Student Life

Southeastern: Legend And Life

Southeastern is a place to be lonely in a crowd or lionized at a rush party. It is a place to be in love with a student, laughing with others, and to be lost: physically, mentally, spiritually. In short, Southeastern is a place for living.

But Southeastern is also a school which looks back on almost a century of history and tradition. A school which prides itself upon ingenuity, "hellraising," academic excellence, and even daring. Its very name conjures up visions of basketball, oscilloscopes, and slide rules. In fact, Southeastern is (at least to its students) somewhat of a legend.

So how does one accurately portray Southeastern student life in the year 1977-1978? If one talks only of the legend, he may speak merely in cliches, arriving at a picture of an institution that no student would consider quite sincere. But if one emphasizes only the individual, he not only attempts a task far too complex, but he loses some of the uniqueness of Southeastern as a whole.

One must show both sides, for each student represents one of those differentials of individuality that make SOSU what it is, just as SOSU represents one of those differentials of experience that make a student's life what it will be.

Southeastern is legend and life—the pointlessness or the pride of a time—honored tradition—the sorrow or the magic of an ordinary day.

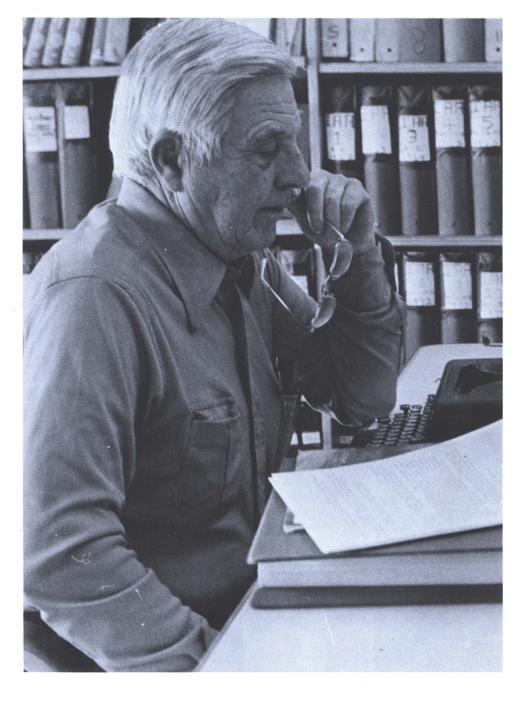

Study: The Long, Lonely Struggle

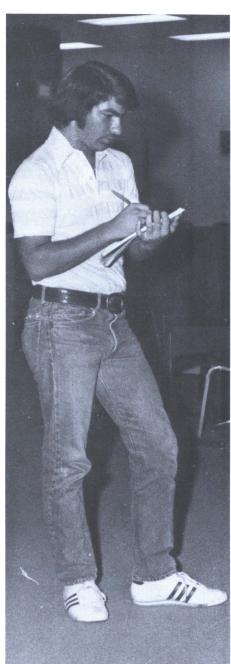

One can surround himself with a crowd at a football game, a party, or even in the library for one of those last minute cram sessions, but when he comes right down to "the moment of truth" (an exam), he finds himself utterly alone. He may claim that "knowledge is the only important thing" — and a few rare, fortunate people can truly feel this way — but if he is like most, he knows that basically he wants to be in the sweet part of that grade curve — passing. In the dog-eat-dog world a student's struggle for academic survival depends greatly on the isolated individual.

Thus one can recognize two reasons for the vast amount of study that characterizes the SOSU campus; first, the student wishes to learn; secondly, the student wishes to succeed. The two can occur simultaneously, but need not. Indeed, one often has difficulty determining whether ego or dedication drives a man. In either case or in both, the lonely hours with books and thoughts are most dreaded, but it is in these hours that the great constellations were charted, the great novels written, and the great schools were given the formulation of their worth.

Summer Occupied By Sun And Study

To many students at Southeastern, summer quarter is one of those mysterious events which they hear about from friends, but it really doesn't seem to exist until one experiences it for himself. Nevertheless, folks who attend summer sessions will support this Blueprint testimony that Southeastern functions as smoothly as ever (?) between June and September. All the cramming and fudging and late nights are still there; they simply take place under increased air-conditioning. Perhaps the sunbather basking in the Oklahoma warmth best depicts the more casual atmosphere of the campus in summer, but 1977 demonstrated that summer quarter can be much more than a lazy uneventful intermission.

Southeastern Gives Students A Workout

From somewhere between the Spartan tendency towards self-denial and the Athenian love of physical beauty came the workout, the jog, and the weekend tennis star.

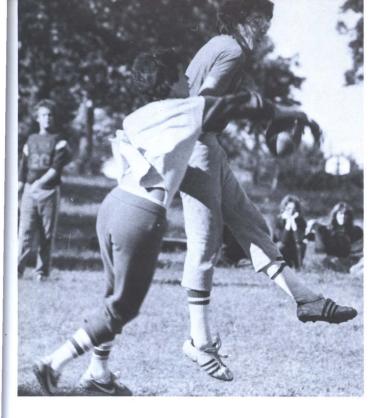

At Southeastern, a school which is slightly more Spartan than most, both students and faculty uphold this tradition whenever possible. This means whenever that precious hour with nothing to do materializes, the sons of SOSU and their coed counterparts don their tennis shoes and sweat-clothes and head for their personal Olympiad. After a good game of half-court basketball or a brisk two-mile trot, the student can enjoy his shower with the knowledge that his abilities and will-power are not limited to the classroom. This satisfaction is Southeastern's laurel wreath, and is well worth his trouble.

Friends: The More The Merrier

The Southeastern student, like every other person, must know how to tailor his behavior to fit the situation in which he finds himself. He must know how to be polite to the faculty and administration, "naturally", vivacious at a big party, and charming with the date whom he is meeting for the first time. He must be able to act like a complete madman in a crowd, and he must be able not only to survive solitude, but to become accustomed to it as a regular lifestyle. All these effects of making a student wonder what he is really like, but they also make the student appreciate the times when he can get together with a few close friends and revert to his candid personality.

But finding friends in a university is somewhat different from finding them in high school. In contrast to the "good old days" when everybody knew everybody and the senior class was its own world, the student discovers that he cannot hope to know even a majority of his own graduating class. To overcome this isolation in a crowd, fraternities, sports and all sorts of organizations offer their services — at a price, of course, whether it be money or time. Through these channels and through circumstances and efforts on his own, the student gradually accumulates a group of people who call him "friend." Some he forgets after graduation; others he remembers a few years afterwards; still others he may cherish the rest of his life; all however, make a student's stay here a lot easier.

If a student bombs a tests, it is somehow comforting for him to find out that his best friend bombed it too. A cruel sort of comfort, perhaps, but the miserable really need each other. And those tests one aces, the intramural games one wins and the feeling one has at the end of the quarter aren't half so good as they are when shared with someone else. Even a cup of coffee or lunch with some acquaintance can greatly improve the quality of the day. Indeed, Southeastern would be a cold place if one had to face despair, triumph, and everyday life alone.

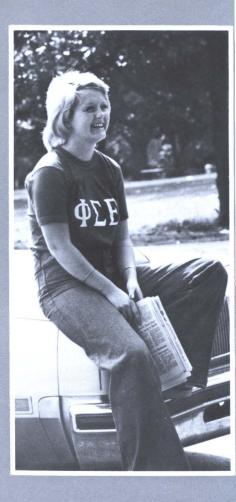

Spring Brings Rain; Summer Brings Sun

... and then comes fall, and one revels in the dry leafy wind and wonders how any other season could seem beautiful in comparison. Perhaps it is then that a college seems most a college with the growing excitement of the upcoming football game, the feeling that a new year means a clean slate, and the knowledge that the possibilities between Labor Day and Christmas are unlimited. New freshman carefully decorate their rat hats with Scriptos; the frats are out full strength with rush name tags and frosty cold kegs; intramural casualties limp up and down endless stairs; sweaters and hot chocolate are counted among the luxuries of life; evenings assume an unusual quiet quality.

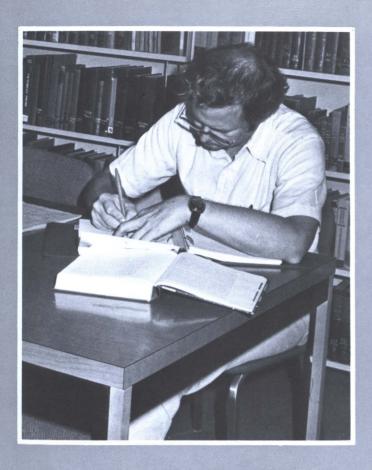

Even through all this, however, Southeastern is still Southeastern, and the leaves must wait for the labs.

The hysteria of work mounts by the week. Nevertheless, if one takes a moment to look (and these moments are always there), he will find that the sky achieves its deepest blue in autumn, and that the ivy really has overgrown the brick.

Coffee, Cramming, Cursing; Corequisites For Final Exams

To the student who has struggled through eighteen torturous weeks of eight o'clock classes, late night lab report writing, and persistent testing, nothing he could imagine would seem worse. He thought. The semester's devastating finale, exam week, yet remains as a barrier before the glorious days of semester break.

Following all to quickly on that last week of class when no teachers are supposed to give tests but most somehow manage to, the week captures students weary and unprepared. Those five chapters of economics which somehow never got read must suddenly be memorized before eight the next morning; that theory in physics which has defied hours of endeavor must speedily be understood. In desperation, students evoke a muse of studying, or perhaps just brew.

Homecoming '77: Beauty, Excitement, And Spirit

Homecoming '77 was said by many to be the best in years. Indeed, it seemed that more people participated in more diverse Homecoming activities than ever before.

Starting everything off was the parade, highlighted by twenty-one floats and sixteen bands. The floats all emphasized the theme of "Fairy Tales and Folklore." The top placed float was Delta Chi's "Three Little Pigs."

Loira Colclazier, representing KHIB, was chosen as our Home-coming Queen. She was escorted by Randy Thompson.

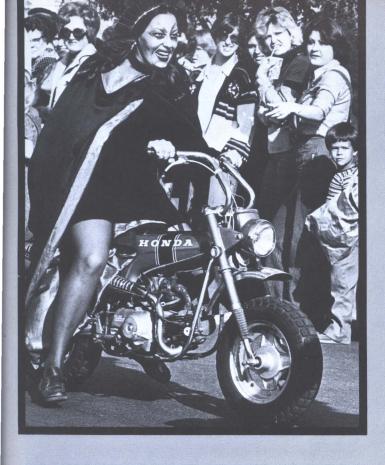

In Homecoming football, SOSU romped with Henderson State. In spite of our defeat and all those Sunday morning hang-overs, Homecoming 1977 was one to remember!

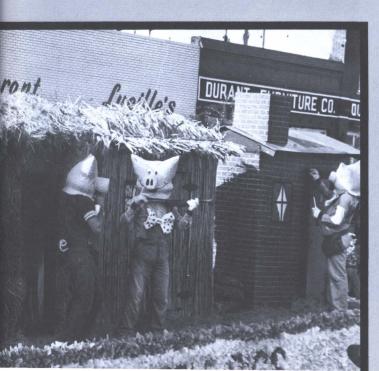

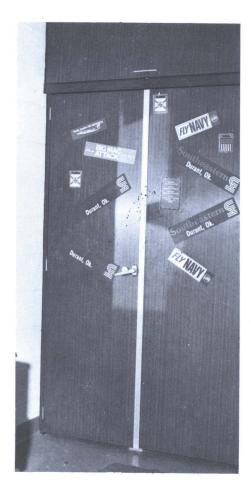

Dormitories Exhibit A Variety Of Lifestyles, Room Designs, And Survival Techniques

Dormitory life is, like everything else, different things to different people. Opinions of its quality vary depending on whether you are the person who decided to chunk that old firecracker down the hall in a sudden mischievous impulse, or whether you are the person who is awakened at three in the morning after having a nightmare about a firing squad. Other influential factors for attitude formation are location of the dormitory, structural soundness of the dormitory, compa-tability with fellow residents, compatability with roommate, and above all (here it comes) compatability with rodents and roaches.

Each Southeastern dorm has its own "style" and differences become even more pronounced when one compares the Towers to Shearer Hall.

The statement often pops up that dorm life is "part of the total learning experience," and this is certainly indisputable.

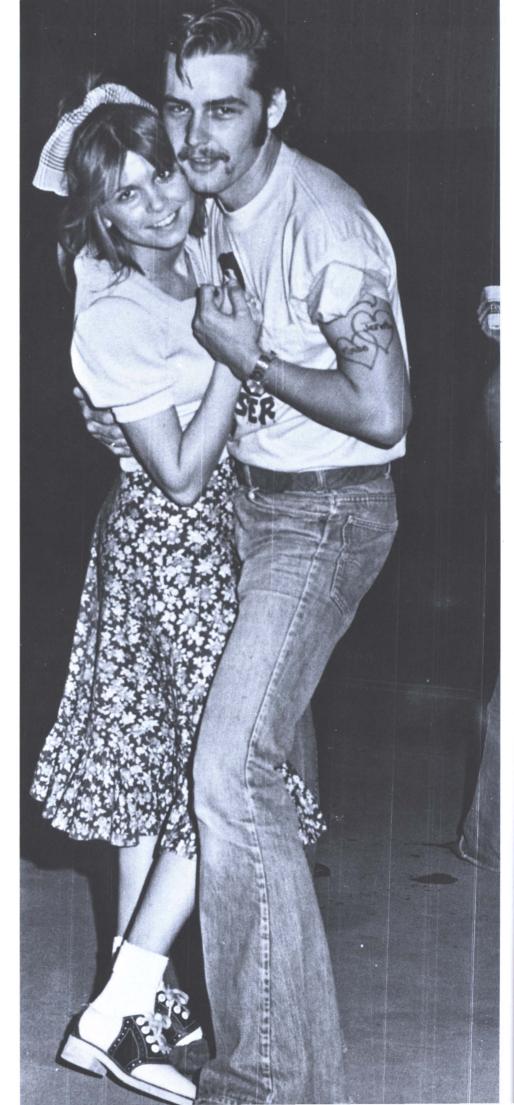

Hobbies Compete With Studies For Students' Time

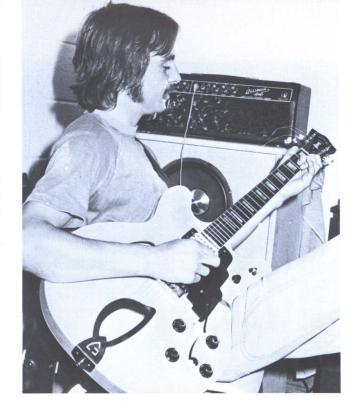

Hobbies at Southeastern fall into two basic categories: weekday distractions and weekend destructions. Every school day is a never ending study of how to avoid studying. Some Southeastern students spend their spare hour or two (or three or four) playing pool, foosball, cards, or a variety of stimulating games. Others spend their days reading science fiction, picking guitars, or looking at their favorite magazines. Still others spend their time working up a good sweat.

Weekends usually call for something a little more planned out, a little more elaborate. The energetic students fill their weekends racing cars, competing in sports, and similar activities. The majority, however, concentrate on killing a few brain cells. Some enhance their drinking and partying pleasure with dates, others sadly bow over a lonely glass.

For better or worse, everyone has his hobby; his non-technical interests which broaden his intellectual horizons, enrich his personal depth, and most of all, protect his mental health.

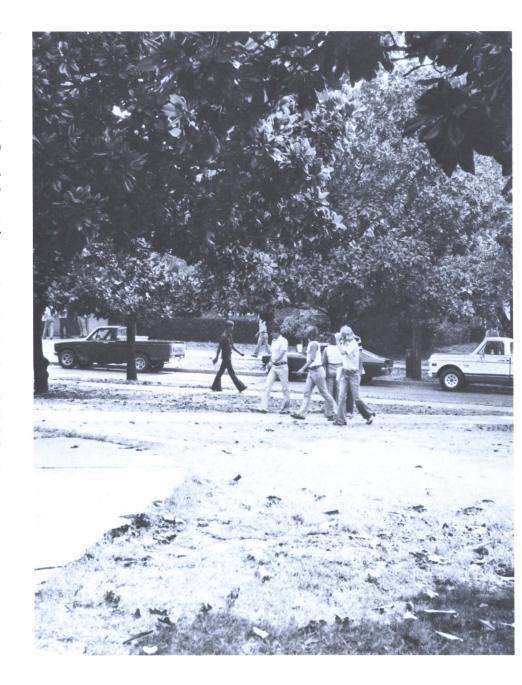

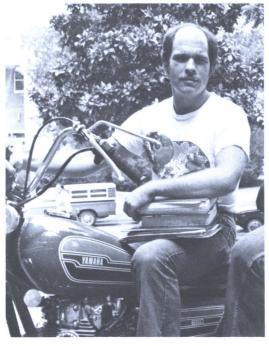

SOSU Transportation Ranges From Wheels To Walking

The major problem of most folks at Southeastern is how to get off campus with a diploma and opportunities for a promising career. Since many students require four or more years to accomplish this feat, they must meanwhile contend with smaller problems, such as how to get from one spot on campus to another. This poses no technical difficulty since one can ride a motorcycle, bicycle, skateboard, or even walk. The only true difficulties arise when the hill must be surmounted, when the wet weather must be braved, or when the point of departure is a warm bed and the destination is a cold eight o'clock class.

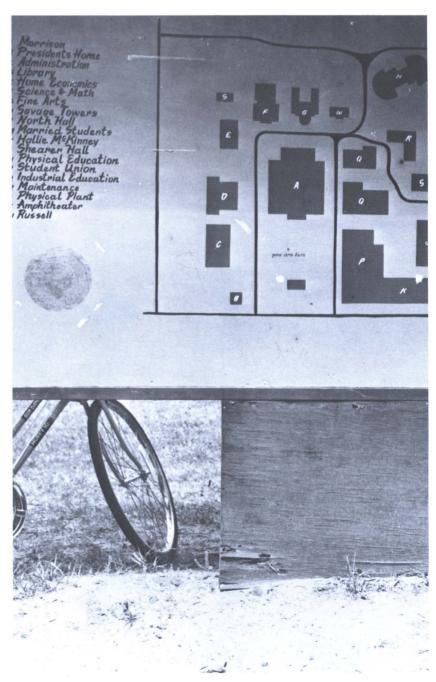

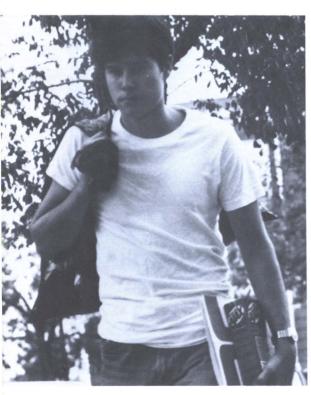

Not All Weekends Are Fun And Games

It's amazing how many students spend their whole week wishing it was Friday, and when Friday comes, they can't think of anything to do with the weekend. They have two whole days of no classes and no way to spend all that free time. Some students play "catch-up" — they either catch up on their sleep or their studying. Others take the E. E. flick and then stay up all night watching the late-late shows on Channel 13. Nurds visit the library to count the books; health fanatics take walks through downtown Durant. Many dorm residents sit around for hours contemplating places to eat within walking distance. Some overrule their lazy instincts and walk to the Student Center to check boxes and read the sale board. If it's raining, some people just sit by their windows and daydream while pretending to study the theories behind falling rain. Of course, when all else fails, the bored weekender can move to the last resort: he can call home and tell Mom and Dad what a great time he's having!

Winter Blues Are Not Bad Colors

In the winter, eight o'clock, nine o'clock and ten o'clock classes are impossible goals to reach when considered from between warm blankets. The dorm windows are steamed up and the hot water in the showers is gone. The commuter breathes a sigh of relief when his car cranks, only to hear it chug to a stop while he is scraping the frost off his windshield. Oklahoma's climatic trademark — rain — soaks the soil and the people, falling not in quick dramatic storms as in summer, but in a slow, cold drizzle.

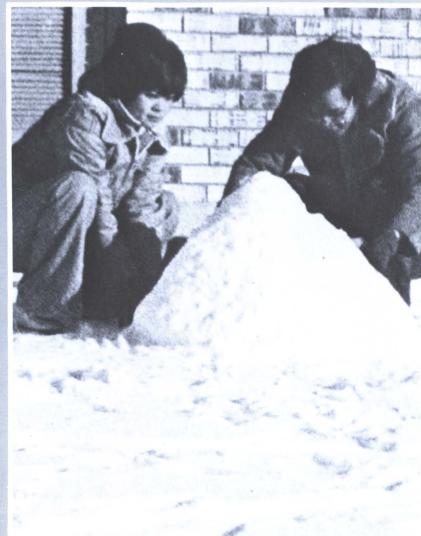

Students arrive in class with the blush of cold across their cheeks and noses, and unbundle, grateful of the classroom's warmth. The professor sits up front and waits for all to assemble, wondering how badly sickness and laziness will take their toll in attendance. He knows that his first words will put everyone to sleep, including himself. Students exchange their greetings (if anyone knows anyone else in the class) stand their umbrellas up against a desk, and yawn in anticipation.

But class goes rather well. Nobody feels the temptation to run outside and roll in the grass, and since it has rained for two days, a majority of the class has its homework done. The hour passes quickly and almost painlessly, and the students look forward to something hot for lunch and a good book (not calculus). Clouds move low and fast over the sky, startlingly dark and beautiful, and campus optimists decide that maybe spring break isn't so far after all.

Media Adds To Campus Awareness

In addition to attempts made by textbooks and by professors to impart some bit of knowledge to their students, he finds himself the target of constant assaults by other individuals and organizations who wish him to know something. Of course, these assaults are welcomed by the students who have decided that there are some things in life that can't be expressed mathematically, and they are glad to be able to choose from a variety of media. Without a doubt, conversation ranks number one among these choices (and hopefully always will) but the others are convenient.

The first and perhaps most personal of these alternatives is campus mail. Most students check their PO box as a daily ritual and more often than not find themselves looking at an empty slot, or else end up tossing junk mail in the floor; however, those occasions when something nice is inside make the frequent inspectations worth their trouble.

Campus newspaper and posters also provide a daily information source, whether taped up on the columns, in the classroom, pinned up on a dormitory, or shut up in a glass case in the Student Center. KHIB radio broadcasts music, news, sports, and weather as well as campus bulletins. The Southeastern (SOSU's beloved newspaper) prints sports, news, and cartoons as well as campus controversy and has become so much a part of Southeastern life that many students wouldn't recognize Friday without it. Indeed, the Southeastern scholar receives so much information exposure that the only topic about which he is uninformed is probably the subject in which he majors.

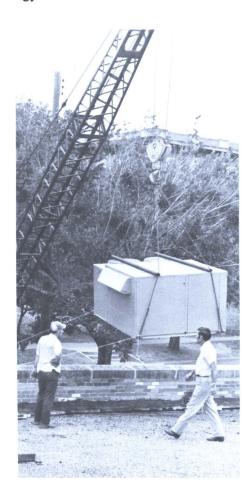

Another Year For Construction On Campus

Once again construction on the SOSU campus enlarges the facilities for students and faculty. The remodeled Coffee Shop now provides a better atmosphere for people to get together to eat, talk, or just to get together. The new IT building, with all of its modern facilities, enables students to keep up with advancements in Industrial Technology.

Labs: Long Hours For Few Credits

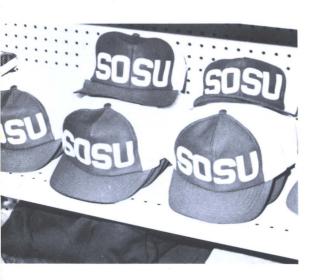

Labs are many things to many people. They are cold winter afternoons, and long, tedious hours in the Science building. Labs are the cause of the insedious middle number in course descriptions: Nuclear Bioastrophysics 1001, 3-12-7. Most every student at Southeastern is subjected to labs, some fascinating, others considerably more mundane. Whatever their content, location, or interest level, everyone has labs, and sooner or later, learns to form a peaceful coexistence with these "practical learning experiences."

Bookstores Fill Campus Needs ... Empty Campus Pockets

The University Bookstore is an integral part of Southeastern campus. They may not be visited as frequently as the post-office, but sooner or later everyone trustingly deposits his possessions in a little nook and pushes through the turnstyles. The bookstore fills many practical demands as well as the deep inner American need to have someplace to shop.

The books themselves are a great source of enlightment in many different ways. First, the books are often the means for deciphering the lectures of the all-too-cryptic professor. Secondly, the books provide the way for the dedicated, inspired student to progress independently. Last, the books demonstrate simple economics — inflation is when you buy a book; recession is when you attempt to resell it; depression is when you finally see that total on the cash register. Indeed, anyone who doesn't consider textbooks enlightening need only consult his own wallet.

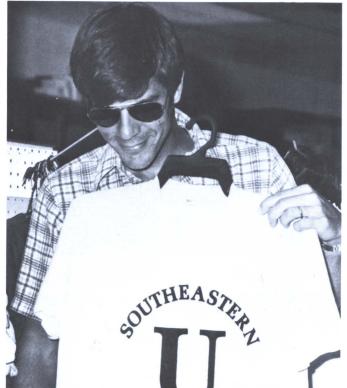

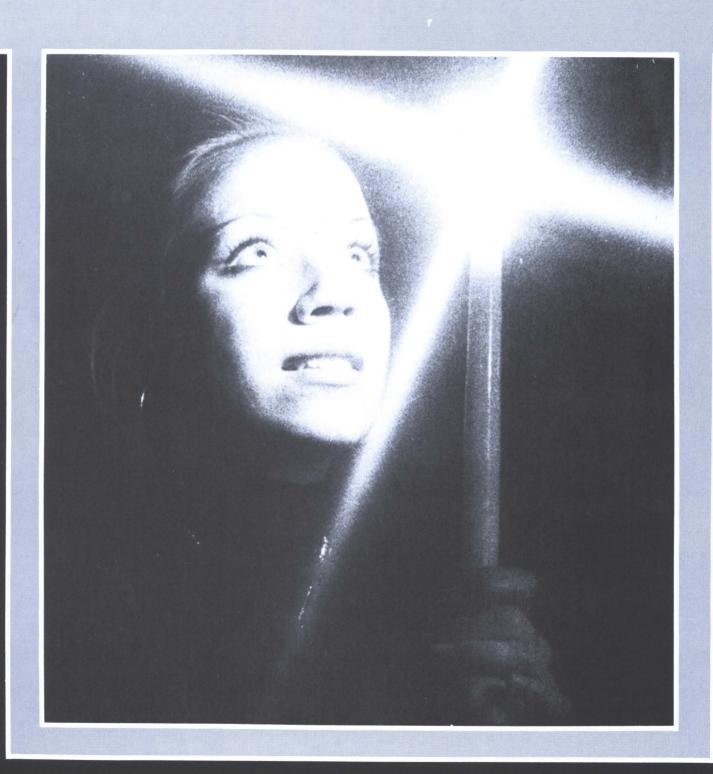

Organizations

Student Senate

The leadership of the student body at Southeastern University is coordinated by the student senate. The senate president, vice-president, and secretary are elected in the spring, with members chosen in the fall and spring in a manner prescribed by the constitution of the Student Body Organization. The student senate has operated since 1920.

Afro-American Student Union

Membership in the Afro-American Student Union is open to any regularly enrolled student of the university who is in good standing and who is committed to the promotion of the aims of the Union. The Union was formed on the campus in the fall of 1968.

Southeastern Staff Kept Busy With Weekly Deadlines

Many hours are consumed each week by workers gathering and writing news in an attempt to supply readers with an up to date account of campus events. After news stories are written paste-up begins late Wednesday afternoons in order to meet the Thursday morning delivery schedule.

The Savage Staff Publishes Volume 48

Work on the 1978 SAVAGE began early in September with the appointment of Marla Maze as editor, Suzi Reedus and Sandra Hicks associated editors, and Kenneth Nichols as our advisor.

Hundreds of hours are spent and hundreds of feet of film are used in the publication of the SAVAGE. Pictured are made and filed, copy is written, and each section are made ready for their deadlines. The other deadlines and, the book is finally sent to the printer. Then there is still work to do, for the proofs must be read and returned. When it finally looks as if the staff's work is through, it is time for a new editor and a repetition of cycle.

The only reward the staff gets for their hours of work comes in May when the distribution manager goes to work and the books are distributed. The staff's pay is seeing all their work compiled into a 296-page volume and being ready by the SOSU student body.

University Players And Alpha Psi Omega

The University Players Club is an organization of those students who are interested in speech and drama activities. It serves as a step toward membership in Alpha Psi Omega.

Alpha Psi Omega, the national dramatics fraternity, was installed at Southeastern in June, 1929. The fraternity is open to men and women students who are elected to membership on dramatic and scholarship standing. The fraternity sponsors numerous full-evening performances each year. The purpose of the organization is to create an appreciation of dramatic art among the students.

Art Club

Members of the Art Club are chosen from students who are art majors or minors and those who are interested in art from an art-appreciation standpoint. The club meets regularly, devoting the time to both study and pleasure.

Occassionally the members sponsor an exhibition, either one local in nature or a traveling art exhibit. They also help the art department in sponsoring the semi-annual student exhibitions at Southeastern.

They usually make one trip to some close art center each year to see a special exhibit of art or to visit the studios of professional artists.

Alpha Mu Ganna

The Epsilon Gamma chapter of Alpha Mu Gamma, national foreign language society, was established in 1967 at Southeastern. The society's objectives include increasing advanced study of foreign language and understanding of foreign cultures. To be eligible for membership, a student must have at least six hours of an A in a foreign language and another three hours of at least a

B in the same language. Charter members qualified in French, Spanish, and Latin, with Russian and German also represented in their study.

Radio Club

New equipment, new production studio, new personnel, all describes Southeastern's Radio Station KHIB. Operating on a 3:00 to 12:00 basis many days, and even longer hours on others, the recently revitalized radio station plays the top musical sound that the listeners want to hear. KHIB features the Top 100, the best of hard rock, the choice tunes from Country and Western, Disco, Jazz, and a religious music program each Sunday.

In addition to normal programming, the station hosted D.J. dances, a live concert by one of the top area groups, Marin; a "food dance" for Thanksgiving baskets for Bryan County needy families. KHIB's nominee won the Homecoming Queen contest. Their float won second place in the Christmas parade in which over $100.00 worth of toys were given to needy children.

Many contests and record giveaways were part of the academic year. Perhaps the best example was "Name That Mystery Tune" which had preliminary competition over the air and final competition in the Little Theater. There the top winners competed for the over $200.00 worth of long play albums.

Plans are under way to petition for a increase in power in order to maximize area coverage. Included in those plans are the possibility of broadcasting to the handicapped and possibly teaching courses over the air to those who can't come to campus to participate in the Experienced American program.

KHIB wants to be the voice of the students on campus and thus urges all listeners to avail themselves in telling the station what music they want to hear.

Cardinal Key

Cardinal Key, national Christian leadership soroity, was established on the campus in the spring of 1937.

Cardinal Key is a non-social sorority open only to women students of the junior and senior classes who have achieved distinction in the qualities of leadership, scholarship, and service.

Seated are: Kyla Schmeckpepper, Jerry Smith, Janice Worthing, and Gina Crow. Standing are: Beth Ann Jones, Lisa Sturch, Lisa Schutte, Katie Frank Slack, Paula McCann, and Gaye Hart.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union was organized in 1936 with Dr. E. M. Haggad as the sponsor. The property on which the present center rests was donated by S. A. Whale, local businessman.

The BSU serves as a link between the Baptist students enrolled at Southeastern and the local Durant churches. The union holds daily vespers for the spiritual enrichment of its members.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

The purpose of the fellowship is "a program to confront athletes and coaches, and through them the youth of our nation with the challenge and adventure of following Christ, participating in His church and serving Him through our vocations."

Savages For Christ

The purpose of Savages for Christ, the Christian student organization from the Church of Christ Student Bible Center, is to round out the spiritual and social needs of students by emphasizing Christ, and to reach interested students with Christ's message. Their facility is located at 215 University Boulevard. It is open to all students and members of the campus community. The ministry is supported by 30 churches of Christ around Oklahoma. Equipped with a religious library, study area classroom, and game area, the Bible Center is an excellent place for Christian fellowship. Various activities are conducted including a weekly devotional dorm Bible studies, fellowship meals, trips to various places, and other activities.

Phi Alpha Theta

During the spring of 1934 a chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, national history fraternity, was installed at the university. Slated meetings are held every semester. Among the activities of Phi Alpha Theta are the sponsoring of an annual address at Southeastern by some national authority of Sigma Alpha Rho, the junior historical fraternity, and the entertaining of the history majors of the summer session.

Pi Omega Pi

Pi Omega Pi, National honorary fraternity for business students, is open to both men and women majoring in business. Students are elected to membership because of their superior standing in all business studies and distinguished leadership on the campus.

This fraternity meets twice a month at the home of its sponsor or some other designated place. The fraternity sponsors a number of social functions for the purpose of creating fellowship among members and pledges.

The local Student Education Association is the pre-service professional organization sponsored by our O.E.A. and N.E.A for students planning to enter the teaching profession. First steps to organize a Southeastern chapter were made in the spring of 1954 with Dr. L. Marshall Nagle as the founding sponsor.

Sponsors of the group are to encourage and to promote fellowship amoung prospective teachers, to more clearly define the common ideals of the democratic teacher, and to discuss the problems of the teaching profession.

David Lyle Boren Serves Oklahoma As Governor

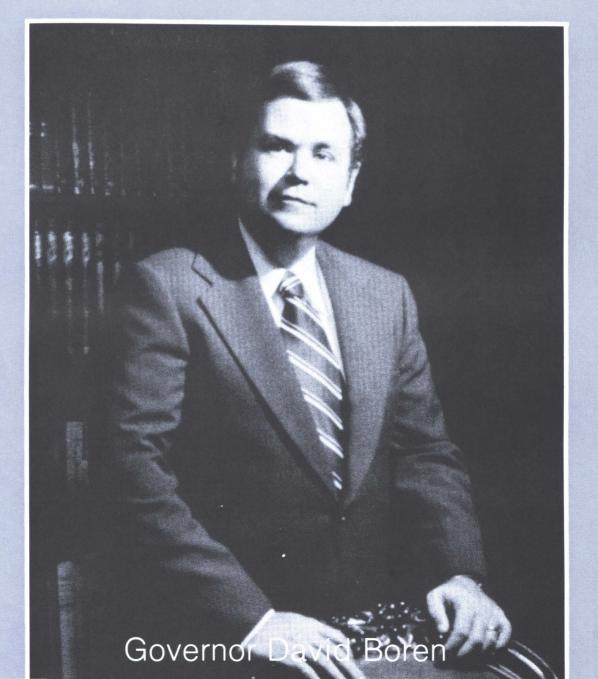

Governor David Lyle Boren was elected in 1974 as the 21st governor, and was the first candidate for this office to poll more than 500,000 votes in the general election. Governor Boren served as a member of the State House of Representatives for four terms before his election.

Boren is an honors graduate of Yale University, where he graduated in the top one percent of his class and was elected to Phil Beta Kappa. He was selected as a Rhodes Scholar and attended Oxford University representing Oklahoma. He received his master's degree from Oxford with honors in government. He traveled, while in England, more than sixty countries.

Prior to his election Boren practiced law in Seminole. The 35 year old lawmaker was chairman of the government department at the Oklahoma Baptist University.

Governor David Boren in his fourth year of office spends much of his time in the library researching possible legislation that he sponsors in the legislature.

President Hibbs

Dr. Leon Hibbs always has an open door to his office for the university students, staff, and visitors. This policy keeps Dr. Hibbs abreast of the happenings on campus and it also keeps him in touch with the students — their problems, their activities, their lives.

President Hibbs stays active in student activities by sponsoring two campus organizations, the Rodeo Club and the President's Club.

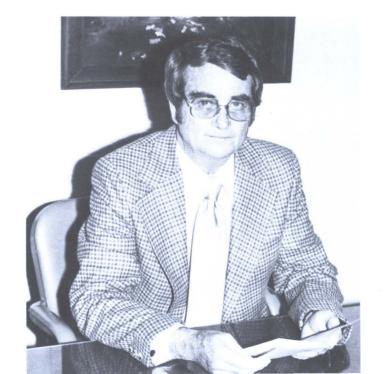

Vice Presidents Stay Busy To Keep Campus Running Smoothly

Ernest Sturch serves as Vice President of Instruction. Duties of this office include the development of an educational program for the university, with the help of the Academic Council and other faculty committees. With the Registrar, he administers policies regarding academic probation and suspension. Preparation of class schedules and examination schedules, maintenance of the university activities calendar, and assignment of instructional space utilization in the university buildings are just a few of the diverse duties for which his office is responsible. John Krattiger, Vice President of Student Affairs, handles many of the activities for the student body. Tutorial services, health and housing for all the students, and counsel are all taken care of by his office. M. G. Smith serves as Vice President of University Services. His office has the responsibility of the registrars, financial aid, recruiting, and admission offices.

Mrs. Dorothy Laycock and Dean Robert Thomas

Dean Katie Frank Slack

Deans Help Students

Helping students through registration and enrollment, the Deans of Students are constantly on call to aid the campus and its students in any problem.

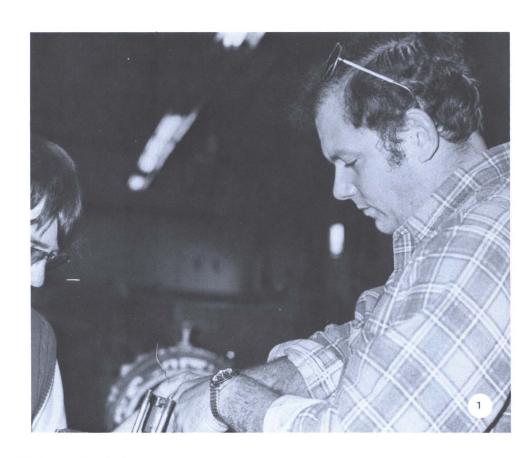

Dean Robert Thomas, Dean of Men, working with President Hibbs, helps students in all facets of student life. He contributes immensely in helping students and personnel adjust to the university's life and curriculum. Counseling, appointing advisors to the incoming freshmen, and assisting in enrollment each semester is but part of his job as Dean of Men. His office is connected with all functions of student activities, including the Interfraternity Council, Homecoming, the Student Senate, and Parents Day.

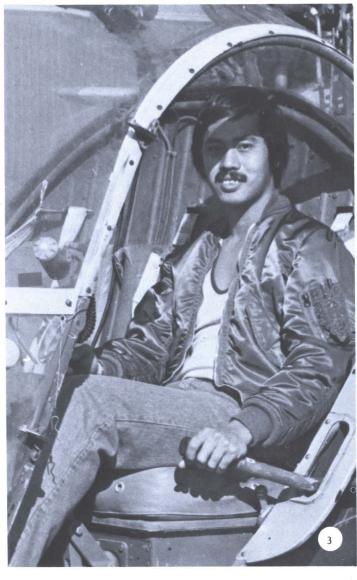

Assisting Dr. Thomas as his secretary is Dorothy Laycock.

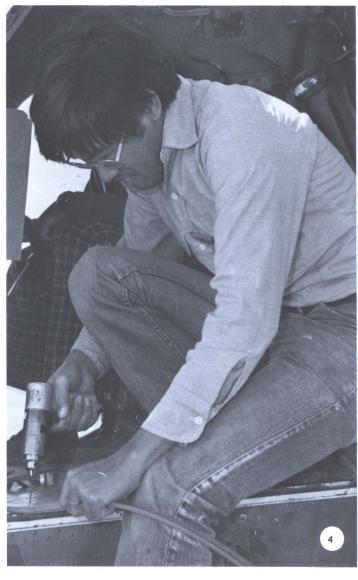

Miss Katie Frank Slack, an advisor to the Student Senate, Cardinal Key, and Panhellenic Organizations, serves as the Dean of Women at Southeastern.

Aviation Program Advances

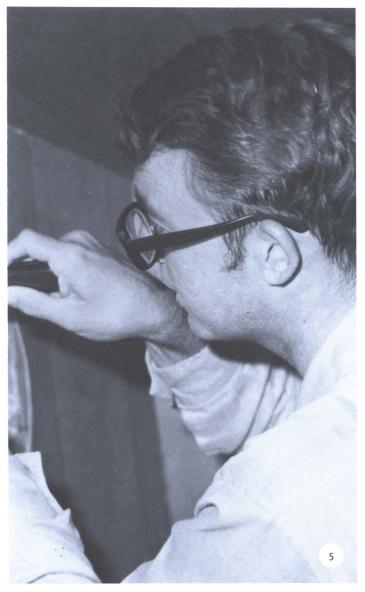

The Aviation program is designed to meet the requirements of the Federal Aviation Administration. Although there is a physical examination required for students desiring a degree in Aviation, there is no such requirement for those entering Airframe and Powerplant programs. Some training is taken at Ecker Feild. 2. Ernest Gathron is showing a pressure injection carburetor to students. 3. Walter Tuong, an A&P major is cranking up a Hiller.

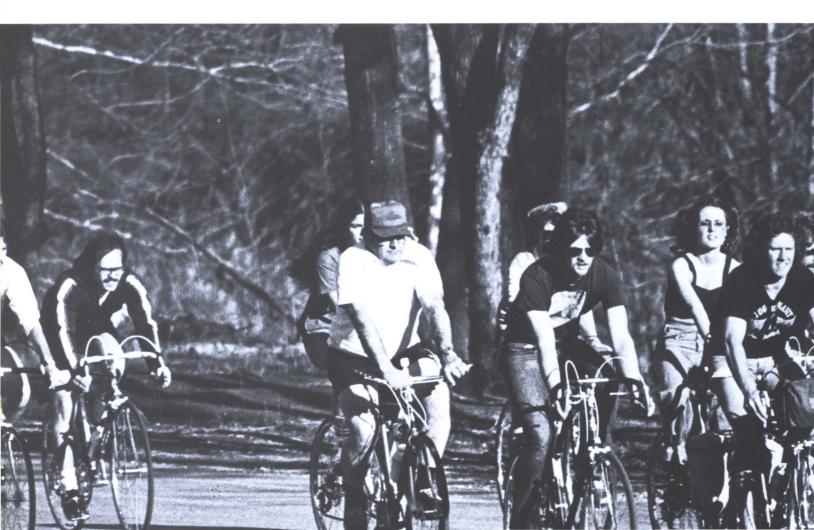

English And Humanities

English and Humanities courses are basic requirements to the general education program. The aim is to provide a well-balanced educational background.

Courses are offered that cover basic skills, methods, historical background, and various uses. Major literary works are studied in detail.

The humanities aim to help students discover and synthesize the significant ideas expressed in art, music, literature, and philosophy.

Home Economics

The purpose of courses in the Home Economics Department is to provide men and women who are concerned with the strengthening of the home, family, and community life and to prepare for a career in home economics. The Department offers courses which meets requirements for teachers of general home economics or home economics qualified for rehabilitation, extension, public utility, day-care supervisors, school lunch or nursing home food managers, welfare and other related jobs. These courses provide foundations for careers as dietitians, nutritionalists, nurses, institutional managers and other similar and related professions.

The Home Economics Department sponsors a club for home economics majors and minors called SHEA, Student Home Economics Association. The purpose is to get a better understanding of all phases of home economics. SHEA is affiliated with the American Home Economics Association.

These two girls pictured below entered a statewide contest in clothing construction, and did extremely well in competition.

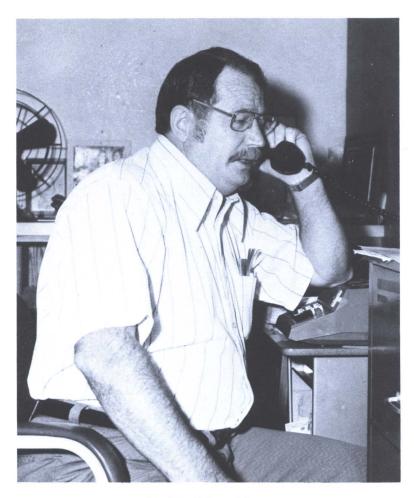

Biological Science Department

The Department gives students a basic knowledge of scientific concepts which will make for better understanding of the natural environment. It teaches the basic students of plant and animal structure and function for the allied fields of biochemistry, medicine, denistry, nursing, veterinary science, pharmacology, teaching and research. Students gain skills and training in the fields of biology, conservation, wild-life conservation, recreation and resource management. Special field emphasis is on ecology.

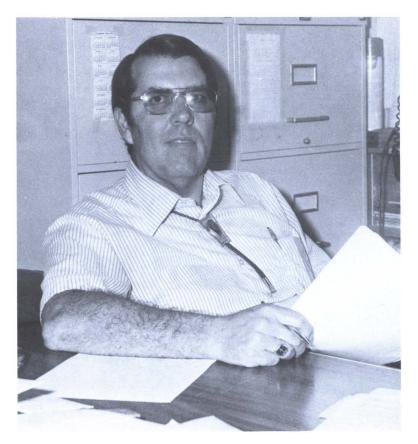

The programs are continually reviewed and revised to keep up the new developments and new directions in industry, medicine, and research

The Department sponsors the American Chemical Society, chemical engineering and chemistry majors and students in related fields of study. The organization presents current speakers and topics in the field. Meetings are held monthly and there is a spring picnic.

The biology department Awards the Wayne H. Silver Scholarship annualy to the two outstanding senior students studying in conservation and biology.

Education And Psychology Department

The Education and Psychology Department offers courses which can contribute to general education requirements and courses which meet requirements for Professional Education majors.

These courses emphasize the skills necessary in dealing with students in all aspects of the teaching field.

Teachers today must have much more extensive knowledge concerning children's personalities and learning and emotional disorders. These courses help future teachers better understand methods and skills designed to help students with these specific learning problems. There are also courses designed to keep teachers up-to-date with new developments in the teaching field.

Electronics Department

Electronics is a major area of specialization in the Industrial Education Department. There are specially designed two-year programs in the field of electronics.

The Electronics Club facilitates the exchange of information and general cooperation between members, promotes interest in the field of electronics, and Amateur Radio operation efficiency and has programs and activities to advance general interest in this area. Membership is open to all interested students, faculty, and citizens of the community.

Department of Modern And Classical Languages

In this challenging and competitive era of international interaction there is a rising demand for those with bilingual competency. Mastery of a second language opens the doors of opportunity in the job market of business, education, technology, fine arts, law, government, military and diplomatic training. Second language skills also introduce one to the experiences of other peoples and cultures. Second language skills serve vocational, cultural, and practical purposes.

The French and Spanish Clubs promote interest and study in the foreign languages and cultures. Membership is open to all interested faculty and students. Alpha Mu Gamma, national foreign language society, was established in 1967 at SOSU.

BA's in languages taught at Southeastern are Spanish, Choctaw, French, and English as a second language, as well as Bilingual Bicultural Education.

Social Science Department

The Social Science Department offers several degree programs, including majors and minors in Geography, History, and Political Science. Several courses are required of all students as part of the general education requirement program.

The department sponsors Phi Alpha Theta, a national history fraternity. Slated meetings are held each semester. An annual address by a national authority is sponsored each year and the entertaining of the history majors during the summer is handled at the university.

The department sponsors three awards each year, The Phi Alpha Theta Award, the James D. Morrison History Award, and the Red River Valley Historical Association Award.

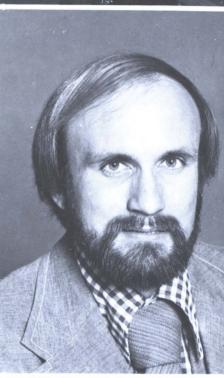

Throughout the year the department offers special tour programs. Students participating receive college credit. Trips are sponsored by and directed by faculty members of the department. Students may travel to Europe, Latin America, and the Continental United States.

Also, the physical education department sponsors the Physical Education Majors and Minors, or the PEMM Club, which was organized in 1963-1964.

There is also the W.R.A. The Women's Recreation Association. This group promotes high physical efficiency by creating an interest in physical activities and fostering a spirit of good sportsmanship.

Athletes can also gain membership in and participate in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

The department gives letter awards to athletes for outstanding achievement in the various sports upon the recommendations of the coaches. The winners then become members of the Varsity O Club which promotes good fellowship and encourages athletic competition.

A special service award is bestowed upon members who have contributed the most to the organization by the Women's Recreation Association.

The Bertha Mae Treadway Award goes each year to the outstanding women athlete in honor of Dr. Bertha Mae Treadway, a former physical education instructor at Southeastern.

Journalism Department

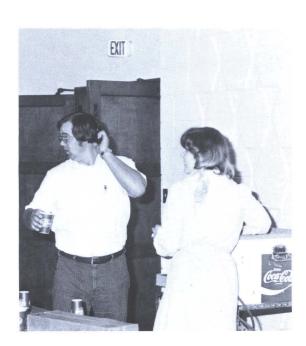

The Journalism Department offers courses in interpretation and appreciation of newswriting and courses in developing skills in news gathering, writing, and editing.

School publications are carried out through this department. The staffs are made up of students and an advisor.

The office weekly publishes a school newspaper, The Southeastern. This contains news items covering sporting events, organizational activities, special notices, classified ads, academics, and upcoming special events. The department works closely with the photography department to cover all events and activities.

The office works all year to publish a yearbook, The Savage. Major activities of the year are recorded in pictures and writing.

Kenneth Nichols is advisor to the yearbook staff and Rudy Manley advises the newspaper staff.

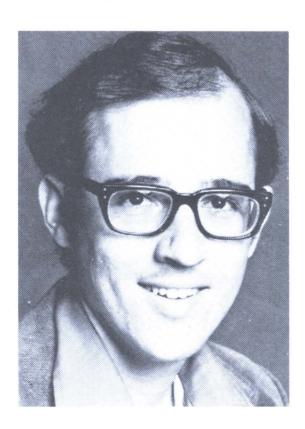

Audio Visual Department

Audio Visual courses are part of the requirements for teacher education. Students learn to use projection and recording equipment also learn how to achieve special effects.

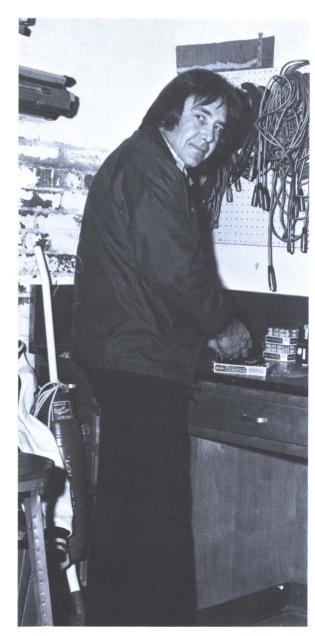

Learning how to use audio visual aids effectively in the classroom can save time and money and be more helpful when used in addition to the regular textbooks.

The department keeps on file a library of films and tapes available to university departments and organizations. They also take care of ordering material and loaning out equipment.

Qualified personnel set up equipment and pick it up to insure good condition of machines and to save instructors time.

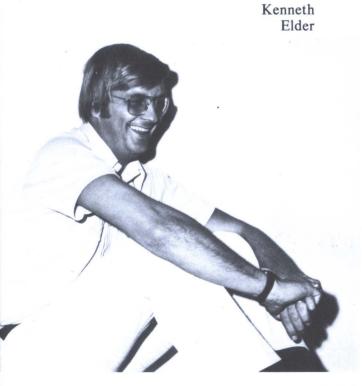

Sociology Department

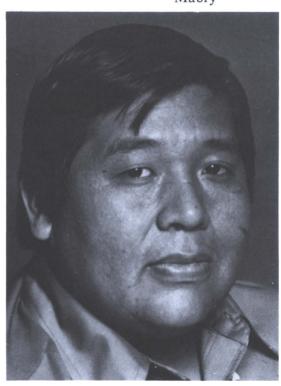

Sociology, as a behavioral science, has human behavior as its basic unit of study. The courses are designed for breadth in education, particularly as it applies to the understanding of human relationships. The courses emphasize the structures, functions, patterns, and changes of behavior.

Biomedical Science Program

SOSU was the first university in Oklahoma to initiate a program such as the Bio-medical Science Program. It was recently awarded an institutional development grant from the National Institutes of Health, Minority Schools Biomedical Support Program. Of the four-year colleges and universities that received grants, SOSU is the only minority institution in the U.S. that qualified on the basis of its undergraduate enrollment of students of American Indian descent.

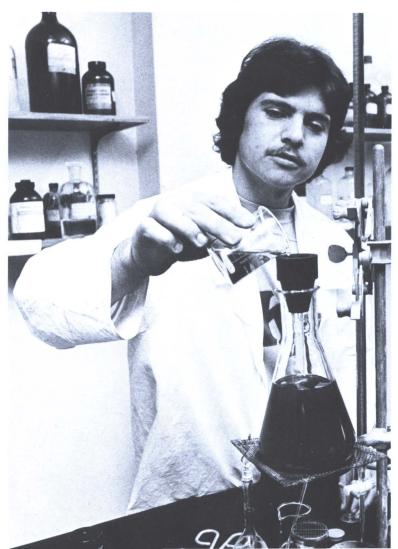

Each student selected for participation in the program will work closely with a faculty member on a research project and learn how research is conducted. The program will provide trainees with an excellent background for graduate work in the sciences.

Students interested in the areas of biology, chemistry, biochemistry, environmental science or conservation, pre-medicine, pre-dentistry and allied health-sciences such as medical technology or clinical chemistry will be eligible to apply for admission into the Undergraduate Preparatory Program. High school graduates as well as students who have completed some college work will be considered.

Students admitted to the programs must be able to demonstrate that they are of American Indian descent.

Upward Bound Prepares Students

Upward Bound is a pre-college program for high school students. They are screened and selected for academic potential. Upward Bound teaches the value of an education, the worth of self-respect, and encourages the pursuit of post-secondary education.

Upward Bound is a summer program which introduces aspiring high school students to college life. They live on campus in the dorms and attend college type classes. Individual counseling is a crucial part of every Upward Bound project. Professional counselors work with the students and have a follow-up program.

The academic stress is on communication skills, math, and science with stress also on social and cultural enrichment.

There is also a special services program for college students. Its purpose is to assist qualified students to achieve post-secondary academic ambitions through personal and career guidance and counseling, tutoring, and social and cultural services.

Upward Bound Sponsors are Leon Scott, Larry Dresser, John Williams, Joy Culbrath, Brock Rutlidge, and Janet McWilliams.

All counseling services of the Student Services Center are available to veterans and dependents of veterans. Veterans and eligible dependents should contact this office prior to enrollment and for any additional information.

Director Of High School Relations

The Office of High School Relations is directed by Gene Robbins. This office makes available information about the university and its services to all interested persons.

Mr. Robbins, with the assistance of Al White, visits area high schools to talk with students and administrators about what Southeastern offers. They provide those people with information about SOSU, applications for admission, admission requirements, and introduces them to various programs for financial assistance.

They also make arrangements for faculty members to meet with students who are interested in their specific field of study.

University Nurse

The school nurse, Freda Pierce, is available in the student health office during regular office hours. The health office is located on the first floor of the library. She may be consulted without charge for first aid, health information, or counseling. She may also be contacted after office hours by reporting to the residence hall housemother who will in turn contact the nurse.

If a student must miss a class because of accident or illness, he should inform the school nurse. In this way the nurse may officially notify the instructors of the student the reason for the absence.

Print Shop Service Valuable To All University Departments

The print shop has been involved in the main zerox services of the university. They reproduce such materials as those used by the instructors in the classroom, enrollment sheets, schedules, newsletters, admission forms, and small booklets. They also do newsprints, layouts, paste-ups, and pictures for brochures, as well as stapleing, collating, trimming, and padding. The print shop does mostly departmental printing but also does printing for student use.

Action: Reflection Of Intensified Emotion

Emotion is a basic component to any football game: a case of nerves turning a well caught pass into a fumble or adrenaline speeding up a cornerback's pursuit is common to many a Saturday afternoon. All too often the emotion must be felt from a position on the sidelines, a place where a man has no control over the course of the game and, for those on the field, there's always the threat of the worst emotion of them all-the pain and frustration of an injury, when one lousy hit can make the difference a season of glory and satisfaction and a long, hard struggle back to health.

Southeastern's New Camp Savage

Camp Savage is a new recreational camp being added to Southeastern's public service department. The camp, located at Lake Texoma across from Texoma Lodge, will involve hundreds of young boys and girls in outdoor activities. Jim Cunningham will be the camp director.

Rodeo: A Different Lifestyle

The Rodeo Team is a member of the National Intercolligiate Rodeo Association. The members participated in various rodeos for competition in all aspects of rodeo life such as bull riding, bronc riding, and steer roping.

In an area like Southeastern Oklahoma where cattle and horses are an occupation for many people, the Rodeo Team provided an opportunity for the college student to still be part of that occupation and sport.

1. Rodeo Team members Buster Record, Steve Bland, Kay (Procter) Bland, and Billy Teague.

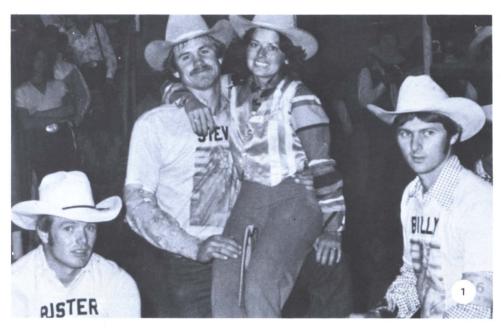

2. Jerry Beagley

3. Rick Bradly

4. John Luthy (Kansas)

5. Dion Moore

6. David Ratchford.

Hall Of Fame

Five former Savage Athletes were inducted into the Athletic Hall of Fame on February 18. It was the second annual ceremony honoring athletes of this university.

Basketball greats James Spivey and Jerry Shipp were honored along with football standouts Dr. Dillard Eubank and Brennon Witt who is now deceased. Basketball and tennis star Warren Womble was also honored.

The five were chosen from a group of 15 nominees by an 18 member voting committee. 1. Dr. Dillard Eubank receives award from President Leon Hibbs, 2. Jerry Shipp, and 3. Hall of Fame inductees James Spivey, Duane Evans, representing Brennon Witt; Jerry Shipp, Dr. Eubank, and Warren Womble.

1978 SOSU Tennis Team

SOSU Tennis

Each year the Southeastern tennis team plays against some really tough competition. This year they will go up against such teams as North Texas, Central State, East Texas, Oral Roberts, University, and Hardinsimmons.

The whole team, returning from last year, are expecting to repeat their OIC championship, and are hoping to win the District 9 championship.

Lon Seiger, in his senior year, is the defending District 9 Conference champion.

Phi Sigma Epsilon

Phi Sigma Epsilon, a social fraternity on campus, sponsors and participates in many activities during the year. They support the Savages at home games with their cannon and raise money for charity in the annual Greek Bowl. This year they play against the TKE's. They also raised money by sponsoring their Little Sister's in a fund raising basketball game and they participate in intermural sports. Each year they have a Goat Roast on Lake Texoma for fun and recreation. The first semester they hold a formal dance "Playboy, and the second semester the Crimson Dance.

Delta Chi Delta

Delta Chi Delta was organized to promote social and academic endeavor, to help stimulate progressive ideas and to uphold all facets of goodwill and brotherhood. It was recognized on Southeastern's campus in December, 1969.

Some of the things Delta Chi sponsors are the Bergundy & Gold dance each fall, the "Greaser" dance each spring, and a booth at the Sand Bass Festival. Delta Chi Delta also raises money each year for non-profitable organizations such as Muscular Dystrophy and the Heart Fund.

In the spring of 1973, Zeta Phi Beta became active on the South-eastern campus. It is a philanthropic organization, and its ideals are service, sisterhood, scholarship, and finer womanhood. Each spring the soroity observes a Finer Womanhood Week. This year, Zeta Phi Beta has only four members. 1. Debra Davis, 2. Jeanetta Walton, 3. Christine Miles. Not pictured is Peggy Gully.

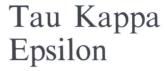

Alpha Phi Alpha

The purposes of Alpha Phi Alpha colony shall be to promote a high standard of excellence and further one's social horizons among college people, to strengthen one's mental attitude to strive for a high level achievement. These goals shall pertain to scholarship, and love for all mankind. Alpha Phi Alpha was recognized as a colony in May, 1974.

Inter-Fraternity Council and Panhellenic Council

The Inter-Fraternity and Panhellenic Councils are the coordinating and governing organizations of Southeastern's Greek community. The council's main efforts are directed toward promoting successful rushes, community service projects, leadership workshops, and scholarships for fraternity and sorority members. In addition, the Panhellenic Council organizes and arranges Rush Week for sorority Rush. The two groups are vital elements in allowing the wheels of the Greek community to remain in constant motion.

Inter-Fraternity Council

These are the things I prize
And hold of dearest worth;
Light of the sapphire skies,
Peace of the silent hills,
Shelter of the forests,
comfort of the grass,
Music of birds, murmur of little rills,
Shadows of clouds that swiftly pass,
And, after showers,
The smell of flowers,
And of the good brown earth
And best of all, along the way friendship and mirth.

The Savage

The SAVAGE is a Memory Book for Southeastern Oklahoma State University. A year's life crammed into a few short pages. The whole story you won't find here, only pieces, but pieces designed to jog a thought, a remembrance.

Many times during the past year I've wondered what has gone wrong; why the constant long hours, why the panic-stricken dead lines. With an atomosphere of mass confusion, one wonders how anything ever got accomplished in the overcrowded, cramped up journalism room, but somehow, we succeeded. But I must admit, though my sanity screamed out, I have enjoyed this past year, despite the hardships. It has been an experience our staff shall never forget. We have worked long hours on lay-outs, design, printing pictures, writing copy, cutlines, and headlines in an effort to bring you a yearbook that contains memorable experience for you.

Thanks a million to my staff. I couldn't have asked for a more talented group. Sandra Hicks and Suzi Reedus have been unbelieveably faithful and I give them my highest praise. Also, my thanks go to Jean Range, Lisa Schutte, Rebecca Kilpatrick, Darlene Woods, and Virgene Andrews, who helped us by scheduling appointments for pictures and putting the index together.

Special thanks should be extended to the American Publishing Company and their representative, John Clark, for their patience, understanding and assistance in helping in the solutions to many of the problems which were encountered in this publication of the SAVAGE.

My thanks go to Photographer James Weaver and his crew: Beth Lomax, Tony Budzinsky, Tuan Nguyen, Dien

Lang, Danny McHargue, and extra thanks to Jim Harmon.

I also want to thank perhaps the greatest man on this campus, the SAVAGE advisor, Kenneth Nichols for giving me the freedom and opportunity to assume the position as editor of the 1978 SAVAGE and for the advice to improve it. Much gratitude must be directed to Rudy Manley, for his assistance and advice in many situations concerning the identification of pictures, photography, and general yearbook development. Rudy has been amazing in his helpfulness and generosity.

I extend a personal thanks to my parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Copeland, for standing behind me in my decisions and giving me the intiative to try hard and do my best at everything I do.

Last, and not the least, I'd like to thank my husband for being cooperative and understanding, and for the general interest he has shown.

My staff has helped me bring to you, the student body of Southeastern Oklahoma State University, the SAVAGE, of which the university, my staff and I, can be proud. May you enjoy this book and read it with not a critical eye. It captures well, I believe, the spirit of Southeastern. When the mists of years haze these days, the SAVAGE will serve as a torch to cut through, to bring back perhaps a smile, perhaps a tear, but always a memory . . .

Marla Minyone Maze Editor

Thata Thing one Thaze

Though we drifted apart in distance
I always think of you as being right here
Though we have different interests our experiences are still the same and though we have many new friends it is our old and continuous friendship that means the most to me.
