

Southeastern State College

Durant, Oklahoma

*How like the stars are these white, nameless faces—
Each in its own bright nebulae enfurled, and
Each face . . . a world!*
—Hagedorn

Varied activities and experiences make up the college world. Faces mirror the emotions produced by the ever-changing environment of life on campus. They reflect perpetual student growth in awareness.

The college years are a time of probing and searching for an identity which often calls for new evaluations. Challenges of group living produce a social maturation while mental development is stimulated with the transformation of the abstract to the concrete.

Campus life is many things—from the ever-present growth of physical facilities through construction (top left) to intellectual achievement. Michael Rendrix (near right) engages in the constant struggle for knowledge. Cheerleader enthusiasm shown by Sissy Tabor (top right) kindles student spirit while Barbara Holley and Alvie Claborn (extreme right) enjoy time made special by each other's presence. Frances Daxson (center) and Richard Hill (extreme right top) are two of the many faces of Southeastern.

Progress Marks 59th Year

Southwestern State is on the move! President Leon Hibbs is in his second year as chief administrator. The field of computer science offers a minor for the first time while the number of aviation majors is increasing in the program's third year.

The campus face receives a new look with the creation of another entrance and groundbreaking for a nine-story coeducational dormitory adds to the progress.

Formation of a girls' drill team, the Savage Anns, and chartering of local chapters of three national organizations show growth in student activities.

Despite the changing times, tradition is preserved. Enrollment lines are as long as ever, special dates break the monotony of routine, sports events draw large audiences, and students continue to feel that the days are never long enough to do the many things college life demands.

Improvements Benefit Students

Building is an integral part of the new face of the college. A science building begun last year is now available for use. Complete laboratory facilities enhance the usefulness of the building. Dormitory phones, installed during the summer, are a new feature of campus life.

Southeastern's library has been renovated and the student union building has been remodeled to provide a better atmosphere for student recreation.

Construction, addition, improvement—all aid in making the college better.

Improved facilities on the "campus of a thousand magnolias" are evidenced by the science building (extreme left), John Ross (near left) is preparing to do an extraction of Cobalt 60, while Virginia Whisenand (top left) focuses a collimator in connection with research work. Mike West (above) takes advantage of the completely renovated library. Students find that even the best man-made facilities give way in spring when soft, warm air and scented fragrances make the campus an inviting garden. Cynthia Lambert (top right) thinks that under a red bud tree is the best place for study on a class assignment.

Clubs Offer Talent Outlets

Various types of organizations are found at Southeastern. From social organizations to special interest clubs—more than 50 groups provide opportunities for active effort on the part of the student.

The Art Club sponsors the Beaux Arts Ball, an all-school costume dance where organizations compete for the best exhibits that depict the selected theme. Individual students vie for the best murals in two divisions—realistic and stylized.

Honor groups play an important part in recognition of outstanding students. Blue Key for men and Cardinal Key for women honor high standing upperclassmen by membership. Several national societies select top students.

Interested students work during the year on the college's two publications.

Events Spark Student Life

Activities abound on the campus. All-college events, such as picnics, dances and assemblies benefit the student body. Individuals also branch out into interest fields such as campus government and choral groups.

Playing an important part in college events are the stage and music performances. Summer drama involves community people as well as college students. SSC's chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, dramatics fraternity, aids in production.

Savage Scandals, student-directed varsity show, features various forms of talent and is presented each year. A tradition in Scandals is the girls' chorus line. Also featured in Scandals are various playlets centered around a theme.

Special opportunities for coeds are provided by the girls' drill team, band majorettes and cheerleaders.

SSC Adds To Curriculum

Additions to the curriculum include computer science being offered as a minor field of study and a Bachelor of Science degree in technology. The bachelor's degree contains several choices of specialization, as well as two-year technology certificate programs.

Aviation boosts include acquisition of two additional planes and improvement of facilities at the airport.

Faculty-student organizations enhance educational processes.

New faculty members totaled 14, while four were on leave for advanced study. Others continue to undertake travel, research and summer study.

Constantly working to upgrade Southeastern, the administration and faculty explore all avenues of thought. In a conference, SSC's president Leon Hibbs (top right) relates his point of view. During a faculty-student reception (extreme right) Doyle Caton, Steve Freeman and Ken Peters, music instructor, engage in conversation. Explaining a concept in English composition (middle right) is Marion Hill, instructor, while art instructor Montee Hake (near right) shapes a bowl on the potter's wheel. Judy Congreve and Jerry Rheinschmidt, aviation majors, examine flight plans against a Cessna fuselage.

Sports Programs Provide Variety

Serving as an important part in the school's program of education are the athletic activities and competitive sports for men and women.

SSC offers not only varsity teams but also a sound curriculum of classroom instruction and courses designed to develop the physical abilities of students. Inter-collegiate teams are basketball, football, baseball, tennis, track and golf, while college courses range from women's gymnastics to dancing.

Intramural sports serve a dual role in offering competitive sports to the student body as well as being helpful in physical growth.

Southeastern Expands Role

With the new official role of "community college," Southeastern has added and expanded technical programs to answer current demands of the college area. While the new designation has brought innovations, without de-emphasizing liberal arts offerings, the college has actually been a "community college" in the broadest sense, since its founding. Bands and choruses, "Town and Gown" drama activities, library and audio-visual services are among the many Southeastern programs which have had significant impact on the community through the years.

Southeastern is a potpourri. Variations in activities are evidenced by the community band's open air concert (far left), and Jim Taylor (near left) as he makes use of a lazy afternoon to finish an art sketch. Savage Anna, newly formed girls' drill team, performs during football half-time activities (below). Cindy Watson and Ann Harrell, caught in the rain, scurry for shelter in the dorm (below left). Elections, a notable part of campus life, are discussed following voting (bottom) by Southeastern students.

*As from our beginning we run through variety of looks,
Before we come to consistent and settled faces . . .*

—Browne

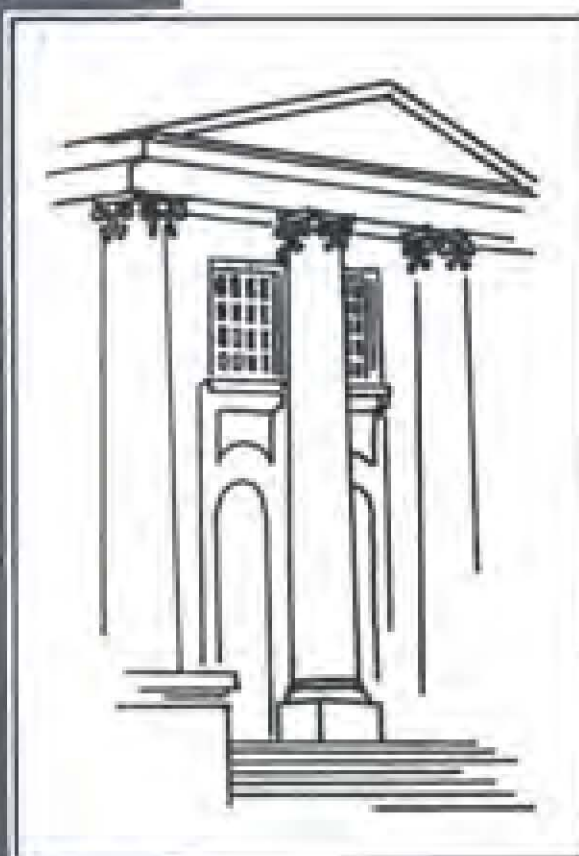

During four short years students develop a blueprint for future in life. College gives students perspectives. It is a time dreaming and planning of immediate as well as long-term goals. Ideas are formulated and old ones are re-evaluated. Spiritual concerns are pondered and explored. Intellectual achievement, by its exaltation, thrusts the student into new areas of thought.

Many decisions are made between the freshman year and the awaited graduation. Faces change, grow, and change again in the process. Experiences in human relationships help students create self images. A student learns to deal with people; to accept . . . and, in doing so, accepts self for what he is!

Fall Brings Campus To Life

Fall semester started with the usual bewilderment and confusion typical of "first days."

The many new faces of beanieed freshmen and the familiar faces of harried seniors were everywhere.

The business office bustled, students' pocketbooks grew thin.

With Boule, campus service groups in the lead, many organizations worked together to acquire a fountain for the campus oval.

Boule fountain (top) adds beauty to campus though occasionally sabotaged with detergent. Especially impressive at night, fountain is built according to a design by Max McClendon, a member of the faculty. Enrollees impatiently wait to turn (above) to give the business office due and marvel at the amount of the miscellaneous fees.

Freshman assembly (top) is, as always, mass chaos, more so for the advisors than for the students. Chatting over refreshments at the annual all-Greek reception (left) are Linda White, Inda Jo Hughes, Debbie Green and Kate Wood. Going through the rigorous procedure of buying books (above) are Darryel Reigh and Warner Baxter. Clerk Debbie Shelby assists them.

Monte Fletcher (above) casts his ballot for the friendliest girl and boy. Title winners Dicky Kidd and Gloria Sims (right) dance after the Friendship Fire (below), at which each group burns its emblem to symbolize the unity of the campus.

Annual Events Highlight Term

Fall activities ranged from spirited football games to the choosing of organization sweethearts and beaus.

The annual Friendship Fire brought together representatives from campus groups. Drama productions on campus, field trips throughout the country, Faculty Fine Arts Festival, beginning of basketball season, pledge period for several clubs and initiation into honorary groups filled the fall semester.

Preparation Lasts All Night

'Twas the night before Homecoming and Southeastern was the scene of frenzied activity. Members of 14 campus organizations worked through the night on their floats. One, however, never made it to the parade. The MENC float broke down as its creators began to pull it from the shed where it had been constructed.

For the second year Alpha Phi

Omega held an all-night beat-in. The Student Senate decorated for the dance, and the yearbook staff struggled to meet their first deadline.

Homecoming Queen candidates staged their second annual revue, as judges narrowed the field to the finalists. Entertainment at the revue featured SSC's stage band as it spoofed the faculty.

'Happiness Is ... Homecoming'

"Happiness is victory" read the new booster buttons, which were as prevalent as chrysanthemums, but the Savages lost their homecoming thriller 27-28 to Henderson State.

Overcast skies did not deter the "Southeastern air force" from making a surprise appearance during half-time. Area bands performed with featured twirlers; winning floats were announced; and the Homecoming Queen was crowned.

After-game festivities included Faculty Dames' alumni tea, the Chorale's first reunion and teas and suppers given by several groups. Climaxing the day was a dance featuring the Southwest F.O.B. band,

Winter Stirs Campus Life

Campus activities gathered momentum as fall blended into winter. The annual speech tournament brought hundreds of high-schoolers and involved faculty throughout the college.

Preparation for Christmas was encouraged by the traditional Candle-lighting Ceremony, and the Chorale gave its concert in January.

Leaders Gather At Texoma

Approximately 90 student leaders and faculty gathered at Texoma Lodge at the end of the Christmas holiday to participate in Southeastern's first Student Leadership Conference.

Meeting in small groups, they explored campus problems; joining together they studied the qualities of leadership with a psychologist and a banker-educator.

Students and faculty shared many of the same concerns from parking meters to academic maturity.

The meeting was sponsored by the President's Club with president Leon Hibbs as faculty sponsor. President of the club is Doug Weldon.

Artists Compete At Annual Ball

Costumed students danced to the music of the "Rye Tweed Blues Band" at the 22nd annual Beaux Arts Ball. Sponsored by the Art Club, the decor featured murals on the theme "famous villains."

Judges awarded prizes for winning murals, booths and costumes. A king and queen were named to reign throughout the dance.

Students Give Annual Show

Miss Oklahoma, Carolyn Denton, came to Southeastern to participate in the 13th annual production of Savage Scandals, campus variety show.

A slow motion pie-in-the-face routine starred Katie Frank Slack, dean of women and faculty sponsor of the show, with Jon Livingston as a student who wanted to know what grade he had made in Miss Slack's class and received the pie. The 1968 production was built around incidents in U.S. history and was directed by Butch Denton and Helen Latimer.

The 1969 edition was to be fashioned after a newspaper with LeeRoy Casebeer directing. He was to be assisted by Melinda Smith and La-Chrisa Coyle was to be the chorus line director and choreographer.

Drama Firsts Highlight Year

Southeastern dramatists introduced new forms to students and residents this year through "Thurber Carnival" and "Readers' Theater." The former, presented by Alpha Psi Omega dramatics fraternity, uses only a suggestion of scenery, and the latter used none.

Summer "Town and Gown" presentation of a melodrama, "The Drunkard," was well received. The annual children's theater, also a summer production, featured the "Wizard of Oz."

Two actors proved their thespian abilities when slipped a vinegar-laced Kool-Aid in the spring 1968 musical comedy production, "The Boyfriend." Scheduled for staging in late spring 1969 was "Luv," made popular on Broadway. The play called for only three actors directed by Laura Linda Green.

Activities 'Spring' Into Action

Spring was another round of classes, longer days and much rain. Work seemed harder as the warm afternoon sun brought reminders of the lake and good times. Coffeeshopping and card playing still remained the favorite campus sports.

Sadie Hawkins Week challenged one to defy the laws of motion with the egg races and the laws of cleanliness with the greased pig catch.

Riders came from surrounding states to compete for prizes in bull-riding, calf-roping and other sports at the Little "D" Rodeo sponsored by the campus Rodeo Club.

Little "D" Rodeo (above) sponsored by the campus club of the same name offers students and non-students alike a chance to participate. A campus workman (left) gives the campus a new spring look with fresh paint.

Getting to know each other during the Panhellenic Reception (left) are Dana Haggard, Ann Beth Jones, Peggy Hart and Linda Means.

Elections Mark Second Term

Spring housecleaning, formal rush, Student Senate elections and warm spring evenings characterized the year's second term.

Whether time came and found most students making signs for their favorite Senate candidates. Speeches, coupled with the spring feel, added to the election time fervor.

Highlight of every spring as a college campus is graduation with its final goodbye to past glories and bright look toward future promises. The Awards Assembly is held during the spring.

Calamization of college efforts (left) comes as the seniors march to Montgomery Avenue. Studying (above) seems to be a little easier to Yvonne Wells and Gayle Miller when it can be done in the warm spring sunshine.

Governor
Dewey Bartlett
Leads Sooners'

Dewey Bartlett is in his third year of administration over the Sooner state. He became the state's second Republican governor at his formal inauguration January 9, 1967.

Prior to his election, Governor Bartlett was a businessman in Tulsa. He and Mrs. Bartlett have three children.

State Regents

Two Boards Shape Policies

Members of the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education are appointed by the governor to determine the functions and course of study in colleges and to prescribe standards of higher education applicable to each state institution.

The board's head is Clyde Wheeler.

Led by Donald Kennedy, the State Board of Regents of Oklahoma Colleges direct matters concerning employment, expenditures and college policies. The board considers presidential recommendations.

Members of the State Board of Regents of Oklahoma Colleges (above) are, left to right from the top, Thomas Walsh, president; Lawrence Morrison, vice-president; M. C. Collins, executive secretary; V. L. Browne; Mrs. Mary Cherry; Dr. D. D. Crouch; Harold Garvin; Marvin Hambrick; Joe Monroe, and Mrs. Davis Pruitt. Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education members (left) are, left to right, Clyde Wheeler, chairman; Harry Conroy, vice-chairman; Essell English, secretary; G. Ellis Gable, assistant secretary; Dr. E. T. Dunlap, chancellor; Goodwin Broadbush; Mrs. Jewell Dittmar; Donald Kennedy; William Payne; and John Vater.

Administration

President Hibbs Leads SSC

President Leon Hibbs is in his second year as top administrator at Southeastern State College.

Taking an active part in the campus life of students as well as his administrative role, Hibbs sponsors the President's Club. The club, composed of campus organizations' presidents, sponsored the first leadership conference during the fall semester. The conference included student-faculty discussion panels which considered problems of Southeastern State.

President Hibbs and his wife, Maxine, have four children—two boys, Max and Craig, and two girls, Gayle and LeAn. Baby girl LeAn arrived shortly before the Christmas holidays to boost the Hibbs family to six.

The president's home received a new look this year by remodeling both the interior and exterior of the house. The campus received a new look through paintings and landscaping.

Members of the Leon Hibbs family (far left) are Max, Maxine, baby LeAn, the president, Craig and Gayle. Leon Hibbs (left and above) is the fourteenth president of Southeastern.

Administration

Deans Develop Academic Policy

Administrative duties are divided among the three deans. Dr. James Morrison serves as dean of instruction and coordinates the class schedules and curriculum planning. Dr. Morrison also teaches Oklahoma History.

Serving as deans to the students are Katie Frank Slack, dean of women, and Dr. John Krattiger, dean of students. Both are advisers to Student Senate and sponsor Cardinal Key and Blue Key, national honorary leadership organizations for top SSC students.

Dr. John Krattiger (right) serves as dean of students and sponsors Interfraternity Council. Katie Frank Slack (top right), dean of women, directs the second Homecoming Revue, a show featuring queen contestants. Explaining a typing assignment (top left) to student workers Judy Ivey and Mary Harris is Dorothy Laycock, secretary to the dean of students.

Administration

Shift In Location To Help Registry

Moving to a new office during June was the major topic of concern in the registry. Previously located on the second floor of the classroom building, the office was moved to the administration building.

Responsibility for keeping accounts of academic records of the students is the major duty of the registrar's office. The staff tabulates grade point averages at the end of each semester. Headed by Sam O. Pool, the office makes final approval of enrollment sheets and class cards.

Checking over transcripts and check sheets (top) is Sam Pool, registrar. Mildred Trammell (above) serves as assistant registrar. Mary Ann Castleberry, (above left) clerk, files enrollment sheets and transcripts.

Administration

Three Offices Benefit Students

Helping students in various ways are the fifth-year, student aid and placement offices.

The placement office locates job opportunities for graduates. Coordinating employment and financial aids are duties of the student aid office, while the fifth-year office advises graduate students.

Program Grows In Third Year

American Flyer's aviation degree program completed its third year of progress with numerous students pursuing the study. Southeastern's responsibilities in the aviation program are general education, ground school and basic flying at Eaker Airport.

One of two colleges to offer a professional degree, Southeastern has certificate plans in five areas of concentration. Alpha Eta Rho, aviation fraternity, aids study.

Members Present Musicale

One of the major activities of the fall semester was the presentation of the second annual faculty musicale. Faculty members performed on various instruments. Arrangements were by Dr. Paul Mansur, department chairman.

A new song and dance group, the Chorvettes, was begun this year with Mary Ann Thompson serving as director.

Band activities for the year included the music for Candlelighting, a spring concert and a trip to the Mardi Gras in New Orleans. The marching band, headed by Kenneth Peters boasted a 62-piece membership and claimed the title for the largest in college history.

Highlights for Chorale, select group of singers, was opening the 1969 legislative session in Oklahoma City, spring concert and state tours.

Foreign Language

Linguistics Lab Benefits Study

Advantageous to the teaching of foreign language is the modern lab housed in the administration building. The lab features individual recording carrels and booths designed for the student to listen to tapes of the language under study.

Four languages—Latin, French, Spanish, and German were taught the fall semester.

Interest clubs in each field aid students in mastering the language. A combined foreign language society, honors outstanding students in language by membership in the national fraternity.

Modern Lab facilities aid foreign language students prepare class assignments. Joan Wilson, senior French major, records an oral lesson to be played later to check possible mispronunciations.

Physical Science

Labs Implement Practical Work

Labs offer practical experience in the field of physical science. Equipment designed for research and scientific study enhance the study.

Classes include general chemistry, advanced physics, biochemistry, optics and electricity and magnetism.

Aiding study is the student affiliate of the Physics Society.

Education

Division Equips Future Teachers

Primary aim of the education department is to prepare students for roles as teachers. The department combines with other areas of study to reach a satisfactory arrangement of courses.

Through its intern teaching program, which is on the block system, wherein students attend instructional classes for nine weeks of the semester and then practice teach the remainder, the department strives to develop the utmost efficiency.

New Profs Join Department

Five new faces are in the department this year due to two instructors being on leave for additional study and three faculty openings.

Five areas of study are offered students in the social science department. Selections may be made from history, sociology, economics, government and geography.

Summer activities were highlighted by the annual geography tour. Conducted by Rade Radasinovich, instructor-on-leave, the trip took tourists to countries in Scandinavia.

Physical Education

Division Offers Large Scope

Offering courses designed for the physical betterment of all students, the physical education department concentrates on diversity of courses.

Included in the intercollegiate sports are basketball, football, baseball, track, tennis and golf.

Courses for all students include social and square dancing, archery, fencing, women's fundamentals, swimming and bowling. Gymnastic classes comprise tumbling, beams and trampoline.

Industrial Arts

Class Constructs Television Unit

Industrial arts students and faculty members constructed a console unit and other equipment used in Southeastern's new television studio. Responsible largely for the task was a special summer industrial arts class conducted by Harold Lynn, instructor.

The department has instruction of practical skills applicable to everyday life. Classes vary from arts and crafts for elementary majors to advanced carpentry and mechanics.

Home Economics, Health Education

Classes Learn Better Living

Healthful living is taught in the home economics and health departments.

Two instructors teach home economics classes ranging from techniques of food preparation and nutrition to better use of textiles in decorating and clothing design.

Outside responsibilities of the co-eds in home economics include preparing various dinner and teas.

Dr. Bernice Crockett serves as instructor of health education classes. Besides her teaching duties, Dr. Crockett serves as coordinator of Dental Health Workshops for teachers of Oklahoma. Dr. Crockett organized the first workshop in 1963 and has had annual summer meetings since.

Equipment Aids Individual Study

New to the staff of the library is Frances Whitely, assistant librarian.

Library facilities aid students in many ways. Open stack books, individual study carrels and rest lounges offer advantages to study. A new feature of the library is a Xerox machine, enabling students to copy diagrams, charts and text from reference books. Students enjoy a modern magazine department.

Business Staff

Employees Keep Finances

Enrollment periods are the busiest times for the business office. The clerks are responsible for receiving tuition and collecting class cards from students. The cafeteria and dorm fees are paid to the business office. Preparation of the monthly payroll is also an office duty.

The purchasing agent and controller's offices were moved to the first floor of the administration building.

The business office offers a place for many Southeastern students to work at a part-time college job.

Identification cards are prepared and distributed by the office. Although enrollment periods are the busiest, work is steady year-round.

Student Senate

Group Prepares Homecoming

Highlighting the year for Student Senate, organization governing student activities on campus, was the planning of Homecoming. The club organized the dance decoration and selected the Southwest F.O.B. as the band for the event. In addition, the group sponsored the Homecoming Revue queen contest and parade proceedings.

Other key events which the Senate sponsored were Friendship Fire and the selection of the friendliest boy and girl, and Savage Scandals, annual variety show.

The purpose of the club is to promote better relations and opportunities for students and faculty.

Meetings are held each Thursday night for the fourteen-member group.

Savage

Yearbook Wins National Honors

National awards, state awards and the largest yearbook in Southeastern's history mark newsmakers for the Savage.

The yearbook received a First Class honor rating from the Associated Collegiate Press, University of Minnesota. An honor-book rating was also given to the Savage by the National School Yearbook Association, Memphis, Tennessee.

State honors came when the '68 publication was named third best yearbook in Oklahoma at the fall meeting of Oklahoma Collegiate Press Association.

Making local "firsts," the 1969 Savage boasts 272 pages, which makes it the college's largest yearbook.

Yearbook staff members arranged for the second annual, all-campus yearbook queen election during the second semester.

The Southeastern

Paper Initiates Staff, Faculty

Publication of The Southeastern was characterized by new techniques of make-up, a new sponsor and beginning journalism students comprising the bulk of the staff.

The technique of preparing page dummies offers advantages to good newspaper make-up.

Beginning her duties as sponsor of The Southeastern is Joretta Eppley. She also serves as yearbook adviser and journalism instructor.

Starting her tenure as editor of the paper, Alene Chandler worked with freshman journalists.

At the fall meeting of the Oklahoma Collegiate Press Association held at Oklahoma State University Judy Gray, staff member, was chosen senior college director.

Afro-American Union

Negro Society Builds Float

The main activity of the newly formed Afro-American Student Union was the building of a float in the Homecoming Parade representing the Negro students of SSC.

The club is the first Negro organization to be established on the Southeastern campus.

Sponsors of the group are Dr. Donald Brown and Edward Byrd.

Afro-American members are (top) 1 Roxalyn Luster, 2 Almetta Potent, 3 Minnie Foutaine, 4 Mary Jackson, 5 Henry Burris, 6 Sharon Porter, 7 Mary Jackson, 8 Kenneth Porter, 9 Jackie Simmons, 10 Richard Fulson, 11 Leon Douglas, 12 Willie Wofford, 13 James McDonald, 14 Charles Colbert, 15 Thelma Thomas, 16 Gladys Fulson, 17 Jack Shaw, 18 Leo Thompson, 19 Irrington Isaacs, 20 Thurman Miles, 21 Annie Butler, 22 Melard Robins, 23 Phyllis Moten. Sharing a humorous moment with Dr. Brown, sponsor, are members of Afro-American Society.

Alpha Eta Rho

Flyers Tour Aviation Spots

Several field trips highlighted the year for Alpha Eta Rho, national aviation fraternity. Among those tours made were visits to Perrin Air Force Base in Sherman, Dallas Love Field, FAA center and Tinker Air Force Base, both in Oklahoma City.

The group also won second place in the Homecoming float competition. The float featured a Cessna aircraft balanced on truck bed.

Club sponsor is William Dodd.

First official pledge class (above) for Alpha Eta Rho includes 1 Mike Mahoney, 2 Paul Hale, 3 Sidney Maxey, 4 Anthony Cappuccio, 5 Michael Dawes, 6 Judy Congreve, 7 Dene Herron, 8 Jerry Rheinschmidt, 9 James Thompson, 10 Daniel Steers, 11 James Severns, 12 Chuck Pine, 13 Anthony Carris, 14 Mark Perkins, 15 Ben Fisher, 16 John Davis. Members of this chapter during its first year on campus (left) are, sitting, James McDowell, Vance Parr, Bill Dodd, sponsor, Robert Schwartz and James Kerlin. Alpha Phi Omega Group Seeks Ugliest Man

An "ugly man" contest was held in February by the 17-year-old chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, campus men's service fraternity.

The organization also held a beat-in through the night before Homecoming along with awarding the Great Spirit Award to the winning teepee builders.

Five officers of the club, sponsored by Dr. Wayne Silver, helped to establish a new chapter at Austin College in Sherman, Texas.

APO claims to gather college men in the fellowship of the Scout oath and laws.

President of the 15-member group is Earl Baggerley; vice-president, Thurman Miles; secretary, Garry Ivey; and treasurer, Jim Eeds.

Alpha Psi Omega

Production Tops Fall Term

Production of the works of James Thurber highlighted the fall semester for Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity.

The group which is a chapter of the largest honorary fraternity in the United States, aims to promote dramatic productions on campus.

Doris Simpson, speech instructor, and Raymond Piller, head librarian, serve as sponsors.

Art Club

Artists Take Float Contest

Taking first place in the Homecoming float competition was the Art Club, an organization devoted to self-expression in art.

Many other activities filled the year for the group, including sponsoring the Beaux Arts Ball, making the Candlelighting decorations and setting up the outdoor Christmas Nativity scene.

Sponsors of the organization are Dr. Allen Platter, Montee Hoke, Max McClendon and James Barnette.

Group Visits Mardi Gras

Highlighting the year for the band was a trip to the Mardi Gras in New Orleans. The band marched in two Mardi Gras parades and topped off the February trip with a sight-seeing tour of the city.

High point of the fall semester was the Tenth Annual Band Day in which some 400 high school band students tried out for Southeast District Band. Acting as host for the group was the SSC band. Trophies were awarded to the outstanding groups.

Other activities of the group included a spring concert and a performing tour of surrounding high schools.

Prerequisite for membership is reasonable proficiency on an instrument and a willingness to practice marching during the lunch hour.

Blue Key

Fraternity Leads Toy Drive

Collecting broken toys for the fire department during their Christmas campaign was one of the main activities of the Blue Key, honorary leadership fraternity.

Other interests of the organization included a car in the Homecoming Parade, and the initiation of a spirit campaign which lasted throughout the year.

The fraternity strives for intellectual attainment and service to Southeastern. Members must be of junior standing with a high scholastic average and unusual qualities of leadership, character, and service.

Sponsoring the organization is Dr. John Krattiger, dean of students.

Meetings are held on the first and third Thursdays of each month.

nal Key

Sorority Visits Rest Homes

iting local nursing homes during Thanksgiving and Christmas was the activity of Cardinal Key, an honorary leadership sorority. The members made place cards and favors for the events.

Other interests of the group included a queen candidate. Joan Wilson, who placed in the top five finalists for Homecoming queen and participation in Candlelighting services.

Cardinal Key encourages scholastic achievement and develops leadership qualities. Membership is limited to a maximum of 15.

Junior standing with a high scholastic average and unusual leadership qualities are required.

BSU

Youth Group Takes Third

Baptist Student Union won a third place award in the Homecoming field decorations. The organization is a campus church group available to all students six days a week.

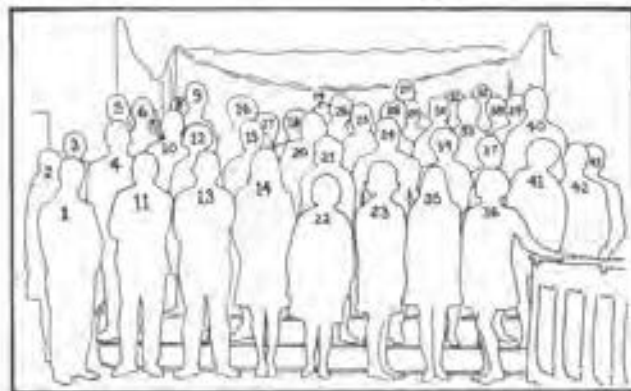

BSU participated in statewide Baptist functions and is a leader in campus intramurals.

The group, sponsored by John Heath, hosts a noon-hour devotional with occasional guest speakers.

Disadvantaged children (top) enjoy the BSU Christmas party. Members of the BSU (above) are 1 Ali Rubaiy, 2 Elizabeth Bowling, 3 Eddie Ary, 4 John Heath, 5 Alvy Clayborn, 6 Mike West, 7 Bill Ross, 8 Roger Speers, 9 Paul Bashaw, 10 Mo Rubaiy, 11 Abi Mauri, 12 Linda Page, 13 Pete Ramirez, 14 Linda Reeves, 15 Mario Herdoiza, 16 Kay Green, 17 Theata Cooper, 18 Jeanetta Robinson, 19 Tom Tyler, 20 Sherry Finley, 21 Rosie Hughes, 22

M. Gaskin, pastor of First Baptist Church, Durant, 40 Gary Rice, 41 Priscilla Shingleton, 42 Skip Reese, 43 Rob Thompson.

Newman Club

Catholics Host Italian Dinner

Roman Catholic faith is represented on campus by the Newman Club. After being inactive for a period of years, the group held a spaghetti dinner during December.

The main objective of the club is to have an organized group to plan and conduct social activities for Catholics or those interested in the Catholic faith. Members meet after Sunday Mass and Thursday afternoon. Faculty sponsor is Jean Mack.

Pausing in front of the administration building (left) are members of the newly organized Newman Club 1 Mary Grego, 2 Tony Carro, 3 Larry Krsak, president, 4 Pat Riemer, 5 Terri Shipley, 6 Kirby Ament, 7 Kathy Riemer, social chairman, 8 Judy Spencer.

Epsilon Tau Chi

Church Club Plans Retreat

Spring retreat at Ada highlighted the year for Epsilon Tau Chi, a social organization sponsored by the Church of Christ.

Homecoming activities included building a float, naming a queen candidate and holding an alumni dinner. The group also provided entertainment after home ball games.

Methodists Celebrate Season

Holiday spirit showed itself in the Christmas banquet held by the Wesley Foundation in December. The group strives to provide meaningful Christian fellowship.

Wesley also participated in a tri-church Thanksgiving dinner involving the Baptist Student Union and the Church of Christ group.

The organization, sponsored by Dave Cook, instructor, welcomes students of all denominations.

Campus Club Presents Skits

High point of the spring semester for Alpha Mu Gamma, honorary language fraternity, was a series of skits presented to area high schools. The skits were performed in four divisions with each division presented in a different language.

Another activity was the initiation banquet held during November.

The three-year-old organization, which honors achievement in all foreign languages, is sponsored by Ralph Cherry, foreign language instructor, and includes other instructors.

Boule

Secret Society Aids School

Making a large contribution toward the new campus fountain was Boule, a secret fraternity dedicated to the promotion of campus spirit at Southeastern.

Other events in which the club participated were a spring outing and a stunt night.

Membership is honorary and those invited to pledge must have sophomore standing with a "C" average and must plan to graduate from SSC.

Boule, sponsored by Evelyn Fagan and Robert Ausley, was organized with the intention of service to the college.

Singers Perform At Capital

Opening the 1969 Oklahoma legislature and entertaining servicemen at bases in Colorado and Wyoming highlighted the year for the Southeastern State Chorale, a 45-member singing group.

The group, directed by George Smith, performed at the state P.E.O. convention and toured Oklahoma high schools.

Other activities included a former students' luncheon at Homecoming, performance at Candlelighting ceremonies and campus concerts in January and May.

Officers are David Hobbs, president; Jimmy Boyd, vice-president, and Sheila Pyle, secretary.

Featured with the Chorale is the Men's Quartet which also sings for local organizations and banquets.

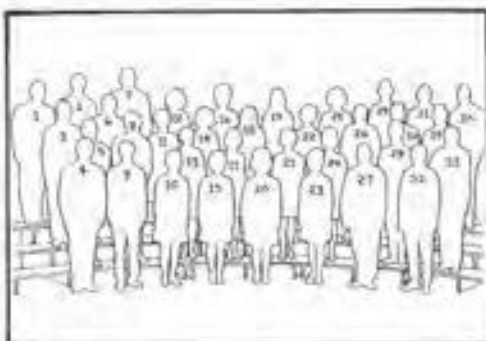

Directing rehearsal (above) is George Smith. Practicing (top) are Debbie Copeland, Samantha Mitchell and Virginia Boydston. Performing (right) is the Men's Quartet composed of Rodney Avant, Joel Wellnitz, Steve Tilford and Jim Boyd.

Members (above) are 1 Bill Groom, 2 Jon Livingston, 3 Ron Qualls, 4 Steve Tilford, 5 Jim Gilbreath, 6 Chuck Allen, 7 Kurt Engelman, 8 Rodney Avant, 9 Dennis Waldroop, 10 Royceann Newell, 11 Suzanna Jones, 12 Dianne Ellis, 13 Debbie Hubbard, 14 Samantha Mitchell, 15 Sylvia German, 16 Margaret Dickover, 17 Susan Hankey, 18 Marilyn Clark, 19 Nancy James, 20 Nora Austin, 21 LaChrica Coyle, 22 Suzanne Hill, 23 Denise Bushers, 24 Vicki Blair, 25 Sheila Pyle, 26 Roger Clark, 27 Jim Boyd, 28 David Hobbs, 29 Walley Winter, 30 Rob Williams, 31 Lewis Everett, 32 Jerry Dodds, 33 Dave Borman, 34 Larry Miller, 35 Gary Stanley. Sheila Pyle, (left) performs a solo. Accompanists (below) are Ronnie Qualls, Jim Dillard, Mary Thompson, music faculty, and Tommy Wheelus.

Chorvettes

Group Starts Fresh Idea

Entertaining the students on campus and traveling to area towns are the newly organized Chorvettes, a group of 12 persons talented in acting, singing, dancing, and playing musical instruments.

Chorvettes performed in the Homecoming Revue and in the annual production of the Savage Scandals.

The group, sponsored by Mary Ann Thompson and Doris Simpson, also applied for a USO tour overseas.

Rehearsing a number (top) are Chorvettes Jim Swink, Susan Hankey and Royce Williamson. The girls (above), Terri Chambers, Brenda DeVore, Susan Hankey and Kaye Carter, have the boys Royce Williamson, Jim Swink, Joel Wellnitz and Rodney Avant in harness for "Yankee Doodle," a Chorvettes' number.

Karate Club

Students Study Self-Defense

The art of self defense is being taught through the SSC Karate Club.

Students are coached in Karate skills by Bob Norrell, who holds a black belt and is also president of the group.

The organization, sponsored by J. B. Phillips, multi-media director, has a total of 14 members and meets weekly in the field-house. Members must be Southeastern students and be in good health.

Chemical Society

Chemistry Buffs Hear Speakers

Keynote speakers and a picnic highlighted the year for the local student affiliate of American Chemical Society. The society which fosters a professional pride in chemistry and chemical engineering gives interested students additional knowledge in their field.

The club, founded at SSC in 1967, requires a chemistry or chemical engineering major for membership.

Studying notes (above) are officers of the American Chemical Society Larry Martin, vice-president; Lanny Youree, treasurer; Virginia Whisenhunt, secretary, and Darreyl Reigh, president. Members of the chapter (below) are 1 Macky McDonald, 2 Dr. Jack Robinson, sponsor, 3 Phyllis Rand, 4 Joe McCoy, 5 Larry Dover, 6 Owen Grimes, 7 Lana Howl, 8 Lanny Youree, 9 Carol Griess, 10 Gary Ainsworth, 11 Gary Youree, 12 Larry Martin, 13 Joe Hogan, 14 John Robinson, 15 Virginia Whisenhunt, 16 Darreyl Reigh, 17 Jack Rambo.

Cheerleaders

Coeds Add Pep To SSC Events

Supplying school spirit and providing support for sports are the six SSC cheerleaders and the Southeastern mascot.

Main activities of the group include making spirit signs and decorating the goal posts for each game along with painting spirit messages on downtown store windows.

The Southeastern mascot, dressed as an Indian, helps the cheerleaders lead the yells for SSC.

College Players

Thespian Club Fixes Theater

Key activity of College Players, SSC dramatics club, was the restoration of the amphitheater. Students worked tirelessly on lighting, scenery, and costumes for major productions this year.

Another major project of the organization was the provision of clowns for the Homecoming parade. College Players annually supply the color and fun of a circus to the event.

The key purpose of College Players is to participate in and support all dramatic productions of the school. Often the energetic spirit of the club is spent in publicizing an upcoming play or on one of the speech tournaments held yearly on SSC's campus.

Laura Linda Greene is sponsor.

Disc Jockey

Students Give Weekly Dance

One of the popular activities of the campus is Disc Jockey Club. The Club, composed of students who enjoy good band music and dancing, supplies entertainment for the campus every Monday night.

Acting as officers for the organization during the fall semester are Garland Clay, president, and James Dunham, vice-president. Sponsor of the group is John Krattiger, dean of students.

D. J. may be a money-raising project for any school organization.

Dorm Councils

Groups Plan Holiday Meal

Serving as the coordinators of the annual Christmas dinner are the three dorm councils. The councils, which are composed of officers and floor representatives, annually present gifts to the housemothers at the dinner.

Another interest of the groups is participation in the Friendship Fire and Homecoming queen competition.

The councils serve as a sounding board for problems between students and administration.

Industrial Club

Members Go On Excursion

Visiting Texas Industries in Dallas was the major event of Industrial Arts Club. The organization includes people who are interested in the industrial education program of today.

Other events included a steak fry at the end of each year which is open to all members and their guests. The club also made several trips to plants in Denison and Sherman.

The organization, sponsored by James Latham, instructor, consists of 35 members.

Sigma Tau Delta

Frat Judges Poetry Contest

Sigma Tau Delta, honorary, English fraternity, annually sponsors and judges the Christmas poem contest, open to all students at Southeastern. The poem selected is printed in the Candlelighting program.

Another event of the year was a trip to Dallas to attend a play. Members also took a tour of several of the more famous sites of the city.

The group publishes a magazine of creative writing by SSC students.

Savage Anns

Drill Team Adds Zip To Games

Adding sparkle and dash to SSC half-times is the newly formed drill squad, the Savage Anns. Led by Laura Linda Greene, college dramatics instructor, the high steppers performed numerous routines before home audiences. The Savage Anns also traveled to Ada for the hotly-contested clash between the Savages and Tigers.

Dressed in a mod version of Indian attire, the swirling figures light up halftime proceedings with colorful displays.

Members of the coed organization are Joy Phillips, Billie Brewer, Debbie Shelby, Kathi Stansel, Molly Walker, Rebecca Williams, Joyce Reed, Wanda Burnett, Mona Lombard, Lujane Kitchens, Retta Martin, Charlotte Young, La Chrica Coyle, Pat Tatum, Belinda Martin, Rita Van Cleave, Margaret Nofire, Clommer Ellis, Betty Mahana, Glenda McCord, Debbie Moran, Kathi McCombs.

Interfraternity

Bowl Encounter Features Greeks

Highlighting the year for Interfraternity Council, composed of the three social fraternities, was the annual Greek Bowl game. This year's battle saw Sigma Tau Gamma defeat Phi Sigma Epsilon.

Another major happening included the fall reception with the three social sororities. Members of Tau Kappa Epsilon joined with the Sig Taus and Phi Sigs to present a skit for the faculty.

Closing the year for Interfraternity Council, is the All-Greek Dance with Panhellenic. In the annual affair members of all Greek social organizations gather to renew old friendships.

Tony Benson is president of IFC.

Panhellenic

Sororities Enrich SSC Functions

Faculty-Greek reception, Greek Week activities, and formal rush filled the calendar for Panhellenic, representative body of the three social sororities.

Other events sponsored by the group included a welcome party for potential rushees in the fall and a fraternity-sorority mixer later in the year.

Panhellenic membership includes three girls from each sorority—Alpha Sigma Tau, Delta Zeta, and Sigma Kappa. Usually the representatives are the president, vice-president, and the chosen delegates of each group.

Panhellenic helps all Greek organizations to work together. It fosters a spirit of friendship and cooperation among sororities.

Checking details of an upcoming reception are (above) Panhellenic officers Terri Chambers, Melinda Smith, Winona Hambrick, and Dean Katie Frank Slack, the sponsor, standing. Sigma Kappa

Members Sponsor Projects

Sorority events for Sigma Kappas have ranged from community service projects to an active participation in campus government and activities.

Visiting rest homes, making gifts for the Maine Sea Coast Mission, Bar Harbor, Maine, and making and sending gifts and materials abroad have been major focal points of service to others and the community.

Positions held on campus by sorority members have been the presidencies of four organizations; memberships in Cardinal Key, coed honor group; four group favorites, and three of the seven cheerleaders.

Four Sigma Kappas—Linda Hayes, Cheryl Kilpatrick, Judy McNabb and Joan Wilson—were named to Who's Who Among Students.

Phi Sigma Epsilon

Group Hosts Playboy Fete

Activities of Phi Sigma Epsilon, social fraternity, for the year have been the Playboy Dance and participation in the sixth annual Greek Charity Bowl. Phi Sigs were pitted against Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity in the bowl game. Phi Sigs also sold advertisements for desk blotters.

Phi Sigs—Tony Benson and Jerry Campbell represented the organization in the Inter-fraternity Council. Benson served as president of the council.

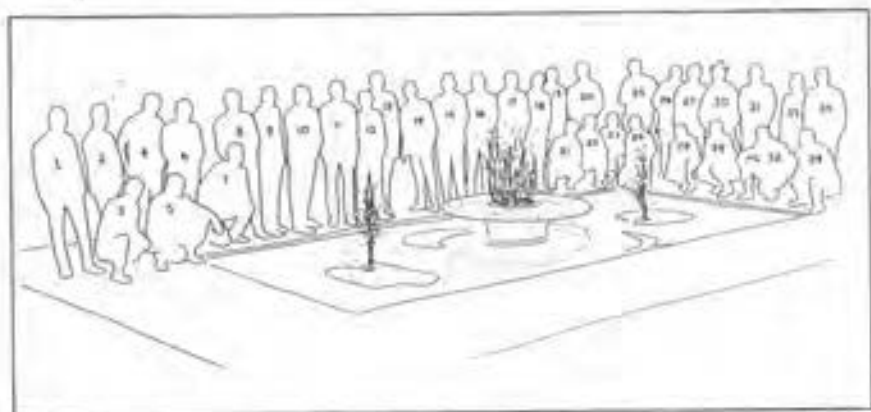

Fraternity member Carl Hill was president of Boule, local service organization, for the fall semester.

Officers of the fraternity were Johnny Sweeney, president; Tony Benson, vice-president; Dick DeVilliers and Elton Ferguson, secretaries, and Randy Thomas, treasurer.

Sigma Tau Gamma

Frat Wins 7th Charity Bowl

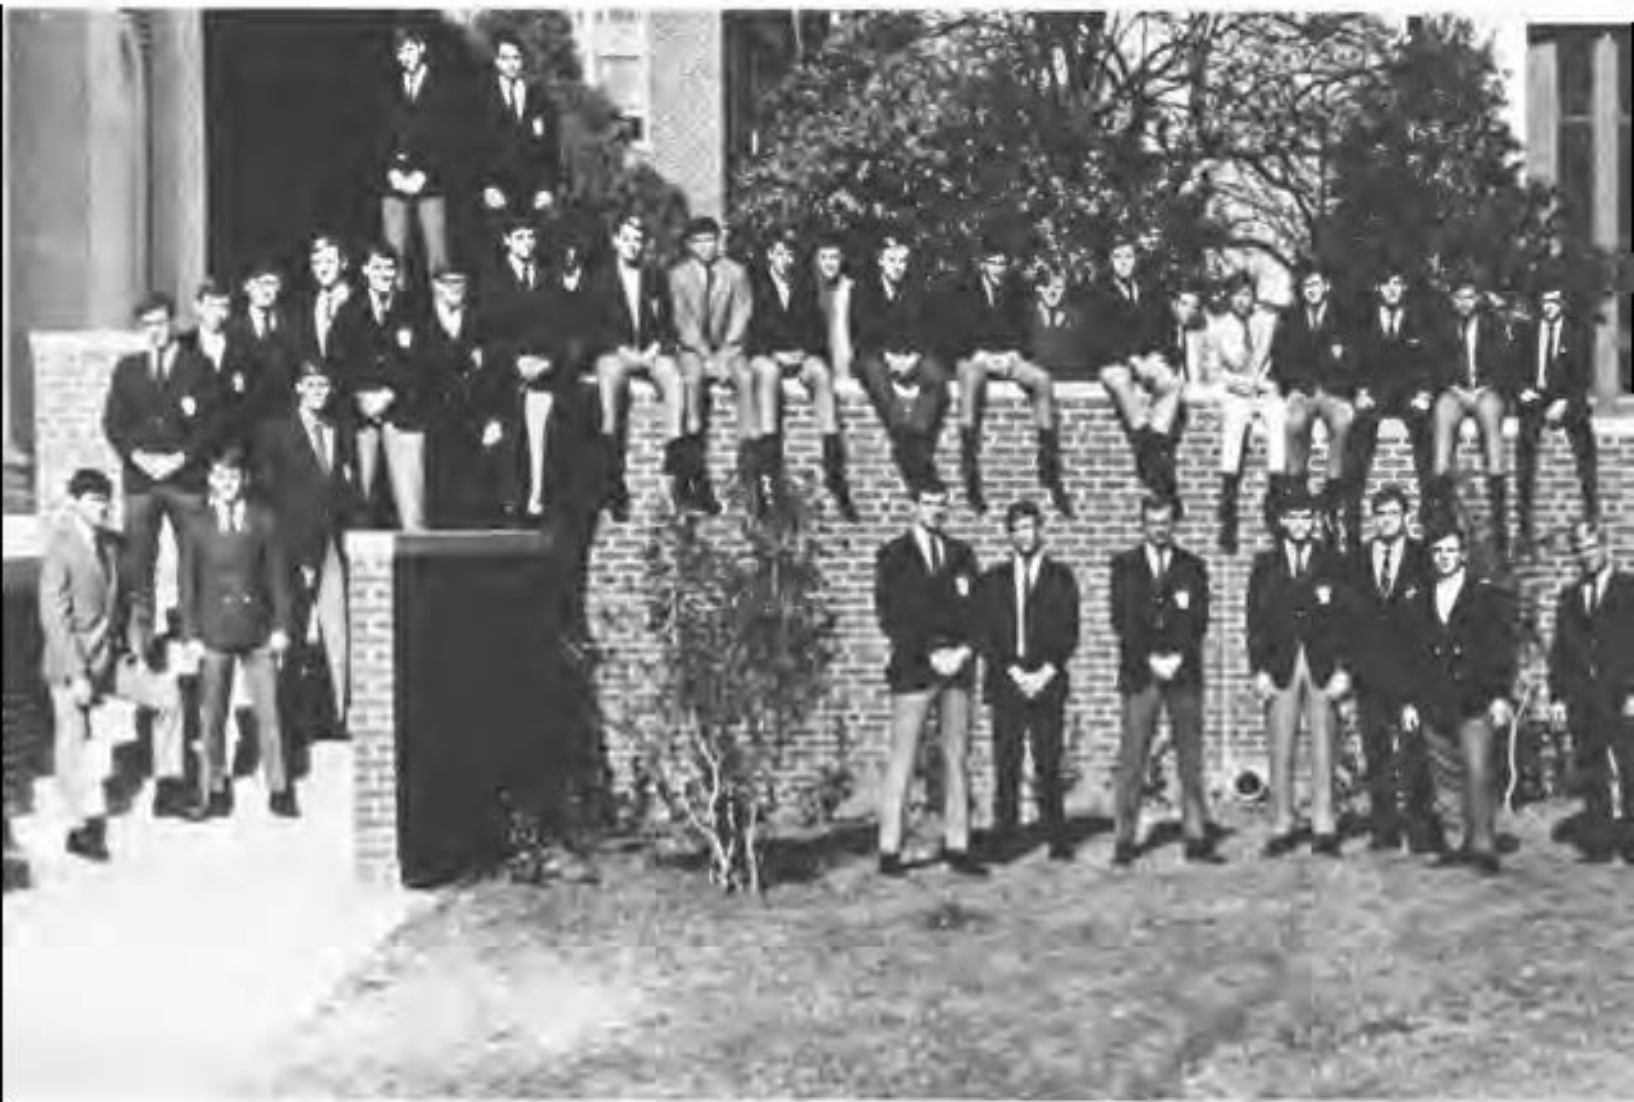

Sigma Tau Gamma's triumph over Phi Sigma Epsilon in the annual Charity Bowl football game was the high point of the year. Proceeds of the game went to the Bryan County Children's Welfare Department.

Opening of the Sig Tau house was another focal point of the fraternity activities. The house provides members with a place for social functions and living facilities.

Other activities included the White

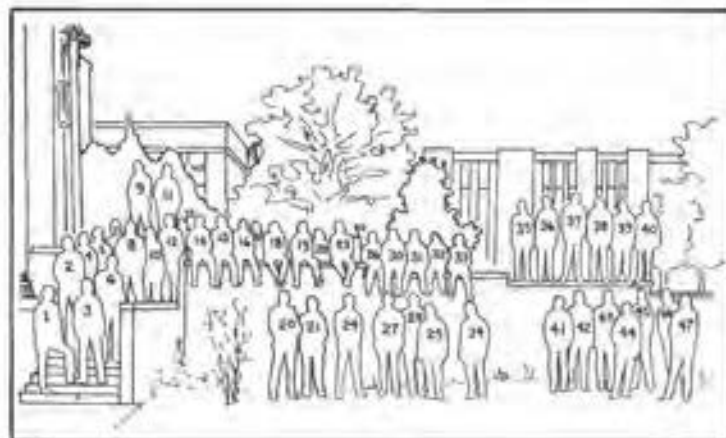

Rose Ball, the Frontier Dance and Founder's Day celebration, which featured Dr. Edward McCune, founder.

Phil Wake served as president of the Mu chapter for the fall semester. Serving as president for the spring semester was Ronnie Glaze. Other spring-semester officers were Tomm Marvell, vice-president of management; Jim Askew, vice-president of education, and Steve Ewing, vice-president of membership.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Frat Wins Province Awards

Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity won the Oklahoma Province scholarship trophy for the ninth consecutive time last year. The chapter also holds the distinction of having the top Teke for the last four years in the Oklahoma Province.

Remodeling and refurbishing the fraternity's house was the main activity during the spring semester.

In intramural football action, the Tekes went to the finals before bowing to the Broken Bow Alumni.

The fraternity annually sponsors the Public-Service Weekend where members perform numerous community service projects for the betterment of the area.

Another community-service project is the Easter Egg Hunt sponsored for underprivileged children of Durant.

Campus activities hosted by Tau Kappa Epsilon were the Fall Formal, the Teke Love-In party, Mardi Gras costume dance and the Red Carnation Dance where the fraternity honors its Dream Girl.

Billie Brewer was named the '69 Teke Dream Girl.

Two Tekes—Doyle Burns and Bruce Johnson—were named to Who's Who.

Field Offers Wide Selection

Activity in a wide variety of sports fields characterizes the physical education department's curriculum.

Physical education classes designed for the betterment of both body and mind range from social dancing to gymnastic classes.

Students, who are required to take four hours in physical education may choose from volleyball, basketball, badminton, archery, golf, tennis, swimming, softball, fencing, tumbling, bowling, fundamental corrections classes and folk and modern dancing.

Top Teams Win In Intramurals

Intramural sports play had many participants and frenzied action as final play-offs put the top team out front.

In intramural football action, the team composed of alumni from Broken Bow took top honors by defeating Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity. Broken Bow Alumni beat the Tekes 13-7 and finished with a 10-2 record.

The Animals took the championship in intramural volleyball action by defeating the Pink Palace team.

The Southeastern girls volleyball team took the extramural championship at Oklahoma State University by beating Oklahoma College of Liberal Arts.

Basketball intramurals were held during the spring semester.

Southeastern Finishes Third

Picked to finish third in the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference, the Blue and Gold did just that with a 4-5-1 tied record. Southwestern won the crown followed by East Central.

Defeat in the first conference game with Northeastern dimmed the Savage hope, but a brilliant come-back win over Northwestern brought new deas. Brighter hopes formed when a cliff-hanger with Langston put SSC on the long end, and back-to-back wins over Central State and Panhandle renewed hopes. The year ended with disappointment as arch-rival East Central beat SSC 49-0.

MAGNOLIA, ARK., Sept. 14—SSC opened the season at Arkansas Southern and on the short end of a 20-26 score.

After trailing 7-13 at half-time, SSC scored first as QB Ish Kaniatobe hit FB Larry Braley for a 10-yard touchdown strike; but the Muleriders led by QB Stanley May and FB Mike Hooten decided it was their game.

Savages Bomb Northwestern

DURANT, Sept. 21—A cloudburst greeted SSC fans to the first home game of the season, as Quachita Baptist University and Southeastern fought to a 0-0 tie.

Neither team was able to get within close distance of the goal as the rain grew in intensity throughout the game. The contest ended just as it had begun—0-0 and raining.

TAHLEQUAH, Oct. 5—The Savages dropped their first OCC encounter to the fired-up Northeastern Redmen by a 14-33 count. Redman FB Millard Kinnard streaked 80 yards for the first touchdown. Another Redman, Manny Britte hurt SSC greatly by his three touchdown scores.

Tom Ramey was the leading Savage rusher with seven carries for 39 yards while Robert McPhail had 11 carries for a total of 38 yards.

DURANT, Oct. 12—SSC took their first victory in fashion as they bombed the Rangers of Northwestern 59-21.

Halfback Robert McPhail went 55 yards for the first score and the Savages were never headed. Ish Kaniatobe hit Mike Walden for two touchdowns and Larry Braley and Tom Ramey for one each. It was the Savage game from the start.

DURANT, Oct. 19—The Blue and Gold held on for dear life to win a 26-25 squeaker over the Langston Lions. SSC had to stage a beautiful comeback to post the victory after once trailing 6-18.

The winning play came when Ish Kaniatobe hit Mike Walden for the go-ahead touchdown with minutes left in the final quarter.

Bulldogs Bite Savages 28-9

WEATHERFORD, Oct. 26—The Savages' conference record was darkened as they were dealt a 9-28 loss by the Bulldogs of Southwestern.

SSC scored its lone touchdown to go ahead 6-0; but the Bulldogs decided it was their game and came on strong to win. (See Southwestern game pictures on pages 164-165).

DURANT, Nov. 2—The Savages suffered defeat at Homecoming by the Henderson State Reddies 28-27.

In front of an overflow crowd and under overcast skies, the two evenly balanced teams traded touchdowns throughout the game. Henderson State made all of their extra points, but SSC did not.

DURANT, Nov. 9—In their best show of the year, the Savages defeated Central State 27-17.

SSC never trailed in the game as Robert McPhail scored twice to stake the Savages a 13-10 halftime lead.

The third quarter was dead-locked with each team scoring once. In the fourth, Kaniatobe hit Stewart from one yard out for the final touchdown.

GOODWELL, Nov. 16—Braving freezing temperatures, SSC evened their record of the year with a 49-21 win over the Aggies.

With the offense scoring four of the six times they got the ball in the first half and a good defense the score stood 28-0 at halftime.

Panhandle rallied for 27 points in the second half; but it was too late—the Blue and Gold scored more points in the last quarter.

Tommy Strode (extreme right) is hit by a Northwestern Ranger as Thomas Ratliff blocks another Ranger to come to Strode's aid. SSC won 59-21. EC Tigers Rip Savage Hopes ADA, Nov. 23—East Central bombed the Savages 49-0 in the final SSC game. Led by QB Floyd Lindsay and TB Doud Dodd, the Tigers jumped off to a 14-0 lead, but the SSC offense was plagued by costly fumbles and interceptions.

Savages stood 4-5-1 and third in conference play after sharing the crown last year.

All-conference first team members were Ish Kaniatobe and Willie Wofford. Second teamers were Larry Braley, Jim Stewart, Butch Arnett and Billy Echart. Honorable mention were Tom Ramey, Mike Walden, Doug Walden, Dean Pierce, Tony Rust, Walter Wilson and Richard Lowry.

'Loss Streak' Dampens Spirit

With seven returning senior squad members, five of which were main starters, the Savages were in hopes of avenging their '68 record. Their hopes turned out to be only anticipation as, one by one, they dropped conference games.

An early loss came in the Pre-Season Oklahoma Collegiate Conference Tournament. James Bowers, in his second year as head coach, had hoped for a repeat performance as tourney winner; but the Tigers of East Central ripped the Savages 79-68. In a consolation game, the Blue and Gold slipped by Panhandle 73-70.

In SSC's first conference game, the Oklahoma Baptist Bison squeezed by Southeastern 68-67. Ten straight defeats followed, eight of which were conference games.

The "defeat spell" was finally broken when the Savages beat East Central 45-43; but the Northeastern Redmen gave the Savages another conference loss 63-57. Conference colleges Phillips, Langston and Panhandle decided to "dump" the Savages again. SSC finally came back with a win over Northwestern 70-65.

Back-to-back conference defeats at the hands of Central and Southwestern put the Savage overall record at five wins and 18 losses.

Ending a disappointing year the Blue and Gold gave home fans a victory over Oklahoma Baptist University, the team that had given SSC its first conference loss.

The Savages dropped 15 conference games by an average of less than 10 points per game. At the end of season play Southeastern stood last in the field of nine conference colleges. Ironically enough, the league leader was Southwestern, the team the Savages had beaten in their first OCC tilt 76-67.

The Blue and Gold ended a disappointing year with an overall record of six wins and 19 losses. Last year's seasonal record was 10-15.

Defeats Characterize Season

DURANT, Nov. 22—Opening the season on a bright note, the Savages defeated Southern Arkansas State 63-50.

Led by center Jim Christanelli's 41 points, SSC jumped out to a quick lead and never trailed.

EDMOND, Nov. 25—A strong East Central team defeated the Savages in play for the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference Tournament 79-68.

EDMOND, Nov. 28—In the pre-season tournament consolation game, the Savages slipped by the Panhandle Aggies 73-70. Christanelli hit 33 points to set a new tournament record.

ROLLA, MO., Dec. 2—SSC traveled out-of-state to a non-conference game and was defeated 70-64.

JONESBORO, ARK., Dec. 3—SSC's record dropped as Arkansas Southern defeated the Bowers' Boys 92-73. Christanelli's 39 points and Donnie Keck's 10 paced the Savages.

SHAWNEE, Dec. 7—Suffering a one-point loss 68-67, the Savages dropped their first conference game to the Bison of Oklahoma Baptist.

DURANT, Dec. 13—SSC suffered their second conference loss by one point. Phillips University slipped by Southeastern 55-54.

DURANT, Dec. 14—After losing two consecutive games by one point, the Savages lost their third in overtime. The Langston Lions bested the Savages 98-91.

Regulation time ended in an 82-82 tie. In overtime, the Lions outshot the Savages 19-16.

TAHLEQUAH, Dec. 17—Sparked by four players in double figures, the defending OCC champion Northeastern dropped SSC its third conference loss 86-72.

Held to six points in the first half SSC's Christanelli roared back with a 16-point final half outburst, but it wasn't quite enough.

LAKE CHARLES, LA., Dec. 27-28—SSC dropped a pair of 10 point losses in the McNeese Christmas Tournament.

Host McNeese beat the Savages 80-70, SSC lost its next game to Louisiana Tech 88-78.

Savages Defeat Loop Giants

ADA, Jan. 7—At East Central, SSC spotted the Tigers an early 8-1 lead, and couldn't make up the difference.

GOODWELL, Jan. 10—SSC just ran out of time against the Panhandle Aggies at 69-61.

ALVA, Jan. 11—With five players scoring in double figures, Northwestern outlasted the Savages. SSC was whistled down for 24 fouls while NW had only 11. Besides J. R. Pack and Keck's five fouls, Christanelli, Stanley Hicks and Joe Anderson had four each.

DURANT, Jan. 17—SSC dropped a 10-point decision to Central 73-63.

Mistakes in the second half hurt the Savages and the Bronchos jumped out to an unbeatable 47-29 lead.

DURANT, Jan. 18—Leading the league, Southwestern faced the cellar-dwelling Savages. SSC pulled an upset over the Bulldogs 76-67.

Peck led the Savage attack with 19 points.

DURANT, Jan. 22—SSC won its second game over a league contender with a win over East Central 45-43. Donnie Keck's desperation shot at the buzzer saved the day for Southeastern winning by only two points.

DURANT, Jan. 24—SSC's two game winning streak was halted by the Northeastern Redmen 63-57.

ENID, Jan. 31—Holding league-leading scorer, Jim Christanelli to three points, Phillips University defeated the Savages 70-51.

LANGSTON, Feb. 1—Seeing a total of 195 points scored at Langston, the Savages were still on the short end 106-89.

DURANT, Feb. 7—SSC absorbed its 17th loss in 21 outings as the Panhandle Aggies won 67-61.

DURANT, Feb. 8—Southeastern picked up its third OCC win and fifth overall victory of the season against the Rangers of Northwestern, 70-65.

Donnie Keck's lay-up with 28 seconds left put SSC in the lead with a five-point margin.

EDMOND, Feb. 14—Central State's Bronchos downed the Savages 80-62.

WEATHERFORD, Feb. 15—After suffering a loss in Durant Southwestern evened it with a 78-69 win.

DURANT, Feb. 22—Ending the season on a winning note, SSC avenged an earlier loss to Okla. Baptist 78-59.

SSC hit 90 per cent of its free shots.

Seven Seniors Play In Final

Seven of the 16-man basketball squad were seniors. Donnie Keck, Clarence Williams, James Christanelli, J. R. Pack, Kenneth Doake, Richard Grady and Stanley Hicks saw action in the final game of the season.

Although constantly dwelling in the conference cellar, Southeastern had the league's leading scorer. James Christanelli paced the Blue and Gold with his 24.3 points per game.

Tim Downing (top right) shoots over a Central State Broncho. Savage fans look on (above) as game action is stopped due to a player injury. Baseballers Win Conference

For the first time in the college's history, the Baseball team took the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference title.

The team boasted a 22-8 over-all winning record and a conference record of 15-3.

Six baseballers—Danny Hubbell, Jim Godsby, Robert Drew, Jerry Hulme, Gary Clements, and Trent Baulch—received conference honors.

Gary Clements led the team in stolen bases and the number one hitter was Trent Baulch with a .384 average. He had 33 hits and 23 runs batted in.

Baulch received the Bloomer Sullivan Award for top athlete.

Pitcher Danny Hubbell had an overall record of 8-1 and led the team in strikeouts with 46.

PLANO, TEXAS, March 16—Southeastern's baseball team started the season on a winning note, taking a doubleheader from Plano University, 3-0 and 14-1.

Southpaw Danny Hubbell pitched the strong two-hit shutout in the opener.

DURANT, March 23—SSC dropped a pair of close games to powerful Phillips University on a muddy field, 2-4 and 2-5.

DURANT, March 27—In the first conference game of the season, SSC dropped pre-season favorite Northeastern 4-3 and 5-3. With all other conference teams losing, SSC took the lead in the OCC standings.

SHAWNEE, April 10—Oklahoma Baptist shelled the Savages in a twinbill 9-0 and 16-1 to drop SSC back into tie for the OCC lead. The Savages managed only one run and eight hits against Bison pitching.

Trent Baulch (top), third baseman, connects for a base hit. Baulch was named to the all conference team last year for his second time. He received the Bloomer Sullivan Award for SSC's top athlete of the year. Jerry Hulme (above) stretches for a throw from shortstop Gann Burns to put a Langston Lion out at first. Gary Clements (above right) scurries back to first base as the Langston Lions try to put him out in a sneak play. Catcher Robert Drew (right) awaits an oncoming Oklahoma Baptist Bison attempting to run him down. The situation reversed and the Bison was removed from the game due to unconsciousness. In a similar situation, Robert Drew (middle right) tags an East Centralite. First baseman Denny Dowd (far right) takes a throw.

Savages Travel To Nationals

ADA, April 27—Southeastern's sixth and seventh straight wins, this time over the East Central Tigers 7-0 and 5-0 enabled them to regain the OCC lead as OBU lost.

DURANT, April 30—The OBU Bison invaded Durant hopeful of taking the lead in the OCC. OBU nipped the Savages 2-1 in the opener to tie the two teams for the conference lead, but SSC came back in the second game to win 4-2 and regain the top.

DURANT, May 4—Affording no more losses in conference play, the Savages all but cinched the OCC championship by defeating the East Central Tigers 3-1 and 8-5.

Second baseman Mike Metheny had four hits including one home run.

DURANT, May 8—SSC socked Langston 9-0 and 8-2 and wrapped up the OCC championship for the first time in the college's history. SSC won the eastern half of the conference playoff and faced the much-dreaded Phillips University.

DURANT, May 13—After rain had delayed the playoff for over nine days, the sun finally came out long enough to let the game begin.

Gary Clement's double in the bottom of the ninth inning moved pitcher Danny Hubbell for the winning run as SSC defeated favored Phillips University 2-1 in the first game of the OCC playoffs. SSC's other run came on Mike Metheny's single in the second inning.

DURANT, May 14—The Savages shocked the state by knocking off the Haymakers the following day by the same margin of 2-1 to capture the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference.

The tension-filled game was climaxed by Trent Baulch's winning run coming at approximately the same time that the sun stopped shining and a downpour fell on the Savage diamond. The Savages ahead 2-1 earned the trip to the regional tournament at St. Joseph, Mo.

ST. JOSEPH, MO., May 25—SSC dropped a close 2-1 decision to the eventual champion William Jewell College of Missouri in the opening round of the regional tournament.

Southeastern was out of the regional running; but had won the Oklahoma conference, and had set a precedent for the 1969 team.

Netters Compile 8-0 Record

Winning the eighth straight Oklahoma Collegiate conference with a perfect 8-0 loop record was only one of the many highlights of the 1967-68 tennis season.

Additional honors were second place in the doubles bracket in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tournament at Kansas City, and having the top singles conference champion.

The doubles team of Jay Lysaught and James Wadley made it all the way to the finals before bowing to Redlands College of California. SS had upset the top seeded Pasadena State for the chance at the final.

Jay Lysaught captured the OC singles championship after taking the runner-up spot last year.

Lysaught and freshman team member Dwight Nuckolls ended the season with a tie for top singles honors with identical records of 18-6.

Golfers Tee Off For Betterment

Intercollegiate golf, in its second year as a competitive sport at Southeastern, was coached by Edward Byrd, history instructor.

Team members—Jimmy Crowe, George Oge, Lonnie Chambers and John Douglas went to the conference tournament held in Shawnee.

Constant bad weather during the spring months hampered golf practice at the Durant Country Club's greens. Southeastern came in ninth in 1968 conference action.

Sport Receives New Coach

Replacing Don Ferguson as Savage track coach was Clyde Smith, physical education instructor.

Last year's track team defeated East Central $70\frac{1}{2}$ - $50\frac{1}{2}$ in a dual meet.

Southeastern racked up seven firsts in the meet. Tony Rust threw the shotput $44' 4\frac{3}{4}"$ to win the event.

Ross Powell slung the javelin $148'$

$5"$, and taking top honors in the pole vault was Ron Higgins with $12' 7"$.

Dave Fleming ran the 440-yard dash in 53.7 seconds, Tommy Strode breezed down the track in 10.1 minutes and Cokey Wilson won the discus throw.

J. R. Pack took top honors in the high jump with a leap of $5'10"$.

Doxsee Reigns At Homecoming

Homecoming Queen for 1968 was Frances Doxsee, Durant senior. Miss Doxsee was selected by out-of-town judges from the 30 nominees of campus organizations.

The elementary education major is active in Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority; Savagettes pep club; Student Education Association; Boule, local service fraternity; Art Club; Alpha Psi Omega dramatics fraternity. She is also a band majorette.

Frances Doxsee (above and right) is 1968 Homecoming Queen. Selection is made by out-of-town judges from the nominees of the campus clubs.

Team Picks 1968 Queen

Jo Ann Nelson, Frederick sophomore, was chosen by the football team as the 1968 Football Queen.

Miss Nelson, a physical education major, is a member of Sigma Kappa social sorority and Savagettes pep club. As a cheerleader, she is an active supporter of campus sports.

Miss Nelson was also named one of the "Ten Pretty Girls," a contest sponsored by Cardinal Key, women's leadership honorary.

Jo Ann Nelson (above and below) is the 1968 Football Queen. The honor is awarded by vote of the football squad.

Campus Picks Pretty Girls

Selection of Ten Pretty Girls was resumed by Cardinal Key, women's leadership honorary, after the lapse of a year.

Twenty-one finalists were chosen by all-campus nomination in early February. From these, ten were selected by the audience at a style show and assembly featuring the candidates.

The Ten Pretty Girls are Frances

Bailey, Lynda Campton, LaChrica Coyle, Frances Doxsee, Janell English, Cheryl Gregg, Janet Kilpatrick, Toni Kilpatrick, Jo Ann Nelson, and Gloria Sims.

Other finalists were Sue Baker, Billie Brewer, Gladys Grigory, Inda Jo Hughes, Gayla Miller, Sally Semtner, Vonne Wells, Linda White, Joan Wilson, Charlotte Young and Jani Young.

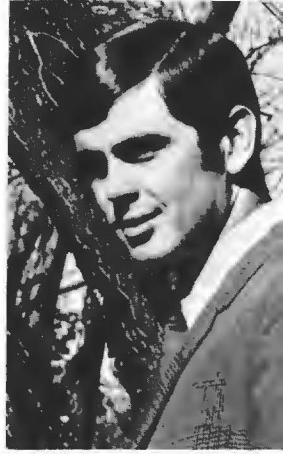

Ten Pretty Girls (above) selected in the campus-wide contest sponsored by Cardinal Key are, seated, Cheryl Gregg, Toni Kilpatrick, Janell English, Frances Doxsee, Janet Kilpatrick, Frances Bailey, Lynda Campton, LaChrica Coyle, Gloria Sims, and Jo Ann Nelson.

Doxsee Wins Again, Again

That Frances Doxsee was elected Yearbook Queen was no surprise to the students who voted for her in the all-campus election. Nor was it to the Sig Taus who made her their White Rose, the judges who selected her as Homecoming Queen or those who picked her to reign over the Beaux Arts Ball this year. In other words, Doxsee won again.

Frances Doxsee (left) is Queen of the 1969 Savage yearbook after an all-campus election in which the Ten Pretty Girls were the candidates. With arms and mouth full (above) the Durant Senior leaves the Beaux Arts Ball.

Four Clubs Choose Royalty

Chosen royalty of four organizations were Jim Stewart, Carol Griess, Cheryl Gregg and Margie Barnett.

Savagettes, women's pep club, chose as its beau Jim Stewart, a business administration major and a member of the Varsity "O" Club.

Carol Griess was named sweetheart of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity. Miss Griess, a medical technology major, is a member of Savagettes and American Chemical Society.

"O" Club Babe was Cheryl Gregg. Miss Gregg, a cheerleader and physical education major, is a member of Sigma Kappa social sorority and Cardinal Key, leadership honorary.

Rodeo Queen Margie Barnett is a physical education major and member of Little "D" Rodeo Club which she serves as secretary-treasurer.

Frats Pick Three Beauties

Representing the social fraternity favorites are Frances Doxsee, Sigma Tau Gamma White Rose; Gladys Grigory, Phi Sigma Epsilon Sweetheart, and Billie Brewer, Tau Kappa Epsilon Dream Girl.

Miss Doxsee, a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority, is a majorette and Homecoming queen. She is a member of Boule, local service group, and Student Education Association.

A member of Delta Zeta social sorority, Miss Brewer has appeared in "Whisper in the Heart," a college drama production. The sociology major is also a member of the Savage Anns drill team and College Players.

Miss Grigory, a member of Sigma Kappa sorority, serves as its "Triangle" correspondent. The elementary education major is a member of the Savagettes pep club.

Sororities Choose Favorites

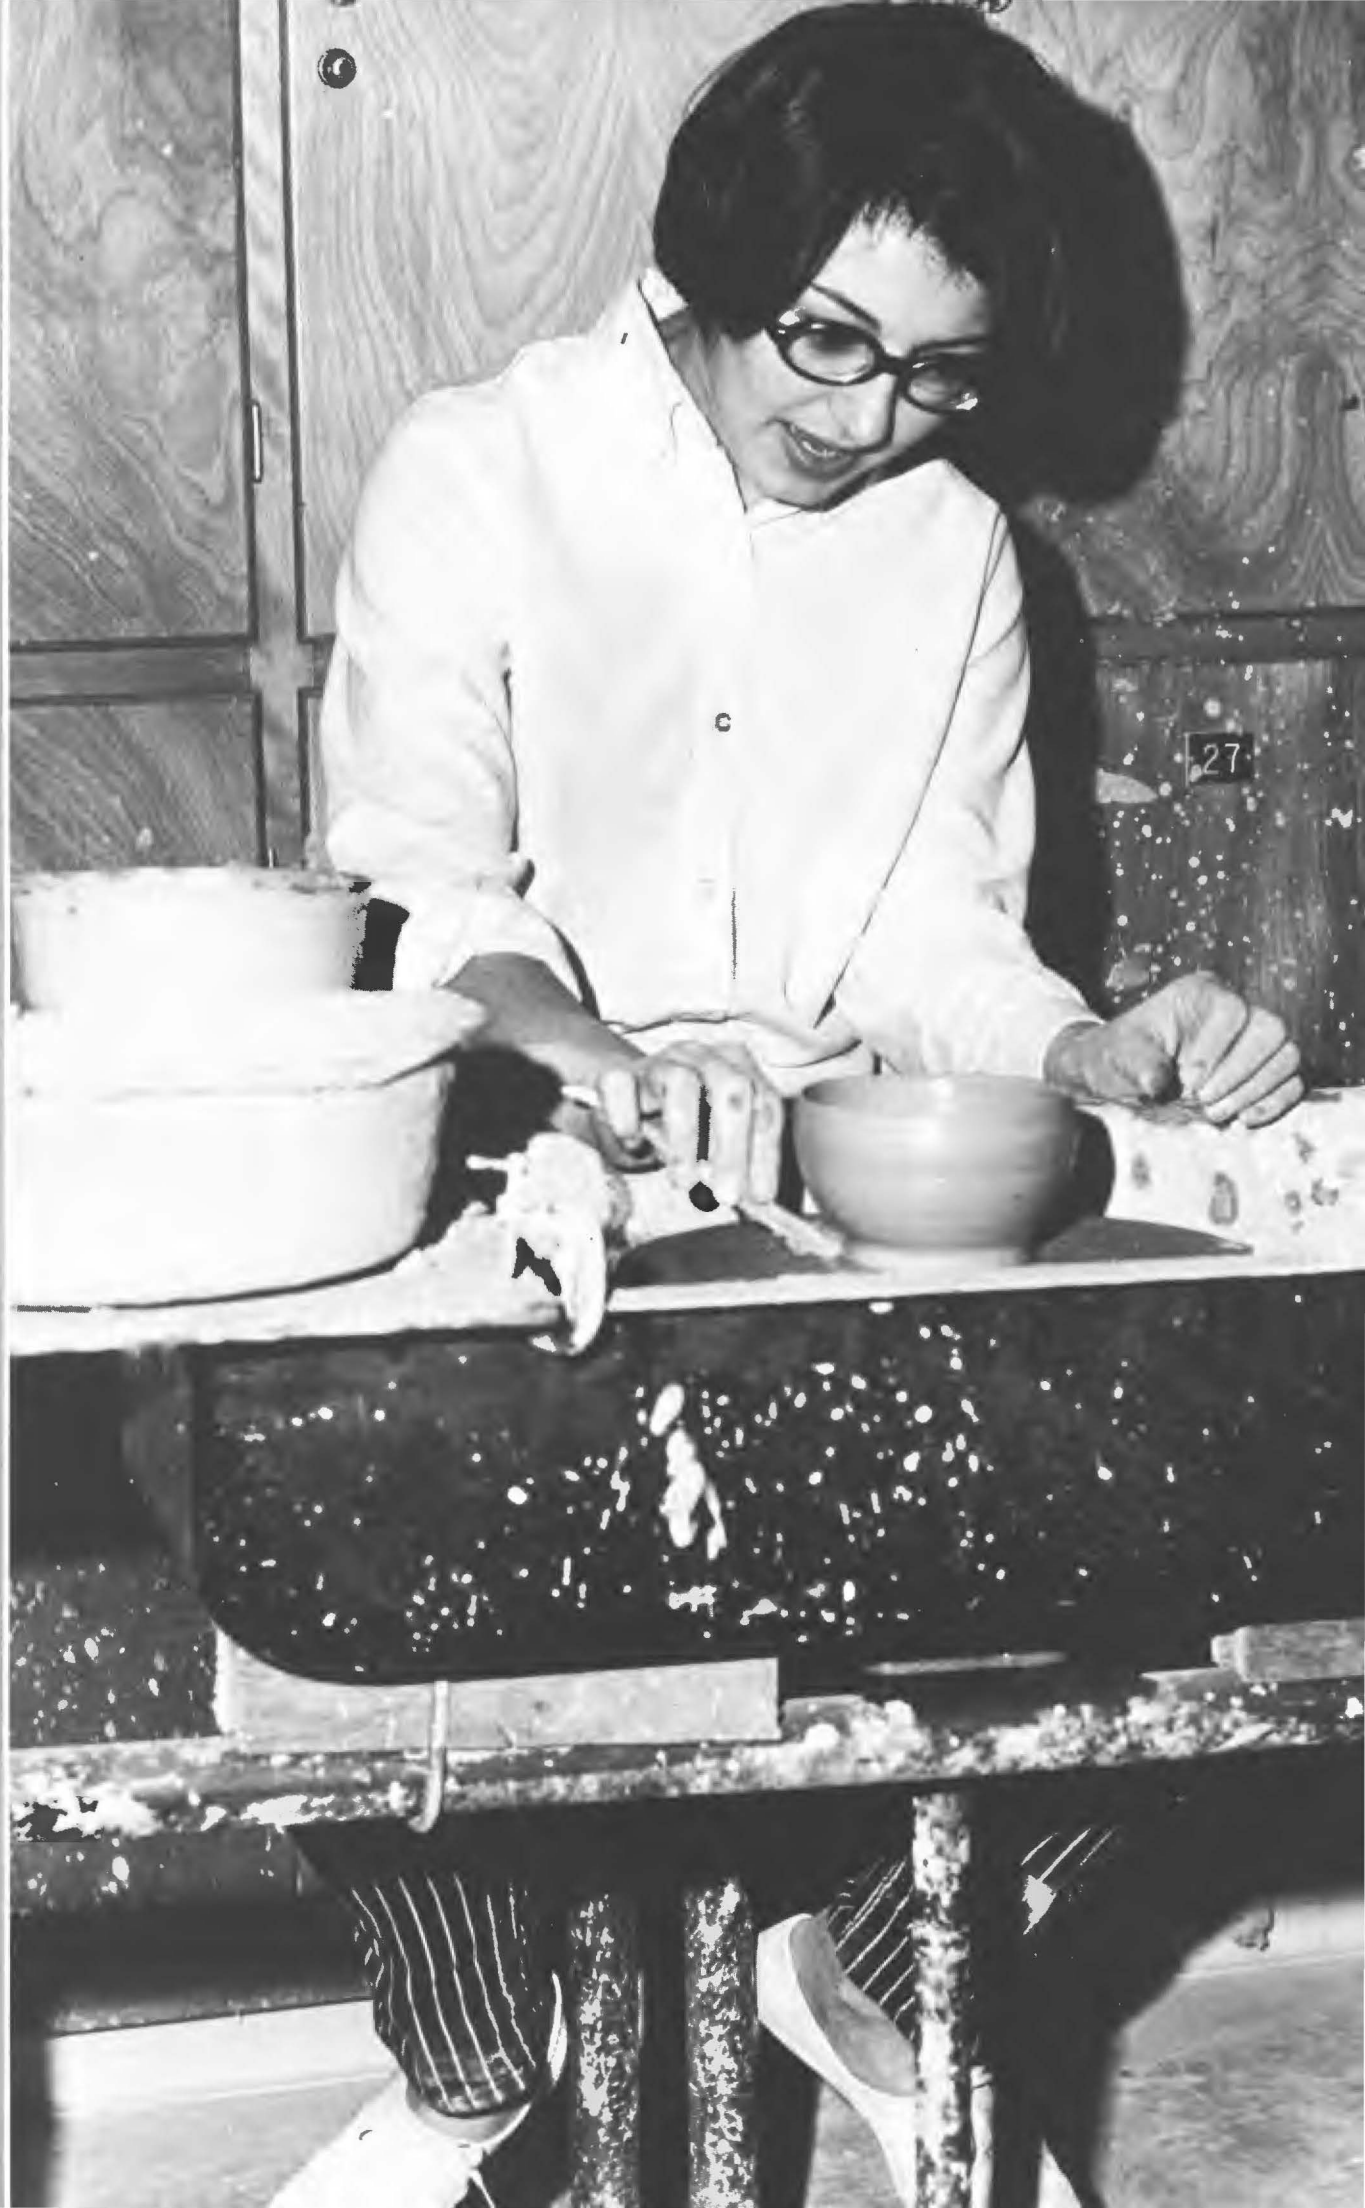

Elected favorites of the three campus sororities were Gene Fair, Delta Zeta Man; Jerry Stilwell, Alpha Sigma Tau Beau; and Johnny Sweeney, Sigma Kappa Beau.

Fair is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon, social fraternity, and is president of Student Education Association and League of Young Republicans. During the past summer term, he was president of Student Senate.

Stilwell is a member of Sigma Tau Gamma, social fraternity, and Boule, a local service group. He was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and is also a member of the varsity tennis team.

Sweeney is the president of Phi Sigma Epsilon, social fraternity. He is also a member of Boule, campus service group, and Phi Beta Lambda, national business fraternity.

Beginners Wear Beanies Or Paint

Freshmen wear green and gold beanies for the first several weeks of their beginning year. Failure to wear the beanie results in upperclassmen painting their faces with green paint.

Frosh leaders elected at the first class meeting of the year were Steve Freeman, president; Janell English, vice-president; and Jerry Rheinschmidt, secretary-treasurer. Chosen to represent the class in the Student Senate were Linda Means and Stuart Wood.

Dr. Lewis Barker, physics instructor, and Dr. Bernice Crockett, health educator and college nurse, were selected class sponsors.

Debbie Karriger and Eddie Mowles were chosen to represent the freshmen in the Friendship Fire.

Discussing the wearing of beanies are freshman Roger Clark, Suzi Tabor and Billy Chatham (above). Participation in college physical education courses is required of college students (below right).

*Faces on the last arc of the cycle in the evolution of college.
Another year of work, play, effort and hope. Another year's end.*

The campus pace begins to grind to a halt. Sounds are quieted and the work reaches its culmination. The Face of the year remains an

Epilogue

A lone student (left) watches a gardener
groom the silent campus as another student (above) enters the library in preparation

Variety Spices 59th Year

Variety and excitement prevail during a college year. From the panorama of activities to the various learning situations, there is constant challenge and exhilaration that molds, builds and matures the individual.

Collegians participated in myriad activities ranging from the Friendship Fire and Homecoming in early fall through Yuletide events shortly before the Christmas holidays to the picnics and outings of spring days.

Not held to a seasonal period are the college dramas. Introduced to Southeasterners for the first time this year was the experimental readers' theater concept. Campus clubs added to the wide range of events by sponsoring special projects and announcing their favorites.

Changes Become Tradition

Faces change, grow and change again in the progression of a year at Southeastern State. The cycle of four years of work, study and effort is climaxed by graduation—only to be renewed again with a new set of faces.

In the brick and stone, leaf and gravel face of the campus, the change occurs so rapidly that it becomes mingled with tradition and is soon accepted. The science and mathematics building, the remodeled library and the redecorated coffeeshop were all new; but soon were all part of the old. The "excavation" in the middle of the campus became Boule Fountain—a favorite place for pausing on warm spring evenings.

The constant struggle for education continues, the ever-changing sea of faces continue to revolve, and the college's educational purpose remains unchanged as the 59th year draws to a close.

Campus Lies In Silence

A year at Southeastern State is in retrospect. After a year of activity, the college campus will soon lie silent and the faces that contributed to a year of work, fun and effort will be gone.

The kaleidoscope of people, places and events become memories of the potpourri of college life. Students and faculty worked together, learning or failing to learn, teaching or failing to teach and preparing or failing to prepare for the future.

The cycle of another face, another semester, another meeting, another exam, another graduation and another yearbook ends, but only in dormancy, waiting to be born again.

Dr. Lee Ball (far left bottom), English instructor, walks his bicycle up the sidewalk leading to the classroom building. The campus is silent and vacant except for a few passing persons such as philosophy instructor Anima Bhattacharya (left) or for permanent dwellers (above). A transit (top) symbolizes the ever-present progress through improvement and freshman Billy Chatham (far top left) is characteristic of the spectrum of faces at Southeastern State. Another semester, another meeting, another graduation, another epilogue end once more.

Another Year Another Book

Another year ... another book! Sounds apathetic, but it isn't. After serving as editor for three years, this is another book and my last.

It would seem that after three years, everything would be down "pat," but it never is. Every year brought new ideas, new questions and new problems—and every year meant formulating concrete evidence, solving problems and producing a yearbook. This year has been no exception.

Our theme is "Faces." How apropos this is, for what is a college except the individuals who make it. Dr. Leon Hibbs, Southeastern president, has phrased it: "A college is nothing more than its students."

On pages 1-16, we have presented the overall face of the college and in the remainder of the 272-page book, we have subdivided this broad over-view and treated each section with an in-depth approach. In this manner, we hope to have portrayed life at Southeastern State College during its 59th year of progress.

There is so much that can happen in a year's time that it would be virtually impossible to recapitulate all the fond memories held by the staff. The bonds of friendship formed, the many hours of working together—sometimes all night, the weekends that were given for the "cause" and all the cokes drank are only part of the year!

Marleen Carol Page, editor of the '60 Savage, said, "It doesn't matter how many of you contribute to this book ... when it comes down to the day when you begin to find fault with the book, I'm the one everyone is going to suggest tar-and-feathering."

If this is the case, then I can only ask of you to reread the Savage in 5, 10 or 15 years. Perhaps then, a "history" of one of your four years at college will be a most treasured item.

College yearbooks do not just happen. They are the final result of a great deal of planning, immeasurable weeks of work and long hours of anticipation.

I have had the privilege to have served as editor of the '69 Savage. It has been a worthwhile experience and I think more educational than many hours of academic work. You may want to try it someday. See you!

—Bobby K. Eichling

Late hours of work—sometimes all night—are required to publish a college yearbook. Bobby Eichling (above) works with Joretta Eppley, adviser.

Coach Bob Thomas (above) paces up and down in front of the football player's bench at a grim night game marred by fumbles. Several rain-soaked players (below) stare in disbelief as their teammates fight Ouachita Baptist to a 0-0 stalemate.

Tommy Wheelus and Steve Tilford (above) rehearse a new number with the Southeastern Chorale. A maintenance worker (below), looking for all the world as if he is hosing the parking meter, waters the campus lawn in early spring days.
