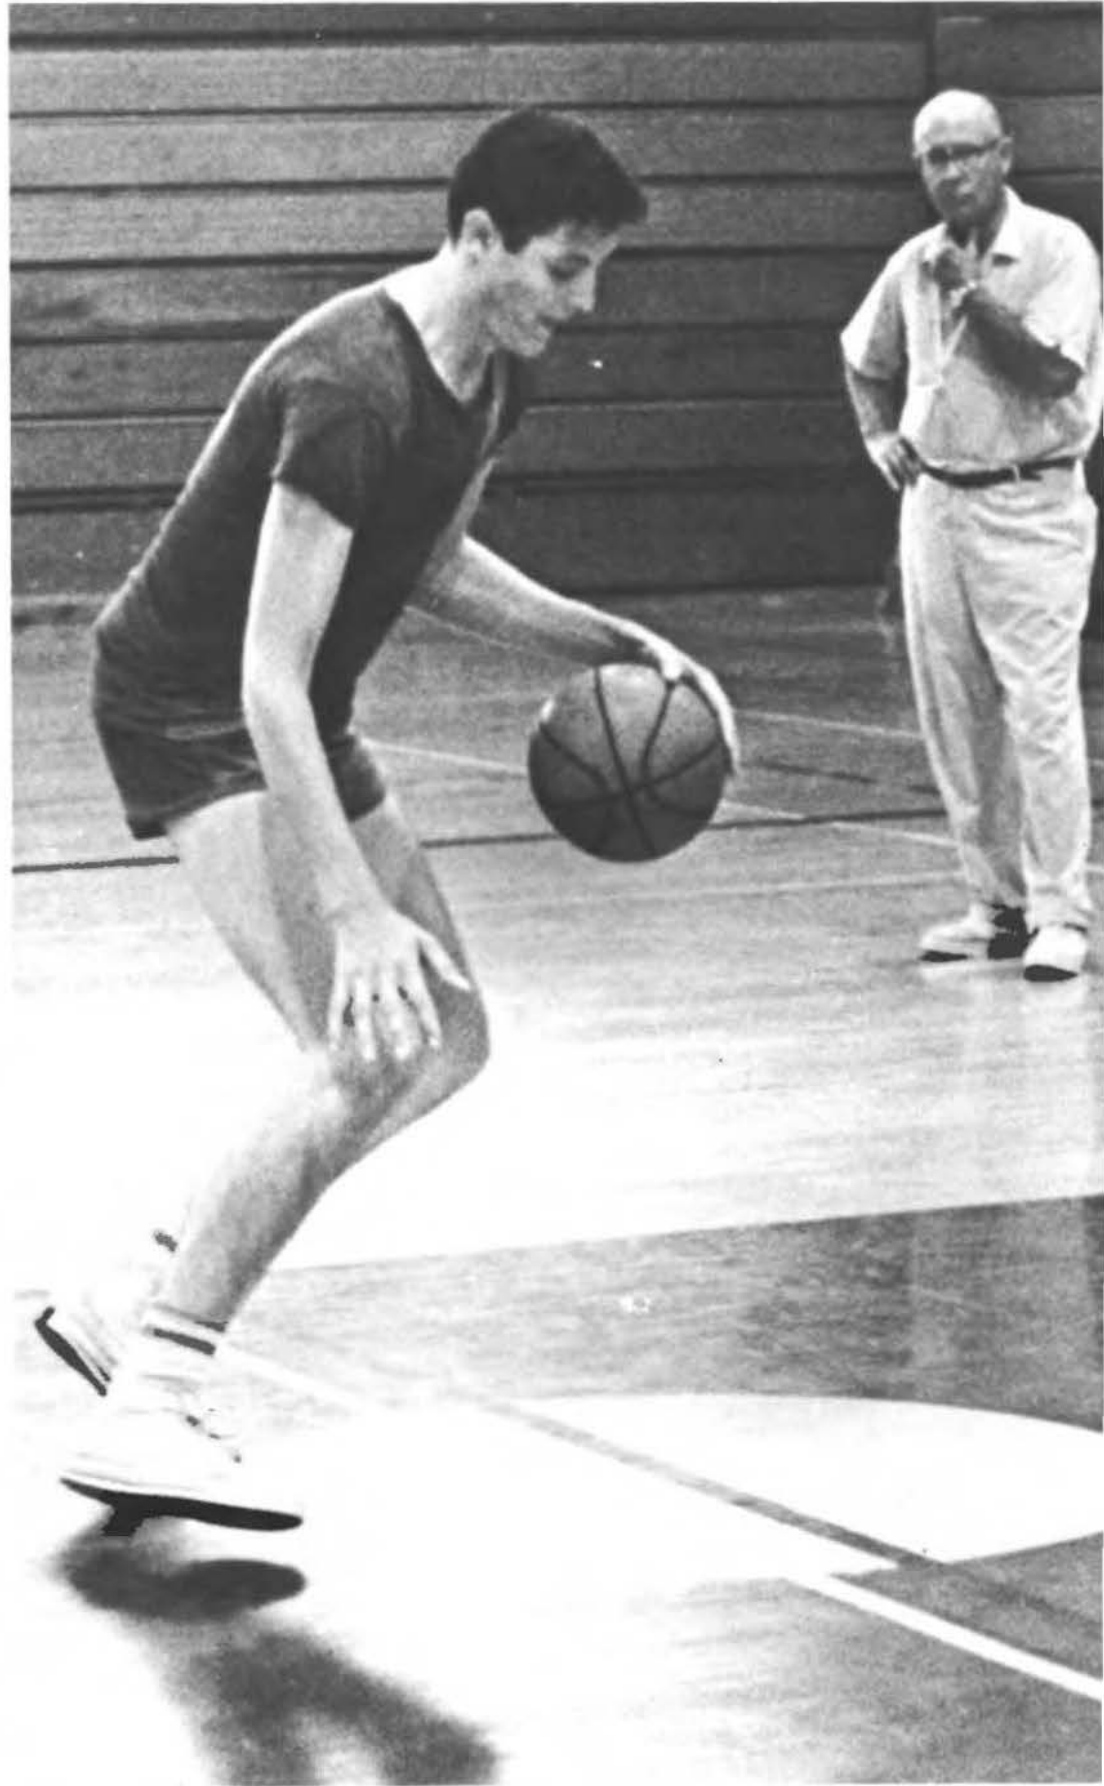

Students participate in bowling and gymnastics classes.

Intense concentration is reflected in the face of Curtis Richmond as he reaches for a low shot.

Each individual player is given close attention by Coach Bloomer Sullivan, as James Christanelli readily learns.

An integral part of any student's life is his need for self-expression. At Southeastern, this opportunity and many others are found. Under the watchful eye of the instructors known throughout the state for their teaching abilities, students can express themselves through painting, sculpture, vocal and instrumental music, drama, debate, and creative writing. Individual instruction is the rule rather than the exception, and the facilities for practice and performance are among the finest found anywhere.

Self-Expression Fosters

Art student Bo McCarver bends over his desk in an afternoon lab session.

Art major Quentin Thomas works patiently on a sculpture.

Southeastern's orchestra rehearses under the leadership of Kenneth Peters, director.

Major roles in the fall drama production were done by Richard Choate and Rita Smallcombe.

Cultural Opportunities For SE Students

Southeastern's popular Chorale rehearses under the direction of George Smith.

Students keep up with the latest trends at Monday night dances.

Active Social Scene

President Shearer and Linda Ranier participate in the student-faculty reception.

The annual homecoming dance is the biggest single event of the year.

Informal coffee shop gatherings are a popular campus activity.

Provides Release From Grind Of Study

Southeastern students, like those on any campus are active, fun-loving young people. They participate tirelessly in everything from dancing to dating. Parties sponsored by clubs and organizations are in abundance, and informal gatherings are mixed with the more formal teas and receptions. Annually such events as the homecoming festivities, Savage Scandals, and Beaux Arts Ball, give the student an opportunity to participate fully in many varied activities.

Six sororities and fraternities offer a full calendar of social events, and many organizations provide an opportunity for service as well as fun.

The favorite pastime for Judy Motley and Jack Lewis is just being together.

Two Southeastern coeds relax on one of Lake Texoma's beaches. The lake, located 12 miles west of the campus, is a popular place with students from late April until early November.

Profs Meet Students Outside Of Classroom

Southeastern State College is well-known for its outstanding student-faculty relationship. At Southeastern faculty members make certain they have opportunities to meet and get to know students outside the classroom, and students take advantage of the informal sessions to see their teachers someplace other than the sometimes stiff teaching situation. Faculty members entertain the students at the annual student-faculty reception each fall, and in their homes throughout the entire school year.

Crystal, candles, and flowers play a big part in a reception attended by student Linda Williamson, who is served by Mrs. Robert Ausley.

Fran Morrell, Joan Shackelford, and Jesse Hammil talk with Dr. Bernice Crockett at the Senior Reception. This yearly event honors graduating seniors.

Alpha Taus Barbara Clure and Shari Westbrooke entertain Cheri Yost and Helen Latimer at "Candyland."

Rush Week Highlights Pledging Activities

For three weeks near the beginning of each semester, the busiest and the most exciting times of the school year take precedence over all others. The climax of it all is Rush Week, when the three fraternities and three sororities at Southeastern welcome prospective members at numerous parties. The highlights of the men's rush are the rush banquet and bid house.

For the girls, it is more complicated. Activities include a tea, a style show, open house for each of the sororities, informal rush parties, formal preferential parties and bid house.

SSC rush is governed by the men's Interfraternity Council and by the women's Panhellenic Council.

Sigma Kappa members Donna Chastain and Paula Hawk explain their jewelry to rushees Gayla Miller and Nancy Lawton at the preferential party.

Rushees at the Delta Zeta informal rush party are told by Mary Frank about DZ in the Chinese atmosphere.

All three sororities took part in the Panhellenic Tea, which was held in the Ballroom.

Lambda Psi fraternity entertained rushees at Dunn's Steak House.

The Sigma Tau rush banquet was held at Texoma Lodge.

Teke Dreamgirl, Shirley Martin, pins a pledge ribbon on Billy Whisenhunt.

Student Senate's Annual Friendship Fire Ranks High As Favorite Campus Event

One of the favorite events of each new school year is the annual Friendship Fire. Sponsored by the Student Senate, the fire is held in the amphitheatre. Its impressive ceremony includes the lighting, by Indian students from Oklahoma Presbyterian Center, and the throwing of emblems into the fire by the two friendliest members of each campus organization.

The highlight of the evening comes with the presentation of the campus' friendliest boy and girl by President A. E. Shearer. The two friendliest are chosen in a campus-wide election the day of the fire.

President Shearer tosses his emblem into the fire. With him are John Lucas and Virginia Koontz.

John Lucas and Virginia Koontz were elected Friendliest Boy and Girl by popular vote of the student body.

The freshman class emblem is thrown into the fire by Cheryl Kilpatrick and Ronnie Tipps.

Chorale Sings At NY World's Fair

Southeastern has always had reason to be proud of its college chorale. This year in particular, however, the chorale has outdone itself. The chorale, on invitation of the Oklahoma World Fair Committee, traveled by plane to New York and performed twice a day during its four-day stay at the Fair.

The singers, picked by director George Smith from the larger SSC chorale, worked all summer in their hometowns to raise funds for the trip. Lyeva Engelman, vocal music instructor, also accompanied the group.

While in New York, the group also took a boat tour around Manhattan Island, and sandwiched in downtown trips as well.

Topping the whole trip off was the unexpected invitation of Representative Carl Albert to sing on the capitol steps in Washington, D.C. and to be his guests for a luncheon in the new Sam Rayburn Building. The group met and sang for Speaker of the House John McCormack and watched sessions of the senate and house in action.

Speaker of the House John McCormack talks to the group, as Representative Carl Albert looks on.

Just one of the many exciting sights seen by Chorale members was the famous Unisphere, giant symbol of the World's Fair.

The Southeastern group posed for pictures as they were given the traditional Hawaii welcome upon their arrival in the state.

Social Science Students Tour Hawaii

Each summer, Southeastern's social science department sponsors a geography tour to some far distant place. In 1964 the group went to Mexico. Last summer a group, under the direction of Dr. Louis Johnson, toured the western region of the United States, and Hawaii. The annual tours, for which participants may receive college credit, take care of transportation, food, lodging, guided tours, and many incidental expenses as well.

Three tour members have fun during the stop at the Grand Canyon.

A main attraction at the famous Disneyland is the castle in Fantasyland.

One of the tour members photographed this scene in Hawaii.

Voters Elect School's 10 Pretty Girls

Each year Cardinal Key, national women's honorary fraternity, sponsors the election of Southeastern's Ten Pretty Girls. Anyone enrolled as a student is given the opportunity, in an open election, to nominate ten girls for the honor. The 20 girls receiving the most votes are then presented as finalists at an assembly in which they are seen in informal dress, as well as semi-formal dress. SSC students, after seeing the girls on the stage, again vote for their choice of the ten prettiest. The ten girls who receive the most votes are then presented on "Southeastern Speaks", seen on KXII-TV. The ten winners automatically become the candidates for queen of "The Savage", college yearbook.

Katie Frank Slack, hostess, presents Suzanne Reynolds, Sally Rossman, and Chele Phillips "on vacation".

Popular singing group, "The Balladiers", furnished entertainment for the assembly.

Charles Kerr had the job of carrying the ballot box in for the voting.

Cardinal Key members (clockwise) Linda Edwards, Madonna Riotte, Parry Criswell, Sylvia Needham, and Marcia Ausley counted the ballots.

"Oklahoma Under the Confederate Flag" won first-place honors for Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity.

Sigma Tau Entry Judged Best Float

Southeastern's Homecoming Day festivities got under way officially at 11 a.m. October 23, with the beginning of the Homecoming Parade through downtown Durant. The parade, which had a record number of entries, featured units from every fraternity and sorority on campus, as well as other campus organizations. Southeastern's band participated in the parade, as did bands from several nearby high schools. Several Durant civic clubs also entered units in the parade.

An unexpected bit of excitement came when one of the floats in the parade caught fire. The blaze was quickly extinguished, however, before anyone was injured.

Honored guests for the 1965 Homecoming were members of the graduating class of 1915. Six of the members of that class returned to the campus for the event, and they also rode as a group in the parade. Immediately following the parade, all former Southeastern students were guests at an alumni banquet.

The Art Club float, "Oklahoma Under the Mexican Flag", took second-place honors.

Members of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity were surprised when their float caught fire. The blaze, caused by loose firecrackers used to fire the cannon, spread rapidly, but did not injure any spectators or parade participants.

Spectators moved quickly out of the way as the burning float made its way down the street.

Lawrence Bannowsky and Rodney Avant were two of the College Players members who acted as clowns throughout the Homecoming Parade.

Linda Zavodny, "O Club Babe", represented the group in the parade.

Southeastern's majorettes lead the band through the parade route.

Ceremonies Honor Football Queen At Annual Homecoming Celebration

Homecoming attendants Cheryl Peters and Kelly McCorkle, and Southeastern majorette Betty Stoddard wait patiently during the Homecoming day half-time ceremonies.

October 23 was the long-awaited date for the annual Homecoming Day festivities at Southeastern. The highlight of the day came at half-time of the game between Southeastern and Southwestern. It was at this time that Chele Phillips was crowned Homecoming Queen, and began her official reign over the remaining activities.

Chele was chosen Queen by the Savage football team over two other candidates, Becky Parmley and Sharon Brown.

Queen Chele was crowned by game tri-captain Jim Forbes before a stadium packed with fans.

Attendants to the Queen were Cheryl Peters and Kelly McCorkle.

Homecoming Queen candidates smile for the camera as their car comes to a halt before the start of the ceremonies. Neither of the candidates, Becky Parmley, Chele Phillips, nor Sharon Brown, knew the name of the winner.

Surprised and happy, Chele Phillips is crowned Homecoming Queen by game captain Jim Forbes.

One of the most exciting moments of the entire Homecoming Day festivities finds Queen candidates Becky Parmley, Chele Phillips, and Sharon Brown, calmly awaiting time to go on to the field.

Oklahoma Presbyterian Center Gets New All-Electric Kitchen Facilities

Barbara White, new O. P. C. public relations director, points out some of its features. As a result of her work, the center now has its largest enrollment in recent years.

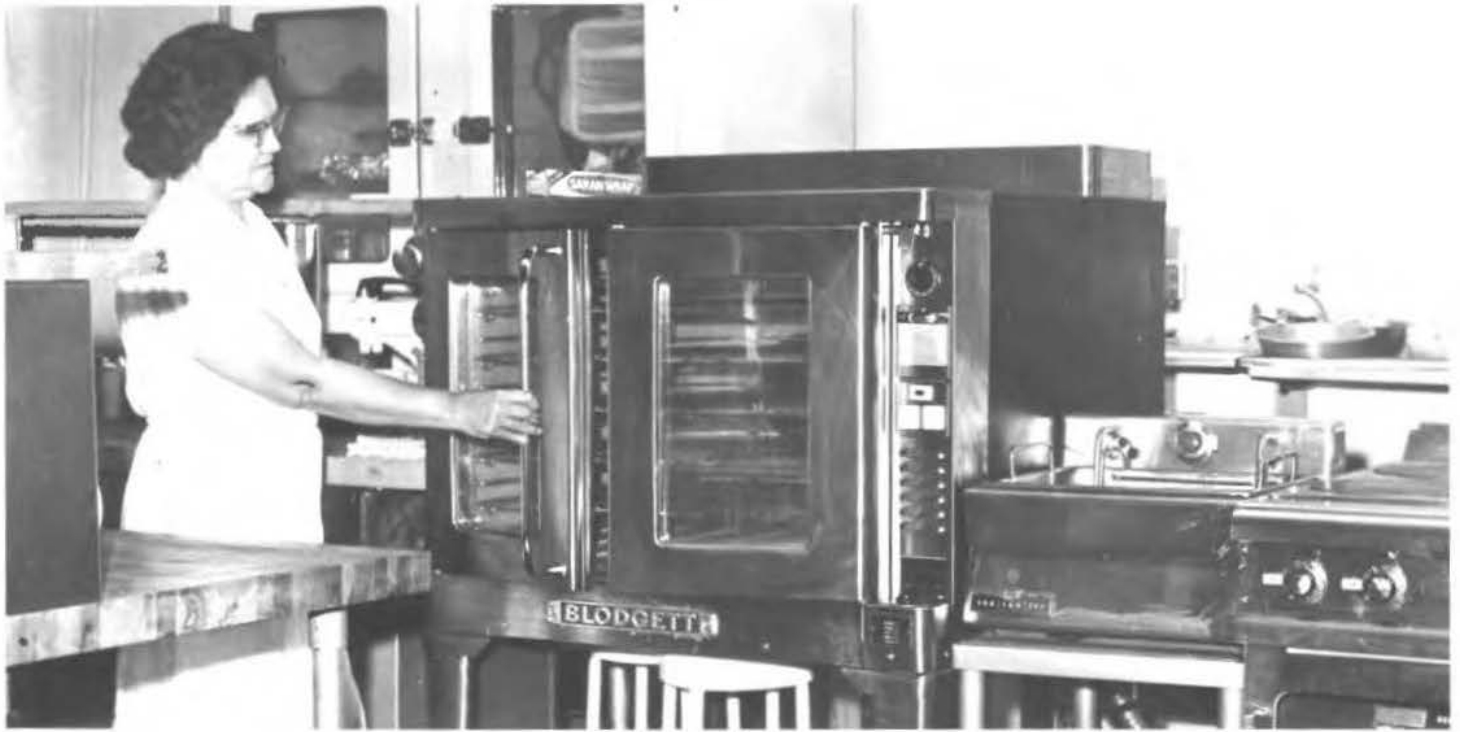

Oklahoma Presbyterian Center had two new additions this year which added to the increasing prominence of the institution. Working in close conjunction with Southeastern, the center is active in Indian education affairs, and provides dormitory facilities for many foreign students.

The Shepherd Foundation of Oklahoma City once again indicated its support of the center by providing funds for a new $5,000 all-electric kitchen. This was in addition to new furniture and lounge facilities provided for O. P. C. in 1964.

Barbara White has been added to the O. P. C. staff as a full-time public relations director. After graduating from SSC last year, she began work immediately.

Informal is the word for the atmosphere at Oklahoma Presbyterian Center, as indicated by the relaxed attitudes of four of its students on their way to class.

One of the members of the O. P. C. kitchen staff demonstrates a new oven, part of $5,000 worth of new equipment.

Two O. P. C. students take advantage of reading room facilities during a break from classes at Southeastern.

Lola Elliot, one of O. P. C.'s many students, shows a scrapbook to the Shepherd sisters, heads of the Foundation which helps support the center.

Becky Gilbert, SSC freshman, finds that tasks such as rolling her hair are a necessity no matter where she lives.

The piano in Hallie McKinney Hall lounge provides many enjoyable moments, as experienced by Don Woodruff, Paula Goode, and their friends.

Dorm Life Provides Students With Surroundings That Permit Study And Recreation

As varied as the backgrounds of the residents is life in the dormitory at Southeastern. Students whose parents are doctors or lawyers and students whose parents are school teachers or grocery clerks always find plenty of activity, both in the fields of study and recreation.

North Hall residence for upperclass women is the newest addition to SSC dorm facilities. Completed in 1964, this was the second full year of occupancy there. It is fully air-conditioned, and features beautiful modern furnishings and lounge. Mrs. Alpha Moore is the housemother and officers are Carleen Wilson, Judy Motley, Jeanne Burger, Eleanor Bramlett.

Hallie McKinney Hall houses over 300 freshman and sophomore women. It features a large main lounge, meeting rooms, and several T. V. lounges. Housemother is Mrs. Eunice Aaron, and Paula Goode, Betty Chapman, and Sue Henson are the officers.

Bill Shields serves as president of Shearer Hall, men's dormitory which houses approximately 300 men. Ed Gross is the vice-president and student senate representative is Bill Brunson.

Southeastern's athletic residence is the Old Men's Dormitory. This dorm houses approximately 35 men on athletic scholarships. Officers are Tommy McVay, Donnie McVay, and Jim Forbes.

Whether typing, adjusting make-up, or studying for a test, vital activities are made easier for Judy Harrell, Diane Crowover, and Kathy Hull in their attractive HMH room.

Dominoes is a favorite form of recreation in the Old Men's Dormitory. Residents Howard Davis, Gary Jones, Donnie McVay, and Eddie Cruzan enjoy it thoroughly.

Shearer Hall residents Carl Steklenburg and Harlin Gustir take a study break to catch up on the day's news.

Studying is easier in North Hall, too, where excellent lighting and comfortable furnishings provide the proper atmosphere for residents Shirley Greenroyd and Sharon Brown.

Commuters Form Mobile Portion Of Campus Community

A large part of Southeastern's student body is made up of students who drive to classes from as near as Durant, and as far as Ardmore. Several students drive a total of 140 miles three days a week. These students make up a very important part of the student body.

A commuter, in addition to academic worries, must concern himself with close concern over gasoline mileage, flat tires, rigid time schedules, and sometimes baby-sitters. In addition to commuting to homes, several Southeastern students commute to jobs.

Commuters Mary Frank and Joan Impson get in some last minute studying before class.

Georgia Gray of Bokchito finds that accidents like this are often a part of commuting.

Classes over, Charles Hoffman prepares to depart for home—Denison, Texas.

Max Mabry comes home from his job as campus barber, only to be given a broom and apron by wife Ginger.

"Just one of the luxuries of married life!" says Max.

College life is not all classes and studying, as Southeastern's many married students have learned. For them, college life also includes housekeeping, holding a part-time job, and, for some, babysitting. These things are made easier, however, for those students who wish to take advantage of the housing facilities provided by the college. Vet Village provides low-cost housing for students on a budget, and is located less than a block from the main campus. While the new married students' housing is located a little farther from the main campus, it offers the added conveniences of newer and more modern equipment. And, for those who like to live off campus, there are numerous houses and apartments located near the campus which are owned and operated by Durant citizens.

Married Students Live With Household Chores

A man's home is his castle, and Ginger's meals are always fit for a king—or husband Max.

Helen Lowrance readily sees that spouse James has found the perfect end to a long day.

Marvin Hudgens and John quarrel over the affections of Barbara Allen, to the obvious surprise of the townspeople. Marvin is played by Butch Denton, Barbara by Rita Smallcombe, and John by Richard Choate.

Speech Department Presents 3-Act Fantasy, "Dark Of The Moon"

Uncle Smelicue, portrayed by Duane Blair, provided many a light note for the audiences.

"Hit allus makes me wanna cry!" Miss Metcalf tells Barbara, as Mrs. Summey disapproves. The three characters are portrayed by Rita Smallcombe, Patricia Kelley, and Billye Brewer.

The moon provides the background for the Dark Witch and Fair Witch as they sit high on top of Baldy Mountain.

November 11-12 were the production dates for "Dark of the Moon", a three-act fantasy presented by the speech department, under the direction of Billye Sue Harmon. The play, with a cast of 29, was a big hit with audiences. The theatre-goers were treated to the antics of witches and mountain folk, as well as a poignant love story. The play was written by Howard Richardson and William Renney, and based on the Ballad of Barbara Allen.

Cheerleaders Guide School Spirit At Southeastern

Southeastern's cheerleaders are among the most spirited and active students on campus. With them lies the responsibility of fostering school spirit in as many ways as they can. The six girls are chosen on the basis of cheerleading ability, poise, and personality. Each year they must try out in a public tryout session, and before a panel of five judges, chosen from faculty members. They have then from one to two weeks to prepare a repertoire of cheers, chants, and yells to be used at all football and basketball games, and at pep rallies.

Alpha Taus Capture Ball Sweepstakes

Alpha Sigma Tau sorority swept the 1965 Beaux Arts Ball by capturing the prize for First Place in the Sweepstakes contest, or having the most total points. The annual event which is sponsored by the Art Club, had as its theme "Great Men and Women." The Alpha Taus, on their way to sweepstakes honors, took first place in the skits, and best over-all participation as a group. Alpha Tau Patricia Kelley was named best actress, and the group had the most members in costume. Second place in the sweepstakes went to Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity, and third place to Sigma Kappa Sorority. Individual winners in the Ball contest were Sue Henson and Johnny Coble, best couple costumes; Dan Dever, best male costume; Virginia Koontz, best female costume; and Jim Forbes, best male actor. Honors in the mural competition went to Li Tsu Chien and Dorothy Bryant.

Sharon Tucker and Luke Jackson were chosen King and Queen of the Beaux Arts Ball.

First place in the abstract division went to LiTsu Chien for her mural, "Dr. Schweitzer."

Sigma Kappa sorority won first place in the skit division for their portrayal of "Goldilocks and the Three Bears."

Dorothy Bryant took first place in the realistic division with her mural entitled "Mr. & Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt."

Sadie Hawkins Week Relieves Strain On Males' Pocketbooks

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to love, and to thoughts of Sadie Hawkins Week. The strain on his pocketbook is somewhat relieved by a charming, though somewhat persistent young lady. Dear Miss Jones,

In asking the United States Air Force Thunderbirds to select the yearbook queen of Southeastern State College, you presented us with a difficult task, indeed, though a most pleasant one.

Each of the ten candidates is lovely and a credit to your College, each, we are sure, could ably represent you as yearbook queen. We wish you had allowed us to choose them all. After much deliberation, however, our choices are as follows:

Queen: Miss Henson
First Runner-Up: Miss Wood
Second Runner-up: Miss Baker

We are most happy you asked us to participate and join in sending our very best wishes to you, the contestants and the student body of Southeastern State College.

Sincerely,

Thirty-four outstanding Southeastern students were selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Thirty-two were seniors.

Students are nominated by faculty members and students belonging to campus organizations. The list of nominees are then submitted to a faculty committee that makes the final selection on the basis of scholarship, leadership, citizenship, character, and extracurricular achievement.

The final selection is sent to the national Who's Who association to be approved. Each college and university across the nation is assigned a quota large enough to adequately represent definite areas of study.

ORGANIZATIONS

PRESIDING OFFICERS OF STUDENT SENATE ARE: Linda Zavodny, Secretary; Luther Teel, President; and Jack Lewis, Vice-president.

Student Senate

Student Senate was established as a link between the student body and the administration.

The Senate for the year 1965-66 set up activities for all students. On the agenda first was the Friendship Fire held in the early fall. Later, Homecoming activities were planned for the benefit of the entire student body. Also, pep rallies and dances after home games were held.

Delegates Sue Henson, Karen Moss, Jack Lewis, and Ken Roblyer were sent to a Leadership Conference in Oklahoma City in the late fall. New ideas were acquired at this conference for the betterment of the student body.

"Operation Merry Christmas" was a main event sponsored by the Senate. All organizations on campus gathered materials to be sent from Southeastern's campus to GIs in Viet Nam.

In the spring, a bus for students was chartered to the OBU basketball game. Dr. Shearer, Southeastern president, attended a meeting to present a Bible to the Senate. Other plans made by the Senate included Sadie Hawkins Day, Scandals, and Parents' Day.

Senior representatives, Ed Hanlon and Shari Westbrooke discuss a problem with sophomore representative, Mike Collier.

Dorm representatives, Eleanor Bramlett of North Hall; Joe Christie, OPC; Bill Brunson, Shearer Hall; and Sue Henson, Hallie McKinney Hall, find that problems of the same manner arise in each dorm.

Junior representatives, Pauline Martin and Mark Wilson, give new ideas on a thought to sophomore representative, Karen Templeton, and freshman representative, Karen Moss.

Sponsors of Student Senate: Dr. Bertha Treadaway, Dr. John Krattiger, and Miss Katie Slack are available at all times for consultation with members.

Presidents Club

Luther Teel works with Dr. A. E. Shearer in the discussing of campus problems.

Presidents Club is composed of the presidents of all campus organizations. Its goals are to promote a closer contact between students and the administration and to work together on campus projects.

Last fall the Presidents Club initiated a "Keep Southeastern Clean" campaign, in which all groups were asked to participate.

Luther Teel, President of Student Senate, is the presiding officer. Other student officers are Jack Lewis, vice-president, and Linda Zavodny, secretary. Dr. A. E. Shearer, President of Southeastern, is sponsor of the group.

Boule

Boule Stunt Night winners were the Sigma Kappa pledges.

Boule is a local secret organization which was established in 1921 to promote the interests of the college.

Based primarily on service, Boule encourages membership to any student who expresses an interest in promoting Southeastern State College.

Boule officers and the sponsor are president, Mike Morgan, vice-president Paula Hauk and Marcia Ausley secretary. Sponsor is Mr. Ausley.

Betty Stoddard, Linda Zavodny, Dean Slack, Jeanne Burger, Marcia Ausley, Linda Holderfield, and Madonna Riotte.

Cardinal Key

Cardinal Key is open to Junior and Senior women distinguished in leadership, service, and scholarship.

Members, active in all phases of college life, sponsor the Ten Pretty Girls competition, assist with candle-lighting services, and promote other campus projects.

President of Cardinal Key is Madonna Riotte and Katie Frank Slack, dean of women, is the sponsor.

Phi Beta Lambda

Phi Beta Lambda, formed during the current school year, has quickly grown into one of the largest organizations at Southeastern State. The group organized to promote the special interests of business students. Chapter representatives from Oklahoma University came to Durant to install the Southeastern chapter.

Installation of the Southeastern chapter officers was made by the Oklahoma University chapter. Installed as reporter was Karen Allen, Charles Hoffman as president and Leslie Akers as vice-president.

Pi Omega Pi

Putting up a poster on the Pi Omega Pi Bulletin Board are Patty Criswell and Luther Teel.

Pi Omega Pi, a National Business Teacher Education Honor Society, is open to both men and women majoring in business education. Students are elected to membership because of their superior standing in all business studies and distinguished leadership on the campus.

The chapter tries to send at least two delegates to the National Convention every two years. Their main money-raising project is selling Christmas cards each year. Another activity of the group is their annual trip to two or three business firms in Dallas each spring.

Local officers of Pi Omega Pi are: Patty Criswell, President; Charles Bennett, Vice-President; Marcia Ausley, Secretary; Ronald Stanley, Treasurer; and Cathryn Wright, Sponsor.

Pi Kappa Delta

MEMBERS OF PI KAPPA DELTA ARE: seated—Larry Fisher, Ann Atchley, C. W. Mangrum, Paul Westbrook. Standing—Patricia Kelly, Jim Spangler, Jeanne Burger, and Judy Barlow.

Alpha Psi Omega

MEMBERS OF ALPHA PSI OMEGA ARE: Patricia Kelley, Jeanne Burger, Shari Westbrooke, Raymond Pillar, Sue Harris, Rita Smallcombe, Billye Sue Harmon, Linda McGee, Lee Ann Sprinkle, Duane Blair, Butch Denton, Richard Choate, C. W. Mangrum.

Members of Alpha Psi Omega must experience an apprenticeship in Southeastern dramatic productions. They work in lighting, set, script, and stage management as well as acting techniques.

Several members are also active in sister activities such as debate, public speaking, etc.

One of the most talented organizations on campus, Alpha Psi Omega members are frequently called on for entertaining assignments. Billye Sue Harmon, drama instructor, is sponsor.

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity, is known for its outstanding services to the student body and faculty, to the members of the fraternity, to the youth of our community, and to the nation as participating citizens.

Kappa Zeta Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega is fulfilling these responsibilities by participating in such activities as the Cerebral Palsy Fund Raising Drive, homecoming games and parades, intramural meets, and the Savage Forensics.

In the fall APO selected their sweetheart. Elected for this honor was Miss Ola Faye Diggs, a junior from Bokchito.

Sigma Tau Delta

MEMBERS OF SIGMA TAU DELTA ARE: Mrs. Dora Grace, Carolyn Harris, Carol Nelson, Judith Steakley, Rita Griffin, Juanita Stockton, Terry Phelps, Wayne Pounds. Seated are: Raymond Piller, Bo McCarver, and Dr. Robert Cowser.

Sigma Tau Delta is a national English fraternity offering a stimulus to students of Southeastern who do creative writing.

In the past years, the organization has sponsored the appearance of several men of letters. Such men as Carl Sandburg, John Ciardi, John Gould Fletcher, John Joseph Matthews, and others have been on campus.

The Sigma Tau Delta Award, established in honor of Mrs. Floy Perkinson Gates, founder and former sponsor of Tau Beta chapter at Southeastern, is given each spring to a selected English major.

For the past two years, Sigma Tau Delta has sponsored and published the literary yearbook, Insights, of creative writing.

ART CLUB MEMBERS ARE: Sherlene Whatley, Sue Henson, Jo Dean Emerson, Lea Dillard, Judy Curwen, Sandra Borden-kecher. Standing—Kelly Shelton, Miss Baker, Beth Doxsee, Mary Brimmager, Faye Lockwood, Susan Foote, Karen Frost, Elaine Chappel, Jane Seeley, and Linda Anderson. Mr. McClendon, Ronald Jackson, John Mabry, Bo McCarver, Jim Giacomo, Charles Teel, Pete Gustin, and Howard Bond.

Art Club

The Southeastern Art Club is active throughout the year, and few important events take place on the campus without its participation.

The Beaux Arts Ball is the principle event of the year which the club sponsors. Members also enter a float in the home-coming parade, plan and design decorations and sets for the annual Candlelighting service, assist and present the individual and group exhibits, and present the Christmas Nativity Scene.

During 1965-66, Charles Teel was club president, Ronald Jackson vice-president, Mary Brimmager secretary-treasurer, Karen Frost reporter, Elaine Chappel historian, and Minnie Baker and Max J. McClendon are faculty advisors.

Art Club pledge Sue Henson goes through final initiation as members look on.

The SSC Biology Club had its beginning the fall semester of 1965.

The purpose of the club is to promote an interest in biology and to promote friendship.

The officers selected for the year are Robert Carrell president, Alfred Nelson vice-president, and Jimmie Maynard as secretary-treasurer.

Pauline Martin finds biology both interesting and challenging as she prepares to take a closer look at a cat.

W. Mangrum, and Richard Choate.

College Players

College Players is an organization of students interested in speech and drama. The group meets each month to hear programs of the dramatic arts presented by its members. College Players helps present plays and programs for the public and for private organizations. The College Players clowns have become a favorite in the annual Homecoming parade. The organization is sponsored by Billye Sue Harmon, and its officers include:

President—Patricia Kelley
 V. President—Butch Denton
 Secretary—Judy Barlow
 Publicity Chairman—Sue Harrison

College Players, Lee Ann Sprinkle, Rita Smallcombe, Judy Barlow, and C. W. Mangrum, have a chance to relax and talk about the problems confronting a speaker.

Students dance to sounds of "Just Us Five" from Dallas.

Disc Jockey

Disc Jockey is a social dance club whose aim is to promote a better inter-college relation through the sounds of music and dancing.

Guest bands for the regular Monday night dance have included "The Scepters", a local campus group; "The Others"; "The Durantes"; and from Dallas "Just Us Five" entertained for the Christmas Dance.

Officers for first semester were John Lucas, president; Diane McCain Wake, secretary; and Ken Robyler, v. president. Second semester officers include Charlie Green, president; and Janice Young, secretary.

First semester president John Lucas relaxes before the regular Monday night DJ.

Karate Club member Richard Choate delivers a flying kick during a workout session on the Southeastern campus.

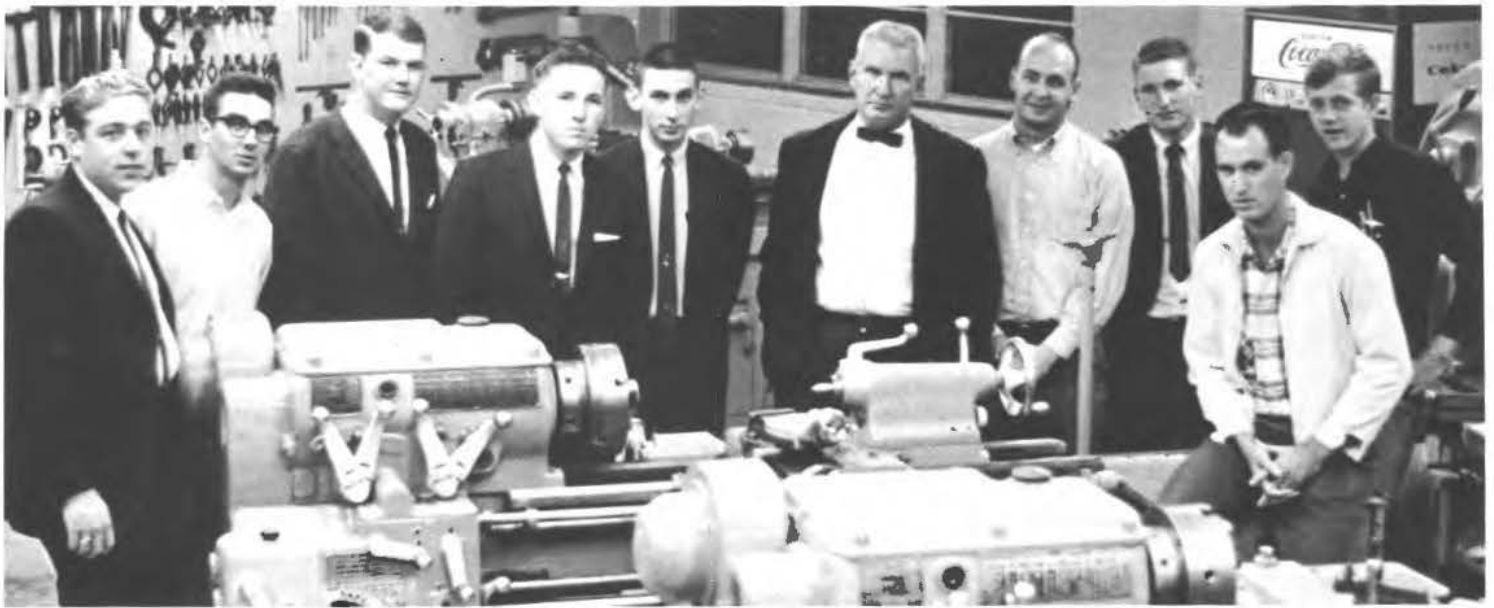

Eddie Fung is president and instructor of the fledgling organization.

KARATE CLUB MEMBERS ARE: Charles Baxter, Jane Seeley, Brenda Holden, Donald Henson, Richard DeVilliers, Richard Choate, John Holt, and Eddie Fung.

Industrial Arts Club

Ellis Anderson and John Shoemake, Industrial Arts Club officers, inspect a piece of equipment with Harold Lynn, faculty sponsor.

French Club

The newly organized French Club serves an extra-curricular need for both students and faculty interested in the French-speaking peoples and their culture. Many students studying French join for the practice they gain in the use of their new language skill and to learn of other areas in which such a skill may be applied, such as European travel and French pen pals. To meet the club's goal of promoting interest in things French—the people, language, and culture—each meeting is specially designed to be both educational and enjoyable.

One of the highlights of the year was the Christmas meeting held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wade Baskin, club sponsors. The meeting was opened by the special roll call to which members answer in French—this time with the name of an object wanted for Christmas. Special guests spoke to the group. Mrs. Lyeve Engelman and Mrs. Ridgeway spoke concerning music and the country of France respectively.

Officers of French Club are: Larry Childs, parliamentarian; Joann Freeman, V. president; Betty Robertson, secretary-treasurer; Barbara DeBerry, president; Cathryn Kovaciny, reporter; and Dr. Wade Baskin, sponsor.

Spanish Club

Spanish club members enjoy the weekly luncheon in the cafeteria. They are: Juanita Stockton, James Gibson, John McCoy, and Eddie Fung.

Organizing this year, the Spanish Club has become one of the most lively, active groups on campus. Club members meet weekly in the cafeteria—and only Spanish may be spoken at the table.

The club has hosted visitors from Mexico and treated them to performances of the Mexican Hat Dance—complete with costumes and pinatas. Norma Ruth Harvey sponsors the organization.

Young Democrats

Young Democrats Club is an organization with a primary interest in politics and the history of politics.

This year—as in the past years—men of major importance in the Oklahoma Democratic party have visited the Southeastern campus. Former governor Raymond Gary was on campus to speak to YDC and give some ideas concerning politics to upcoming voters.

Other dignitaries of the Democratic party who visited Southeastern include Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman; House Majority Leader, Carl Albert; Oklahoma Senator, Fred Harris, and State Senator, John Massey.

Senator Fred Harris was the guest speaker of the Young Democrats Club.

MENC members relax in the music lounge. They are: seated—Sylvia Hounsell, Karen Axton, Susie Hutchison, and Mary Sue Jackson. Standing—Phil Haggard, Dr. Mansur, and Jerry Harrison.

M.E.N.C.

The student chapter of the Music Educators National Conference was organized to provide the education and practical experience music majors and minors through chapter-sponsored professional programs and activities.

The chapter is also affiliated with the Oklahoma Music Educators Association. Student members receive professional music journals and participate in district, state, and national music education activities.

Magic Pentagon

Magic Pentagon is the result of the desire of students of Southeastern to become better acquainted with great scientists and mathematicians, and the problems faced by them.

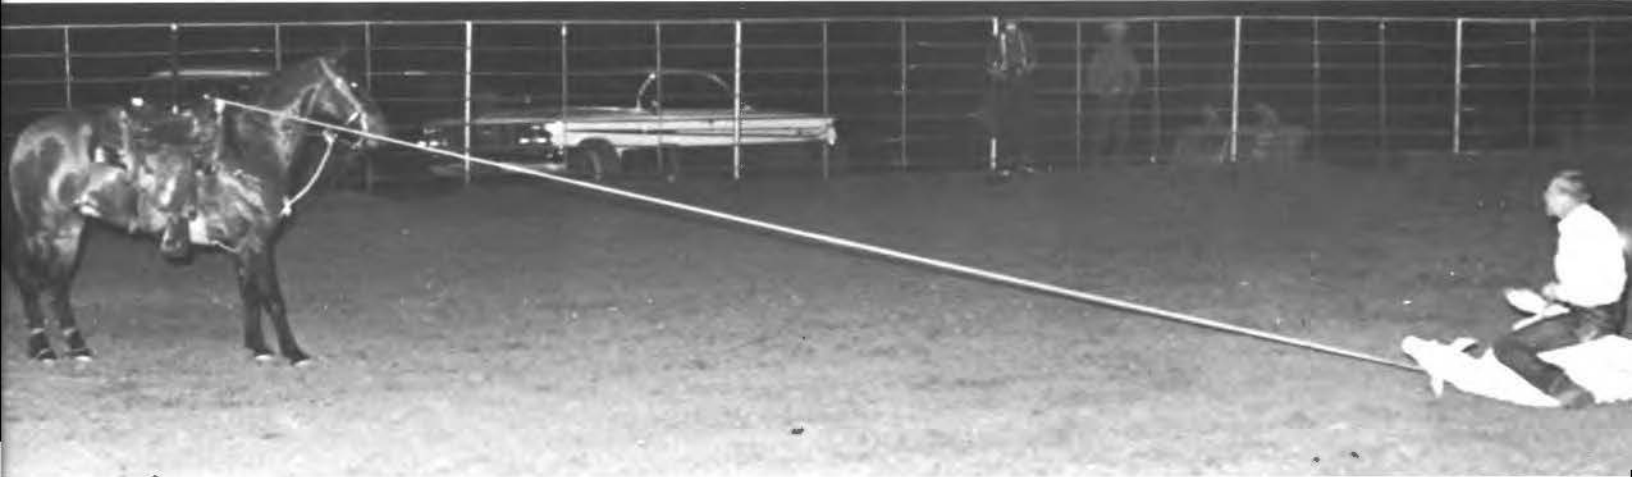

In addition to regular meeting, it is the policy of the club to have at least one social meeting each semester. Plans were made for a Bar-b-que to end the spring semester.

Officers seated are: Charlotte Murphy; Sue Hasting, president; R. W. Harkey; and Caroline George. Standing are: Mike Morgan and Allan Barker.

MEMBERS OF THE RODEO CLUB ARE: Linda McManus, Susan Akeins, Monnie Mullens, Judy Hawkins, Jane Seeley, Glenda Crenshaw, Max Yarbrough, Barbara Parker, Ronnie Poindexter, Bob Thomason, Carol Jean Wood, Lynn Daughtery, Doug Crain, Brenda Holder, Benny Childers, Cavid Cofer, Jim Holderfield, and Danny Ramsey.

Calf roping and bronc riding are tops with Rodeo Club members.

Little "D" Rodeo Club

Southeastern's Little "D" Rodeo Club draws together students who are interested in the West's top form of recreation. In the late spring Southeastern club members sponsor one of the top rodeo events in southern Oklahoma—the Little "D" Rodeo.

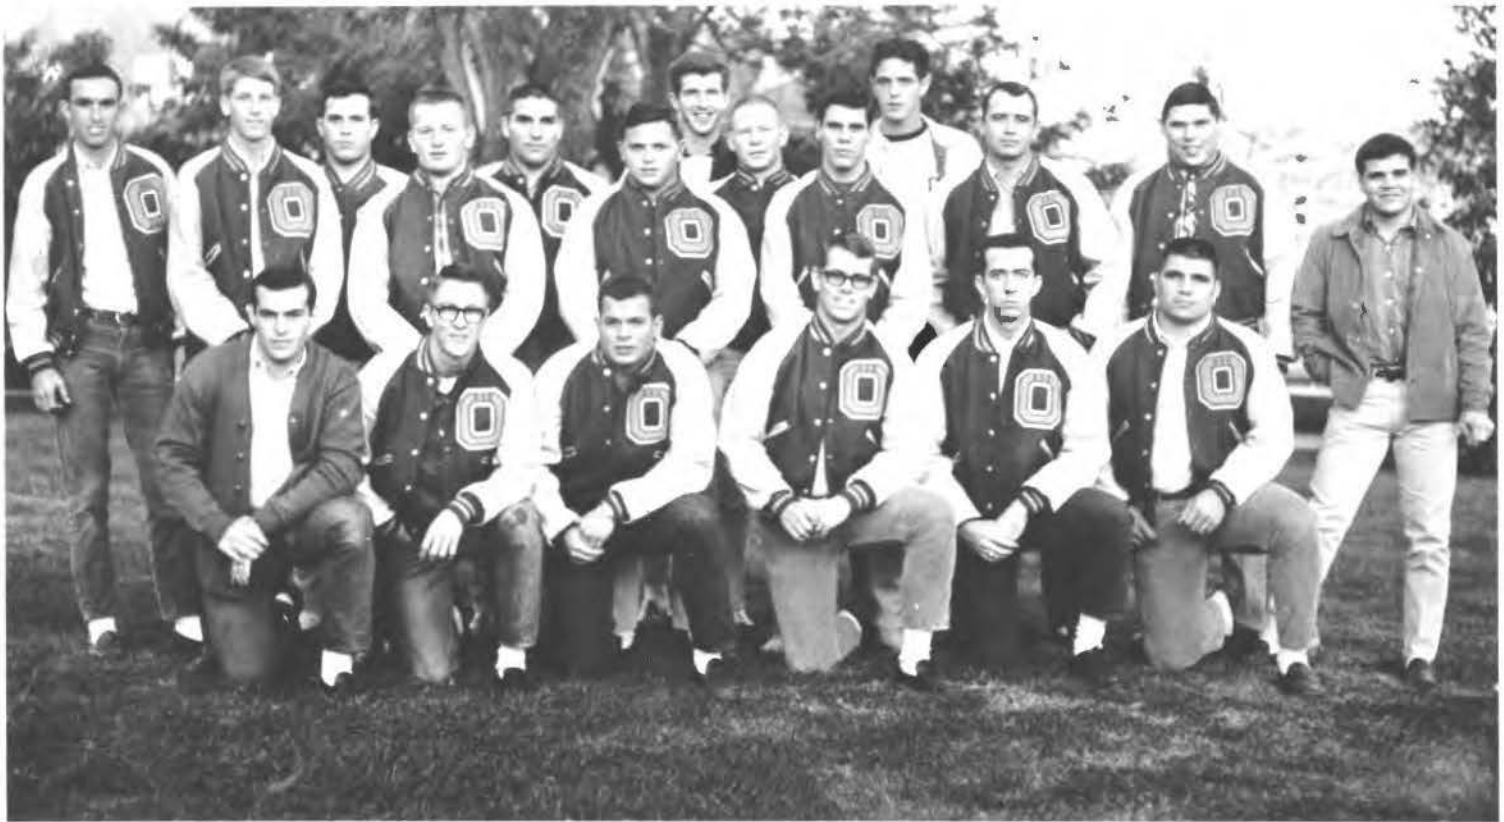

Varsity "O" Club

The "O" Club at Southeastern is an organization for varsity athletes who have lettered in at least one sport. The club, often referred to as the lettermen's club, sponsors social events for its members and is active in its support of pep rallies.

Each year, the "O" Club elects a coed as the "O" Club Babe and honors her at athletic and social activities throughout the year. The group selected Linda Zavodny, Perry senior, to reign as the honoree during the 1965-66 school year. The club is notorious for its tough initiation procedure that includes "head shaving" and "paddling" as a part of the procedure for membership.

"O" Club officers: Jimmy Forbes, sergeant-at-arms; Joe Lewis, secretary; Carl Melson; and Charlie Barnhart, president.

Savagettes

The girls' pep organization, known as the Savagettes, was founded in 1952 to promote school spirit. Its members actively support football, basketball, and other varsity sports.

The Savagettes is headed by Paula Hawk as president, with Paula Goode as vice-president, and Leslie Akers secretary.

Dr. Bertha May Treadaway is the sponsor.

A surprised Gary Jones was announced during the fall semester as Savagette Beau for 1965-66.

Paula Hawk and Paula Goode work on goal posts for a forthcoming football game.

Student Education Association

Student Education Association members learned more about their chosen profession in 1965-66 as they assisted with the district Oklahoma Education Association meeting held at Southeastern in March. The teacher candidates performed various duties including registering the 1500 teachers who attended the event.

Another project of the year was the collecting and packaging of peanuts to be shipped to American soldiers in Viet Nam in cooperation with "Operation Merry Christmas".

Highlighting the year were meetings which included a filmstrip of Lawana Trout's, "My Laboratory of Life", panel discussions, and a spring outing at nearby Lake Texoma.

Officers are: Dr. Trout, sponsor; Jackie Rutherford, secretary; Carl Stekelenburg, v. president; Rita Griffin, president; Wayne Singleton and Patty Criswell, executive board members.

SEA members, Sandra Smith, Virginia Koontz, and Juanita Stanley examine material concerning SEA activities.

Women's Recreation Association

Women's Recreation Association is an organization open to all undergraduate women interested in sports and physical education. Its primary objective is to promote a high physical efficiency by creating an interest in physical activities and fostering a spirit of good sportsmanship.

WRA sponsors intramurals in all sports as well as a varsity team in softball, volleyball, and basketball which competes with other colleges at an annual sports day.

Activities sponsored by WRA are the annual "Penny Playnight" and an overnight camping trip each spring.

The Southeastern Chorale is a select choir which is open to anyone who can meet the qualifications. This past summer the Chorale went to New York to sing at the World's Fair. While there, they made various excursions to renowned sights of history.

As a result of the World Fair trip, the Chorale has performed at various places throughout the state of Oklahoma.

Former Chorale director George Smith, has taken a leave of absence to secure his doctorate at North Texas State University. L. B. Campbell has assumed the responsibilities of Chorale director second semester. George Smith, veteran chorale director at Southeastern, set up the trip to the World's Fair and directed the group during the first semester.

New Chorale director is L. B. Campbell.

Alpha Sigma Tau became Southeastern's first national social sorority when it was established in 1932. Since that time it has been one of the campus' most active organizations.

Among its activities for 1965 were the naming of Alan Barker as its Beau, and Dr. James Morrison as AST Professor of the Year. Before the Southeastern-East Central football game here, the Alpha Taus entertained members of East Central's Phi Delta Zeta sorority at a tea.

The Alpha Taus also participated in the second annual Greek Charity Bowl benefits game, as well as the "Merry Christmas Viet Nam" project which sent hundreds of Christmas packages to the American soldiers in Viet Nam.

Newly elected Teke Dreamgirl, Shirley Martin, proudly gazes at the carnations presented to her by the Teke members.

Tau Kappa Epsilon, founded in 1899, has become the largest social fraternity with 210 chapters. Epsilon-Theta chapter was chartered in May, 1956.

The annual Halloween Tekenik-Beatnik party and the Red Carnation Ball were highlights of the fall semester. On the spring social calendar were the Groady party and the Luau. The Bob Paul Memorial Award, presented annually to the outstanding freshman boy at Southeastern, and the Eugene Slaughter, Jr. award, presented to the Teke who has excelled in scholarship as an undergraduate are projects of the chapter.

Parents of Tekes are honored at the chapter house each year at Parents Day. The Teke Dreamgirl is selected to represent the chapter at social functions and activities. The Red Carnation Ball is held in her honor.

Epsilon-Theta has won the scholarship award sponsored by the area province of TKE for six straight years and was also named first runnerup by TKE international for the Scholarship Supremacy Award.

Sponsors are: Mr. Raymond Pillar, Dr. Wade Baskin, Dr. Edwin Boynton, Dr. Don Hazell, Dr. Louis Johnson, and Dr. Ernest Sturch.

Football: 1965

Charlie Barnhart falls beneath a deluge of tacklers in the SE-NE game at Paul Laird Field. Barnhart was the key target for opposing defenders throughout the year. The Savages lost this one 45-6.

A Langston University pass receiver grabs an aerial with the Savages' Jimmie Jones in hot pursuit.

Gary Jones grabs a 6-yard touchdown aerial from freshman quarterback Ish Kaniatobe in the Southeastern-Northeastern game.

Southeastern's grid team leaves Ouachita's playing field after a 26-0 loss at Arkadelphia.

"It was a very disappointing season"

"It was a very disappointing season—disappointing to us all."

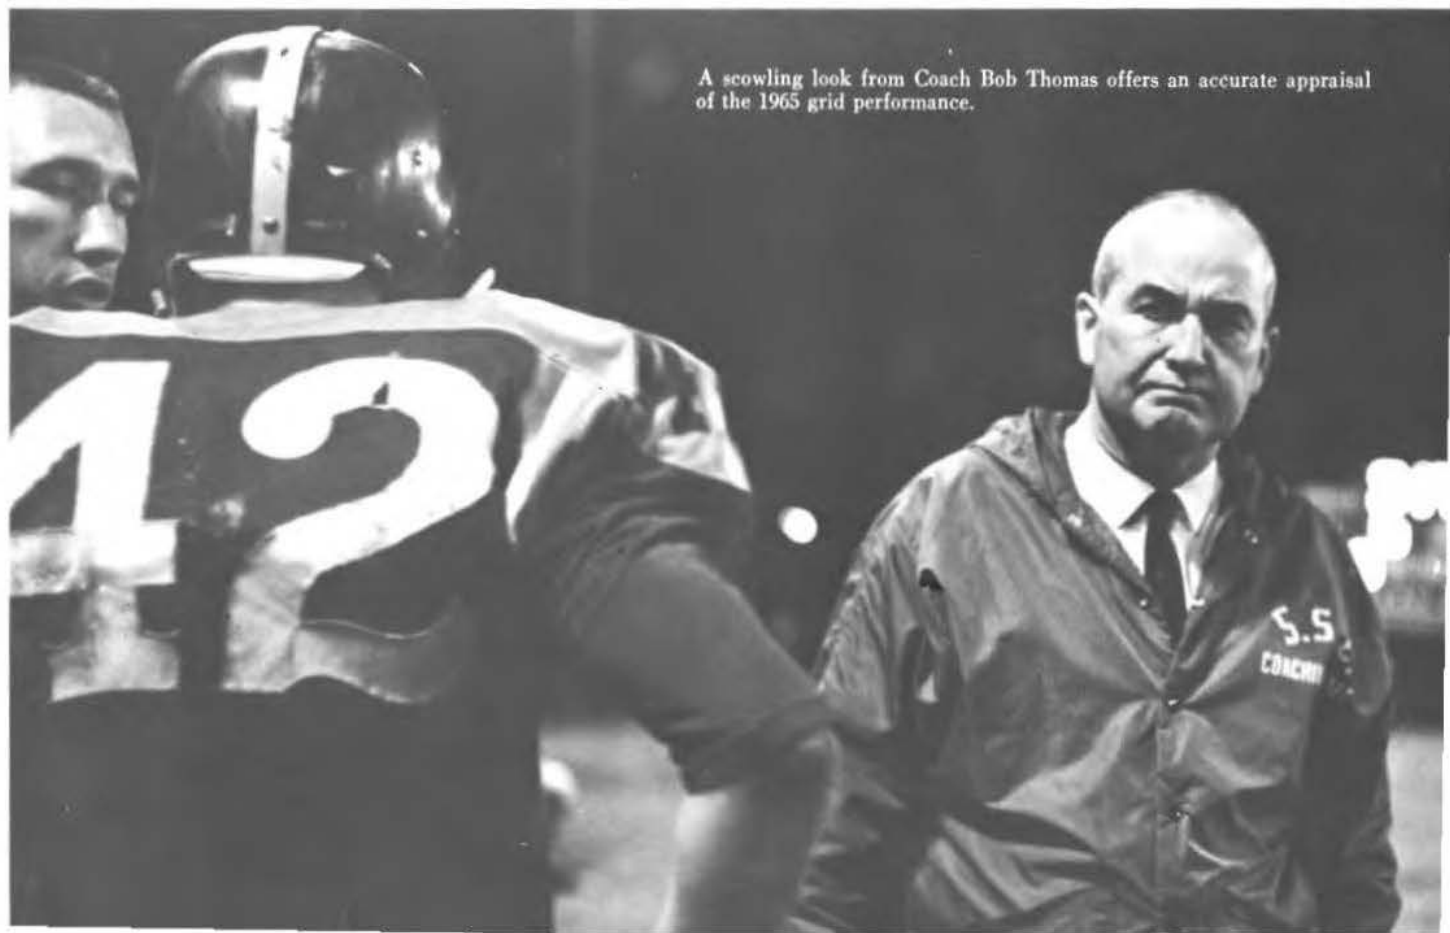

Coach Bob Thomas thus described the 1965 football season that resulted in a 1-8 record. The Savages, winless in the conference, finished at the bottom of the Oklahoma loop for the first time since Thomas came to Southeastern four years ago.

The Savages developed their first major problem before workouts started in September. Mike Barnes, primed for the starting role at quarterback, was sidelined with mononucleosis. The Savages were forced to go with two first-year men, Ish Kaniatobe and Rick Goodmen. And although Kaniatobe who landed the starter's role played impressively, the Savages lived with setbacks throughout the season.

In another conference or at a different time, the Savages might have fared better. But 1965 football in the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference was stronger overall than it had been in recent memory. East Central, Central, and Northeastern had good shots at the title. East Central finally tucked the crown away with one game still remaining on the schedule.

Fullback Charlie Barnhart was again SSC's leading rusher behind a total of 324 yards in 165 carries. Freshman Ish Kaniatobe led in the passing department with 48 completions for 551 yards. Larry Stinson was the top pass receiver with 20 catches for 234 yards.

Jimmie Jones, awarded an all-conference berth, was top defender with 57 tackles.

A scowling look from Coach Bob Thomas offers an accurate appraisal of the 1965 grid performance.

Offensive Power . . .

Southeastern's two offensive standouts named to honorable mention lists on the OCC dream team were Larry Stinson, end, and Charlie Barnhart, fullback. Both are seniors. Barnhart, after the season ended, signed a professional contract with the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League.

CHARLIE BARNHART

. . . Defensive Strength

Richard Rutherford, defensive tackle, earned all-conference honors on the honorable mention list. He was credited with 25 tackles and 14 assists.

Jimmie Jones, SE linebacker was the only first team selection to make all-conference. The senior standout made 57 tackles, 14 assists, blocked two punts, intercepted one pass and recovered a fumble.

Coach Thomas gives the Southeastern squad a pre-season talk about fundamental problems before the season-opener against Arkansas Southern College.

Frosh Gridders Earn Experience In Grid

Southeastern's grid team had at least one promising thing to occur this season—several freshman gridders received a wealth of valuable experience. Ish Kaniatobe was the starting quarterback in seven out of nine games. Larry Joe Braley, wingback, and Tommy Ramey, halfback, also played several games as starters. On defense, Butch Arnett and Dean Pierce were regulars. Jerry Stinson started all season long at an offensive end position.

Several other frosh gridders played key understudy roles under senior regulars who set fine examples. These freshmen will be filling in for these players next year when players such as Charlie Barnhart, Gary Jones, Larry Stinson, Jimmie Jones, and Bob Kesner leave the team after spring graduation.

Larry Joe Braley, freshman wingback, hauls in a 20-yard pass in the game with Central's Bronchos. Braley earned a healthy respect as a punt and kick-off return specialist this season.

Campaign

Freshman Ish Kaniatobe was Southeastern's top offensive threat. He gained 551 yards with his passing arm and rushed for an additional 118 over the ground route. He passed for four TD's and ran for two more.

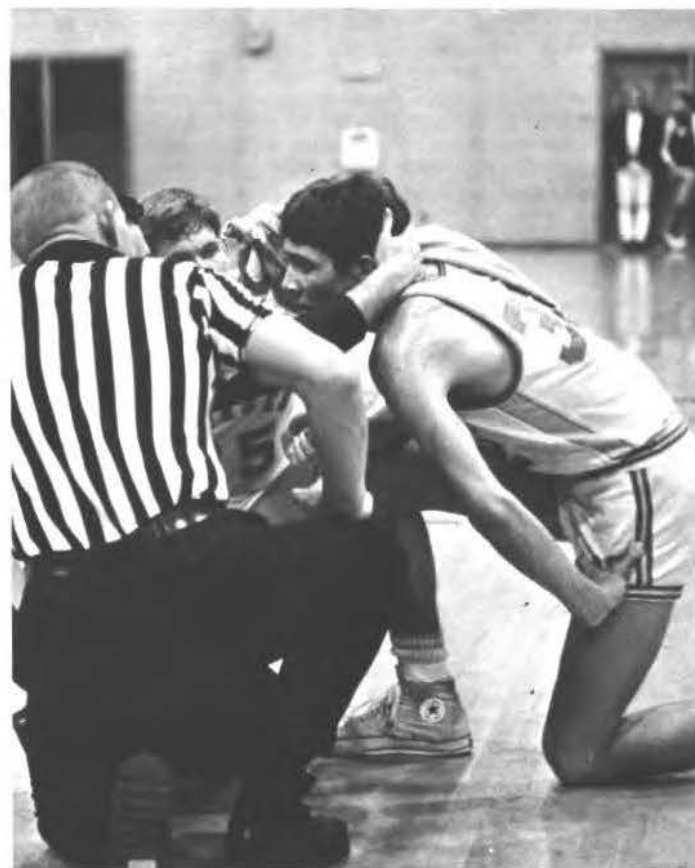

Southeastern's cage team sprints down the court as Gene Wilmoth, 55, controls the ball. Playing against the Northeastern Redmen, above, the Savages tied one of their most impressive wins of the season by defeating the Tahlequah team 80-62.

Southeastern's basketball team disregarded pre-season speculation that picked it to finish sixth in the conference. The diminutive but talented squad totalled a 14-4 record in the tough Oklahoma Collegiate Conference and shared the loop title with Oklahoma Baptist University whose team also posted a 14-4 conference mark.

The Savages were, in fact, in the driver's seat during the final three conference games and held a half-game edge over the Bison. On the final night of play, however, Southeastern was edged 45-43 by the Southwestern Bulldogs and forced into the first-place deadlock with the Baptists.

Play-offs for the District nine tournament berth at Kansas City was almost an anti-climax for the Savages, a squad that received such early season downgrading. A big key in the cage team's success is probably related to its national defensive stature. Southeastern led the nation in team defense as the Savages permitted only 55 points-per-game by their opponents.

Coaches, officials, and teammates express concern over an injury that Darryll Roberts sustained.

Basketball Team Upsets Prediction

Freshman center Jim Christanelli, 41, stretches for a rebound in a tournament clash with Texas Lutheran College at Lake Charles, La. Southeastern defeated the Lutherans 71-52 for the third place trophy in the McNeese Holiday Tournament.

And Shares Loop Crown

Jo Lewis, senior from Newcastle, hooks for two points in an Oklahoma Collegiate Conference game against Northeastern's Red men.

Northeastern State's Bill Terry, 11, accelerates Tommy McVay's flight out of bounds after McVay had shot a driving lay-up at the basket. Playing in the Southeastern Fieldhouse, the Savages won this clash 80-62.

In the days of "run-and-gun" basketball, a well-disciplined and deliberate team is a rarity. Southeastern's cage team has been described as a disciplined basketball team, though, by every sportswriter who has seen the team play in Louisiana, Arkansas, and Oklahoma. The team's offense is marked by one characteristic more than any other—a field goal effort will not be made until the player has a reasonable shot at the basket.

This offense, when coupled to a dedicated defensive effort, is a large part of the reason for Bloomer Sullivan's success as a basketball coach. Finishing his 29th season as cage coach and director of athletics at Southeastern, Sullivan has a career won-lost record of 636 wins and 210 losses. This mark is the third best among the active coaches in the nation. Only Kentucky's Adolph Rupp and Oklahoma State's Hank Iba may boast of more victories than Sullivan.

Southeastern's schedule, set-up in the same manner as always, included only nine home games in its 24-game schedule. Highlights of the season included a third place finish at the McNeese Holiday Tournament and a 46-44 victory over Arkansas State, a NCAA school that was undefeated before losing to the Savages.

James Bowers, assistant coach of the Southeastern cage team, is responsible for much of the behind-the-scenes work that is responsible for the continued success of the basketball team. Bowers has been an assistant at Southeastern for the past 10 seasons.

Deliberate Play Wins Games For Cagers

Bob Parkhill, Southeastern playmaker, receives a trophy for all-tournament team recognition from an official at the McNeese Holiday Tournament.

Coach Bloomer Sullivan delivers some side-line advice to his cagers during a home-court contest. The toothpick in his mouth is a well-known Sullivan trademark.

Savages Gain Conference Lead

Bob Parkhill, Southeastern guard, fakes before throwing the ball in bounds in a clash with East Central State.

In Northwestern Win

Southeastern hopes for a conference crown dipped after the Savages lost their second decision to Oklahoma Baptist University. The Savages could manage to stay ahead of the Baptists during three-quarters of the game but always fell victim to the Bison in the waning moments of play. OBU downed Southeastern 53-45 at Durant and 69-58 at Shawnee during regular season play.

The Savages continued to play tough ball though and won a pair of key games on a road trip to the Oklahoma Panhandle. Southeastern defeated Panhandle A&M 60-59 in an overtime game at Goodwell and Northwestern State 60-58 in a close clash at Alva. While the Savages were making hay at Northwestern, the Baptists were losing their fourth conference game to Langston University. This sequence of events pushed Southeastern to the top of the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference standings and in the driver's seat as the race narrowed down to the home stretch. A last-game-of-the-season loss to Southwestern, however, forced the Savages to tie OBU for the conference title.

Gene Wilmoth, a shoo-in for All-Conference honors, hits a two-pointer against Central.

Gene Wilmoth, Southeastern forward, dribbles around East Central's Gary Tolson.

A top doubles threat in the loop this year is the duo of Curtis Richmond and Steve Roemer. Both netters are experienced after seasons that have included regional and national competition.

Tennis Squad Will Seek

Southeastern's tennis squad, after five consecutive conference crowns, has as their goal this year to seek a sixth. Last year's record of 22 wins, no losses and two ties will, however, be hard to top. The Savages also grabbed third place honors in national tournament play at Kansas City.

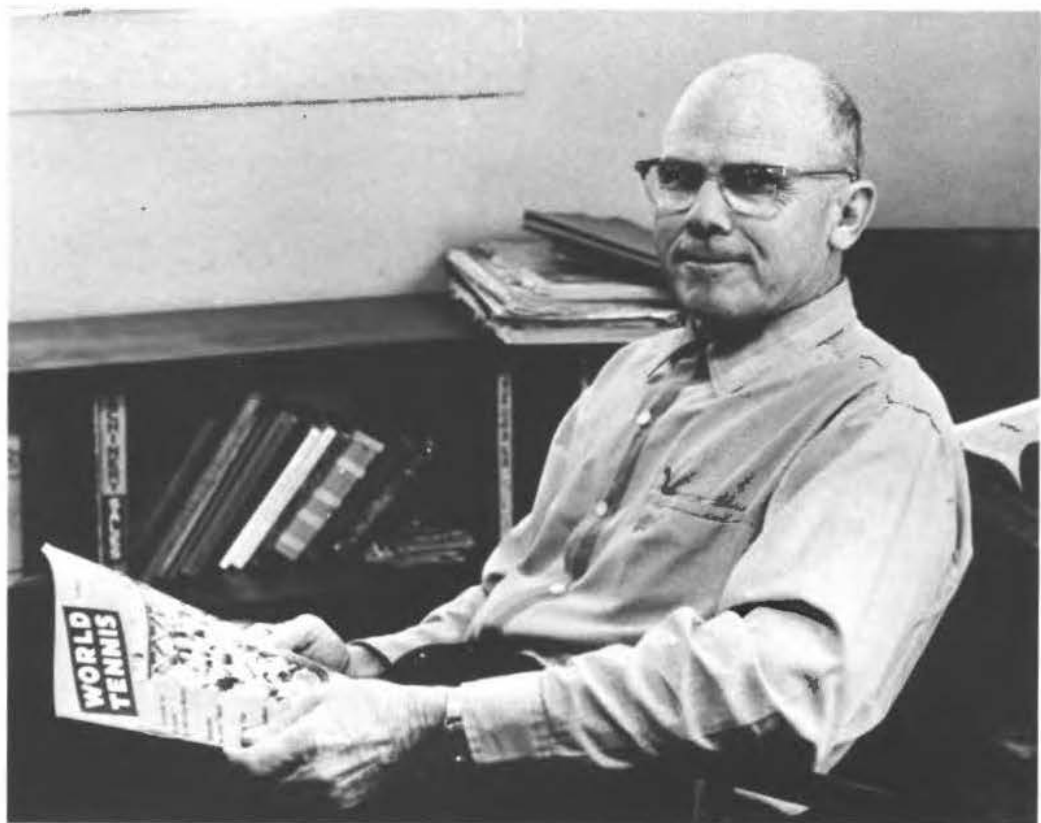

Because of the depth of their talent again this year, the Savages figure to be the team to beat. Gone is Ike Groce, last year's number one player. But the returning lettermen have played more than one year of collegiate tennis and have the talent to recapture the loop title.

James Wadley and Billy Shields, though ranking in number three and four spots last year, were unseated in national tournament play only by extra-sets play against seeded players.

6th Crown

Coach Clarence Dyer is the main reason for Southeastern's reputation as a regional tennis power. His fiery, imaginative coaching has led the Southeastern tennis squads to five straight Oklahoma Collegiate Conference championships.

Coach Bob Thomas heads the track effort at Southeastern State College. His thinclads finished fifth in the conference meet last season.

Langston's Lloyd Beasley nips Southeastern's Tommy McVay at the finish of the OCC mile relay. Both teams broke the old record.

Tommy McVay catches his breath after winning the open-quarter mile sprint at the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference track meet. His winning time was :48.9 seconds, a clocking good enough for a school record. His anchor leg on the mile relay also set a school standard when the SE quartet was clocked in 3:19.9. Langston won the event with a 3:17.7 clocking.

Joe Christie clears the pole vault cross bar in an early season workout at the Southeastern pit.

Track Team Will Try to Improve Fifth Place Finish in Conference Meet

Dr. Donald A. Parham coaches the Southeastern baseball team and he is in his second year as the SE coach. Last year, his forces recorded a 17-10 record. At Coach Parham's right is Jim Holderfield, All-American first baseman for the Savages.

Six seniors reported to the Southeastern diamond for early spring drills and the Southeastern baseball season. Pitcher Lonnie Weeks is flanked by right-handed batters Allen Barker and Jerald Price and left-handed batwielders Mike Martin and Jim Holderfield. Martin and Barker play in the outfield while Price holds down the shortstop position. Holderfield is the first baseman.

Baseball Team Set For Winning Season

Jim Holderfield, first baseman for the Southeastern Savages baseball team, was named to an honorable mention post on last season's NAIA All-American listings.

Dr. Allen E. Shearer

President of Southeastern State College

Dr. Allen Shearer is the educational and administrative leader of Southeastern State College. As president of the college, he has a broad view of what the college is and what it will become.

Far-sighted projects with an emphasis on excellence has marked Southeastern's progress since Dr. Shearer joined the school's faculty 28 years ago. He served as Dean of College for 14 years before he was named president in July 1952.

As a central purpose, Dr. Shearer believes that Southeastern should serve its students. "It should also extend itself," he said, "to serve the needs of southeastern Oklahoma, the state, and the nation." A challenging curriculum and involvement as a leader in regional projects have made Southeastern a leader in regional affairs.

Dr. Shearer has served as Southeastern's president since July 1952.

In the office of Dr. Shearer, events occur that shape the course of education in Southern Oklahoma.

Direct involvement with students and faculty members is the mark of a dean's activities. Through these offices, the problems, suggestions, and need of Southeastern students are voiced, pondered, and acted upon. The offices of the three deans perform the behind-the-scenes work that makes a school operate efficiently.

FACULTY

Art

Students in Southeastern's art department produce practically all of the extra decorations on the campus. Working out of nearly new quarters in the fine arts building, the department is equipped to provide serious students with an excellent working environment.

In addition to more routine projects, the art department sponsors its biggest single event—the Beaux Arts Ball—in the spring. Students and art faculty members also recreate the larger-than-life display of the Nativity scene during the Christmas season.

Instructor

Minnie Baker
Associate Professor

Billye Sue Harmon
Drama Instructor

Speech

Southeastern's speech department provides drama as well as speech education opportunities. The first major production of the drama season, "Dark of the Moon," proved to be a popular choice in showings at Montgomery Auditorium.

The 38th annual Savage Forensic, nation's oldest consecutive debate tournament, drew a full field of entries. Southeastern's invitational debate tourney drew over 1000 high school participants to the campus in the fall.

Douglas Duke

and Debate Coach*

Biology

A growing class load marked activities in the Biology department at Southeastern this year. The expanding class sizes were handled by a combination of five professors as both classroom and field-trip situations were made available to biology students.

Raymond Taylor returned to the campus after a leave of absence for further graduate student study at Oklahoma State University. Then at mid-term, Harold Laughlin left his position at SE to become director of the foundation at McKinney, Texas.

Business

Southeastern's business department is concerned with training business education instructors and guiding students into successful careers in business and industry.

Phi Beta Lambda, a business fraternity, was installed on the campus this year. It was initiated to complement the department's Pi Omega Pi, honorary business fraternity.

Lois Crow was added to the business faculty this year.

Education

Final administrative hurdles were cleared last fall and the announcement was made that Southeastern would start offering a psychology major this year. New personnel made the new major possible.

Dr. Roy Troutt is new as department chairman this year and four new professors were also added to the department of education and psychology. Les Lewis is a new instructor this year and three new assistant professors—Dr. Albert Crosswait, Dr. Richard Hall, and Dr. Neva Pugh—were also added to the faculty.

Students entering teacher training also had a new experience in the introductory course, Education 202. Dr. Troutt and departmental faculty members have introduced a team-teaching approach to the course.

Three new members were added to the English department when classes began last September. Dora Grace, Lois Frey, and Grady Stubbs assumed duties as instructors.

Dr. Margaret O'Riley became acting chairman of the department when Dr. Eugene Slaughter entered a leave of absence to assume a position in Washington, D. C.

Last summer, Southeastern completed working with its first institute of English and has another similar institute set to begin in June. Working directly with the institute will be Dr. O'Riley and Dr. Robert Cowser.

Foreign Language

Norma Ruth Harvey
Instructor

Foreign language courses at Southeastern College continue to stress French and Spanish study. Both attract heavy enrollments, although instruction is also available in Latin, German, and Russian.

Norma Ruth Harvey joined the faculty as an instructor of Spanish this year to replace Gene Franks, Spanish instructor for the past two years.

Department chairman, Dr. Wade Baskin, in addition to his classroom effort, is also a noted translator with a growing list of credits.

Home Economics

Dr. Frances Revis
Associate Professor

Addition of a new course in interior decoration and the purchase of new equipment were the main marks of progress in the Home Economics department. Seven new stoves, three electric and four gas, were acquired and are equipped with the new self-cleaning ovens. Two new steam irons and a new automatic washer and dryer were also added to the equipment lists.

Dr. Lucy Leonard, department chairman, said that increased enrollment has helped the department. In addition to its role and function as an educational center, the home economics building is also a center that promotes some of the largest social events on the campus. The Christmas social is one of the top pre-holiday events sponsored on the campus.

The Physical Education department offers courses that will encourage physical fitness for men and women. Its main objective centers around these courses and a wide variety of extra intramural experiences.

Course offerings provided by the department include tumbling, swimming, dancing, weight-lifting, and a wide variety of activity courses. Instructors who are capable of coaching varsity athletes make these courses meaningful.

The main facilities provided by the department to its students are an indoor heated swimming pool, football and baseball playing fields, a large basketball court and gymnasium that can be used as two separate playing courts, and large, modern well-lit classrooms.

Industrial Education

Dr. Alvin White
Chairman and Professor

Members of the Industrial Education department have stepped up their teaching pace to meet demands by today's changing labor scene. New projects such as the job corps and special training courses have been added to the regular duties of instructors.

Additionally, the department continues expansion in traditional as well as some new areas. The machine shop and electronics laboratory are earning broad reputations among new industries locating in this area. The school's facilities were used to teach a class techniques of plastics-injecting molding when a new industry needing such skills located in the area.

Two new instructors, Claude Stuteville and Harvel Lavender, joined the faculty this year.

Mathematics

Southeastern's department of Mathematics, headed by Dr. Leslie Dwight, has continued to maintain its role as a regional leader in the field, particularly in the teaching of mathematics. Two National Science Foundation Institutes were held on campus last summer and two more are scheduled for this year's summer term.

Graduating approximately 25 mathematics majors each year, the department sends out four or five to graduate schools every fall. The mathematics effort is receiving broader acclaim each year for its series of films that are telecast from five television stations in a three-state area.

Music

Musical performances of every description punctuated the year at Southeastern State College. At the beginning of the year, the Southeastern chorale travelled to the New York World's Fair for scheduled appearances at the Oklahoma pavillion. The chorale also made numerous appearances in Oklahoma this year.

The band, under the baton of new director Kenneth Peters, was in demand at concert and marching events. Dr. Paul Mansur, also new to the faculty this year, became the new department chairman.

John Branson and Ruth Steger performed at several recitals in southern and eastern Oklahoma.

Physical Science

Dr. Ernest Sturch
Chairman and Associate Professor

The Physical Science department at Southeastern is continuing to expand at a rate commensurate with today's technological explosion. Dr. Ernest Sturch, department chairman, has reported record enrollments in the physical science area.

"Last year," he said, "we sent three of our chemistry graduates into graduate school and 11 into the teaching field.

A new course has been added to the department's challenging curriculum. The course, radio-isotope techniques, was made possible by equipment purchased through a $7200 grant by the Atomic Energy Commission. Jane Phelps was an attractive and talented addition to the faculty of the Physical Science department.

Social Studies

Southeastern's Social Studies department continued to grow as the school's enrollment continued its gradual rise. Three instructors—Rade Radasinovich, Stuart Baumgardner, and Harold Warren—were new to the department's faculty this year. Warren was added to the staff when Baumgardner accepted a post with the campus' Technology Use Studies Center.

Last summer, social studies chairman Dr. Louis Johnson accompanied students on a geography tour to Hawaii. This summer, a group of Southeastern students will take a tour to Europe. This tour will be directed by Radasinovich and is set for an August departure date.

Head Librarian

The college library contains approximately 70,000 well chosen books. Among these books are also government documents and a large collection of bound and unbound magazines.

For the benefit of the student, there is a large reading where reference books are in abundance. Current issues and back issues of magazines and newspapers are located in the magazine room. A curriculum room contains textbooks for methods classes.

Technology Use Study Center

Southeastern's Technology Use Studies Center continues its unique operation on the campus and has added several accomplishments to its growing list of credits. A 17-volume study of economic data in southeastern Oklahoma was bound and distributed by the center.

Two employees, Stuart Baumgardner and Don Carpenter, were added to the center's staff near the middle of the academic year. The mission of TUSC is to gather benefits of space research and distribute them to area residents—primarily industrial manufacturers—who can use them. Another function includes making economic surveys to determine what is needed to increase the economic growth rate of southeastern Oklahoma.

Office personnel include Dr. Alvin White; Gwen Tyus, Administrative Assistant; A. M. Moore, Industrial Specialist; Pat Thurman, Secretary; Stuart Baumgardner; and Lee B. Zink, Director.

Neighborhood Youth Corps

The Neighborhood Youth Corps office on Southeastern's campus serves 27 high schools in southern Oklahoma. Career counseling and direct economic aid are the main services provided by the NYC.

Initiated locally last summer, the NYC is credited with curtailing the high school drop-out problem. Side benefits of the program are improved grade averages and attendance.
