Southeastern State College is no more-- it is now Southeastern Oklahoma State University. Operating in its second year under a new title, Southeastern began to expand its crowded facilities. The long desired industrial building was begun and is expected to be completed in the near future.

1) The Russell building houses offices and the Afro-American Student Union, 2) A part of a larger complex, the Book Exchange provides an attractive front for the Student Union. 3) Music, speech, and art operate from the Fine Arts structure. 4) One of the most modern on campus is the Math-Computer Science Building. Page 3, picture 1) Behind the circle sits Home Economics. 2) One of the most beautiful buildings is the Library. 3) Housed in Administration are the departments of social sciences, modern language, and the administration. 4) Sharing Morrison Hall, the most well-known building, are the English, business, education, psychology, print shop, audio visual, photography, and journalism departments. Morrison Hall also includes Montgomery Auditorium. 5) Recently dedicated, the Bloomer Sullivan Gymnasium contains the Health, Physical Education, and Recreation curriculum.

Campus Living
Brings On
New Life Style For
Many Living Away
From Home

Every student learns about the eating places on campus and most learn about the campus housing. 1) Chickasaw and Choctaw Towers are the largest dormitory complexes on campus. 2) A typical room in this building is the room of Debbie Giacomo. It has been decorated to suit her tastes. 3) Another dorm is the Hallie McKinley and sidewalk cafe group. 4) North Hall and 5) Shearrer Hall also furnish nice furnished rooms for the single people. Page 5, picture 1) Veteran's Village and 2) the married student housing, near the gym, provide housing for the students who want or need apartments at a low, reasonable cost. 3) The game room and 4) coffee shop are the afternoon meeting places for many students. 5) The campus book exchange sells textbooks as well as a wide selection of personal items.

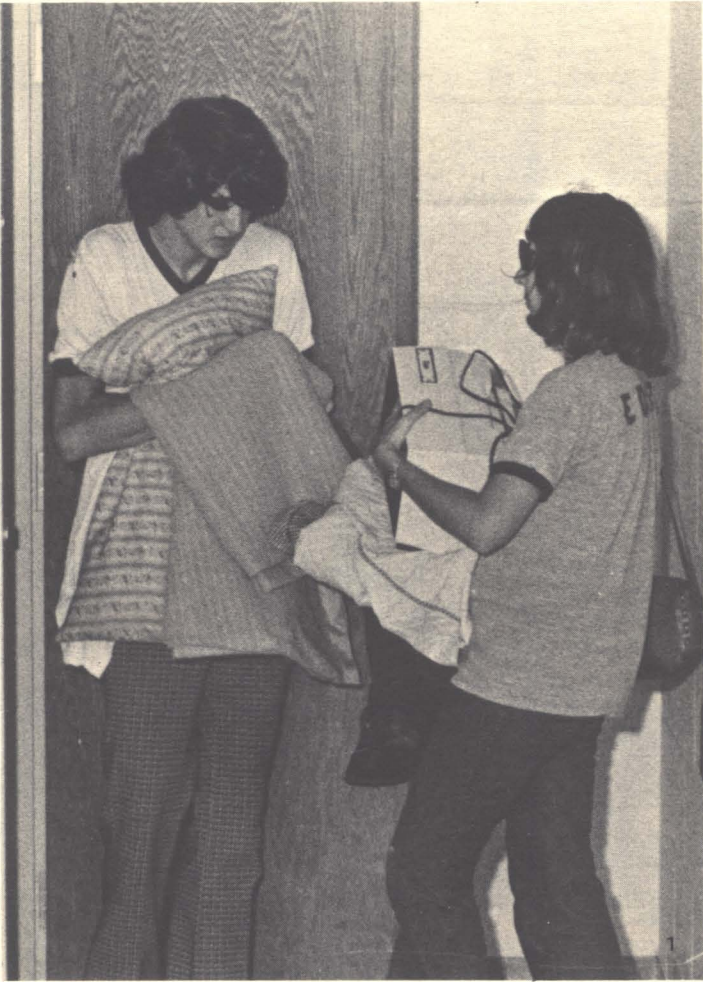

Southeastern — A Bird's Eye View

Enrollment Seems To Be A Big Headache For Many New And Regular People

Long lines, closed classes, and conflicting classes make enrollment seem to be a headache. SSU's days of enrollment have been relatively smooth running, but the waiting lines are long no matter what. Schedules for enrolling have done a lot towards getting the confusion to a minimum and different rooms to pay fees or get the necessary signatures keep the lines moving.

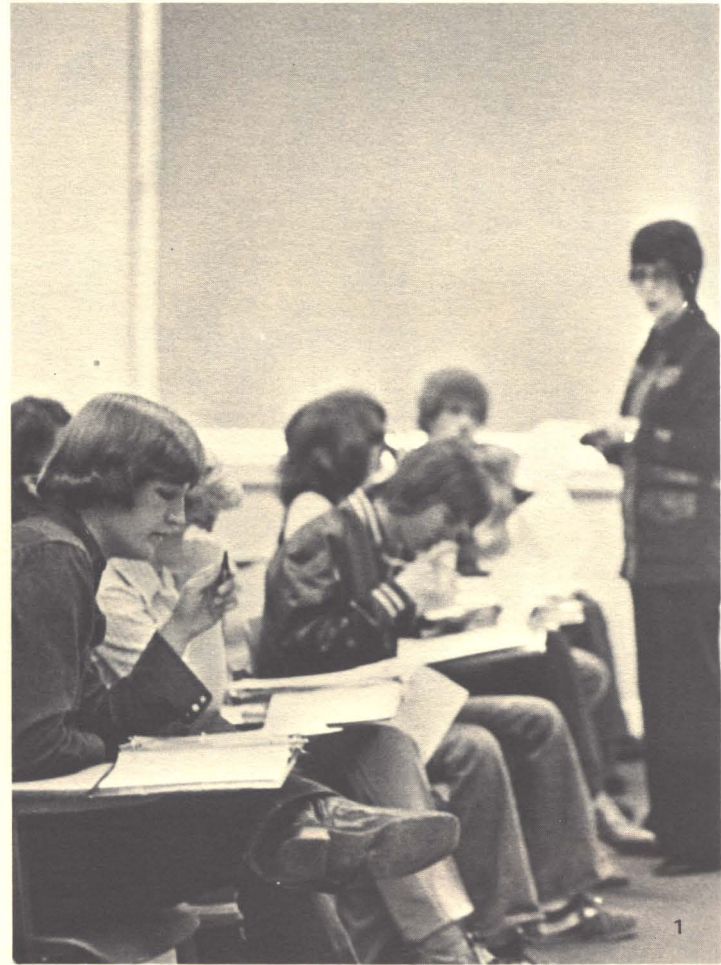

P. 8: (1) Each student like Rhonda Means, must go to her advisor, Howard Starks, in selecting classes. (2) The next step is to go to the administration building for the deans' signatures and (3) get in line for the registrar. Page 9: (1) At last enrolled and moving in the dorm. (2) Many wait for the computer.

A Look Through Campus Helps Recruit New Students

Each semester, hundreds of high school students traveled to the university to look it over. The friendly atmosphere and bustling activities helped a lot of these students decide that Southeastern was the campus for them.

(1) Many students look in the various classes such as this class of Mrs. Dora Grace, an English instructor. (2) Miss Katie Frank Slack, dean of women, often found several girls outside her door seeking help. Page 11: (1) Football games, rain or shine, are always full of fans. (2) T-shirts, sweatshirts, and other novelties are available in the book store. (3) Quick lunches and meetings are often held in the campus coffee shop.

Southeastern Is Complete With Friendly People

People who come to school here have often found that the people of southern Oklahoma are friendly. This has been carried over to the university campus.

A beautiful campus, the school has long been known as the "Campus of 1000 Magnolias."

(1) In order to preserve the lawns, maintenance places a few reminders on campus. (2) Walks and lamps with scattered benches keep a welcome place to study in contact with the student body. (3) A flower box with a seating ledge in front of the post office is a good place to share thoughts of home as these international students are. Page 13: (1) Water fountains are on every floor in each building and (2) stairwells are good places to sit.

ACTIVITIES

The End Of Long Road Realized In Summer Graduation

The end of a long road for many summer school students was reached in summer graduation activities. Most of the graduates spent four long years attaining a goal they set in high school. Their horizons may have changed a few times, plateaus reached and passed, and many very difficult problems solved.

(1) One of the highlights of the summer graduation was the selections offered by the mixed chorus. (2) Minutes after receiving their diplomas, the graduates listened to the final speech before the recessional.

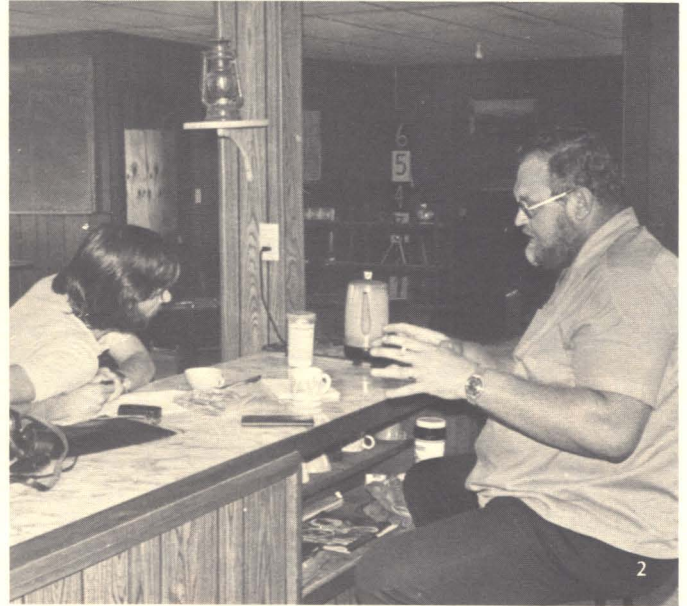

(1) Dr. Leon Hibbs, university president, awards a hard-won diploma to an elated graduate. (2) Each graduate was personally congratulated by Dr. Hibbs on their scholastic achievement. (3) Proud relatives and friends gathered around their particular person to wish them luck and best wishes on their future.

Southeastern Received 153 Vietnamese Students

In August 1975, the Southeastern campus received 53 Vietnamese female students, and two weeks later received another 150 male students. Living quarters had been set up for the students in the dorms and at the Oklahoma Presbyterian College. The students readily adopted many of the American customs, in dress, actions and work. While there was a language problem, they filtered into many of the offices, eager to learn. Slowly the Vietnamese students became a part of the campus. (1) Leon Hibbs spent time orientating the people. Frank Wade assisted them with adjustment. (3) Local students greeted them.

SOSU Staged Oklahoma Production In Late Spring Of '75

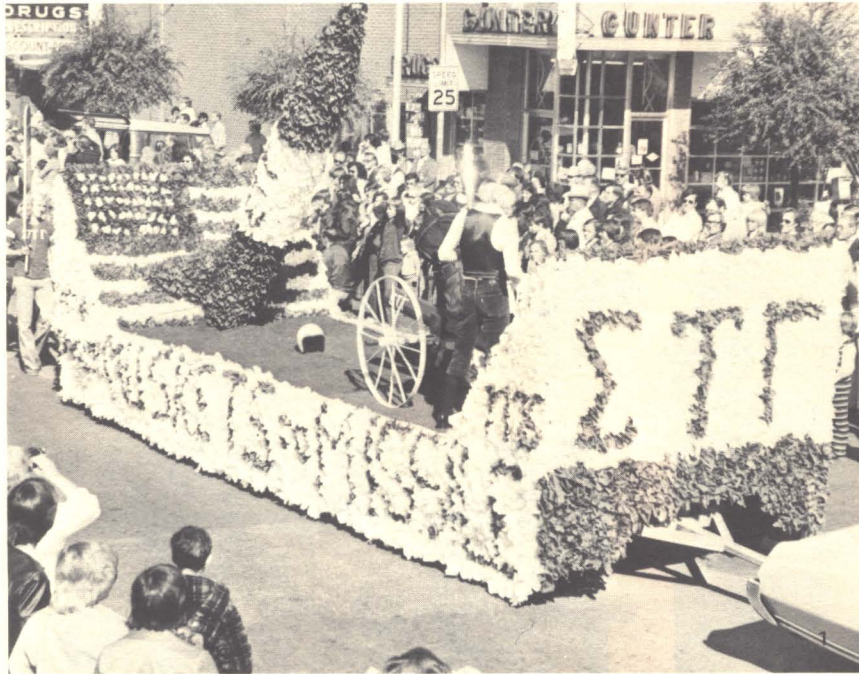

In the spring of 1975, the drama department produced "Oklahoma!" as their major project. It was one of the longest running Broadway musicals, and later became a motion picture starring Shirley Jones. The theme song from the production became the official state song of Oklahoma, the only state song in the union which came from a theatrical production.

(1) Ado Annie (Carla Polk) talks to Will Parker (Craig Fletcher), trying to find his opinion of her. (2) Ado Annie and Laurie (Barbara Miller) hold a conference over their shared problem-men. (3) Even cowpokes break into song in order to express their opinions. Bud Thomas, Craig Fletcher, Kev Williams, and Bill Sparks portray the lonesome cowboys. (4) Taking their bows after the closing performance were: Joan Baker, Bud Thomas, Terry Harper, Craig Fletcher, Carla Polk, Ed McCann, Alen Caldwell, Barbara Miller, Gaylon Anderson, Thelma Benson, Robert Powell, Betty Dunnegan, Cheryl Simmonds, Smitty Lorey, Kathy Hayes, and Raymond Owens. Many hours of rehearsals were held every night for a month. Every note had to fit, and harmonizing was stressed. Directing this production was Brenda De Vore.

Emotions Ran High During Bicentennial Homecoming Parade

Bicentennial exploded during the Homecoming parade in Durant. Several changes were made in this year's homecoming. One of the most important changes was the rule that all organizations who sponsored a queen candidate must enter a float in the parade. This year, the queen was selected by anonymous judges from pictures.

(1) Capturing the first place award was Sigma Tau Gamma with their float. The float carried a missile and a small cannon. (2) Leading the major portion of the parade was the pride of Southeastern, the marching band. Playing music associated with the Bicentennial, the band proudly represented Southeastern. (3) Another musical attraction was the Art Club float. It was built in the shape of a giant birthday cake, with the Spirit of '76 Fifer, Flag Bearer, and Drummer leading the float, playing "Yankee Doodle." (4) Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority was represented by the Statue of Liberty. Many high school bands, youth groups, ladies organizations, and businesses sponsored floats and marching groups.

(1) Sigma Kappa Sorority built and entered one of the tallest floats in the parade. On the float, three items most associated with the Bicentennial stood: The Liberty Bell, the White House, and Washington Monument. (2) Before the parade, a formal dedication of the gymnasium was held. The gym was officially named the Bloomer Sullivan Gymnasium. (3) The sophomore class entered a float decorated like a boat to point up the importance of naval battles during the revolution.

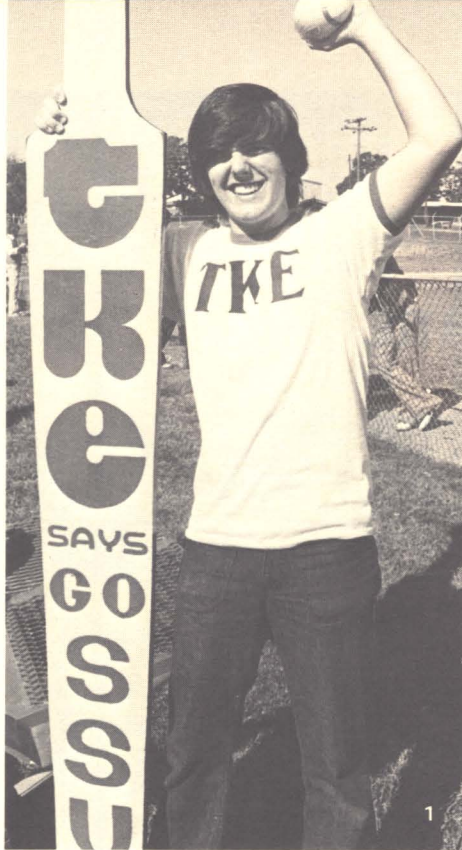

(1) Scoring on the first play of the ball game, SSU set a new record for themselves. (2) From five finalists, Cindy Russell was selected as Homecoming queen, with Laura Harryman as first runner-up. (3) Several distinguished alumnus awards were given. The recipients were Leslie Fisher, Joe Gary, E. T. Dunlap, and Bloomer Sullivan. (4) Number 44, Harvey Ryan, rushes down the field to score the last points in the game.

Homecoming Game Won By Landslide

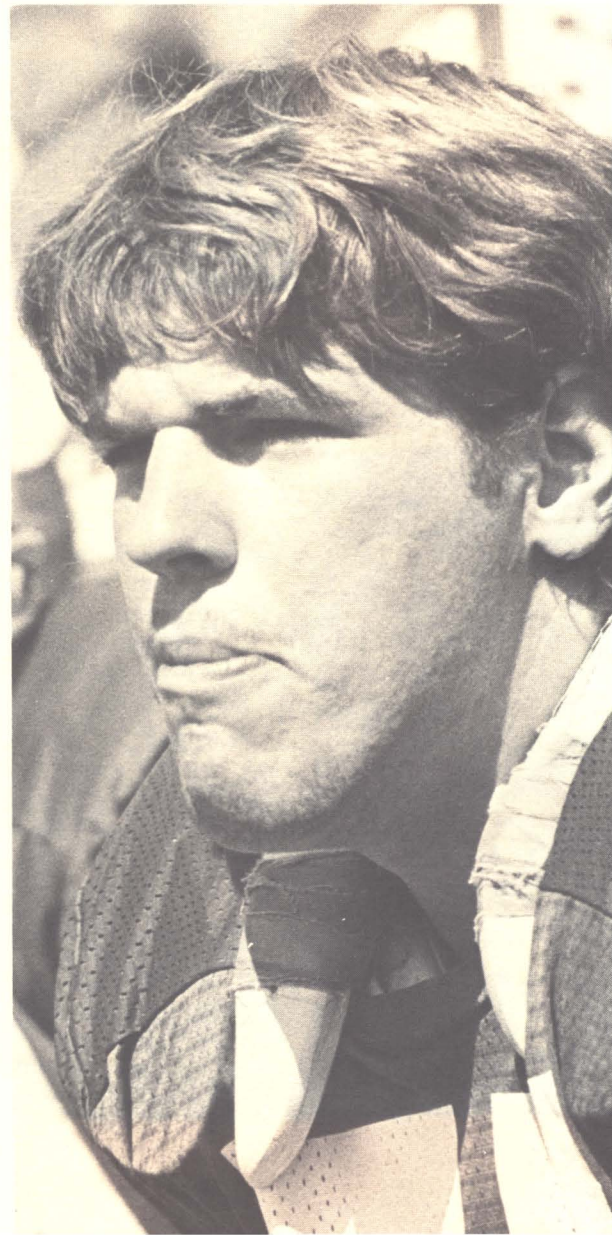

On a sunny, cloudless afternoon, SSU's football team wrapped up a 39-14 victory against Southwestern. (1) A Teke pledge cheered the team to victory. (2) After practicing for many days, the Savage band begins the halftime activities. (3) Anxiously awaiting the next play, number 77, Robert Clark, scours the football field with his eyes (4) as this Southeastern play runs for a touchdown.

Student Senate Held Homecoming Dance

Twenty-three student representatives have been elected to the Student Senate for the 1975-76 school year. In addition to its responsibilities as a governing body, the senate sponsors an annual Leadership Conference, directs publication of a student directory; and organizes major social events. (1) Student Senate officers consist of three elected members, David Barker, vice president, Doug Stickney, president, and Faye Gothard, secretary. (Standing) Katie Frank Slack is one of the sponsors.

(1) Student Senators Patty Russell, Mike McElroy, and Raymond Owens listen to the discussion on several constitutions that the student senators must pass or reject. (2) The student senate bonfire before homecoming began badly with wet wood, but a little work and the fire burned brightly. (3) Margaret Mobley, Sharmin McCreary, Mark DeMoss, and Dean Katie Frank Slack listen as Doug Stickney explains a motion to the floor.

Gary Taylor Named Editor Of Newspaper

Gary Taylor was named newspaper editor in the summer of 1975. He introduced some new ideas in the paper, such as changing the banner each week.

(1) Rudy Manley, newspaper advisor, edits some stories which Peggy Burns brought to him. (2) Setting headlines was one of the many jobs Debbie Pinsker did. (3) Gary Taylor watched and assisted Carla Kellam, production manager.

The Southeastern

Student newspaper of Southeastern State University, published every Thursday except during holidays and examination periods.

Second class postage is paid by the Southeastern, Station A, Durant, Oklahoma. Zip code 74701. Subscription rate is $2 per year with the new year beginning September 1, 1975.

Opinions expressed in the Southeastern are not necessarily those of the student body, faculty, or administration. Opinions expressed in by-lined articles, columns, or letters to the editor, are those of the individual writers.

Advisors Rudy Manley and Lela Lyons

Several of the staff members this year did not only their own jobs, but helped out with the other positions that were not filled.

1) Lela Lyons, graduate assistant for the journalism office, spent several hours proof-reading copy each week. 2) One of the roughest jobs, business manager, was filled capably by Melinda Bell. 3) Sports Editor is a hard job to have, especially if you are an athlete like Rick Smith. 4) Typing out her Natural News column is Norma Standridge. 5) On a pretty day, some reporters, like Gary Taylor, Barbara Wilkie, and photographer Nancy Blankenship, can't resist standing under the old magnolia tree. 6) Typewriters are an important part of the newspaper office, and Barbara Wilkie usually uses one during her afternoon work.

Savage Staff Worked Hard In '76

Editing a yearbook has been tough in itself, but working on it as a staff member was one of the roughest jobs. Checking each detail, correcting spelling, and selecting page designs took up most of the time of the Savage Staff.

The theme selected for this year was "Novus Ordo Seclorum", a Latin term which translated roughly into "The new century (order) now begins." Especially in the bicentennial year was this theme in keeping with the times.

1) David Smith writes copy in a very relaxed mood. 2) Rhonda Means edits a page. 3) Editing this year's book is Julia Daphne Davis, who writes down the log of the day's events. page, 31, picture 1) David Smith and Rhonda Means look over a shipment of pages before they are submitted to the editor.

Cheerleader's Squad Formed At Beginning Of Fall Football Season By Five Girls

Five girls led the spirit raising at Southeastern in 1975-76. Selected at beginning of the year, these women attended football and basketball games in order to cheer the teams to victory.

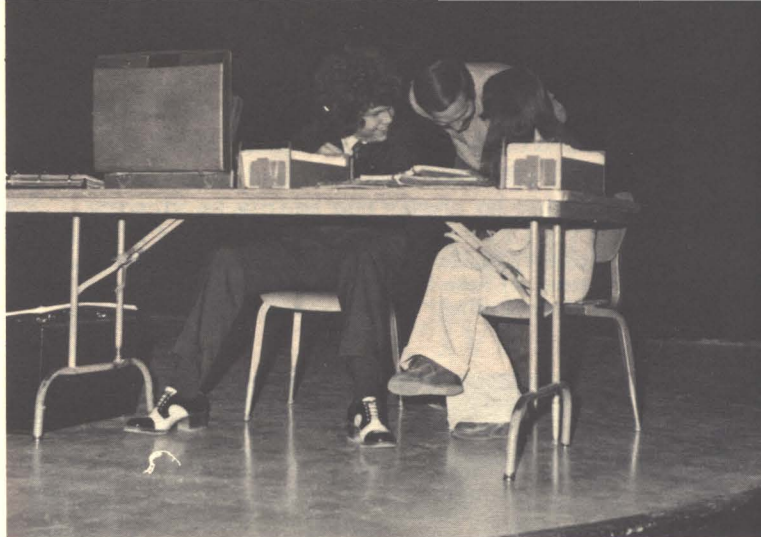

Page 32, picture 1) Sharon Morgan, squad leader, spent many hours in practice. 2) Rose McAlister specializes in the gymnastic aspect of cheerleading. 3) The group picture was used in newspapers to announce the games at various times of the years. On the ground is Kyla Schmeckpeper, Sharon Morgan, and Joan Kitchens, while standing is Rose McAlister and Nancy Cluck.

Debate Teams Rack Up Impressive Season Against Nation's Best Known Teams

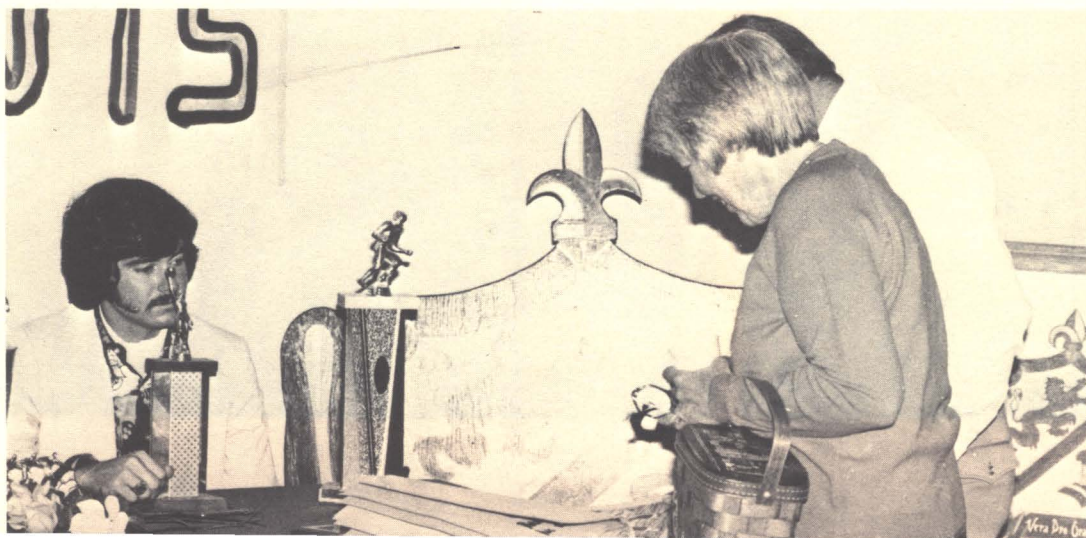

Southeastern's debate teams excel in their contests. Each time they have competed in a tourney, they have come up in the top percent. Traveling to many states, the debators matched wits with such schools as University of Southern California and Nebraska.

September 13 Marked The Beginning Of The Football Season And Parents Day Activities

(1) Rain greeted the football fans who turned out for Parents Day at Paul Laird Field. Within moments of the end of the first quarter, SSU swung around Austin College's right end to ram home a touchdown. (2) For many people, it was a welcome time to sit down with their children and grandchildren and eat lunch. (Page 37, 1) Kappa Delta Pi took advantage of Parents Day by having a dinner for its former members. (2) Going through the cafeteria line gave many parents an idea of what their children go through at SSU each day. (3) A new sign greeted the parents as they drove on campus. University Boulevard was called College Avenue last year. (4) Delta Chi Delta set up this booth to display the accomplishments of their fraternity.

Leadership Conference Was Held At Lake Murray

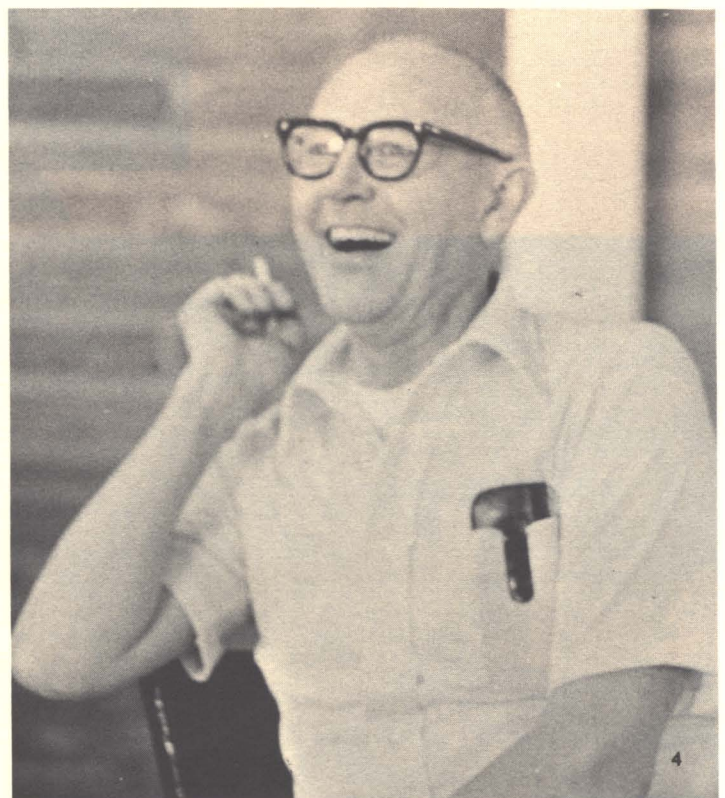

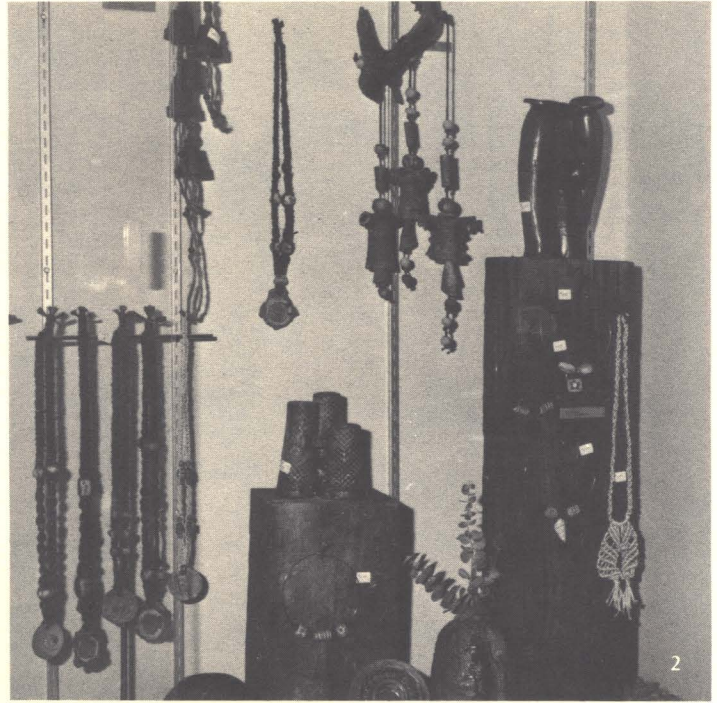

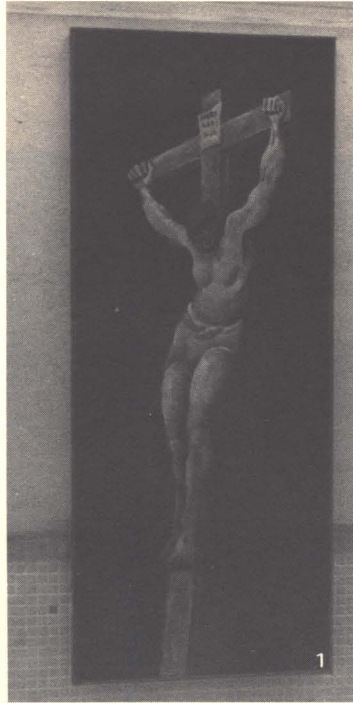

The Southeastern Leadership Conference was held February 13 and 14 at Lake Murray Lodge, near Ardmore. Around 175 people attended, and this included both students and faculty. Mini-companies were formed by groups, and they ran a complete advertising campaign and set up a charter. 1) Faculty members teamed up with students to form a corporation and sing their ad. 2) Quiet and calm sits Shauna Andrews, who worked on a company charter. 3) Lon Seiger reads over the day's activities. 4) Puzzlement sweeps over Shauna Andrews face as she listens to some instructions.

1) Dr. Leon Hibbs, president of the university, delivers the opening speech. 2) Shaurna Andrews, Randy Thompson, and Sherrie Smith, with friend, wait their turn at one of the activities planned. 3) Randy Thompson and Gervis Turner look out across the lake, hoping to see some of the beautiful wildlife. 4) This fellow found one of the anecdotes to be funny.

Phi Sigma Epsilon Selected Sherri Taylor As 1976 Sweetheart

Eta Chapter of Phi Sigma Epsilon was installed on campus on February 25, 1967. Since then, the local Phi Sigma Epsilon chapter has selected a homecoming candidate each year, sponsored several charitable activities, and promoted school spirit with signs, dances, and pep rallies, along with traveling to many of the away sporting events.

Onstott, Mike Stairter, (Row 4) Alvin White-advisor, Darrell Parrish, Curt Blackburn, Bill Keck, Ernie Schneider, Gary Woodward, and Gery Stecy. (2) Officers are Scott, Young, Ruebin, Landtroop, Onstott, and Tillery. Phillips and White are advisors.

Phi Sigma Epsilon Wins In Intramurals

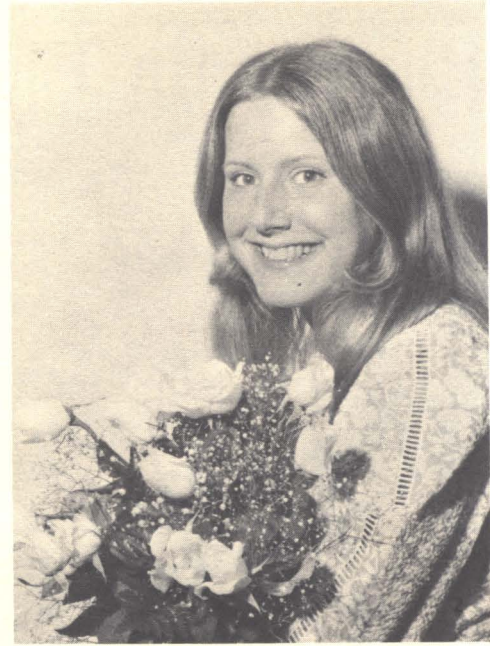

Intramurals were not the only activities of Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity. The young men spent hours of donated manpower to charitable causes in carnivals and donations.

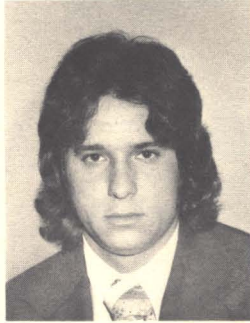

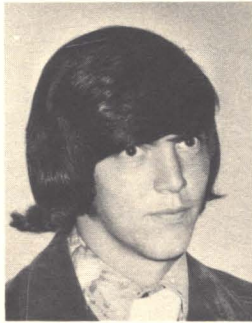

(1) A carnival, held for muscular dystrophy, was co-sponsored by Phi Sigs and other Greek organizations. (2) A bi-centennial theme was the central basis of the homecoming parade in downtown Durant. Phi Sigs built a float based on the "Shot Heard 'Round the World." They captured a prize for their efforts.

(2nd) Terry Riddle, Mark Brown, Terry Copeland, (3rd) Keith Spoon, Carl Foster, and Curt Brown were initiated.

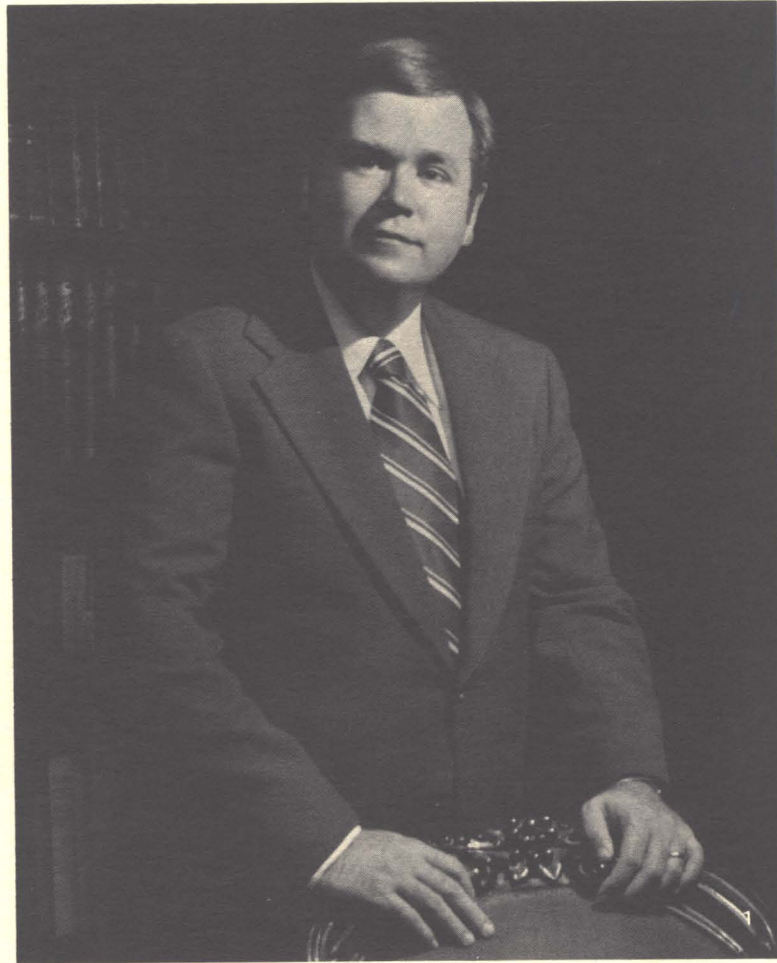

Interfraternity Council Met To Settle Any Problems In Fraternities

Interfraternity Council consisted of representatives from each fraternity on campus. They met regularly to solve problem which came up among the fraternities. (1) Chairman of IFC was De Wayne Pence, with Dean Robert Thomas as advisor. (2) Members of IFC were (Seated) Larry Burton, Floyd Lilley, Burt McAnally, Kamel Kutait, Leonard Blandon, (Standing) Richard Higginbotham, Larry Benjamin, Craig Littlefield, Dewayne Pence, Steve Landtroop and Dean Thomas.

David Lyle Boren Served Oklahoma As Governor With A Year Of Education Bills

Governor David Lyle Boren was elected in 1974 as the 21st governor, and was the first candidate for this office to poll more than 500,000 votes in the general election. He is also the youngest governor in the United States, and the second youngest for Oklahoma. Governor Boren served as a member of the State House of Representatives for four terms before his election.

Boren is an honors graduate of Yale University, where he graduated in the top one percent of his class and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He was selected as a Rhodes Scholar and attended Oxford University representing Oklahoma. He received his master's degree from Oxford with honors in government. While in England, he traveled in more than sixty countries.

Prior to his election Boren practiced law in Seminole, where he and his wife Jana Lou live with the daughter Carrie and a son Dan.

The 34-year old lawmaker was chairman of the government department at the Oklahoma Baptist University. He served six years in the Oklahoma National Guard where he reached the rank of captain.

- (1) Governor David Boren, in his second year of office, spends much of his time in the library researching possible legislation that he sponsors in the legislature.
- (2) Mrs. Jana Boren, a gracious and charming first lady, made many personal appearances throughout the state, and was hostess to the social affairs in the state capitol complex.

Dr. Leon Hibbs served ably as president of the university. Interested in promoting the rodeo team, Dr. Hibbs, a former and still active calf roper, sent his group all over the nation. They represented Southeastern with many prize winnings. The Hibbs' family resided on campus where he could be close to the student body.

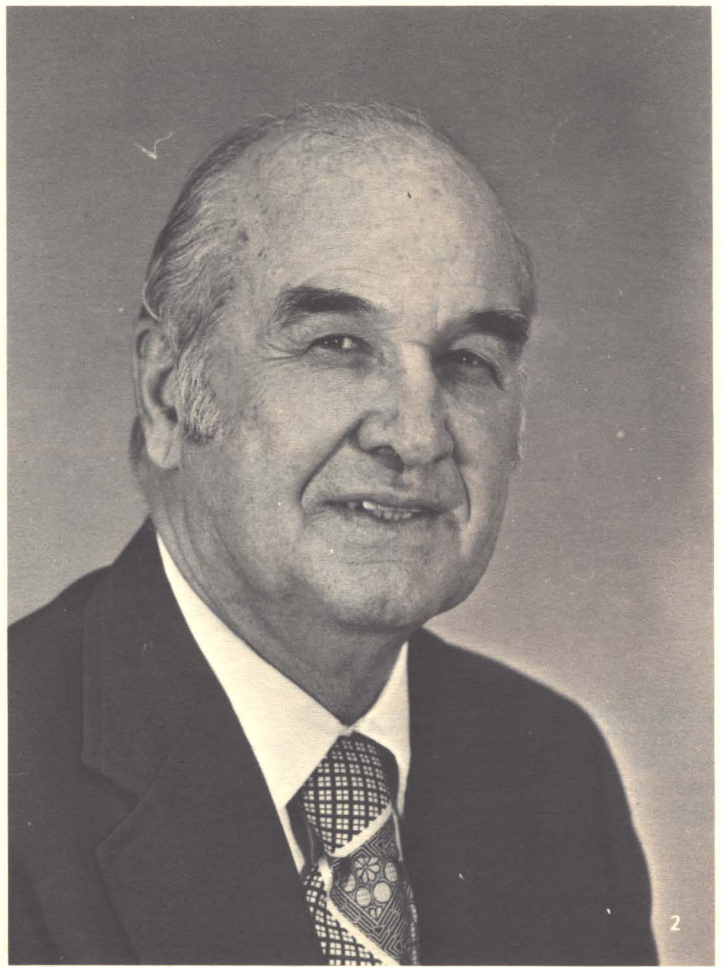

(1) Dr. Leon Hibbs keeps an open door to his office for the student body, faculty, and visitors.

Leon Hibbs Served As S.S.U. President

Vice Presidents And Deans

(1) John T. Krattiger, vice president, serves as dean of men.
(2) Another vice president, Ernest Ayres spends his time in charge of financial affairs. (3) M.G. Smith plans his day around his teaching and vice president's duties.

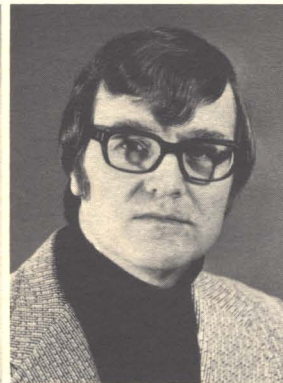

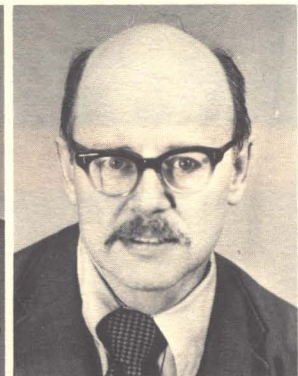

(1) Ernest Sturch has a busy day serving as Vice-President of Instruction. (2) Robert Thomas assists Dr. Krattiger as dean of men. (3) Miss Katie Frank Slack sponsors many organizations as well as her duties as dean of women.

Novus Ordo Seclorum

The new order of the ages now begins
The abominations of old now end
The tongues of the tower of Bable
Have for centuries failed to blend
Descending from towers of man
Let us ascend the towers of truth
Descending from towers of steel
Let us ascend the towers of truth
Come let us reason together
Come let us walk hand in hand
Come let us learn from out past
Come let us unite the land
The new order of the ages now begins
Beginning from where we are
The universe has order and so can we
If we follow the brightest star.

NOVUS ORDO SECLORUM

On the back of most currency, on the seals in very small print, appears the words "Novus Ordo Seclorum." With its meaning, The New Order (of the ages) now begins, this phrase sets the stage of the bicentennial year.

A new century of American civilization is drawing closer, bringing with it--hopefully--the answers to many of the problems and a new understanding. Many people of different walks of life formed the beginning of a small country which grew to be the United States.

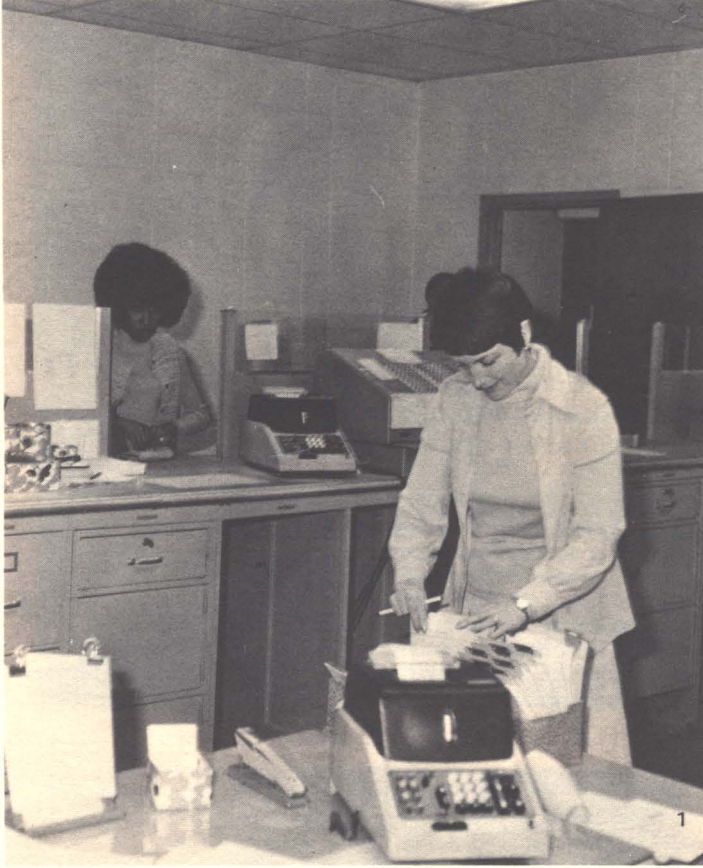

Teachers Find Many New And Different Challenges With Each Student

Each semester hundreds of students are assigned to advisors. Every student has different needs and requirements to be met.

Page 80 (1) Doris Andrews and Dora Grace of the English Department spend a few minutes together between classes. (2) Blanche Jamison meets each student assigned to her with a calm attitude. (3) Richard Freed keeps his classes lively along with sponsoring the Insight publication. Page 81: (1) Joseph Littlejohn has time to research material between classes in addition to his other activities. (2) Henry Gold takes a break in the morning.

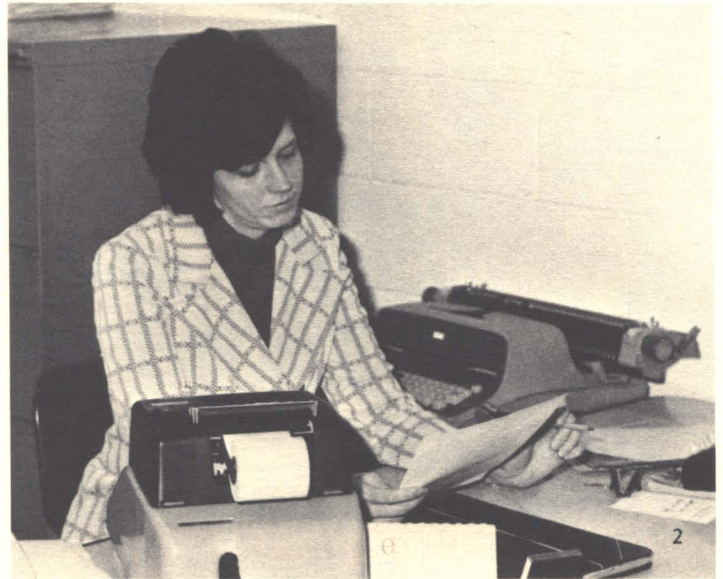

Business Office, Headed By E.E. Ayres, Kept Money Flowing On Campus To Make Finances Easier

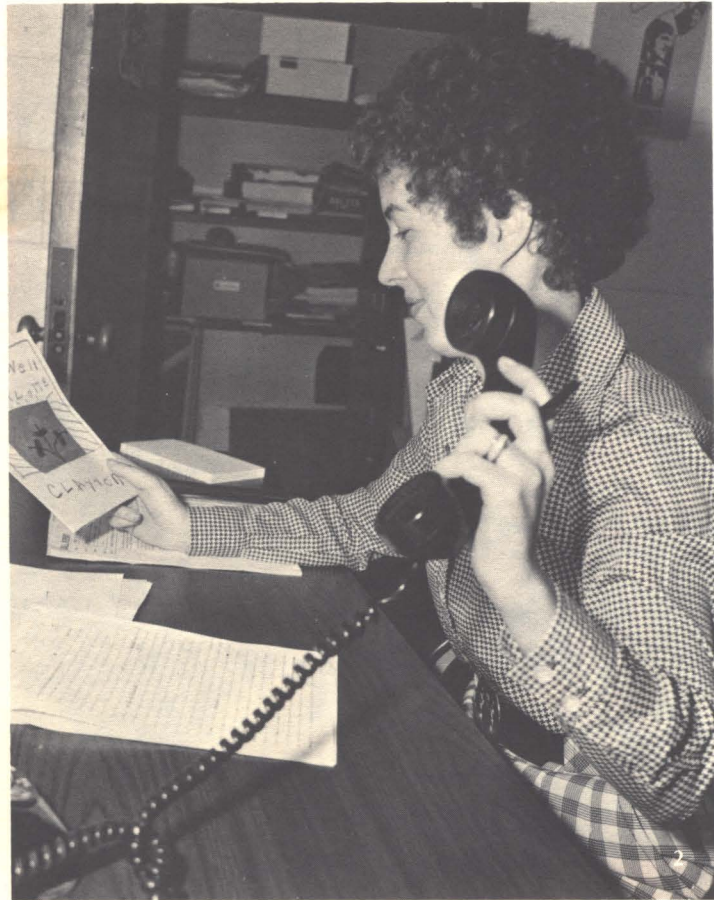

One of the most important offices on campus, the business office has complete control of the money flow. Student pay-checks, enrollment fees, fines, and all other monetary business is conducted out of this room every day. (1,2,3,4) These women run the office under the supervision of Earnest E. Ayres, Vice-president of Fiscal Affairs.

Purchasing And Placement Kept Busy Throughout Year

Each year after graduation, many of the people have gone to the placement office to begin the long and tedious search for a position in their fields. (1) Mrs. Virginia Fisher, director of placement, is in constant contact with places looking for potential employees. In order to keep the campus in supplies, the purchasing agent has been the most important factor. Every item that is purchased must have an order that has been sent to this office. (2) Janet Taylor receives the orders. (3) Clydene Coker and David Parker, purchasing agent, go over one of the several hundred which come through his office each week.

University Communication Draws Up Brochure

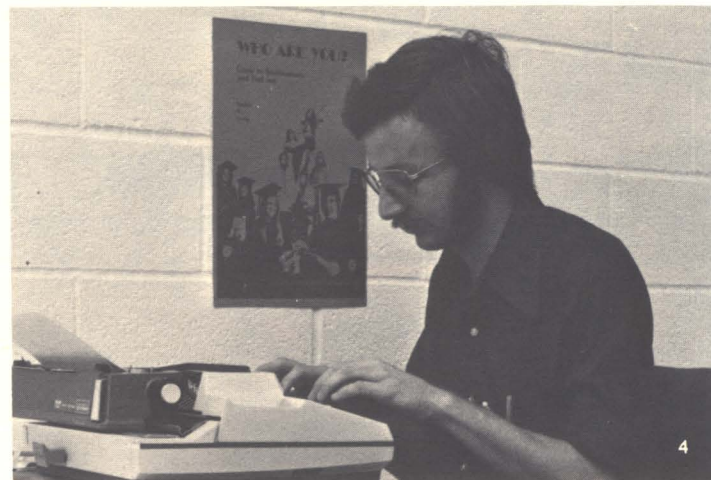

The office of University Communications was created for the specific purpose of insuring that the growth and change at Southeastern is presented to all interested publics in the most constructive light.

As director of University Communications, Charlotte Cummings has primary responsibility to communicate to students, faculty, parents, alumni, and the business community at large, just what Southeastern Oklahoma State University is, does, and needs.

The Office of University Communications administers the long-range planning, coordination and development of total communications programs for Southeastern which includes printed materials used by the University for recruiting and general communications and public relations work; public information to all media; feature story work for print publications; and special projects for the University concerning public relations.

During the 1975-76 school year, the Office of University Communications has initiated and completed a design program for the university that has been executed in letterhead and envelopes, business cards, and many departmental brochures for recruiting purposes, and Southeastern's new alumni newspaper TEMPO completed it's second year of publication.

(1) Charlotte A Cummings, Director of University Communications, attends one of the many seminars sponsored by the university. (2) Charlotte Cummings spends much time at her desk planning the campaigns. (3) Sharon Gammon, staff writer, prepares a press release for mailing. (4) David Blair, staff writer, works on a rough draft, the first of many steps involved in publicizing Southeastern's activities.

Registrar And Purchasing Agent Had Busy Year

(1) Beginning another busy day in the registrar's office is Suzanne Akins, one of several clerks in the office. (2) Replacing Leroy McClendon as registrar at the close of the 1975 year is Mary Castleberry. (3) Secretary Clydene Coker goes over some expense accounts with Purchasing agent David Parker.

1. Office personnel pose with copies of TEMPO, the Alumni newspaper published quarterly by University Communications. 2. Darwin Allen, photographer, adjusts his enlarger to insure a quality print. 3. Brenda Bush, secretary, sorts and files newspaper clippings relating to Southeastern activities. 4. All printed materials must be checked carefully before being distributed to interested individuals. 5. Many hours of creative sessions are necessary before an idea becomes a finished brochure. 6. Robert McGee, art director, and Mrs. Cummings discuss layout ideas for a new recruiting brochure.

AUXILLIARY SERVICES

Switchboard, Post Office, And Bookstore Form Hub Of Nearly All Campus Life

Forming the Hub of campus life were the University Bookstore, Post Office, and switchboard. (1) The U. S. Post Office branch for S. O. S. U. is the mainstay for many students who are living away from home for the first time. It is, in some cases, the only sources of communication from home for many of the International students. (2) No one, in this age, could exist as comfortably without the use of the switchboard, located in the Administration Building. Manned by students on the work/study program, the operators are under the supervision of Mrs. Jerry Lucas. (3) Textbooks can be obtained by students in the University Bookstore, as well as many necessities and novelties. (4) One service the bookstore provides that is quite popular is the sweatshirt printing.

Campus Food Services Keep Student Body Well-Fed

Jokes about campus food had always been around, but Southeastern had less than most. Anita Foster, head dietian, kept the food not only nutritious but taste appealing. Specialty nights were not uncommon in the cafeteria.

(1) Frosting several hundred cakes each day must be a taxing job for this employee. (2) Ms. Foster holds a cocoanut pie. (3) The grill is always Busy.

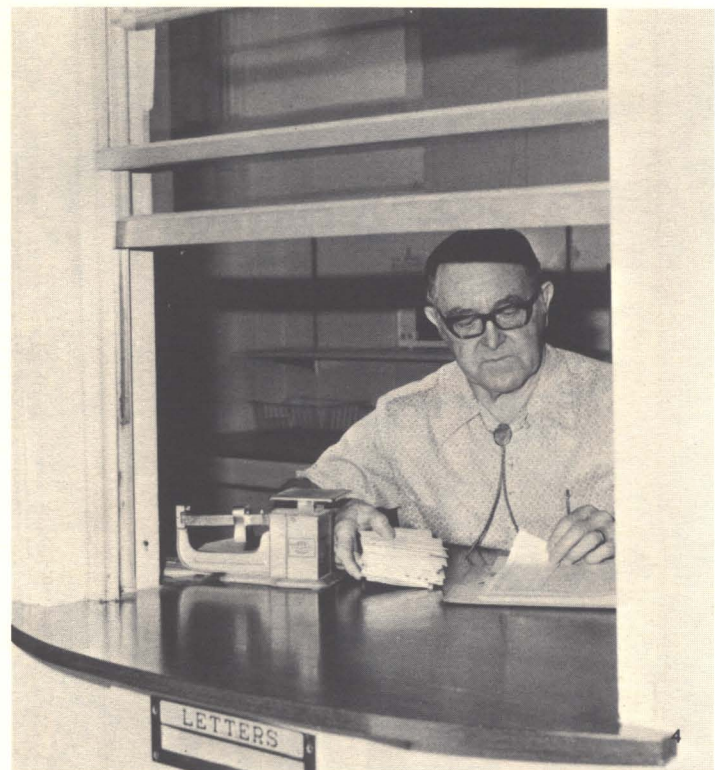

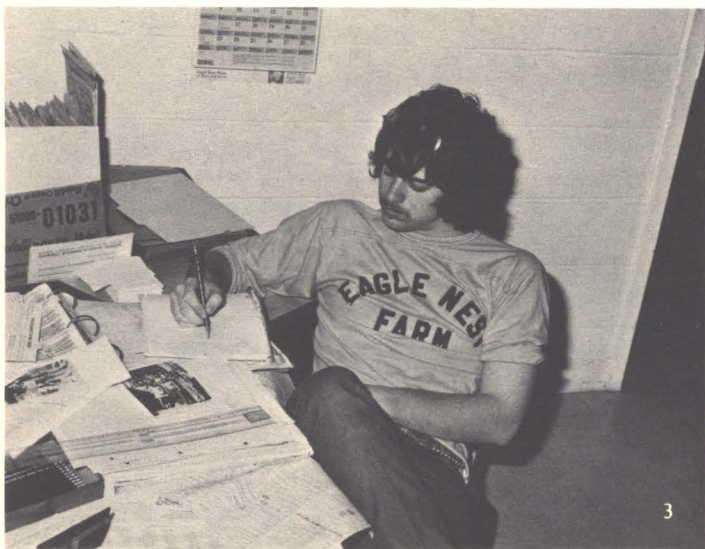

Coffee Shop Served As Popular Meeting Area

The campus coffee shop served as a popular meeting spot for students and instructors. (1) These men may have been discussing the weather or solving an indepth problem. (2) Noel Crowson, John Williams, and other students have met informally after a counseling class. (3) Alan Caldwell answers the ever-ringing phone.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Alumni Foundation Sponsors Activities, Newsletters, And Benefit Games For 1975-1976 School Year.

The Southeastern Alumni Foundation held various activities to raise interest in the alumni. One such event was the annual Alumni vs. SSU Basketball team.

1) Larry Hutchinson and his teammates and opponents set-up just right to make another 2 points. 2) The new alumni officers are President Wright, Mrs. Wright, and Don Carpenter, executive secretary. 3) Alan Sherrer, president emeritus of SSU, Mr. Wright, Mrs. Carpenter, and Don Carpenter wait for the program to begin.

Audio Visual's Department Has Teaching Aids

In order to gain a teaching certificate, all education majors are requested to take some type of audio visual course. In this department, all aspects of mechanical aids are used and instructions in the operation of many common machines are given. (1) Running a projector is the first in a series of instruction in machines. (2) In order to gain interest and attention of elementary age children, special projects are taught such as this puppet show.

Biomedical Science Program Gains Enrollment While Boosting Department Roles To Capacity

In order to gain more knowledge into the fascinating world of Biomedical Science, several instructors coined the Biomedical Science program. It has grown from 10 or 12, until it is reaching an enrollment of more than 18. Several of the members take time to have a picture made of the program. Pictured Left to Right are: Paul Logan, Dorthea Smith, Robert Arch, Howard Polk, Gary Beavers, Tom Martin, Sue Clark, Martin Carney, Pat McGee, Pam Wiggins, Debbie Conseen, David Coe, Wilma Robinson, Gordon Eggleton, Richard Smith, and Dr. Wright.

Bryan County Information, Referral Transportation Center Sponsored By SSU

(1) Ted Fisher, coordinator of IRT meets with his encounter group to help them solve their problems. (2) One of the vans the center uses is parked outside the center waiting on passengers. The vans are used to pick up and relay people to whatever location they desire. (3) Signing the necessary forms is Ted Fisher, IRT coordinator. (4) The other van owned by IRT finishes dropping passengers at the center.

March 18 Was Date Of Student Senate Sponsored Scandals With David Benn As Director

Directed by Sulphur senior Dave Benn, Savage Scandals took on a new perspective in an hour long Cabaret-type show in 1976. Held March 18, in Montgomery Auditorium, the cast put on a musical variety show featuring the songs from the movie Cabaret. (1) Sponsored by the student senate, all the senators were required to sell tickets, hand out programs, and act as ushers. (2) Ardmore's Janet Colbert sang several songs during the performance. (3) Scandals' dancers Phyllis Guthrie, Mildred Benson, Patty Hyde, and Debra Henderson created quite an ovation in their numbers. (4) Curtain call came too quickly for most of the audience as David Benn sang the closing theme, Cabaret. (5) The M.C. introduced his date, Dean Flack who was portrayed by Robert McGee of Caddo. (6) Holding one of the main starting position are Scandals' dancers (Sitting) Patty Hyde, (Standing On Floor) Debra Henderson, Mildred Benson, and (Kneeling On Bench) Phyllis Guthrie.

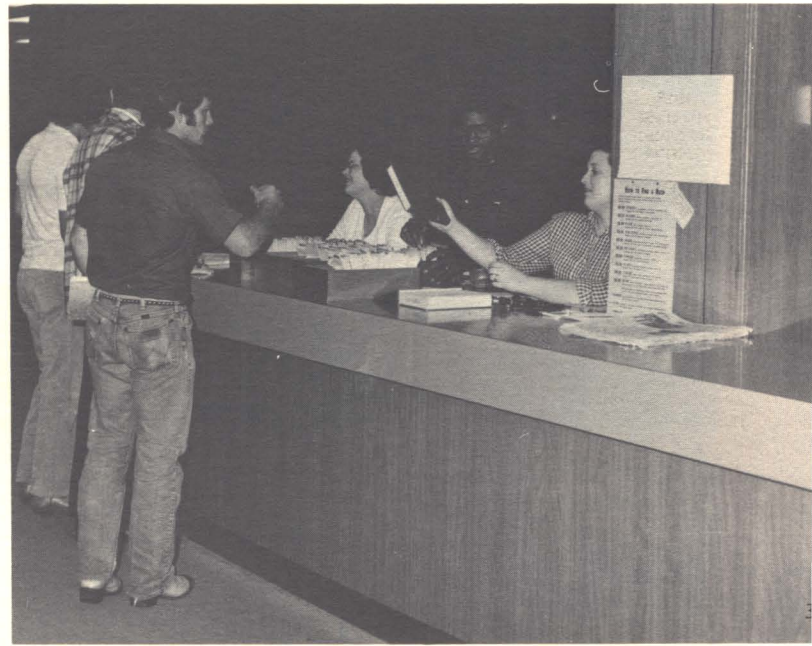

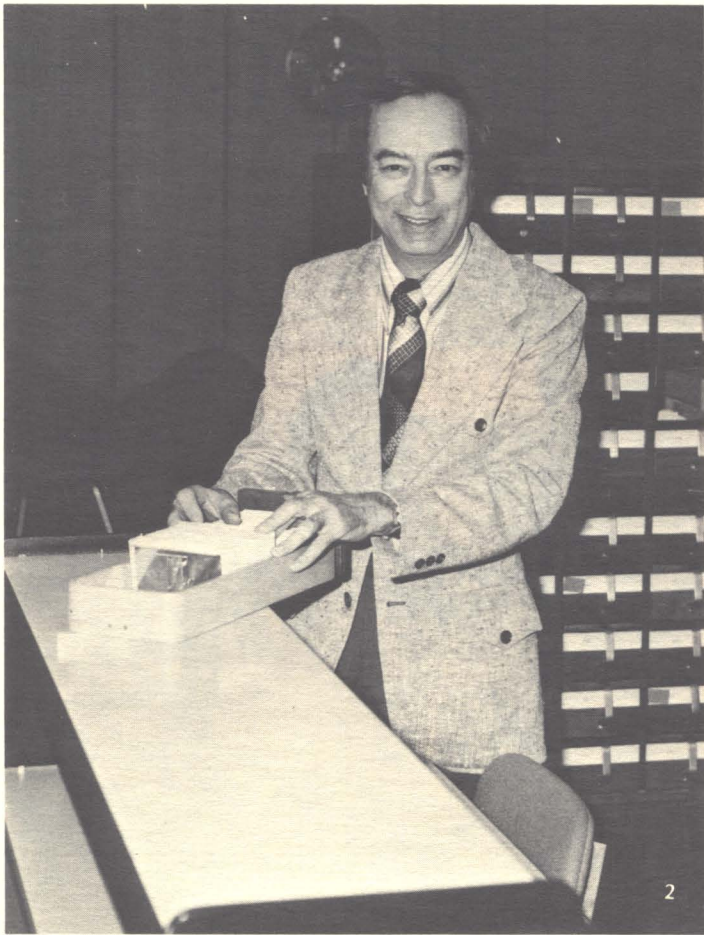

Raymond Pillar's Library Staff Added To By New Employees With Wide Range Of Skills

This year the library staff was added to by the employment of new faculty members and student employees. Under the direction of Raymond Pillar, these skills were put to use in designing a program to add more interest to the library program. (1) On the second floor is a sitting area when many informal meetings are held such as this one by the sorority and fraternity pledges. (2) Sue Brown catalogues and inventories many of the reserve books that are her responsibility.

Book checks were a nuisance, but a necessary part of the library's functions. (1) Many of the international students are employed for this job. (2) Raymond Pillar, library director, keeps a firm hand on all library activities and promotes a congenial atmosphere throughout the building. (3) Checking out books, explaining the card catalog, and helping obtain information keeps the student librarians busy. (4) The walkway in front of the library is a great place to stop for a moment of quick study.

Library Serves As Meeting Place For People

Indian Adult Education Headed By Linda Cassidy

Indian Adult Education provided an opportunity for adults to set and achieve any educational goal; this might have been anything from learning to write their name up to and including preparation for the General Education Development Test. Although the program was designed to meet Indian education needs, there are no ethnic limitations on the use of facilities. Study plans were developed on an individual basis for those seeking to attain a higher educational level. The center is equipped with learning machines and individualized study stations so that one could work at an individual rate of speed. An instructor worked with each person in developing a program of study appropriate to particular learning goals.

(1) Linda Cassidy works closely with the Indian Program. (2) An arts and crafts seminar is being attended. (3) Traditional clothing is modeled at many of the meetings.

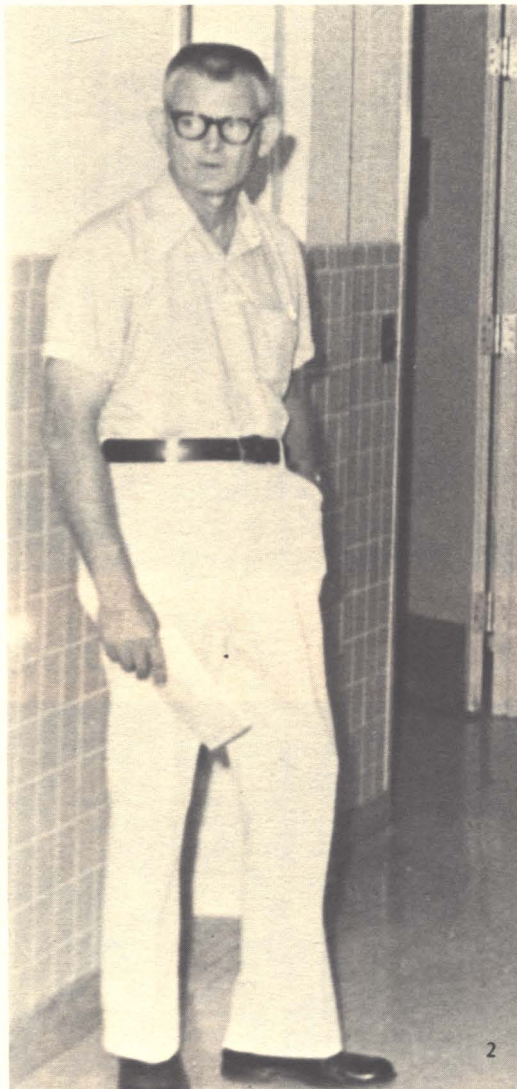

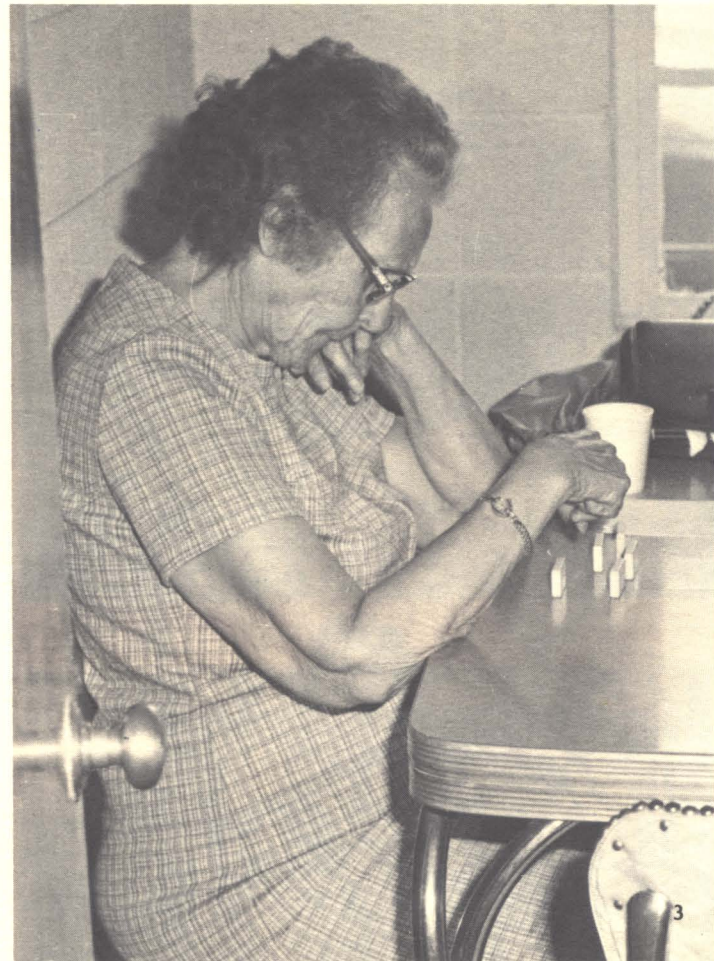

International Students Find Help In Rose Carter's Office

International students had many problems adjusting to the United States in both customs and language. Providing help was the office of Rose Carter. (1) Mrs. Carter speaks at a luncheon where she is presented an award. (2) At the International New Year's Celebration, booths were set up with exhibits from each nation. (3) As a combined project, the international students presented a large model of the world to the University. (4) Many students browsed through the exhibits. (5) Pakistan students set up an elaborate display.

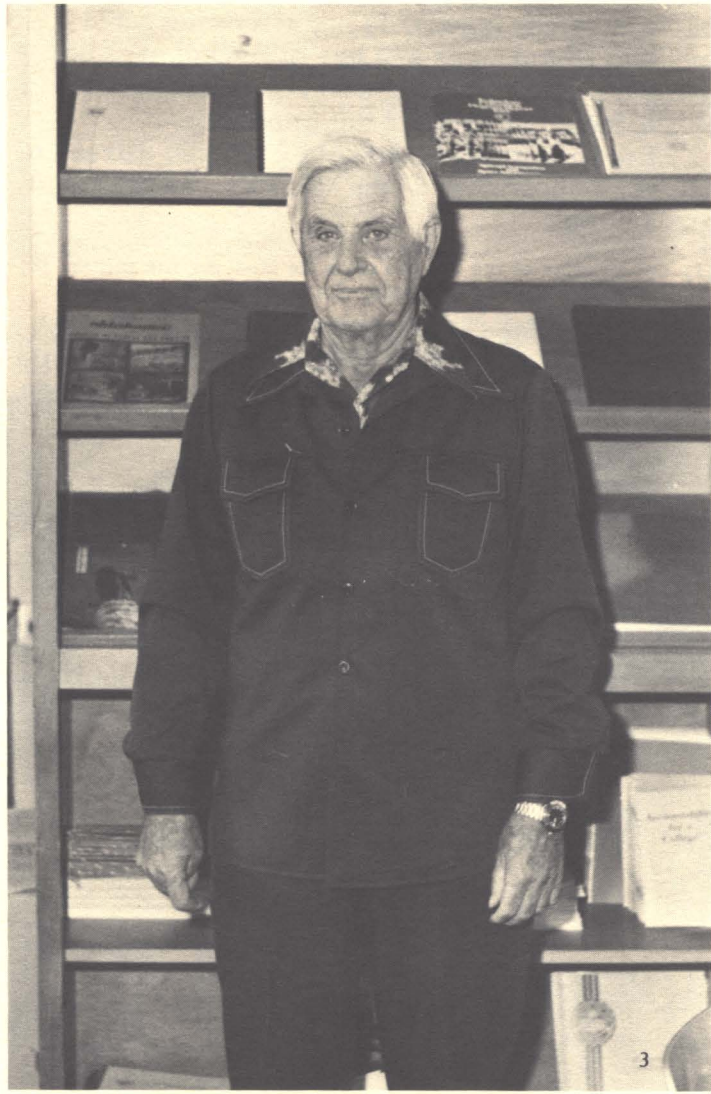

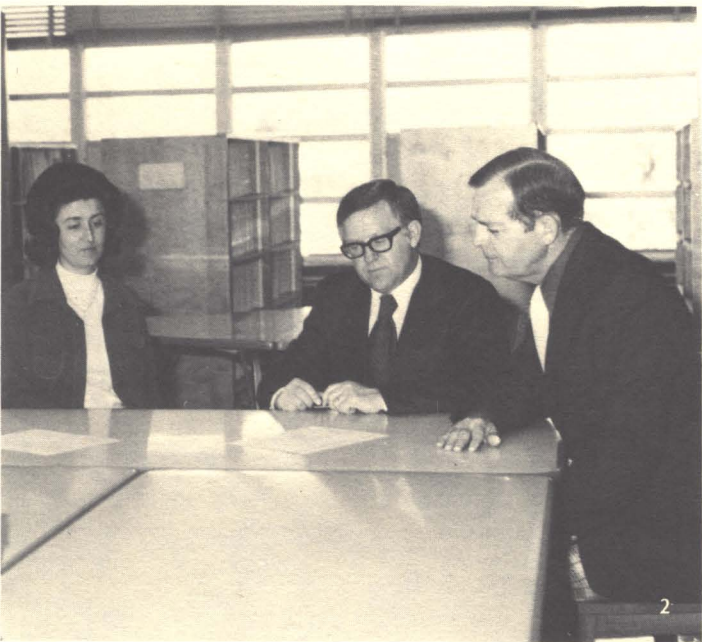

MRS Served As Bumper For Returnees

The MRS program (Many Return to School) had two primary objectives: (1) to help people who have been out of school for longer than usual to get started again and (2) to explore ways to develop a mechanism for granting advanced-standing and life experience credit. Coffees and receptions were held to assist these students.

N.A.S.A. Aided The Aerospace Program

The overall goals of the Aerospace Science Training Program were to encourage more ethnic minority citizens and women to pursue careers in the space-related sciences such as biology, chemistry, computer science, mathematics, medical-oriented fields, and physics. Each year four sophomore or junior students from Southeastern have been selected to spend a summer doing research at a NASA Center such as Johnson Space Center in Houston, Texas. The NASA Center is operated co-operatively by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, its research center, and Southeastern Oklahoma State University.

Oklahoma State Mobile Mine Safety Bus Used

The Oklahoma State Department of Mines and the University have developed an in-service Mine Safety Training Program for persons employed in the mining industry of the state.

Such training emphasizes not only safety and various safety standards but also emergency medical procedures and use of equipment. By using a mobile training unit, the safety program is conducted at or near the mine site.

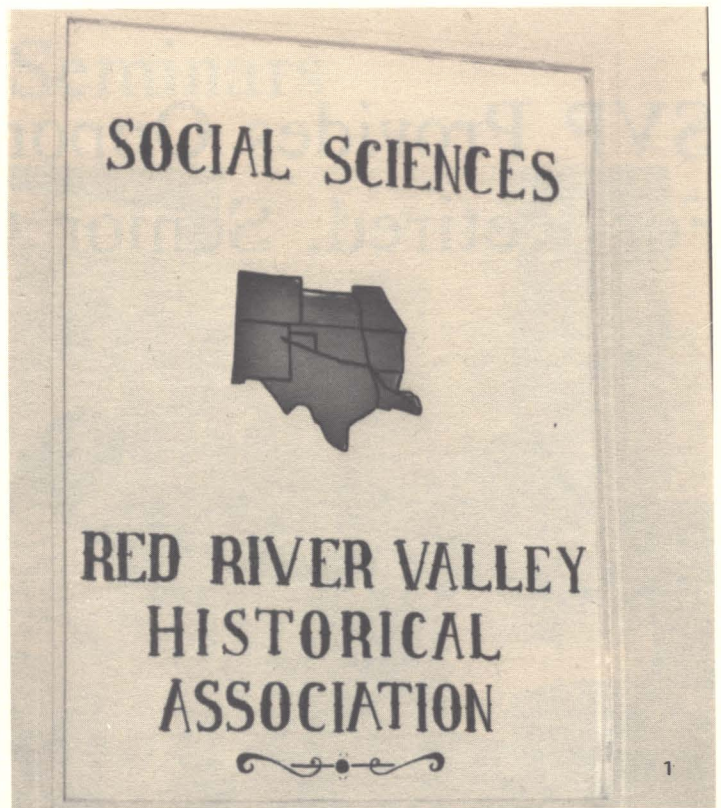

The program is funded by the U. S. Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior. Additional funds come

(1) The interior of the bus has seats for studying the mines. (2) An impressive mobile structure, the laboratory bus is in use most of the week at SSU.

The Red River Valley Historical Association was begun to promote the preservation of the southeastern region of Oklahoma. Started in 1974, the association has been over some rocky grounds in keeping the idea growing. (1) Located in the social science department, (2) Charles Harris and (3) Louis Johnson have worked hard promoting the RRVHA in (4) seminars and meetings over the state.

Red River Valley Group Occupied O.P.C. Building

RSVP Provides Opportunities For Retired, Senior Citizens

Laura Barker served as director of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program for this area. It was made up of retired persons who volunteered their time in sharing the knowledge acquired over the years in their fields.

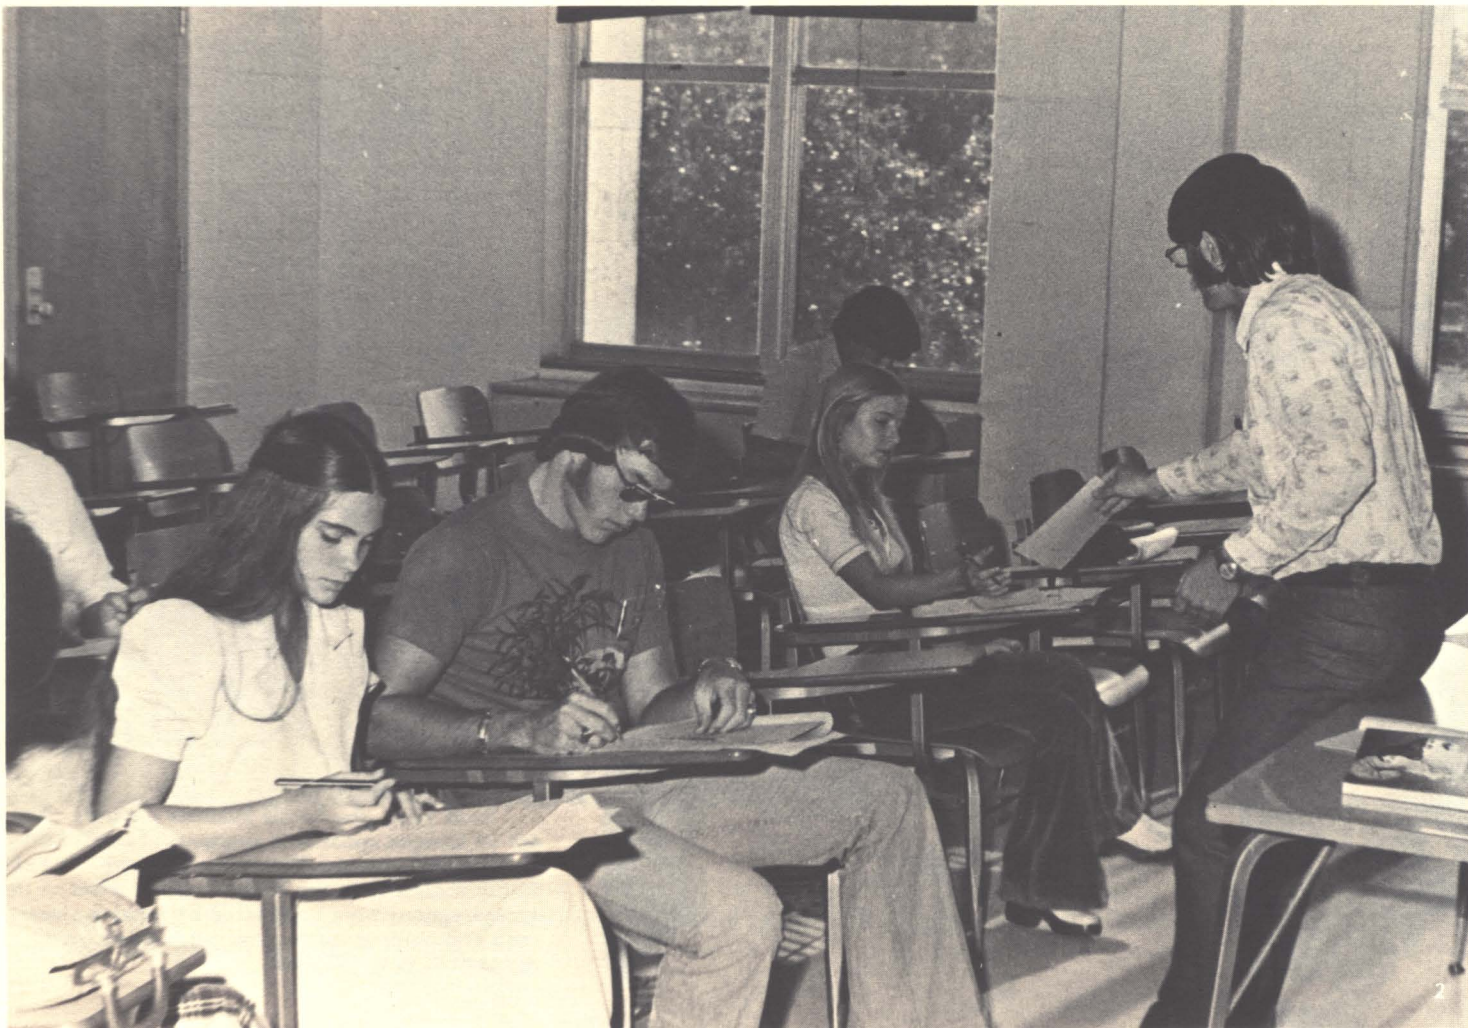

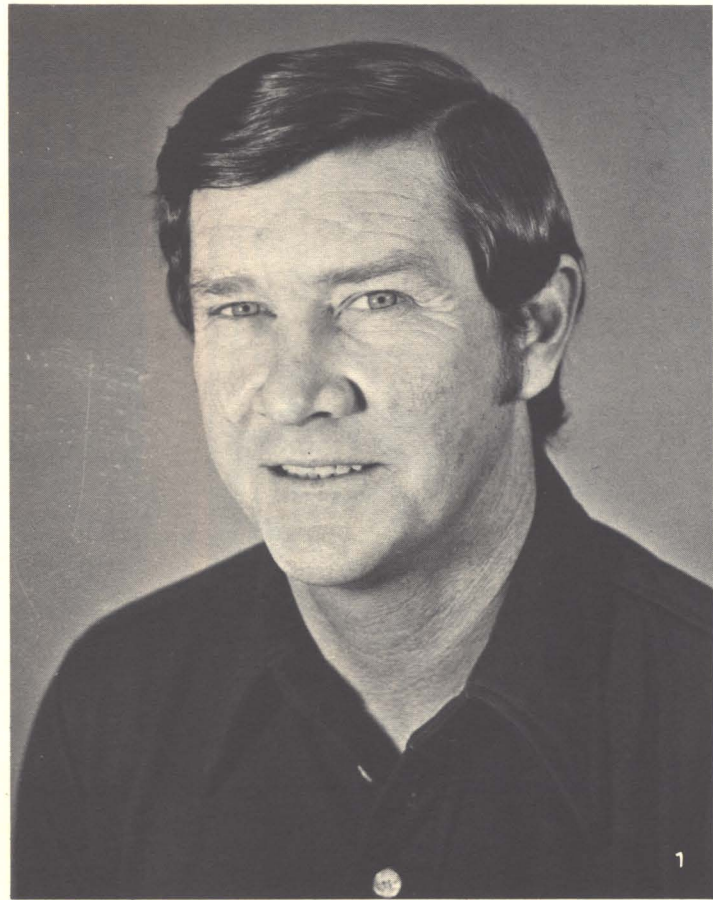

Small Business Institute Held Seminars

Each year, the Small Business Institute chapter on campus sponsors a seminar on small business in the summer. This years seminar was held in the ballroom in the student union. Most of the group sessions were conducted by local businessmen and campus instructors, with a few group discussions now and then.

Talent Search sought to identify students from low-income families who have the desire and ability to pursue further education or special training. Students identified by the program were counseled individually about their special needs, post-secondary educational opportunities, and possible types of financial aid. The student was given assistance in completing necessary paperwork to apply for financial aid or educational programs. It sought students in Atoka, Bryan, Carter, Choctaw, Jefferson, Love, Marshall, McCurtain, Pushmataha, Latimer, and Leflore counties. (1) Leon Scott is director of Talent Search. (2) When students come to school, they are given forms to fill out.

Talent Search Operates In Eleven Counties

TUSC Studies Economy

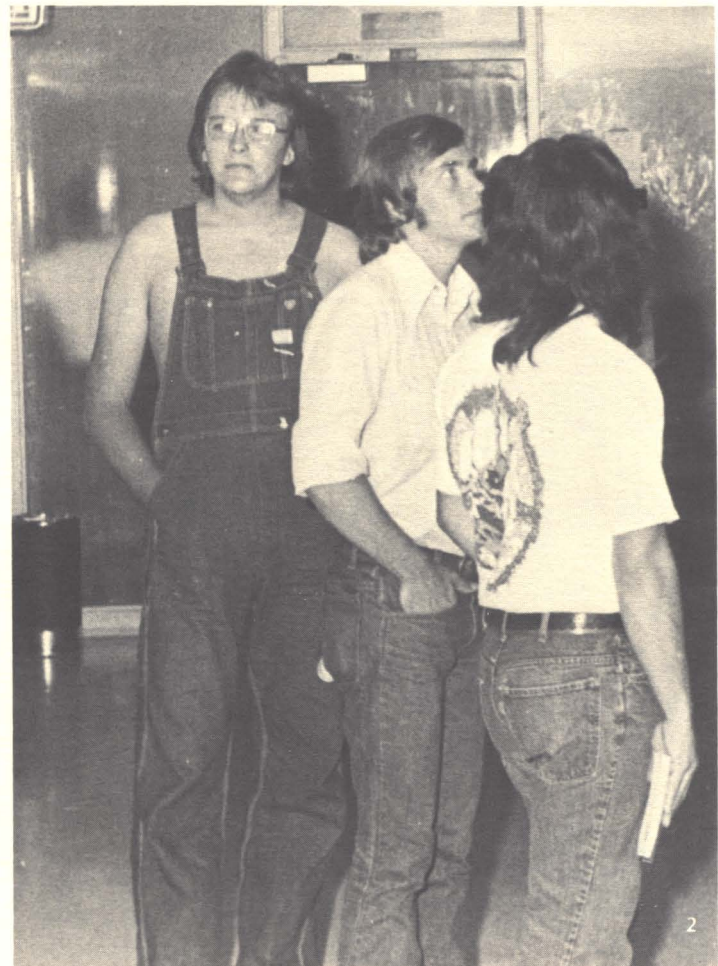

TUSC serves as a resource for industrial and other organizations concerned with the promotion of economic and technological developments. (1) Sue West types memos to many other campus offices. (2) Sue West and Alvin White spend hours printing their plans. (3) Directors of TUSC are A.M. Moore, Sue West, Henry Gold, and Bill Dodd.

Campus Kept Secure By Campus Police

Known as security guards and parking lot patrolmen, the campus police were responsible for keeping the campus secure. They checked buildings for intruders and issued building permits to students. (1) These men take time out for a well deserved coffee break. (2) Students in organizations must obtain a building permit before any function may be held indoors.

Former Upward Bound Students Form Alumni

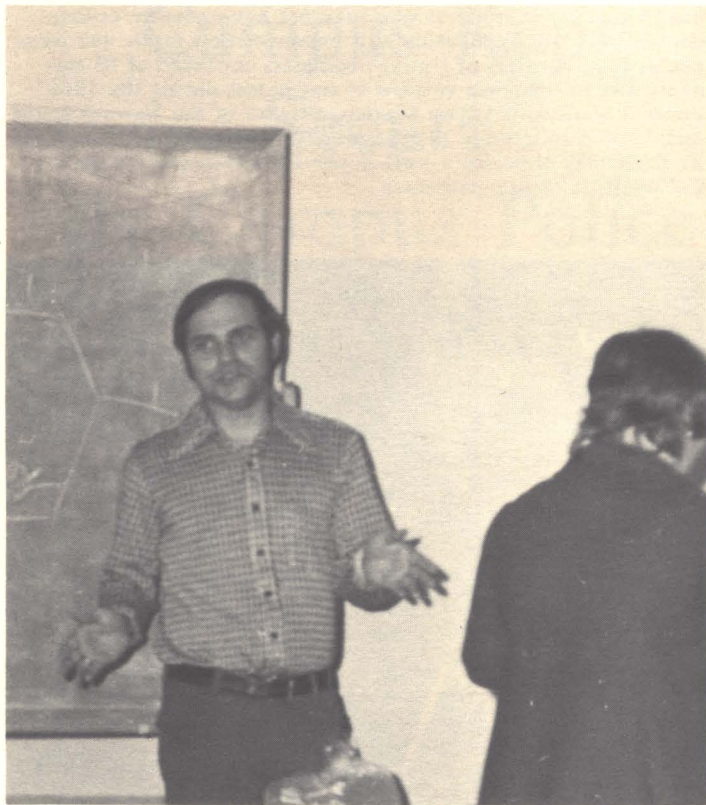

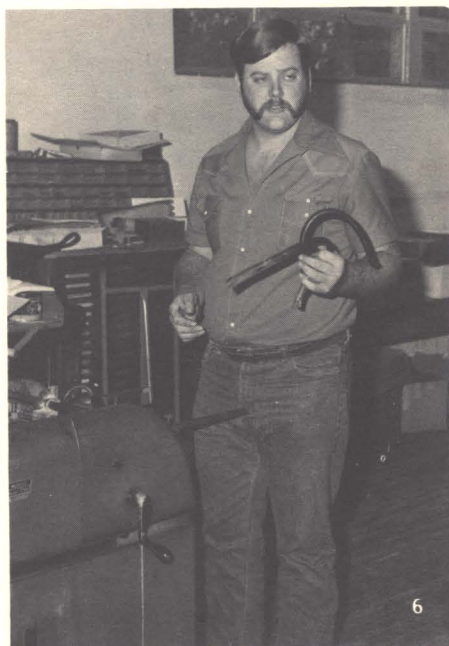

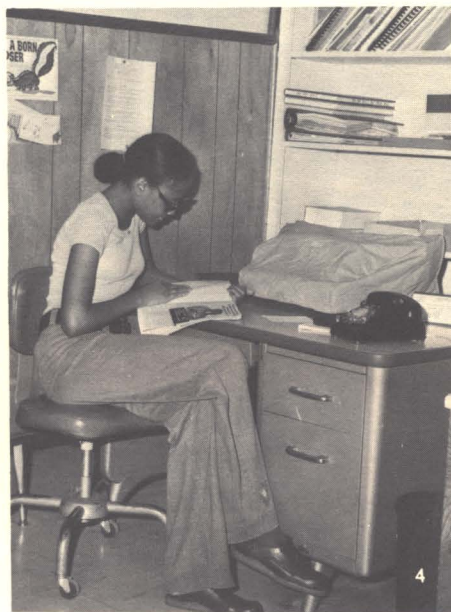

Each summer, approximately one hundred-twenty high school students move on campus to earn college credit. This program has helped many students who may not have gone to college decide that more education will enhance their future job prospects. (1) The class of Upward Bounders consisted of 85 students and an unknown number of instructors during the 1975 summer session. (2) Leon Scott is director of the Upward Bound and Alumni programs. (3) Scott and his assistant director Phyllis Drew take time for a well-deserved coffee break with Joy Culbreath (Sitting), secretary.

Lagoon Project Led The Way In Research

Water-quality has been a serious problem on the minds of the environmentalists for the past few years. The university set up the Lagoon Project lab as a research area. In addition to running water experiments, they work on pollution control. These people have also worked closely with the Durant fish hatchery.

The print shop has always been one of the most active offices on campus. They were responsible for printing tickets, programs, test, and other materials needed on campus. Cecil Sullivan served as head of the print shop, with Scott Chappell as his assistant.

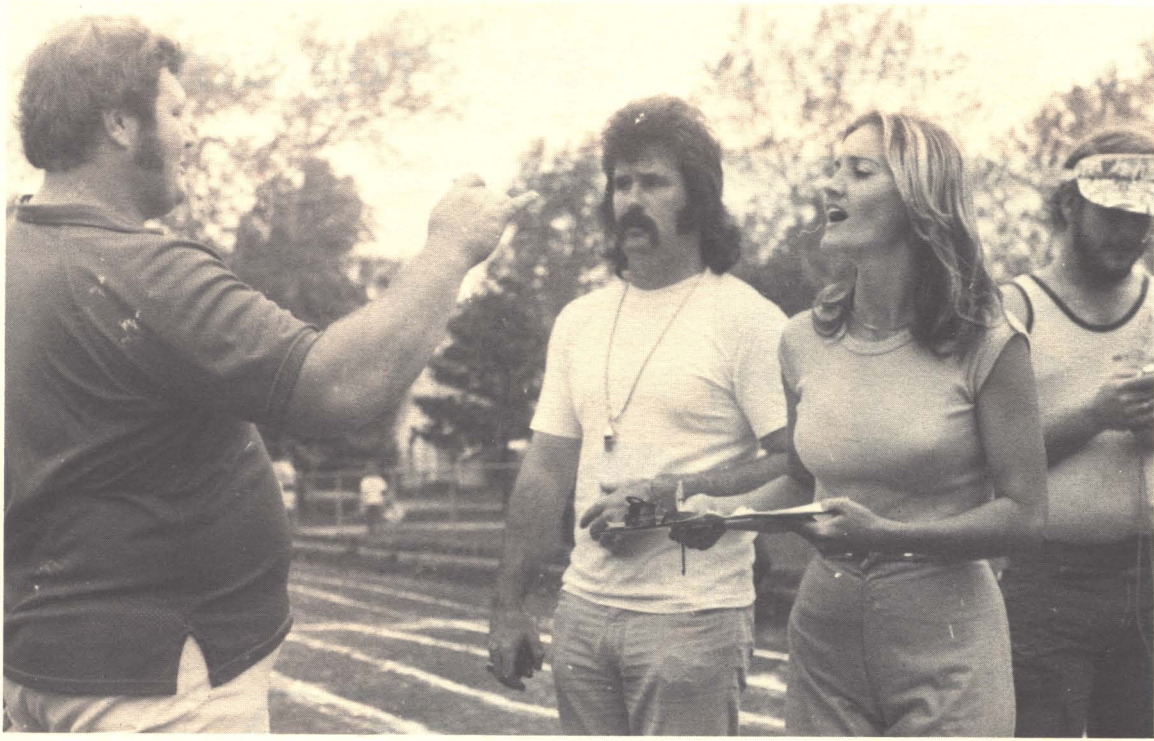

New People Joined Print Shop Crew

Special Olympics Held In Spring

Special Olympics were held in the spring to help the people in special education come to understand the problems involved. Sororities and fraternities turned out to help the mentally and physically handicapped children compete in their own special divisions and to hug and encourage them.

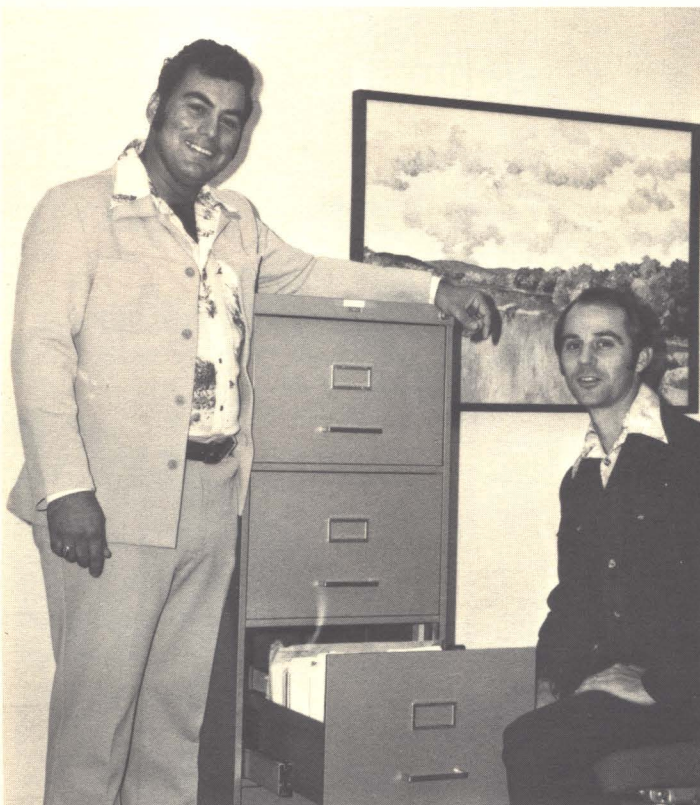

Counselor's Trained In New Program

Counseling was one of the most innovative classes on campus. Students enrolled in these classes were required to counsel all ages, types, and numbers of people.

ACADEMICS

Library Science Courses
Popular In English

Special exhibits built interest in the library. Art exhibits from over the country were on display and student exhibits were not unusual to be seen in the lounge areas. (1) Many instructors, both on and off campus, took full advantage of the complete resource rooms. (2) Most of the exhibits displayed were of professional artists and often the artist accompanied them, (3) As are most libraries, Southeastern's also provided quiet study and reading areas. (4) Local students and professionals set up many of their works for display. (5) In addition to being a study and reading place, the library made a good meeting place for friends.

Art Department Headed By Alan Platter

Art courses are directed toward creative knowledge in an effort to make good artists and to raise the art appreciation level. The B. A. degree is offered with a major in Education. The art major may select an area of concentration related to his future plans. Persons preparing for careers in commercial art, design, painting, ceramics, print making will study teaching methods, materials, and processes conforming to the requirements for certification to teach art in all twelve grades of public schools.

(1) Throwing a pot on the wheel takes patient hands as this man has. (2) Some of the creations are so large and exciting that even this youngster really enjoyed experiencing them.

Opposite page, 143: (1) Every student likes to check his work to make sure it is accurate. (2) Getting the wheel turning is one of the first things learned in pottery. (3) Sidewalk art shows and sales are common occurrence on a warm afternoon.

Biological Sciences Receives Land Tract

Biological sciences has a main concern of teaching knowledge of basic scientific concepts in order to better understand the natural environment. It also gives basic understanding of plant and animal structure and function. Offered also is information in the fields of biochemistry, medicine, dentistry, nursing, agriculture, veterinary science, and pharmacology.

The Biological Sciences staff, including five Ph. D's place great emphasis on student involvement. You will have classroom situation and on location training with specific scientific projects now in operation through the Biological Sciences Department.

Page 144, 1) The natural sciences exhibit fascinates both students and visitors as it shows animals in their natural environments. 2) Individualized tutoring and instruction is one of the special areas covered in this department.

Page 145, 1) Examining a sea turtle shell is one of the many, daily activities of these two biologists. 2) Biology and conservation students learn about plant reproduction as they plant this sapling.

English And Humanities Department

(1) David Rich, an active sponsor, teaches several lively composition classes. (2) Dr. Margaret O'Riley, department chairman, handles teaching English literature, such as Shakespeare. (3) One of the busiest men in the English department is Richard Freed.

Women's Literature Course Added To English Curriculum

Three programs are open to the student who wishes to major in English. The major leads to a B. A. degree in English which is an excellent foundation for graduate study in any field. Students choosing this major will concentrate in literature, literary criticism, and linguistics. Those preparing to teach language arts in public schools will select the major in Education.

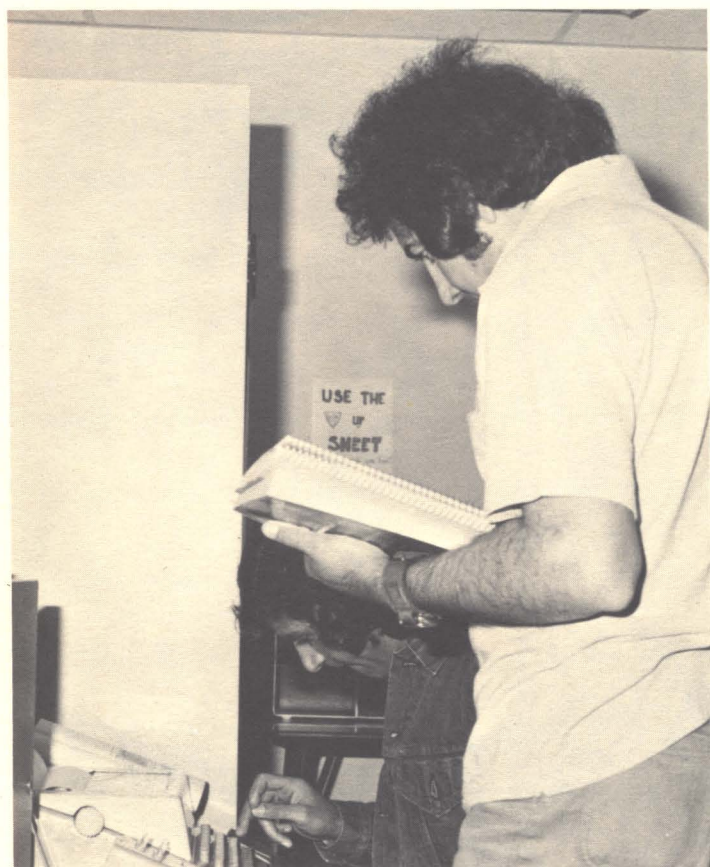

(1) Looks like a meeting of a liberation movement, but it's actually a class meeting of the new Women in Literature English course that met for the first time under the direction of Blance F. Jamison.
(3) Appearances can be deceiving for Dr. Elbert Hill is not relaxing with a good pipe and magazine. He's preparing for the next class he teaches.

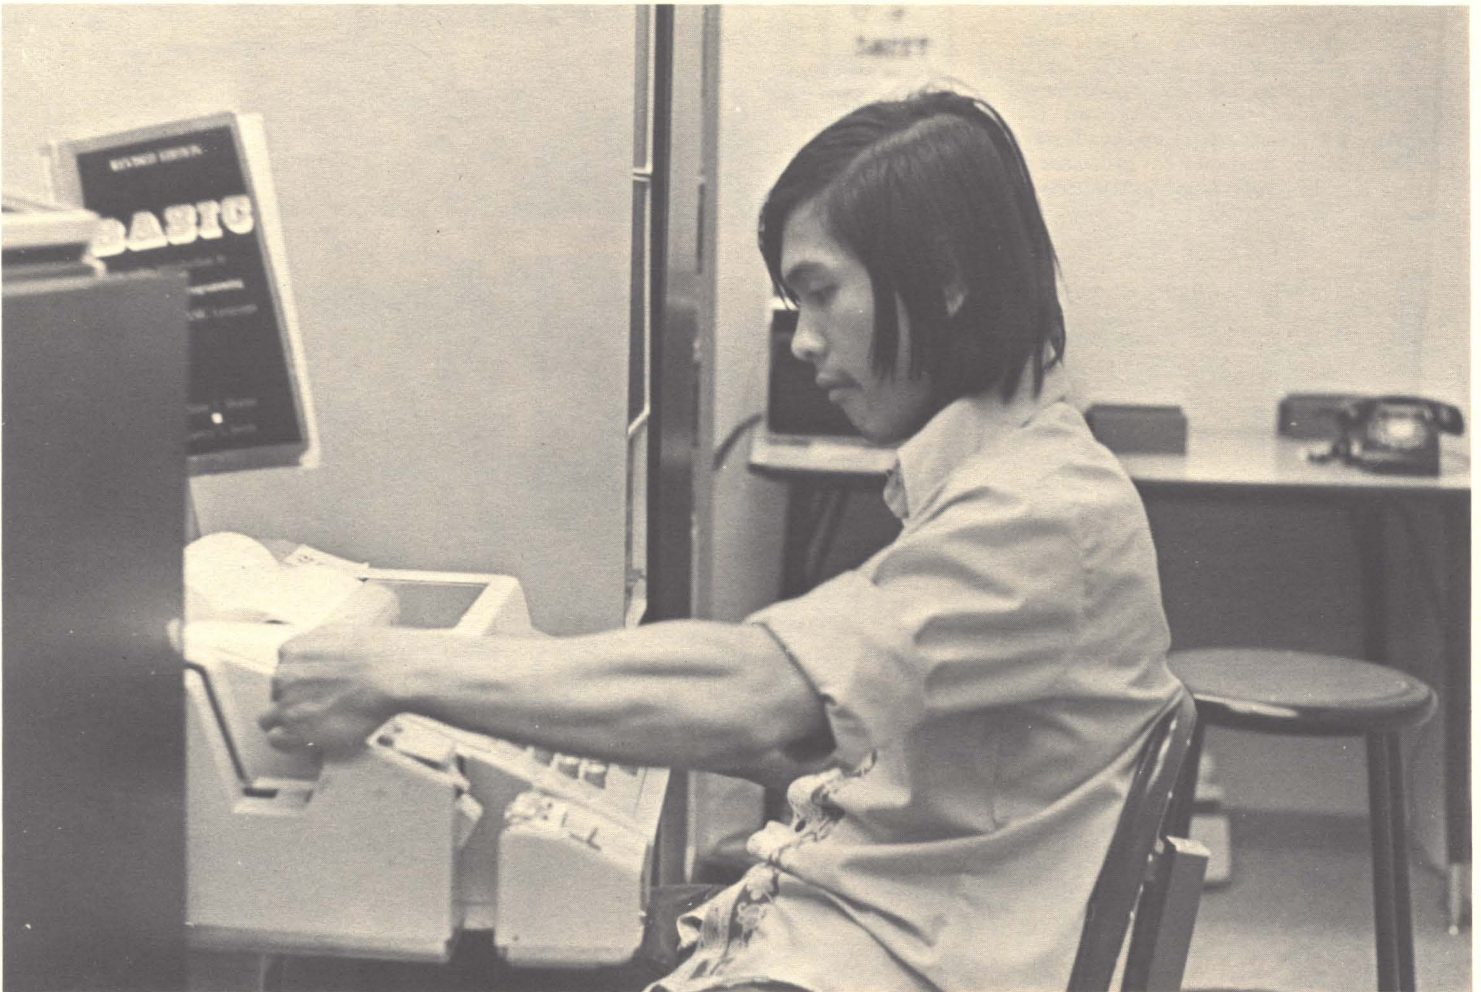

Math And Computer Science Courses Aid In Basics

Math and computer science share the same building, and are combined to form the Informational Science Department. Three courses in their second year include Basic Skills, Theory of Inference, and Management Information Systems.

- (1) Figuring some tough math problems was extremely hard for some of the students who are required to take math.
- (2) Often in computer science, two or more students will form a team in completing the assignments.
- (3) Even the secretaries get their share of math through grading papers.

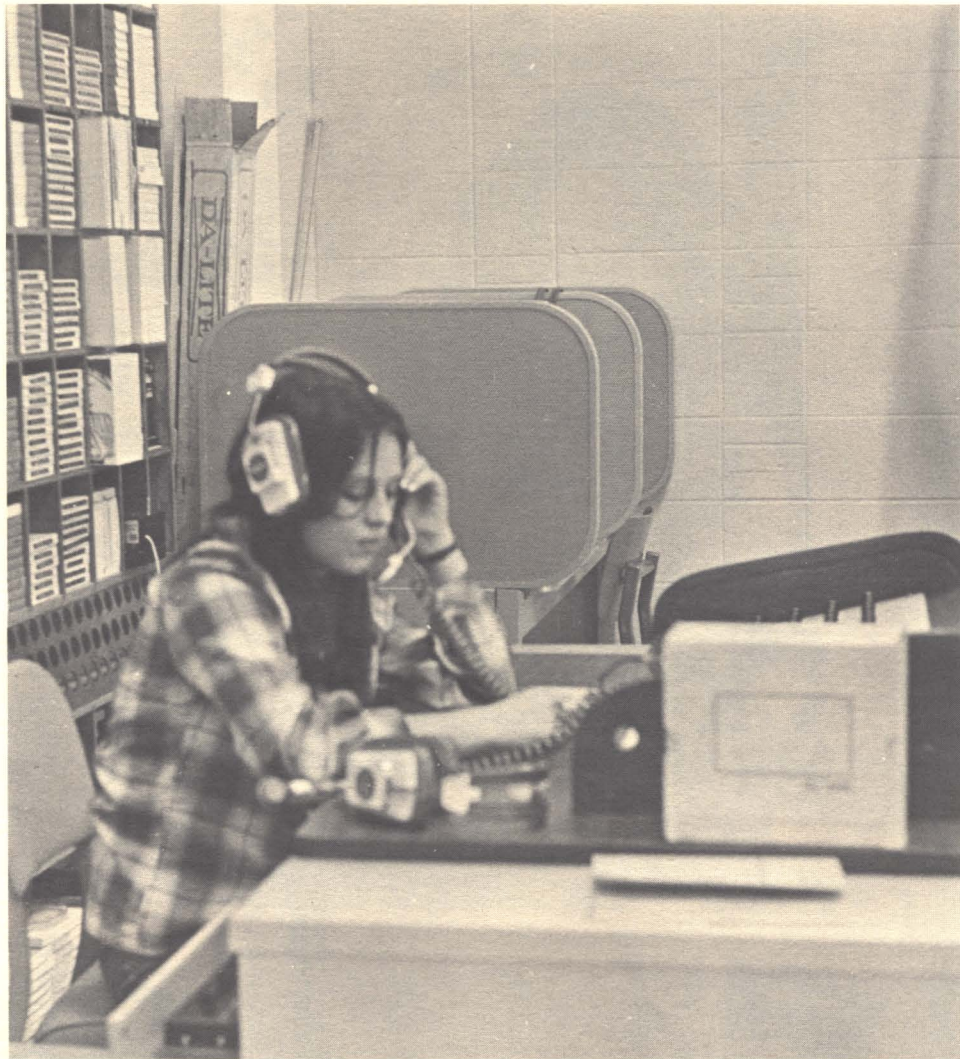

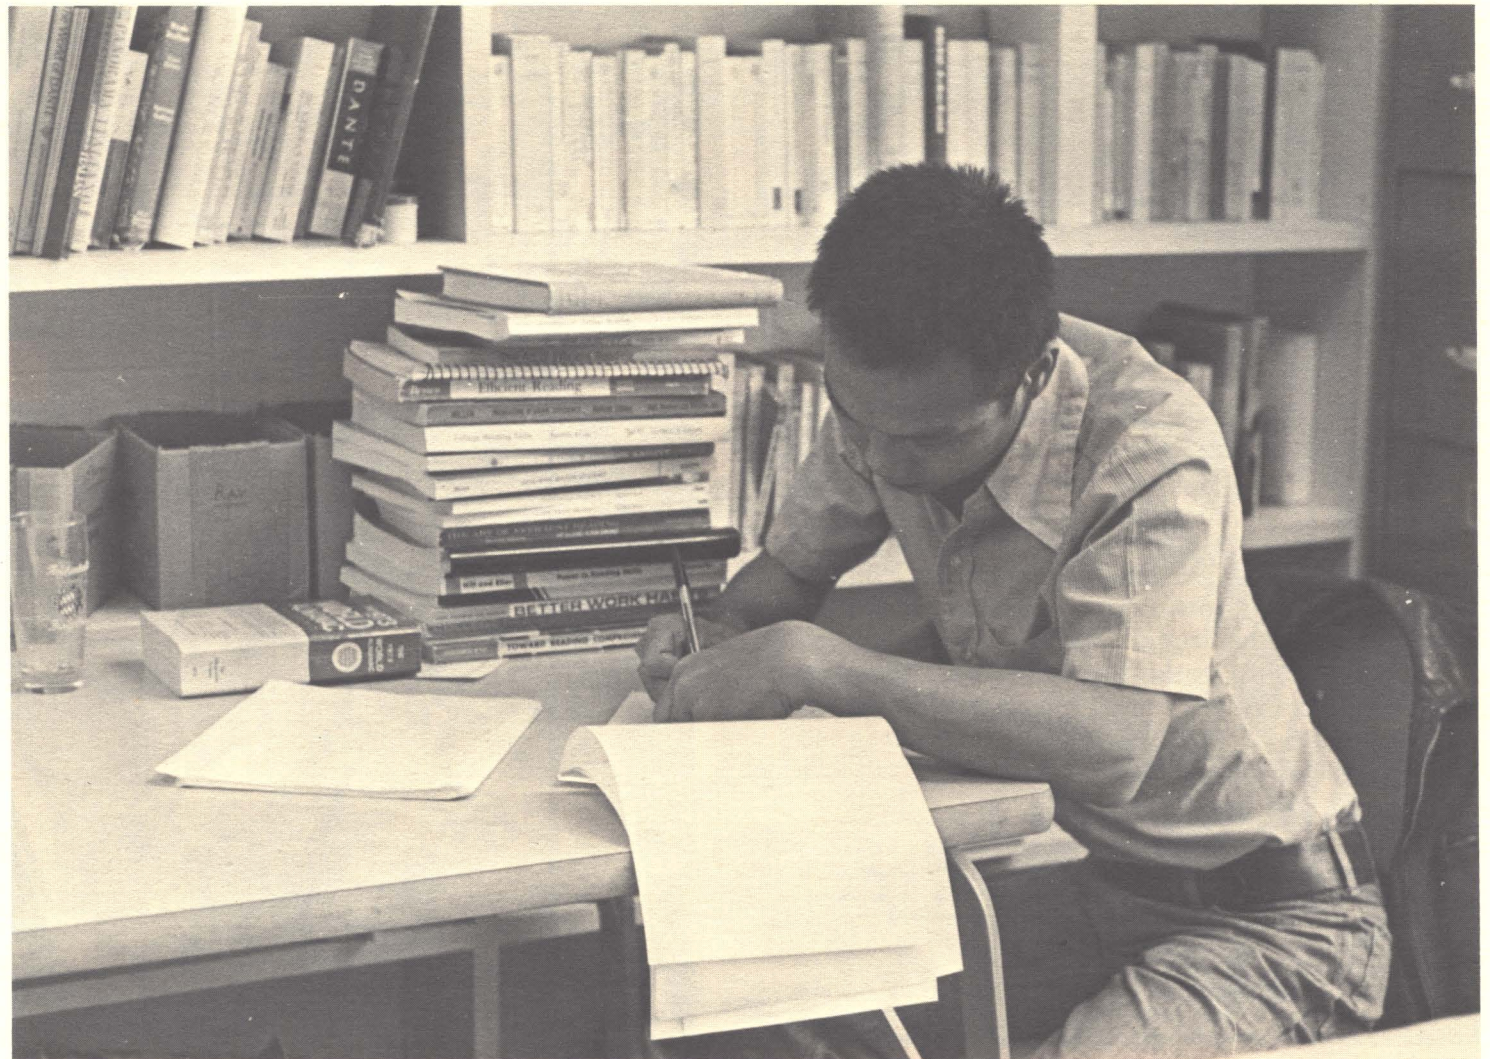

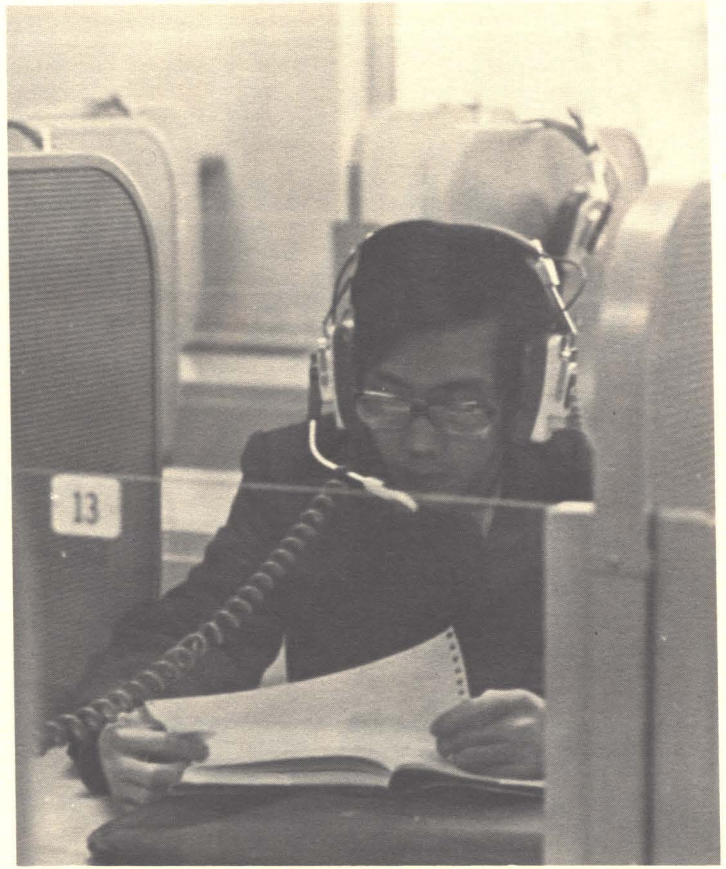

Four Languages Taught In Modern Language

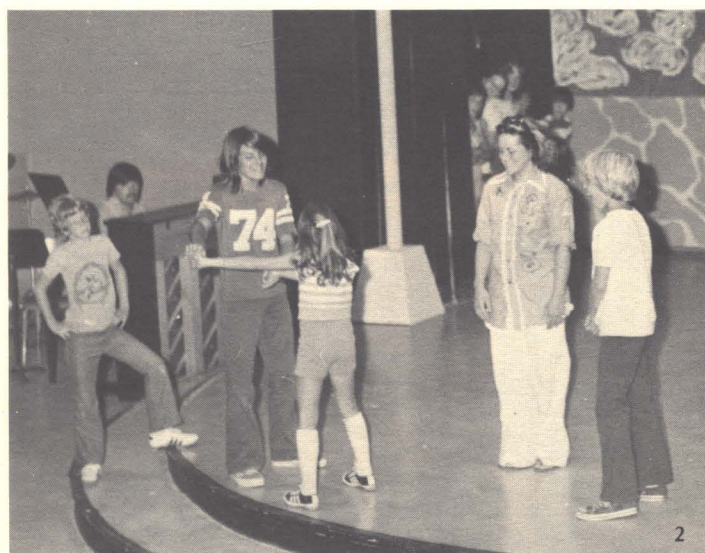

In today's world there is a growing need for self-expression through learning the various languages used. Southeastern has provided an excellent Modern and Classical Languages department. French, Spanish, and German, as well as other languages are taught on the third floor of the Administration building where this department is housed.

(1) One of the most modern language tapes are played on these machines that the individual student runs. (2) Rose Carter, is the advisor for the international students and help them bridge the language barrier.

Opposite page, 151: (1) This instructor will read nothing but German, or any other languages he teaches, and the class will answer in the same language. (3) Also in the language department, English is taught as a second language for the international students. (2) This student waits for his professor to give him the individual instruction he needs.

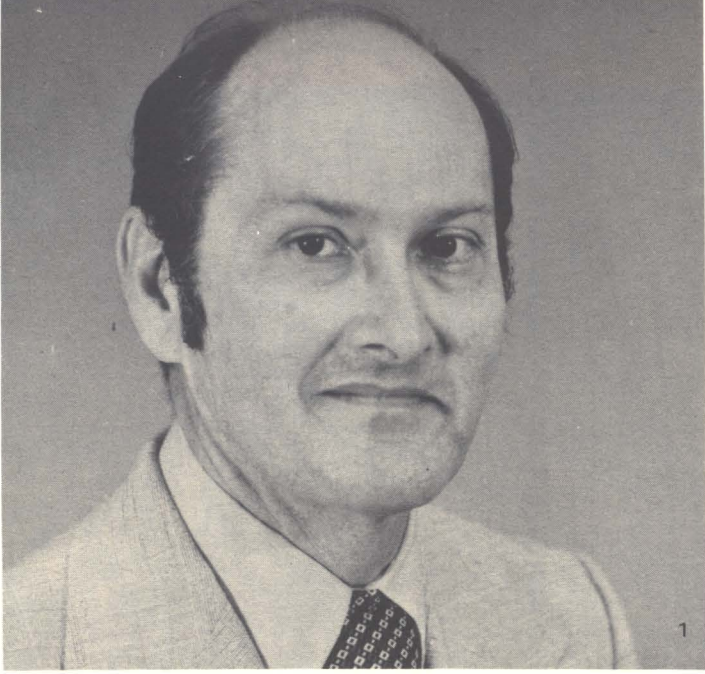

Emphasis in the Department of Music is upon quality instruction, superior performance, and close personal relationships between students and faculty. Comprehensive offerings serve the needs and interests of students majoring in music courses of study. Music performance and enrichment opportunities are provided by the department for the student body.

Membership in the mixed chorus, the chorale, the Chorvettes, marching band, stage band, opera-theatre, and other ensembles is open to qualified students from every department.

Page 152: 1) Directed by Jim Hansford, the Savage Concert band made many appearances on and off campus. 2) The opera Hansel and Gretel was presented at Southeastern. It required many rehearsals. 3) Auditions for the various shows were held in the Little Theatre. 4) Music practice rooms were provided for the students.

Page 153: 1) The loss of Bob Pratt was a great shock to the music department. His last performance was the Candlelighting Services shortly before his death. 2) Group rehearsal of the chorus were held often.

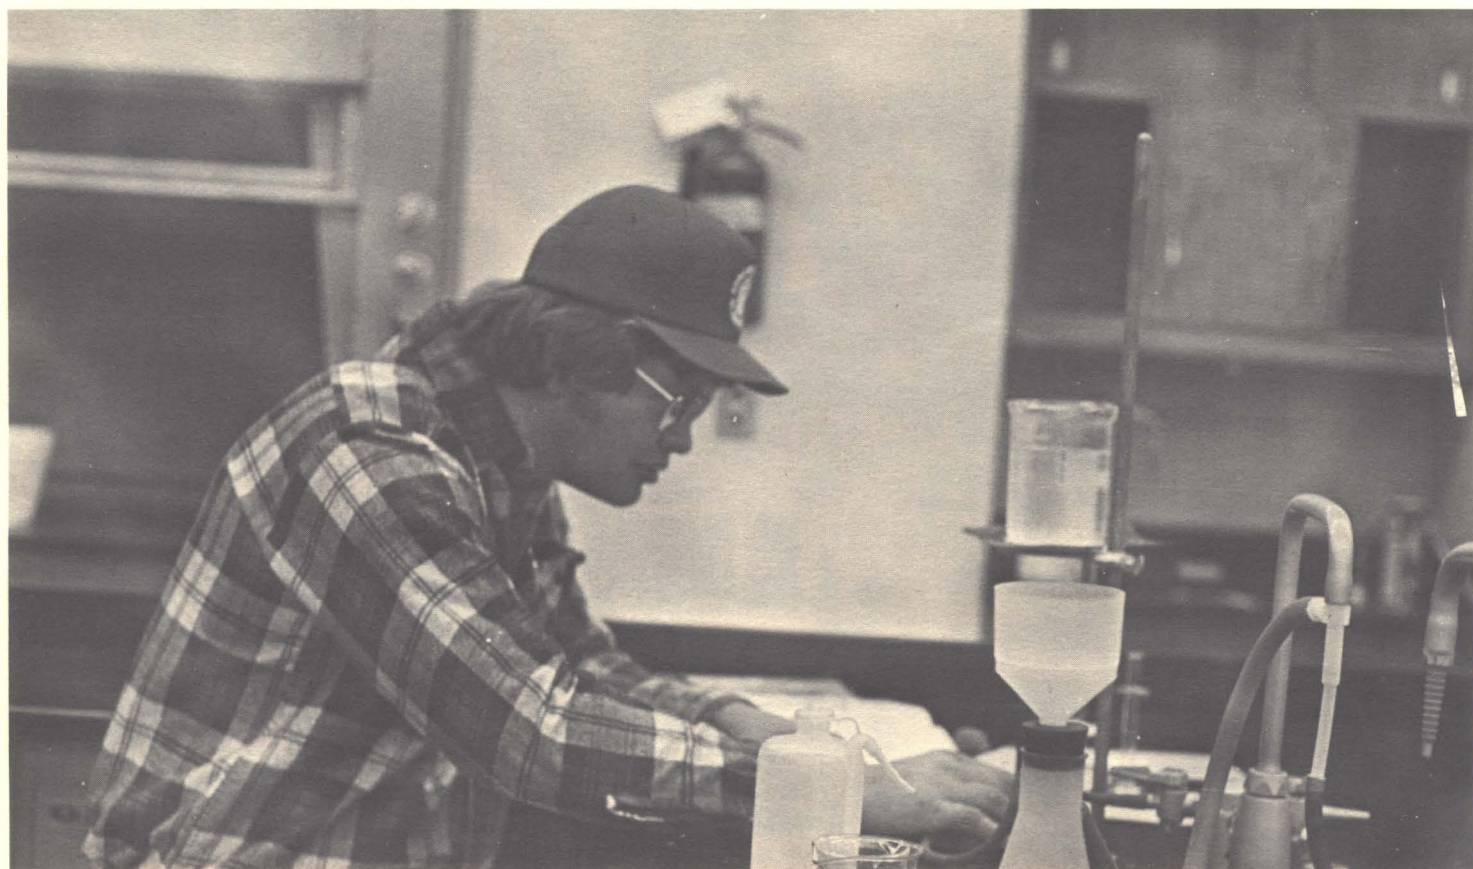

Music Department Suffers Loss Of Bob Pratt During Break

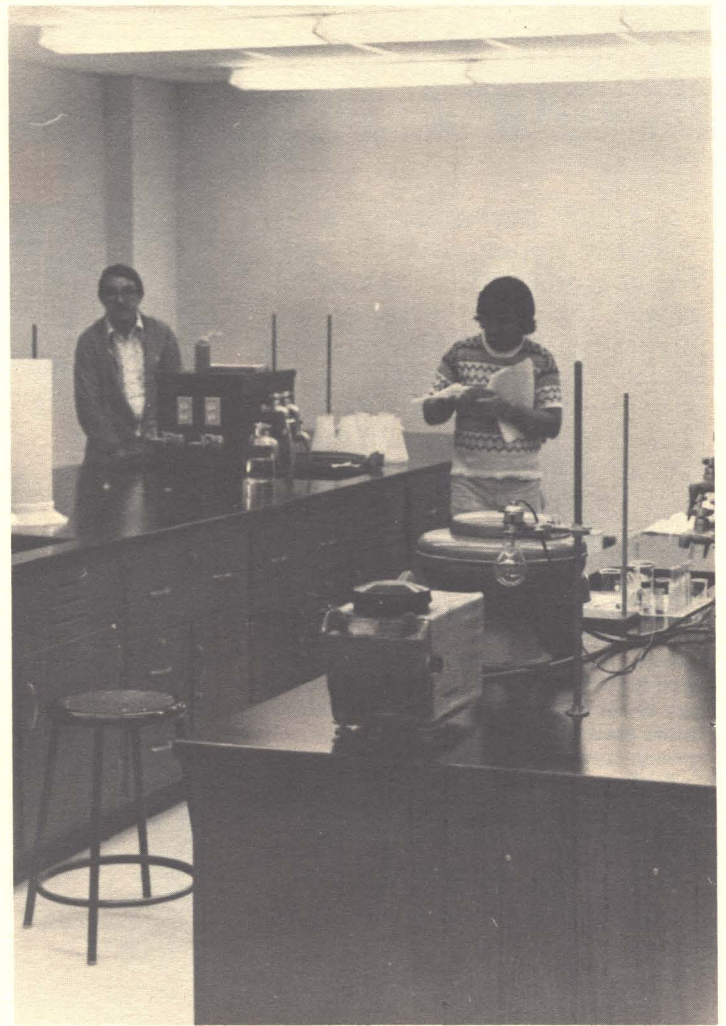

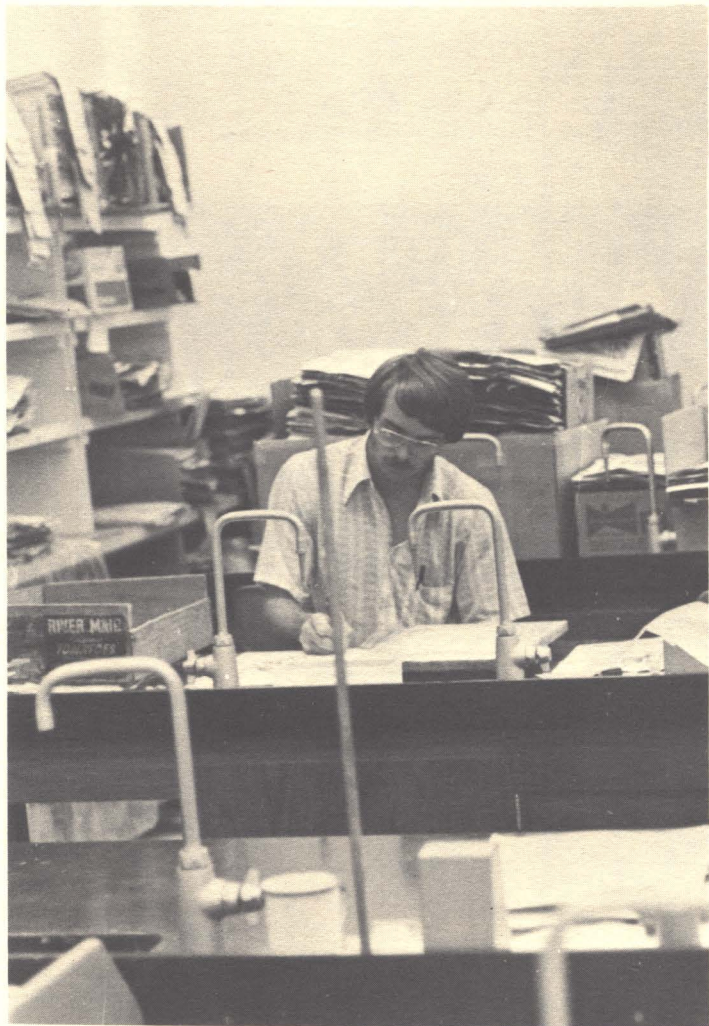

Physical Sciences, generally a freshman course, touches briefly on the subject of earth and its atmosphere, and the universe. (1) These two young women work on an experiment, that is in the first stages. (2) Before beginning his experiment, this man must complete the basic research.

Opposite page, 155: (1) These international students in the advanced courses compare notes. (2) One can be a lonely person if that one is in the physical sciences lab alone. (3) Shirley Byrd looks over her test paper while her instructor waits to finish the class.

Physical Sciences Do Many Experiments To Gain New Knowledge

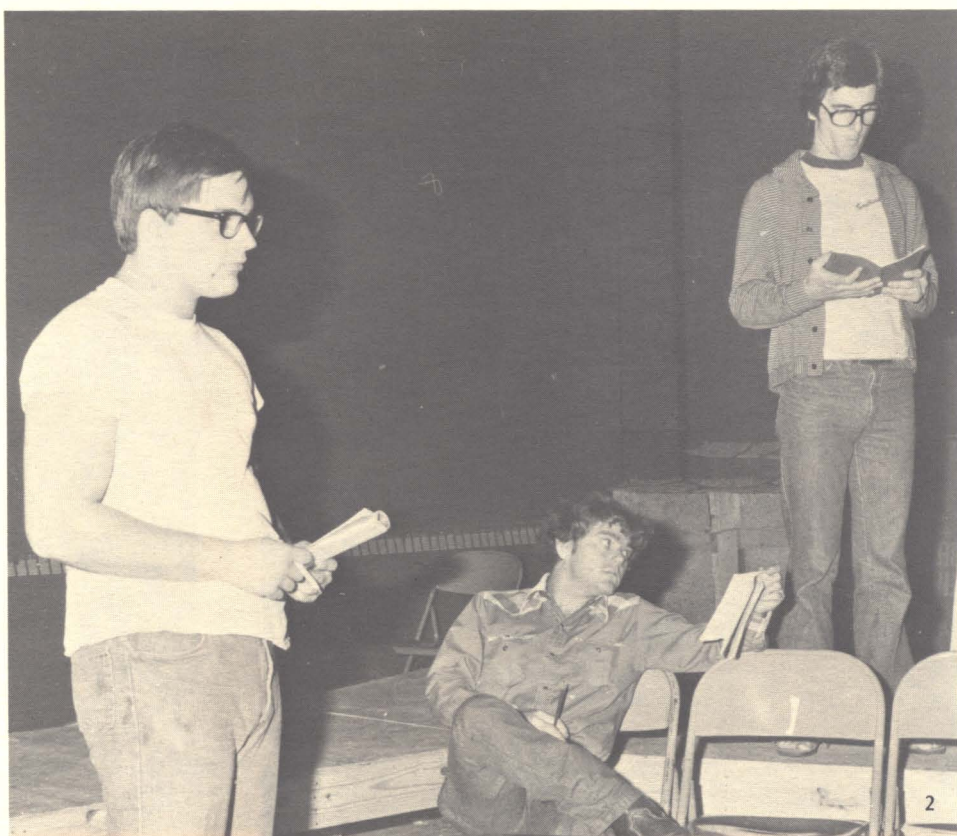

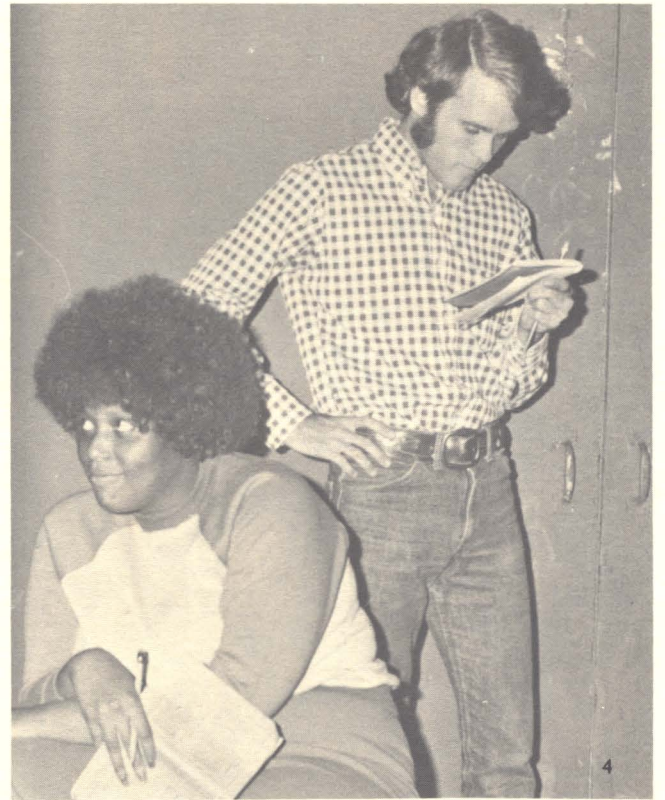

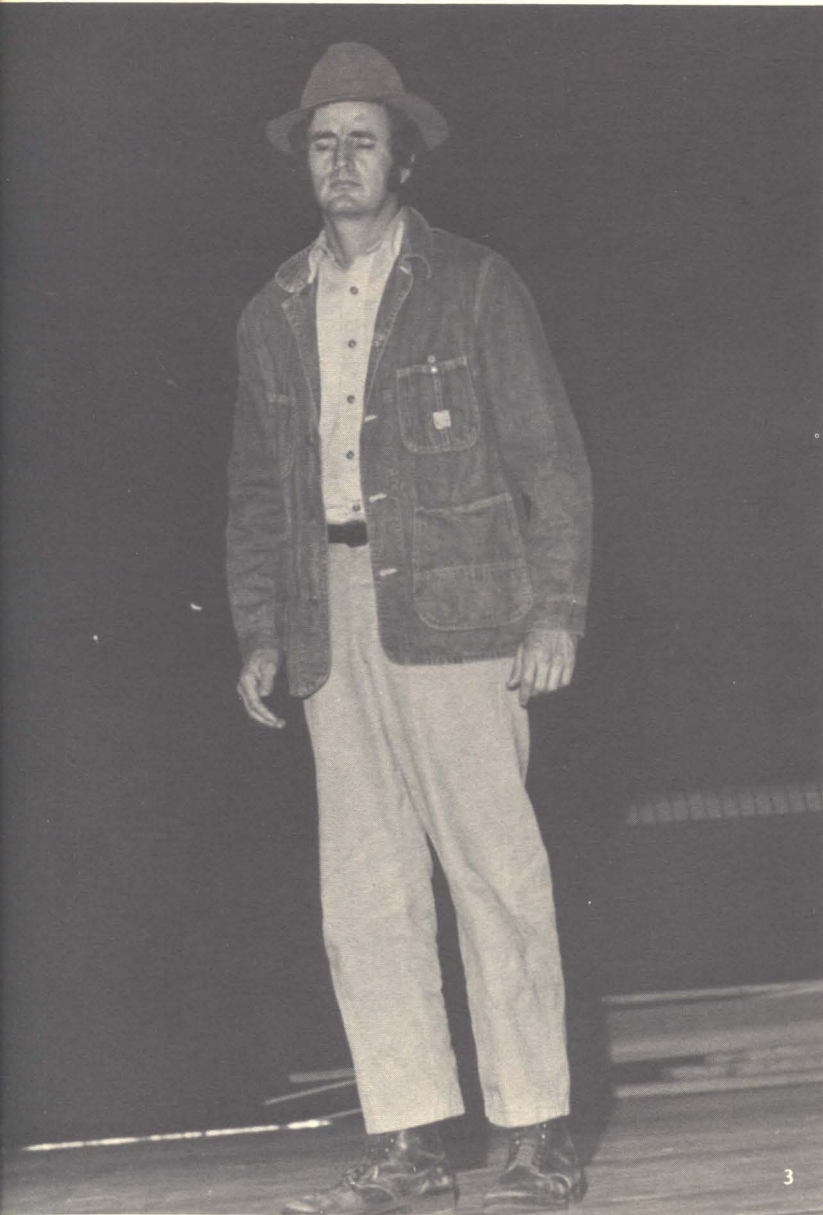

Dramatics And Speech Communications Department's Classes Reached Capacity

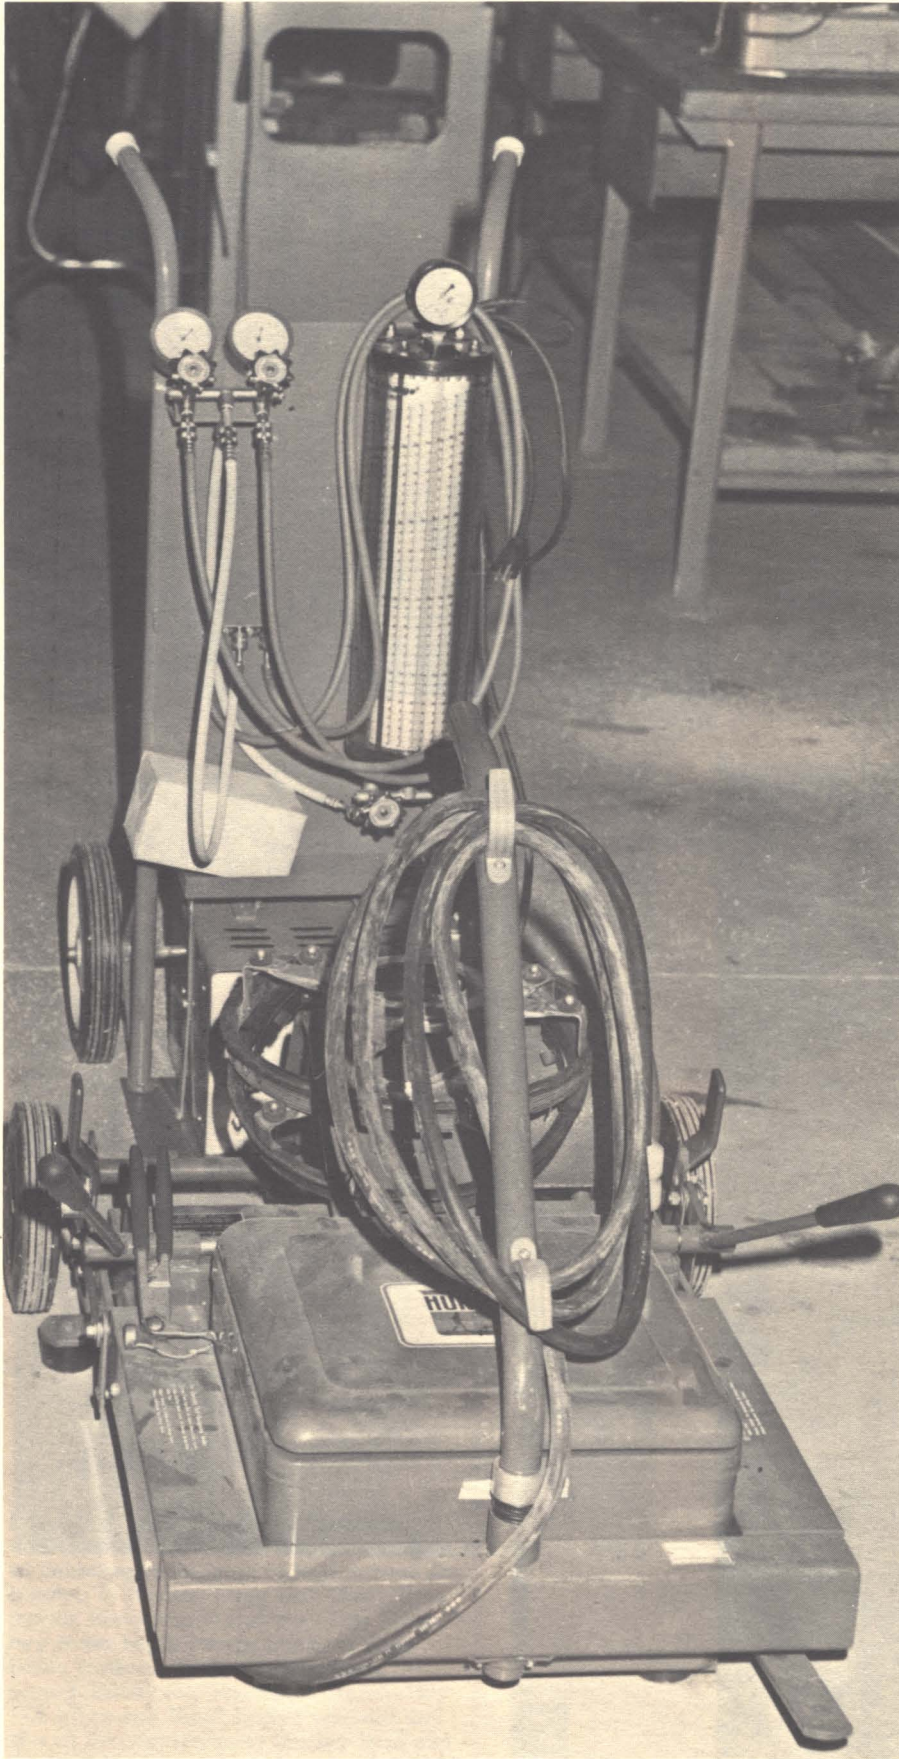

Speech encompasses more than just acting, it involves not only that but speech pathology, theatre history, and directing. 1) In order to learn about stage directions, these students meet in the Little Theatre. 2) Rehearsals for Tobacco Road and Ransom took up most of the time of these students.

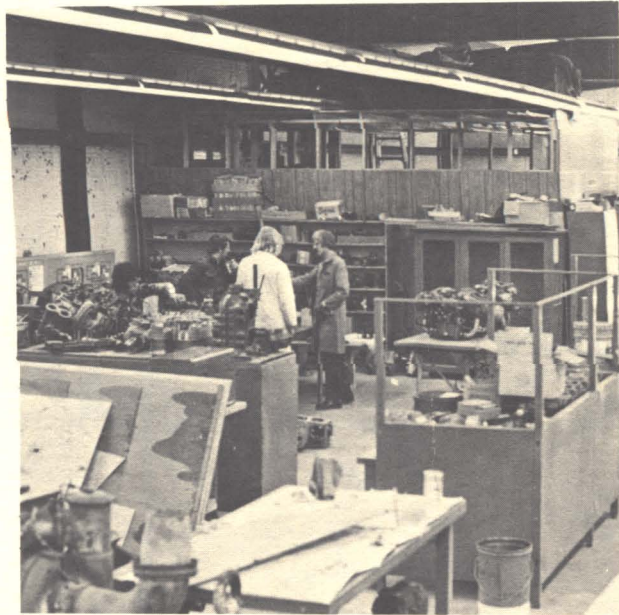

Page 157, position 1) Cheryl Simmonds and Chris Stickney give a demonstration of debating techniques to high school debaters. 2) Rodney Hagy and Chryl Simmonds (foreground) and the Chris Stickney team begin competition on their home station. 3) Charles Warthen, speech instructor, starred in Steinbach's "Of Mice and Men" before assumin duties at Southeastern. 4) Shirley Byrd and Richard Verbe read over the Ransom script.

Job Training Offered In Auto Mechanics

Auto mechanics courses trained people to fill jobs which were in great demand. (1) New machines arrived in time for the fall semester classes to use them. (2) Cars with different problems are used as teaching materials. Flat fixing is one of the more common problems. Page 159, (1) Laboratory time comes in handy when having to figure the various problems. (2) These men study a break down of an engine into individual areas.

Elementary Education Utilizes New And Improved Techniques

Elementary education is personalized and flexible to satisfy individual needs. The student may choose to specialize in reading, early childhood, special education, departmentalized elementary education, or to generalize in elementary education. Its ultimate goal is to promote the development of self-actualizing teachers.

(1) Projects are set up and demonstrated with actual elementary aged children. Projects range from an art exhibit to (2) a "feeling" the environment set up by this girl. Page 161, (1) Elementary students are studied by future teachers in any place they can find them. (2) Class room instruction is given.

Elizabeth McGahee and Phyllis Philips take a relaxing break while they chat and read the latest magazines in the Home Economics department. (3) Cathy Lindsay enjoys watching over a couple of youngsters as part of a child psychology class. Page 163, (1) Objectives of SOSU's Home Economics are to provide courses for men and women who are concerned with strengthening home family, and community life in addition to preparing for a career in home economics. (2) Anita Foster prepares a delicious cake while working with cafeteria.

Home Economics Classes Covered Domestic Problems

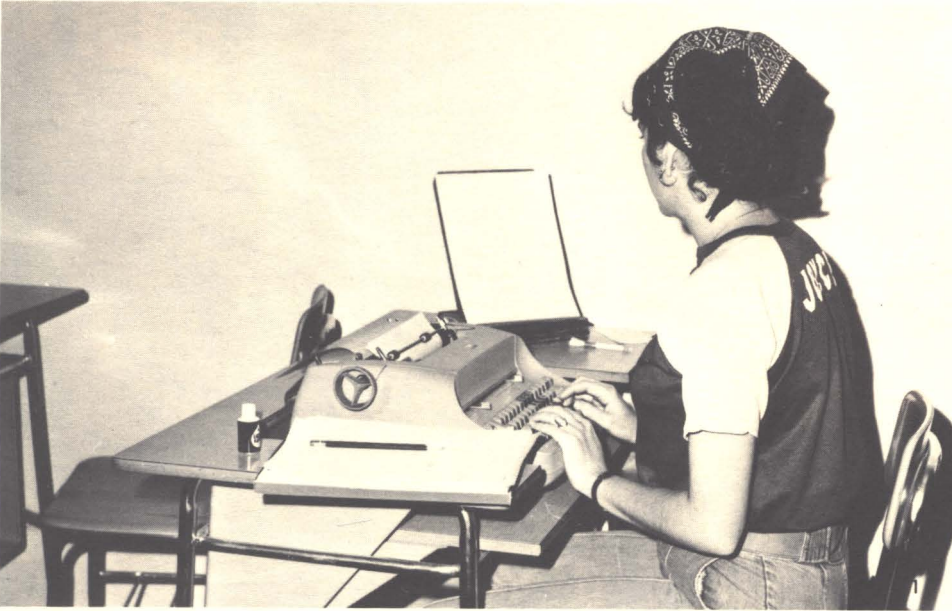

Business Department
Instruction Includes
Office Machines
Usage

The curriculum of the business department is designed to provide for a flexible but comprehensive study of those disciplines closely related to the needs of business such as accounting, economics, business law, and other elective courses of special interest to the student. The successful person in business has been one who is not only knowledgeable and capable but also one who is prepared for job mobility.

(1) Gymnastics are becoming popular at Southeastern. Uneven parallel bars are the most actively used equipment, along with the balance beam and exercise horse. (2) Baseball, one of the oldest sports, is taught. Page 166, (1) Football is offered. (2) Golf instruction is available. (3) Exercise class meets to help take pounds off, train the class room elementary teacher in indoor exercises, and get into physical fitness.

Health, Physical Education, And Recreation Department Headed By Don Parham

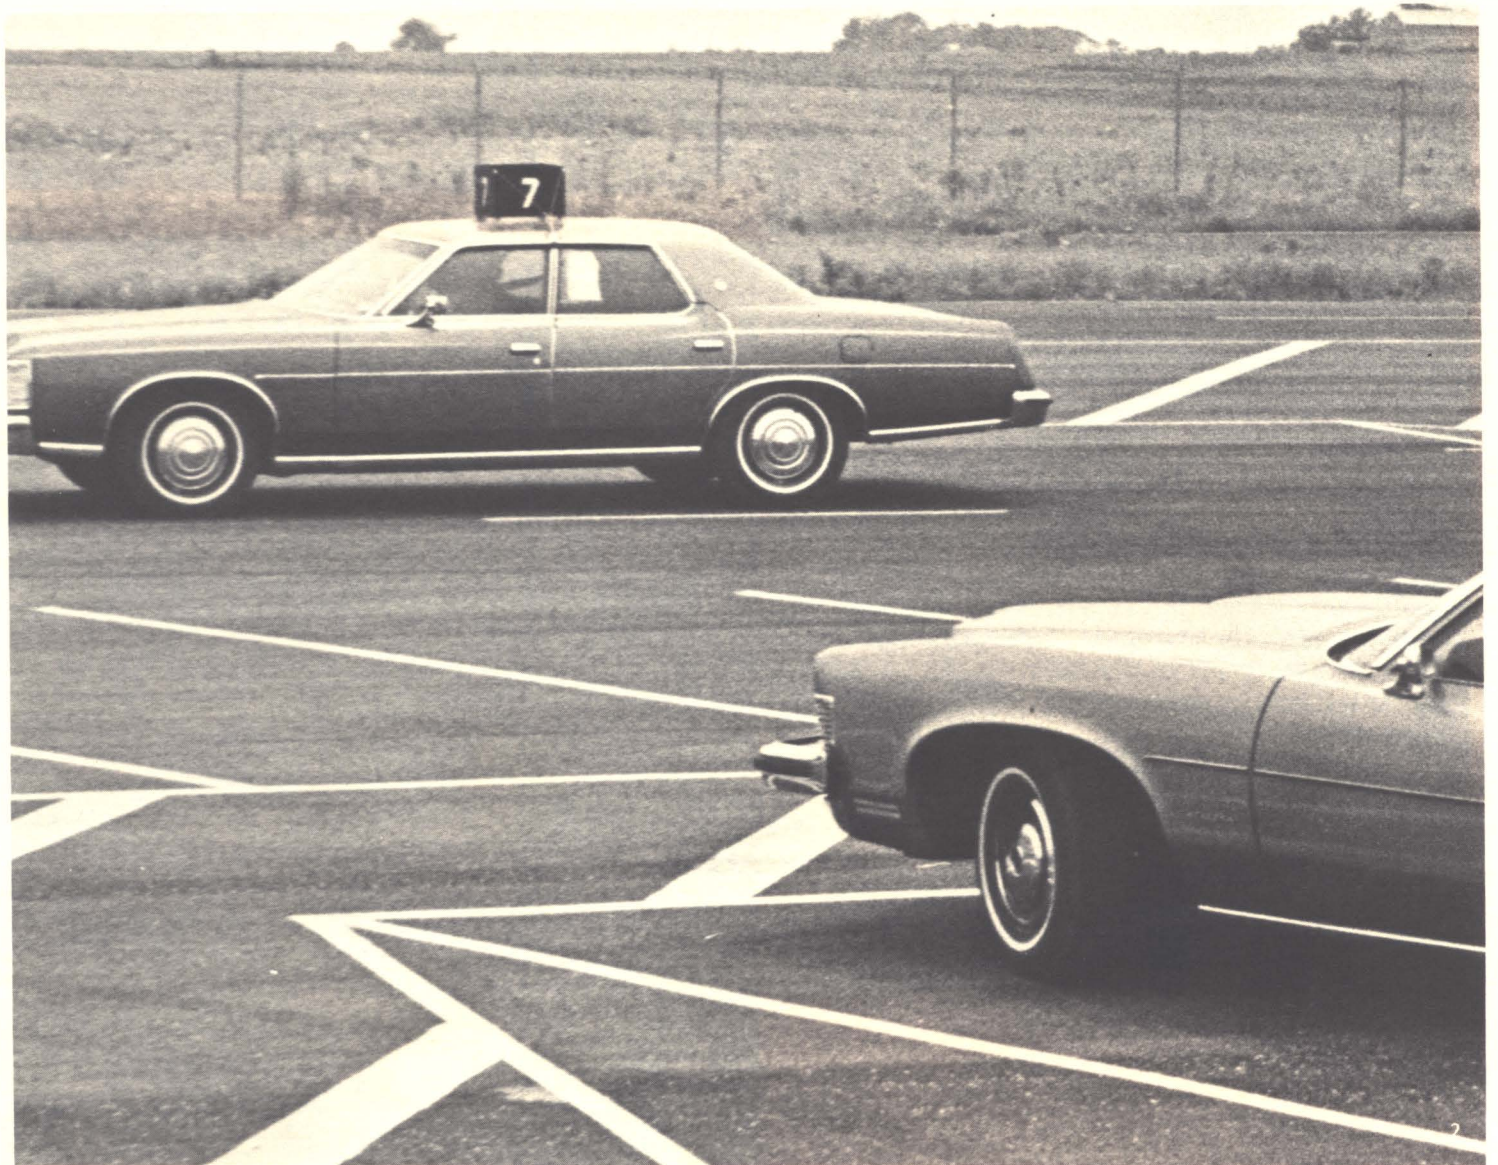

(1) Entering a parking lot is a tough job for many inexperienced drivers. (2) Each car is controlled by a radio in each car. The person in charge sits in this control tower. (3) Driving and parking on hilly roadways is covered. Page 169, (1) Angular parking is one of the problems involved in the course. (2) Each new driver chooses a car.

Safety Education Meets State Certification For Drivers Education

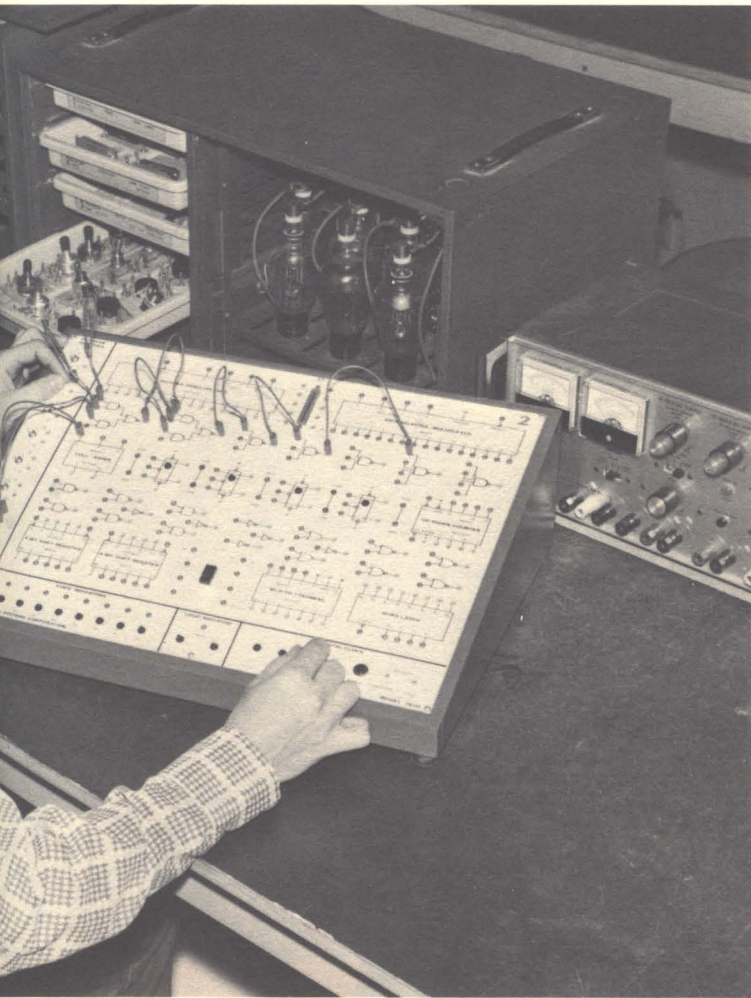

Electronics Courses Required Skill And Concentration

Skill and concentration are required for electronics courses. (1) These two men must study intricate circuit designs before they can attempt to repair damages to a control panel. (2) In the laboratory, desks and individual panels are set up to provide work areas.

Intricate circuitry diagrams were studied before a student began work on practice circuits. Electronics required steady nerves and hand.

Education And Psychology
Courses Needed
For Teacher
Certification

In order to teach school, educational and psychological classes are required. Knowing how to teach was stressed as well as knowing why the student might be having difficulty.

Journalism Department Responsible
For School Publications

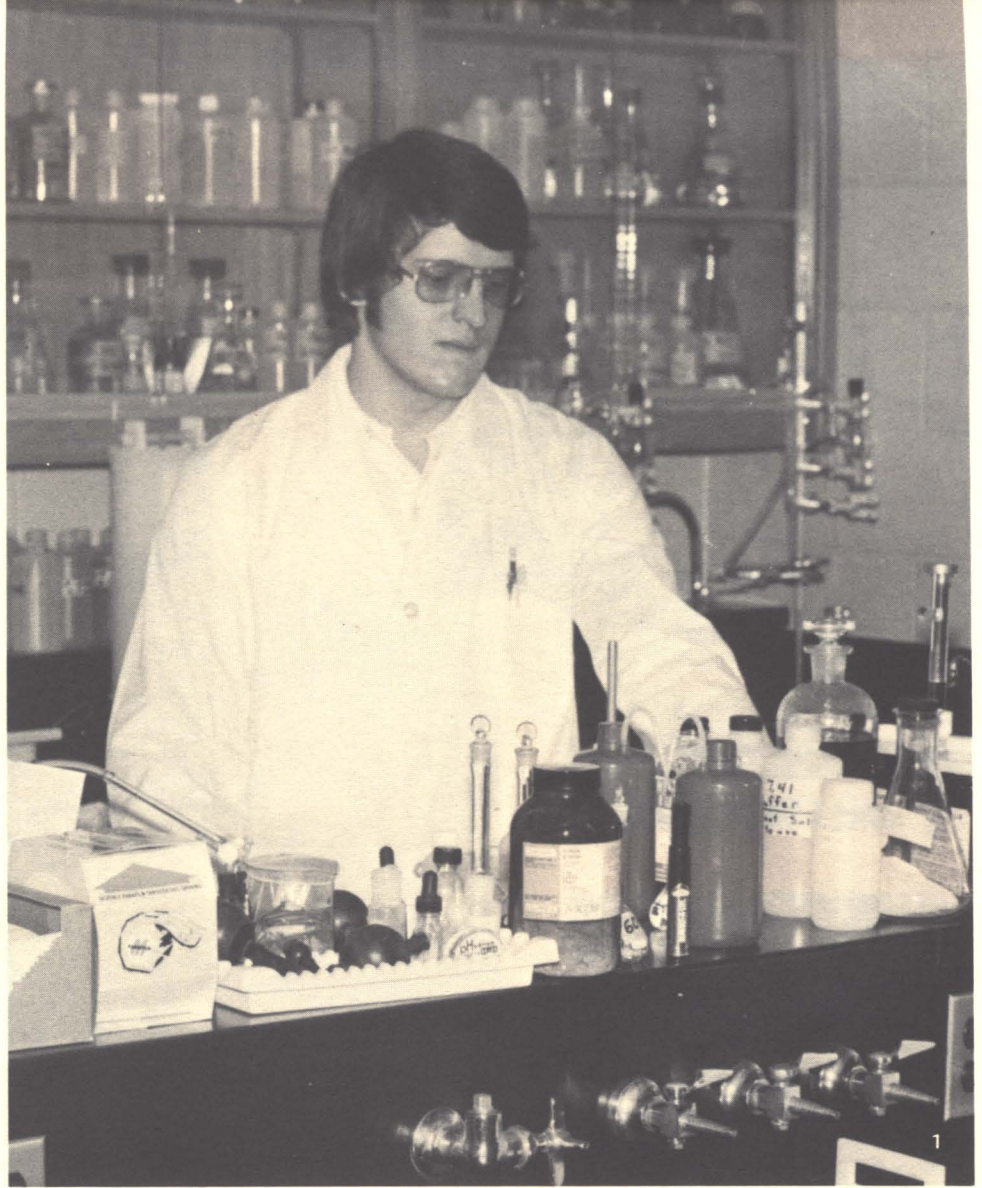

The journalism courses were aimed to help students in their interpretation and appreciation of the newspaper, and to help them develop the skills of news gathering, writing, and editing so that they can write appropriate news stories about their clubs and churches, could direct school publications or write school news for the community.

- (1) Debbie Pinsker edits news in her daily work as editor.
- (2) Business manager Melinda Bell tallies her advertisement book.
- (3) Rudy Manley counsels Leigh Semas on her news stories.
- (4) The journalism office is full of reporters turning in assignments.
- (5) Julia Davis records the events of the week for the yearbook.

Medical technology offered a Bachelor of Science degree in Medical Technology to prepare students for careers in this field or clinical laboratories. (1) Hours of lab work are required in chemistry and physics. (2) Seminars are held to update old material. Page 177, (1) Mrs. Frieda Peirce, student nurse, conducts many of these classes.

Medical Technology Offered

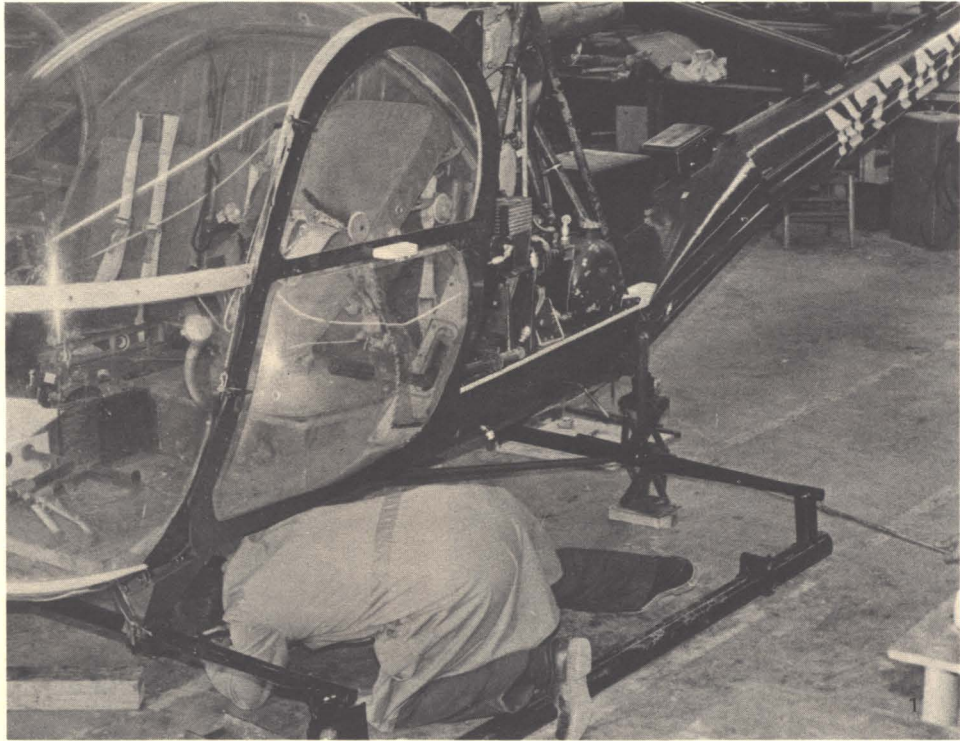

Pilots Granted Licenses After Completing Program

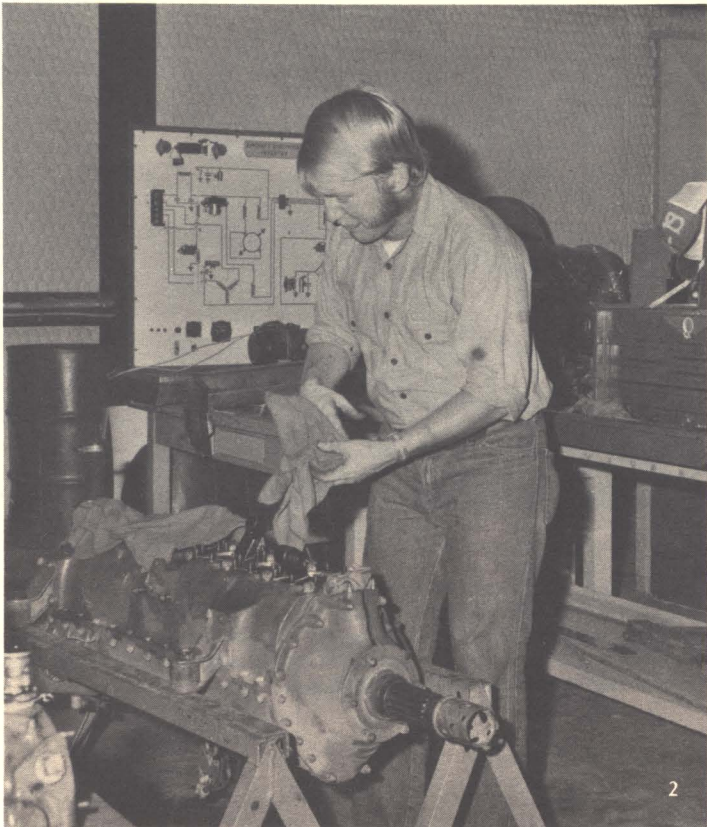

After completing the aviation degree program, almost all of the students receive their pilots license. 1) The aviators must be able to make most of the minor adjustments. 2) This control panel in the cockpit is a familiar sight to the pilots.

Page 179, picture 1) After each flight, the planes must be put into flight readiness. 2) The aviation office must be visited before each flight. 3) Edsel Ford works on his engine.

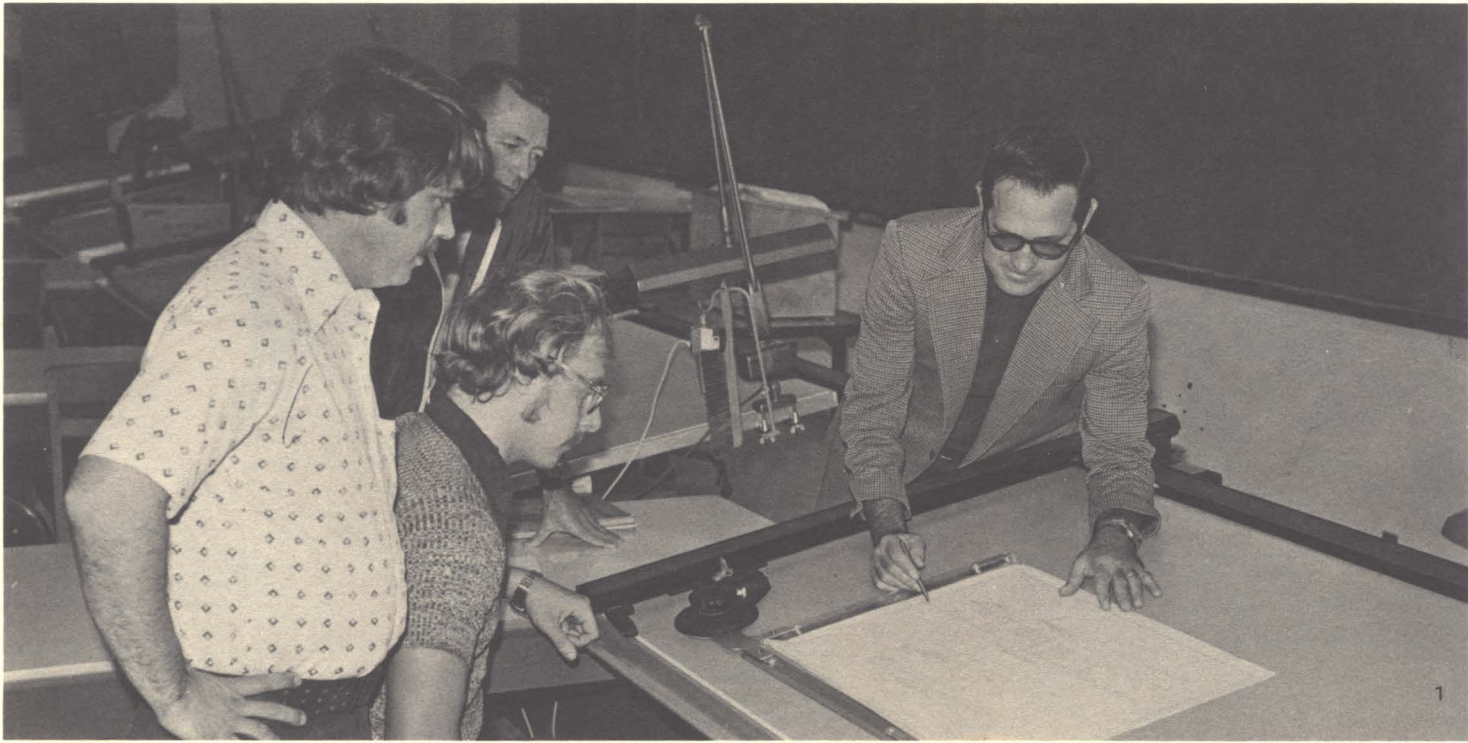

Photographic Records Compiled By James Weaver And Staff

Producing most of the pictures used on campus was the Photography Department under the direction of James M. Weaver. He and his staff made special trips to take yearbook and newspaper photographs of campus related activities.

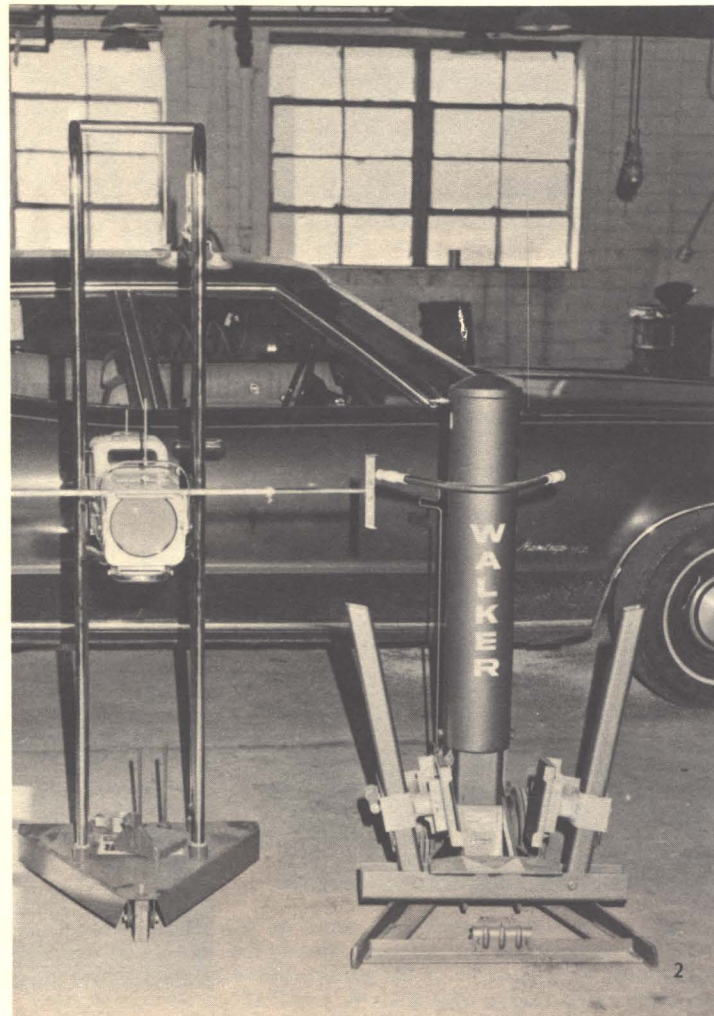

1) James Weaver sets up a demonstration for one of his classes on how to use the equipment properly. 2) Ron DaVee checks out his equipment before taking off to a meeting to photograph yearbook pictures. 3) Nancy Blankenship experiments with the new color machines before classtime.

Responsible for keeping the yearbook in pictures were the members of the Photography Department. (1) Nancy Blankenship served as the main photographer. (2) De-an, a vietnamese student, took a lot of th student mug shots during enrollment. (3) Department head James Weaver gave up a lot of weekends shooting sports specials. (4) This photography class student, along with the rest of the class, often volunteered to shoot pictures in an emergency. (5) Nancy Blankenship Tuan Nguyen, and Ron DaVee check out the equipment for the next assignment.

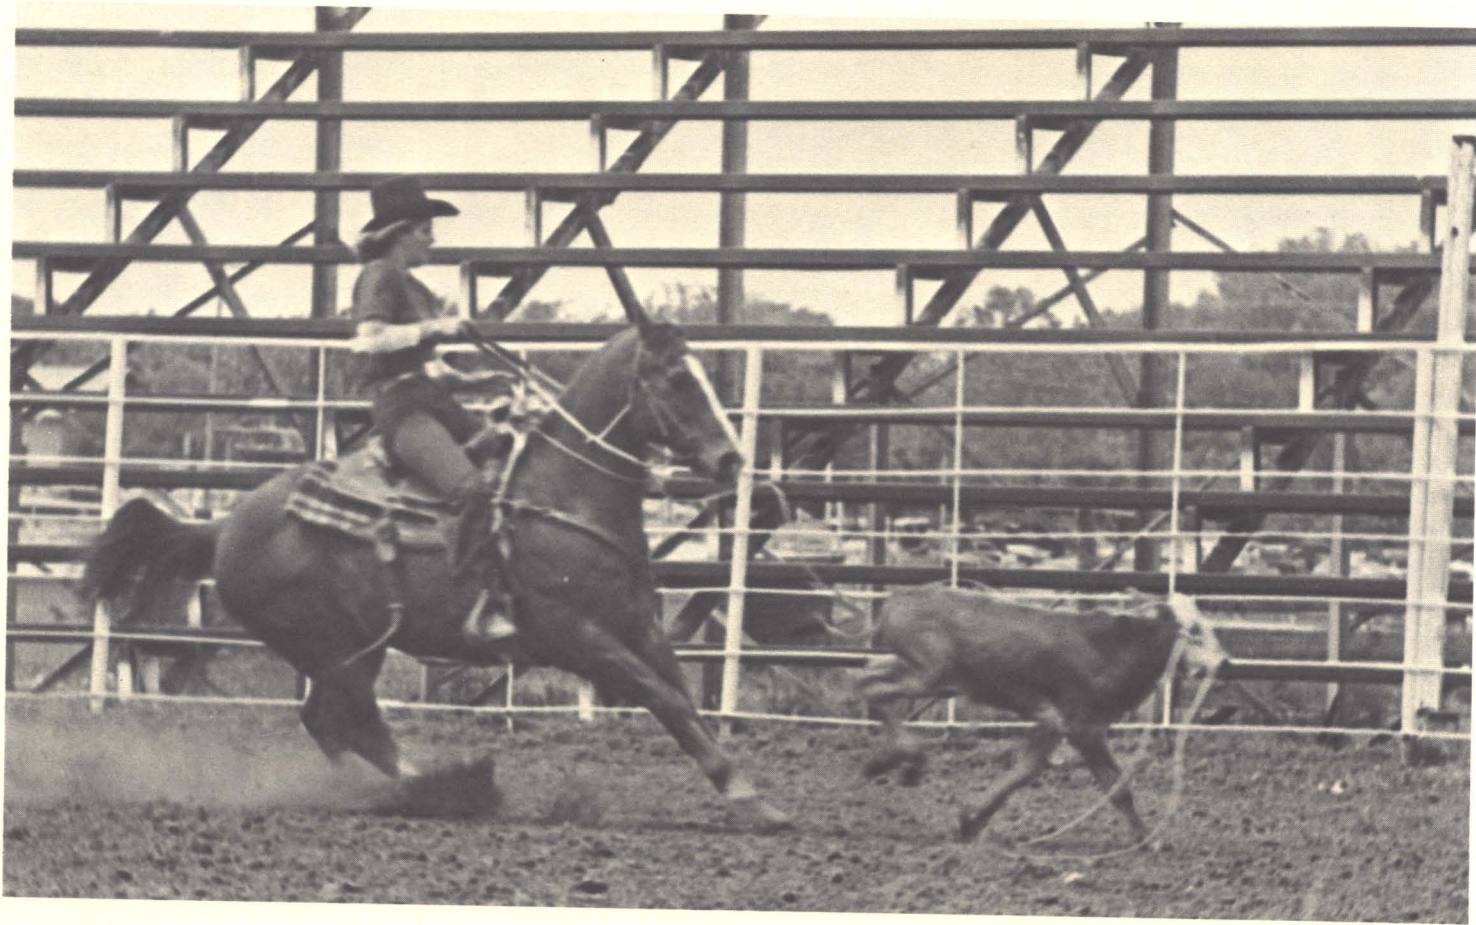

Industrial technology covers most of the intricate work involved in modern industry situations. 1) Bob Ray's architectural drafting class spends hours learning all the terms involved. 2) Auto mechanics is a tough course, but a rewarding one. 3) Ron Abner and Jim Adcock of the Office of Contracts and Grants are involved in mining educational instruction through SSU.

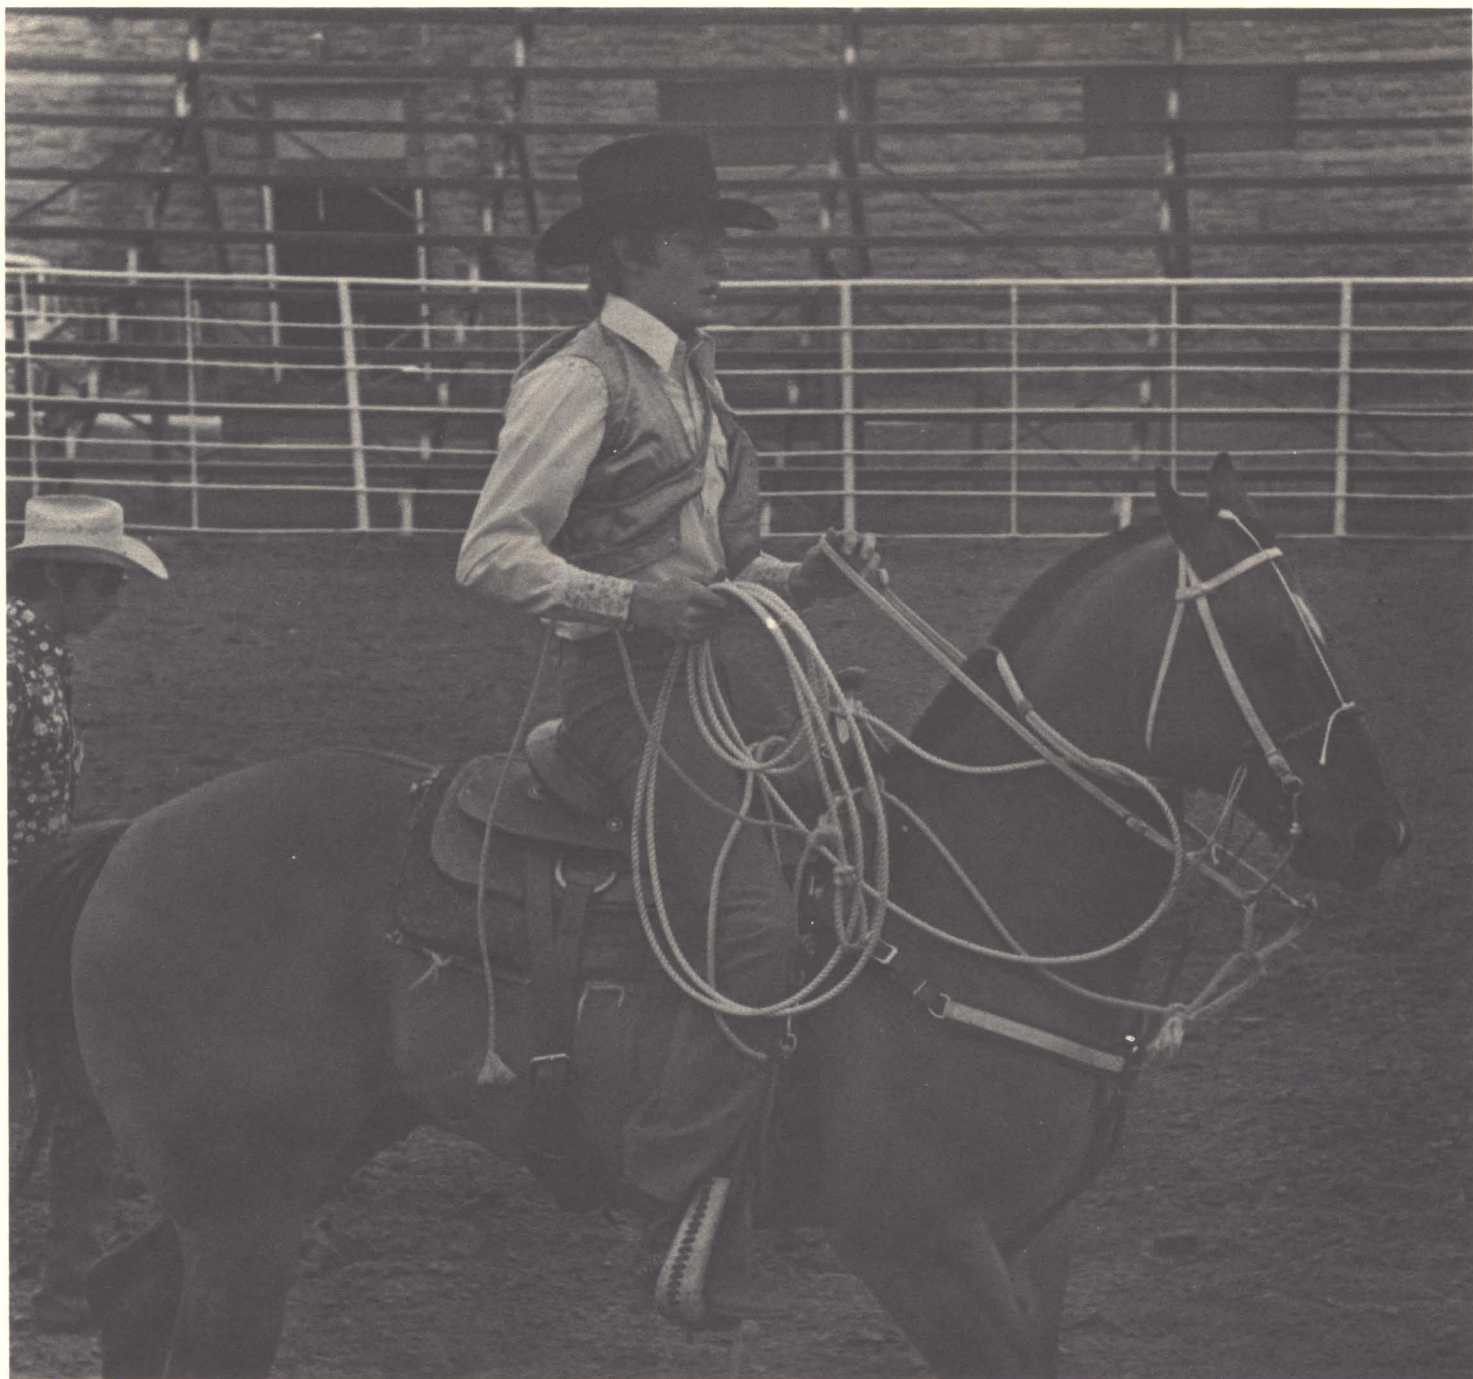

Technological Studies Offered To Industrial Majors

In order to teach students how to ride horses correctly and safely, horsemanship classes were set up. The purpose was not to make rodeo stars or playday professionals out of the enrollment, it was to make them feel at home on a horse. (1) Many times a rodeoer would take the class and end up demonstrating. (2) New international students work in the stables if they want. (3) Tough new stars came out of the class.

Horsemanship Classes Grew Steadily

Social Sciences Include Geography, Government And History

Social Sciences were very involved in helping maintain the Red River Valley Historical Association and studying the local area. The department's curriculum included geography, government, political sciences, and history.

(1) Geography students learn to read maps of all types. (2) Dr. Louis Johnson heads the social sciences department. (3) Classroom instruction is not limited to national and world history. It often includes campus history.

Social Sciences
Department
Helped In Sponsoring
The Red River
Historical Club

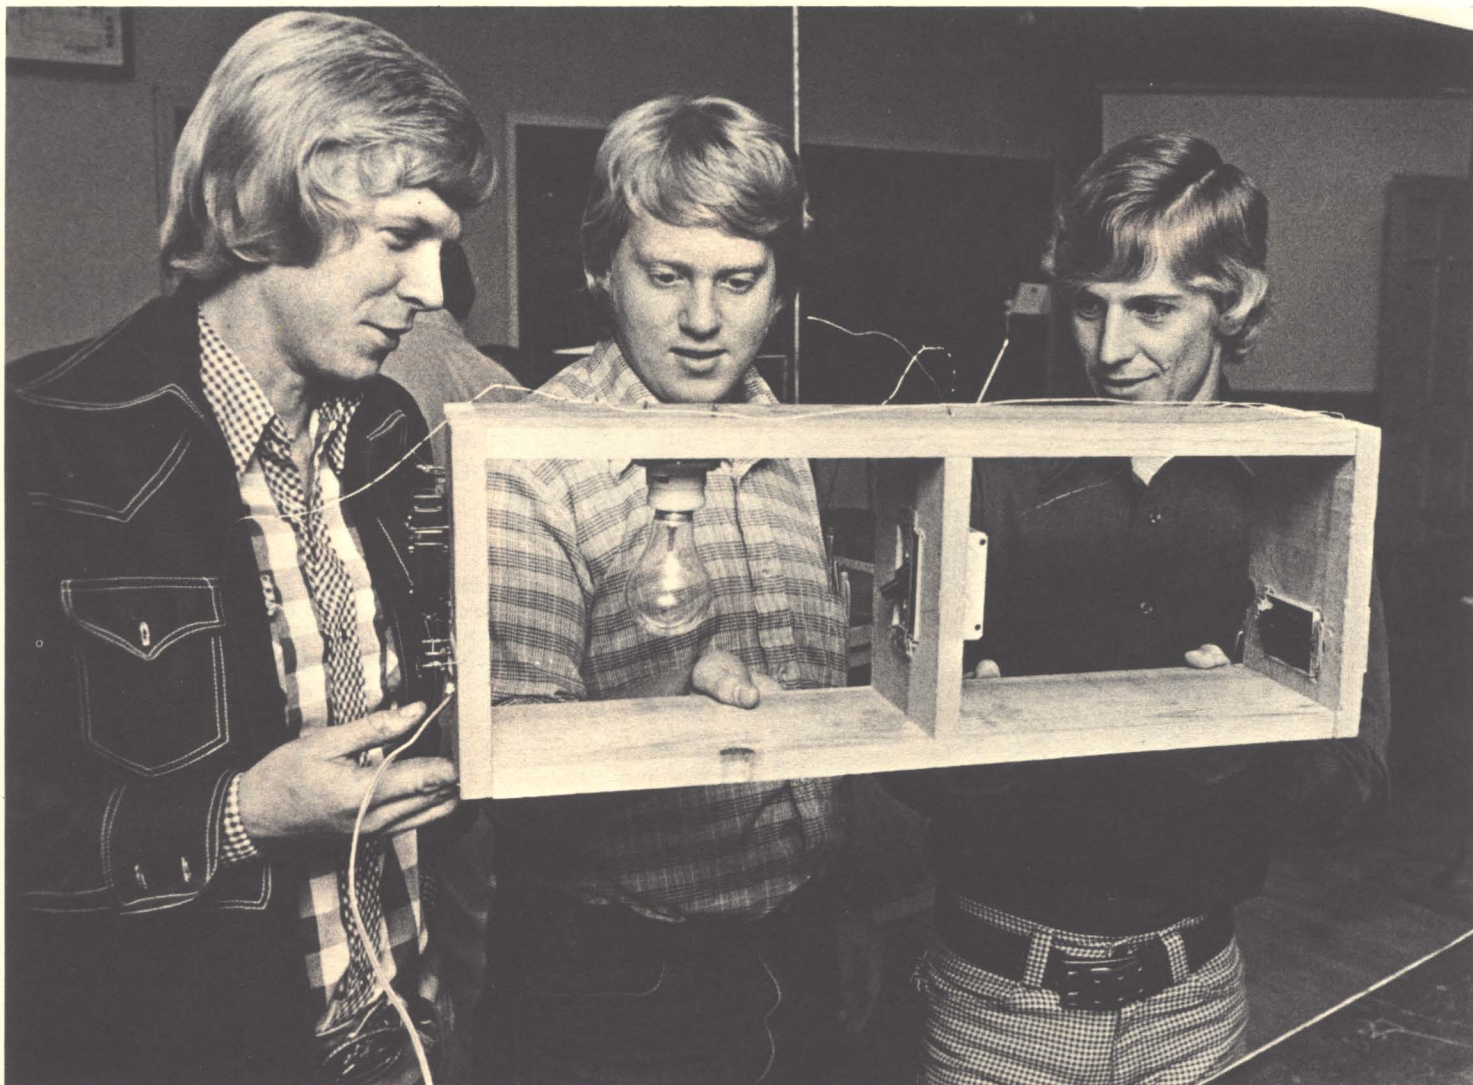

As in years past, the Social Sciences department helped sponsor the Red River Valley Historical Association which was headed by Charles Harris, a history instructor. Members of the department spent many hours working on the restoration and completion of the Oklahoma Presbyterian College which was to be used as a museum.

(1, 2) Classes and Seminars are held informally. (3) Student employees take most of the odd jobs off the instructors. (4) A coffee, in addition to other fund raising activities, is well attended by many faculty and students.

HONORS

Nancy Blankenship Savage Princess

Selected for the 1976 Savage Princess by the yearbook was Nancy Blankenship, a sophomore from Washington, Oklahoma. Miss Blankenship was chosen because of her good nature, outstanding personality, her good looks, and her photographic contributions to the SAVAGE.

Miss Melinda Bell, a junior from Broken Bow who lives at Beavers Bend State Park, was selected as Miss Savage by the yearbook staff. Because of her personality, campus promotion, achievements, and high spirits, she was selected as the woman most representative of the yearbooks ideal.

Melinda Bell served as business manager of the Southeastern, the campus newspaper. She also spent part of her time talking with high school students who visited the university, telling them about the school.

Broken Bow Girl Selected As 1976 Miss Savage By Staff

The SAVAGE Yearbook Staff would like to congratulate the following students and/or organizations on their outstanding achievements.

(1) David Been was selected as Scandals director in November and planned a short and entertaining program based on Cabaret. (2) Judy Lynn completed her degree and accepted a position in Australia where she teaches elementary school. Page 264: (1) Shaunna Andrews served as a homecoming candidate and Alpha Sigma Tau president in addition to winning the Mildred Shearer award to an outstanding junior girl. (2) Debbie Pinsker, South-eastern editor, took over the newspaper mid-semester in the spring and got the paper on even keel. (3) The Savage band spent many hours preparing for their concerts and halftime performance.

There are more students who deserve congratulations, but these are the students who received little recognition during the year for their outstanding achievements.

Other Savage congratulates include: (1) The cheerleaders, with patience and endurance, kept the school spirit rolling. (2) The chorvettes and their sponsors who traveled hundreds of miles to perform in places that ranged from small stages to huge ball-rooms. Page 267: (1) The Southeastern Baseball team who completed a 45-14 season winning the OIC championship. (2) This team traveled for hours to reach distant towns and play in games such as the Pan American games.

Organizations Make Large Mark On Overall Campus Achievement In 1976

People Make The Campus Grow

Cindy Russell, Sophomore Selected As Queen At Homecoming Halftime

Smiling and cheerful Cindy Russell of Durant was named Homecoming Queen at half time activities October 4. Cindy was a member of Alpha Sigma Tau, Student Senate and other organizations. She is on the Honor Roll.

(1) Resting for a few moments after the game, Cindy took time for a few pictures. (2) The surprise after the suspense really gave Cindy something to be happy about. (3) Somewhat of an outdoors person, Cindy Russell loved to take walks in woody areas.

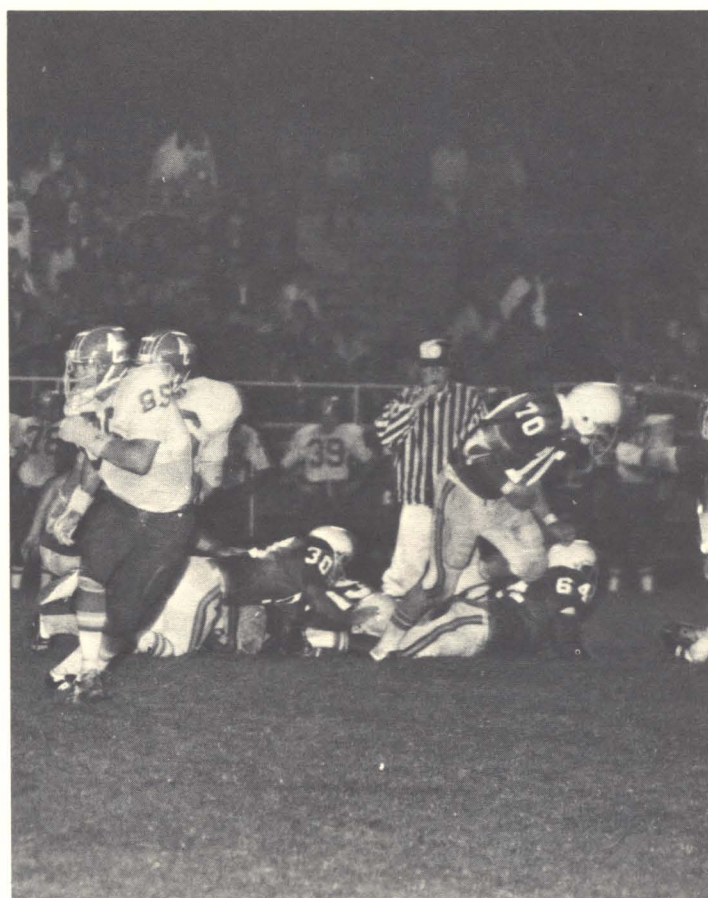

SPORTS

Savages Post 6-4 Record During 1975 Season

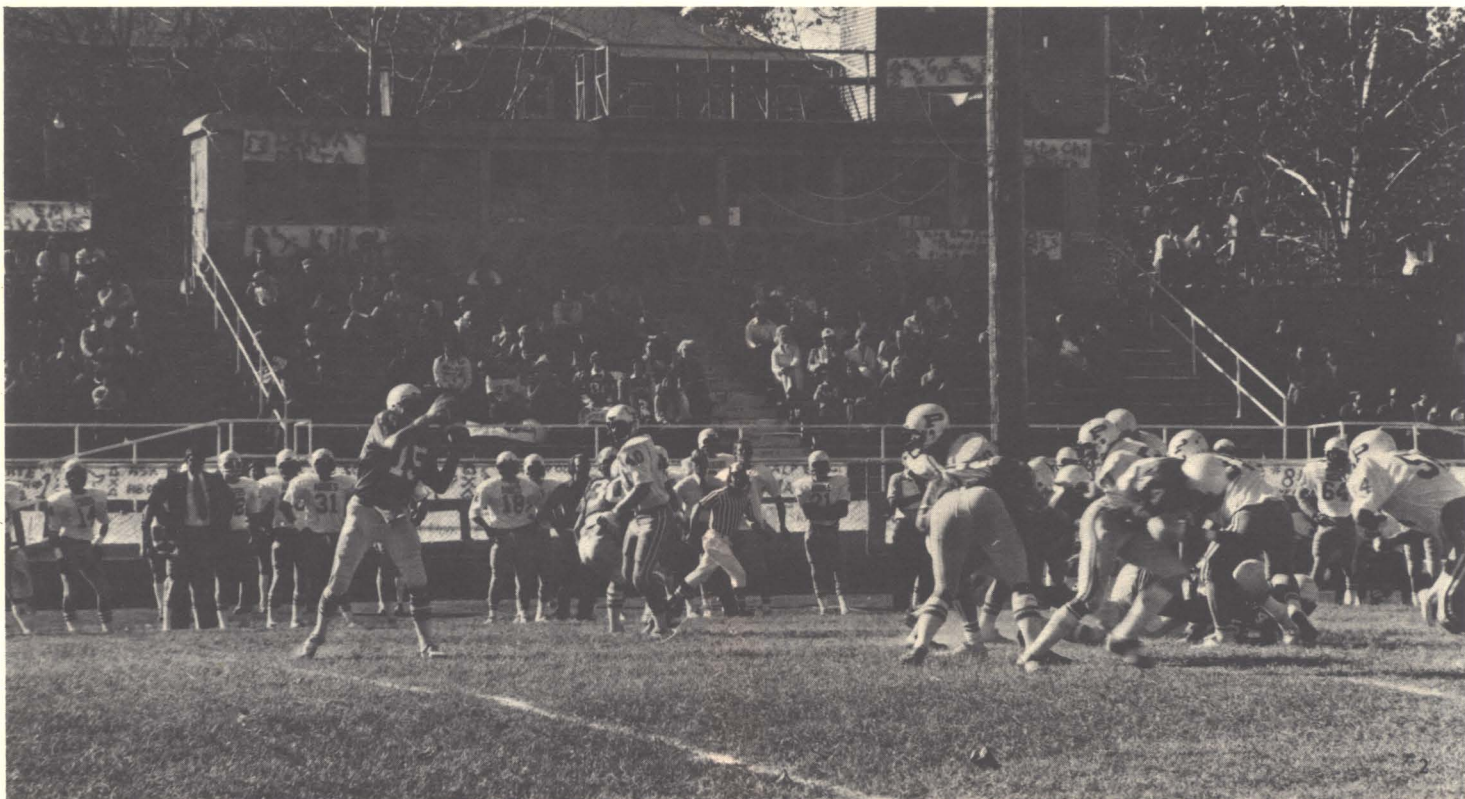

Southeastern's Savages posted a 6-4 record during the 75 season. Players seemed to surge ahead with renewed drive after each encounter, and defeated only served to make them more determined to better last years record. Road games were played well.

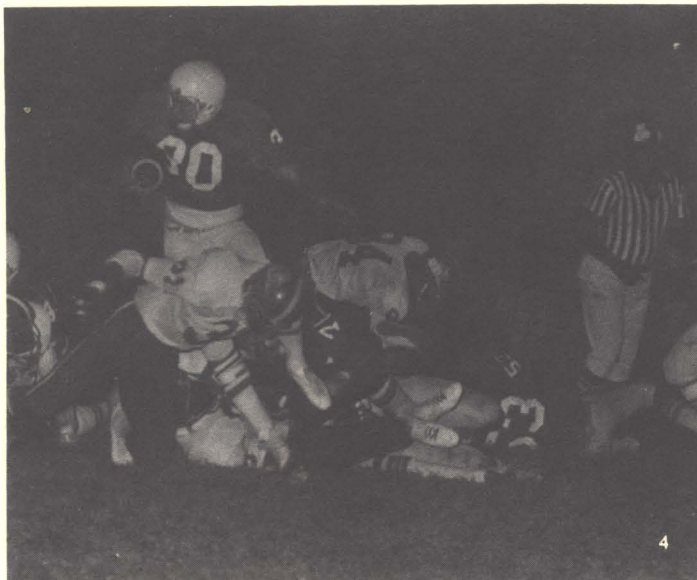

Savages Take Homecoming '75 With A 39-14 Win Over Southwestern

Savage Football 1975 Schedule

Date	Opponent	Location
September 13	Austin College	Durant
September 20	Southern Arkansas	Magnolia
September 27	Northeastern State	Tahlequah
October 4	Southwestern State	Durant
October 11	East Central State	Ada
October 18	Langston University	Durant
October 25	Northwestern State	Alva
November 1	Henderson State	Durant
November 8	Central State	Edmond
November 15	Panhandle State	Durant

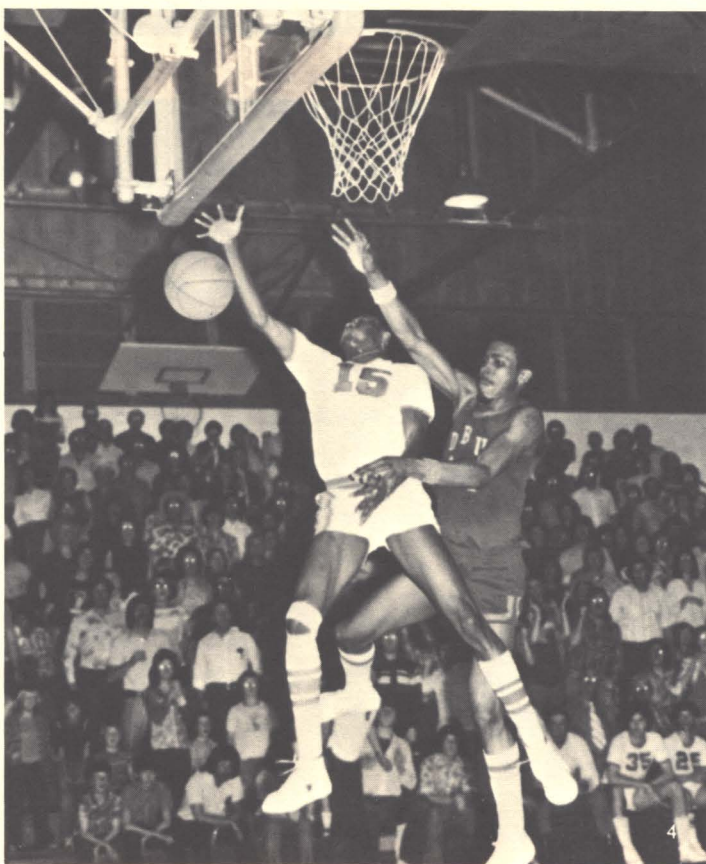

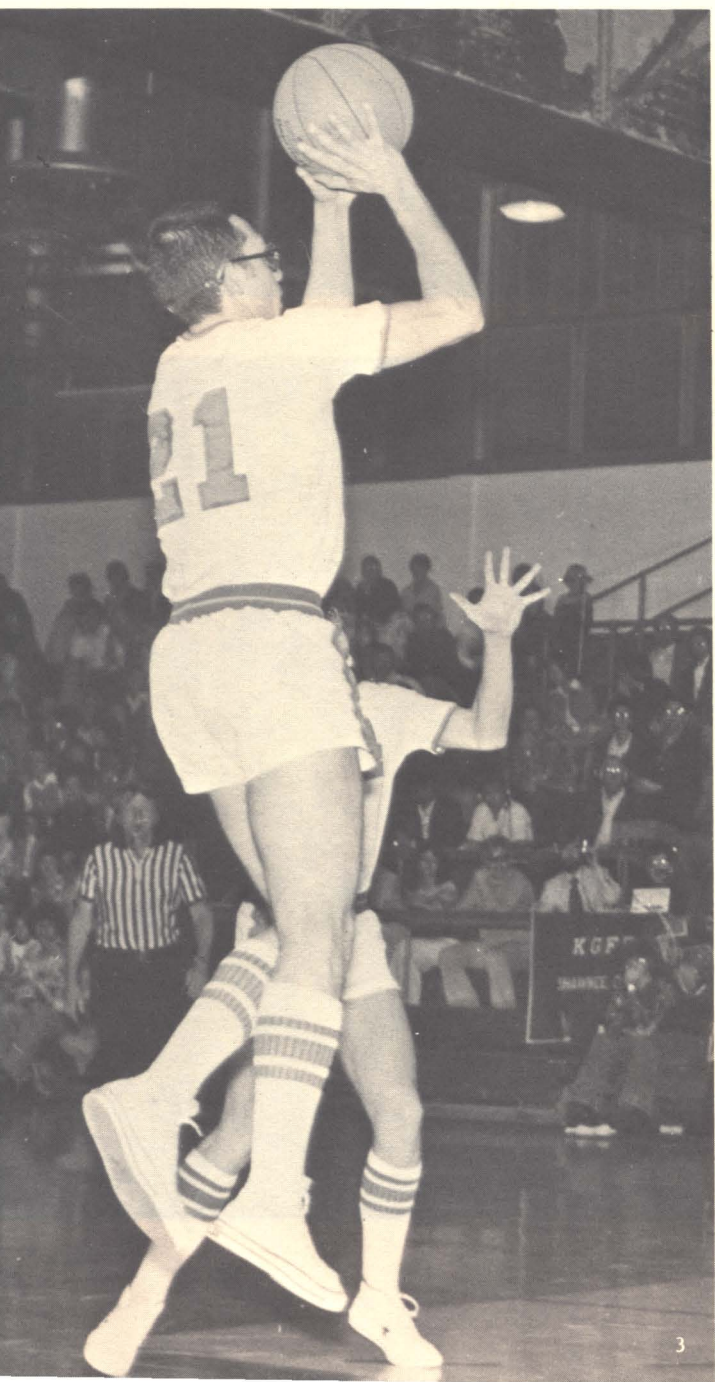

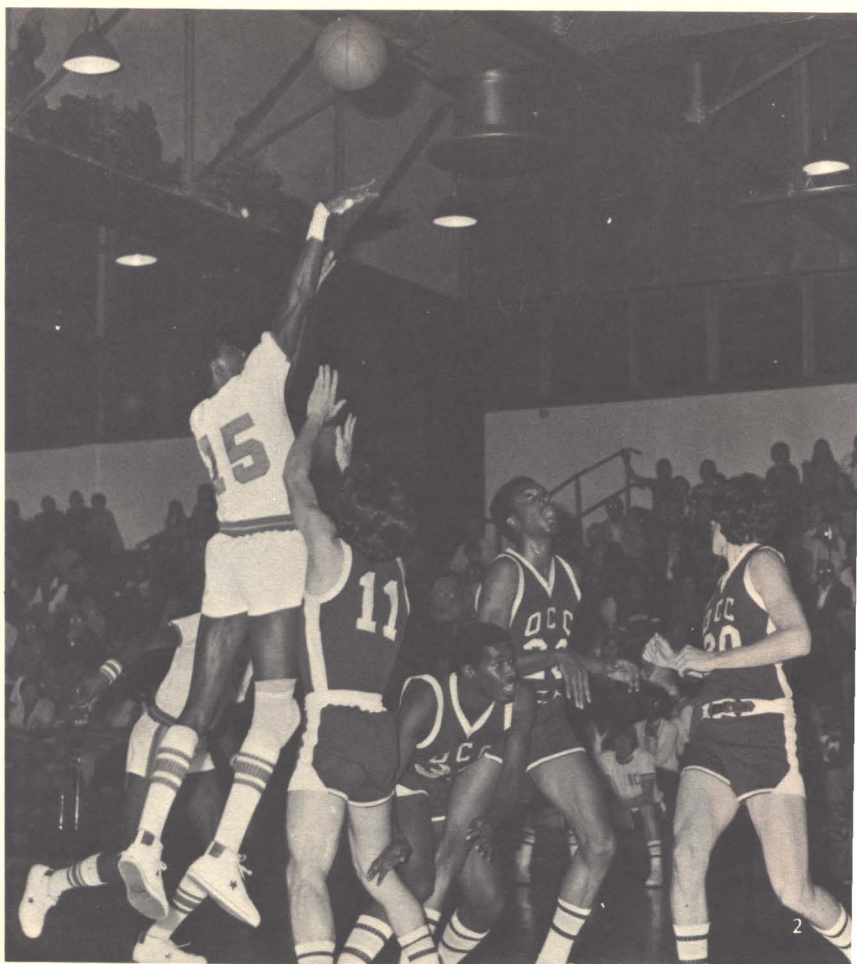

The Southeastern Savages racked up a 6 wins--4 losses season. Playing such teams as East Central and Henderson State, the Savages won mightily and lost only by the bare minimum of points. Defeated teams include Southern Arkansas, Panhandle, Austin College, Northeastern State, Southwestern State, Northwestern State, with East Central State, Langston, Henderson, And Central State defeating the Savages.

Page 274, position 1) Getting beat is no fun as Panhandle found at Paul Laird Field in Durant. 2) Southeastern and Panhandle did some super passing, faking, and running in the game. Page 275, position 1) This referee had a lot to watch in this fast-breaking play. 2) Tackling the ball carrier was the most important thing in this tackles mind. 3) Getting an alley open for the ball carrier to run through is the job of these tackles. 5) Charging through a mass of bodies allowed this runner to score on this play.

The basketball team spent many hours of intense practice for the grueling season they faced. Minor sprains and injuries did not plague the teams as it did other teams. (1) Ball grappling under the goal is shown clearer. (2) Many sorority, fraternity, and independent people set up the welcome to the basketball team at the first game. Page 277 (1-4) Southeastern in action is a unique sight.

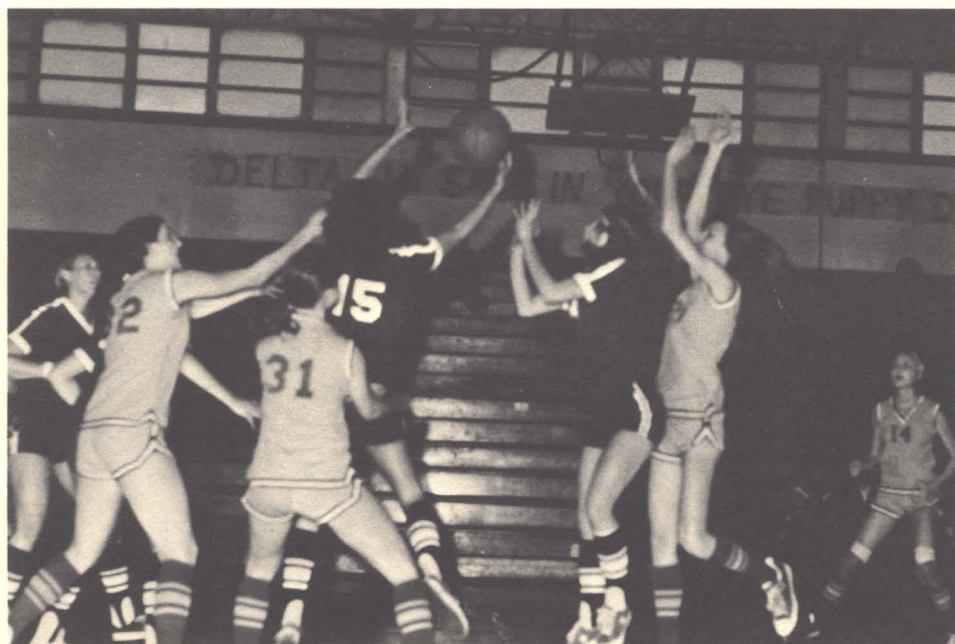

Hutchinson Led SSU Basketball Squad To Record Season

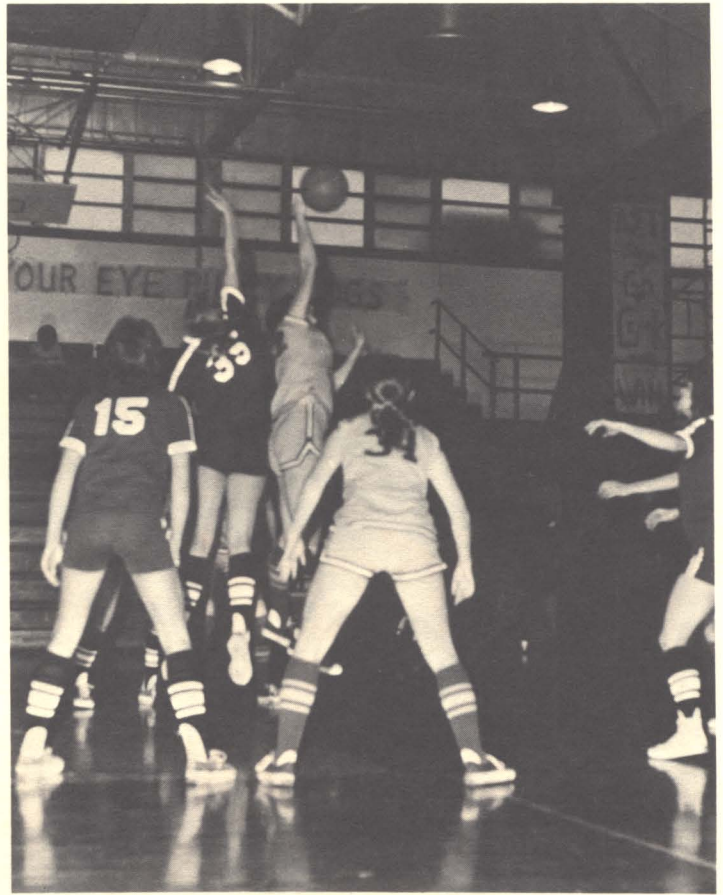

Women's Basketballers Get Tough Schedule And Came Up Tops

Tough schedules against competitive team was in store for the women's basketball team. Made up of girls with the incentive for a good game, the women rode rough shod over their opponents for an impressive season.

Savage Baseball Completes Hot Season In First Week Of May

The Parham-coached Savages completed their hot season in the first week of May. Winding up the season, the team was undefeated in conference play with an 18-0 record, the District 9 Champions, and runnerup in the All-Area 3. Their impressive game totals were 45-14.

The Savage team consisted of: (Row 1) Charles Ruth, Scott Loucks, Ronnie Gooch, Terry Howard, Randy Nagy, Steve Taylor, Steve Huntze, Mike Osborn, Jack Park, (Row 2) Dr. Don Parham--coach, Joe Soldano, Randy Northcutt, Brandt Glover, Bob Olless, Rick Borchers, Rick Smith, Randy Taylor, Rick More, Coach Mike Methany, Assistant Coach.

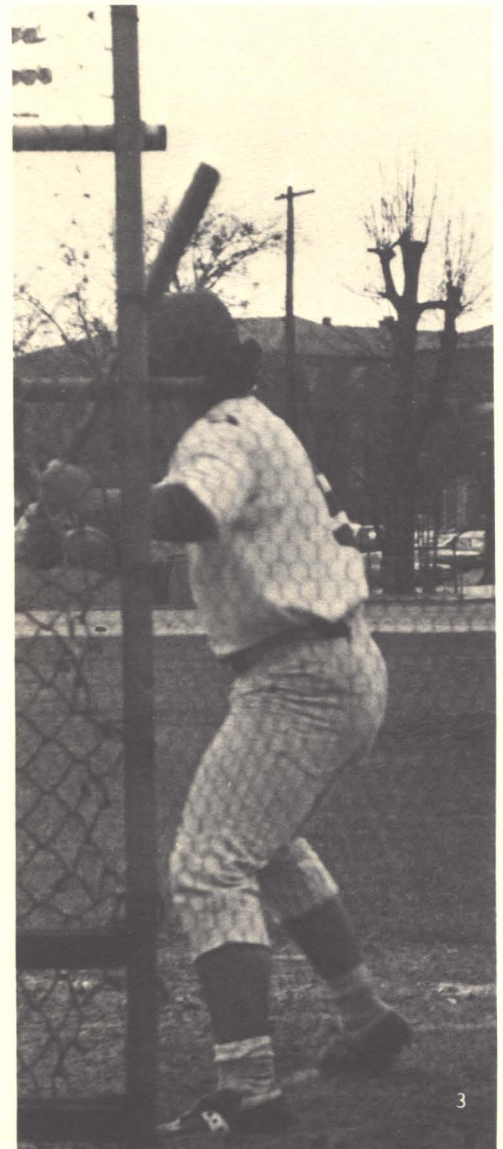

Hurling Through Busy Seasons Were Baseballers

Southeastern State University's proud baseball tradition, built over the past 11 years under Dr. Don Parham, was tested early and often in 1976.

Parham-coached Savage teams have logged 289 victories against 109 defeats, finished first in the conference race five times, reached the NAIA District Nine finals twice and reached the NAIA Area Three playoffs three times, twice gaining the finals.

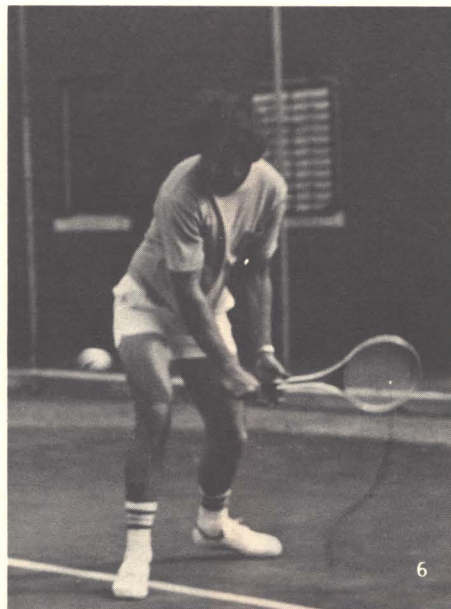

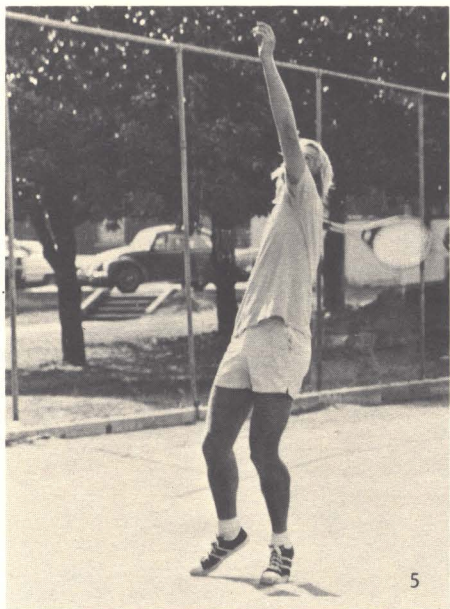

1) Batting practice is one of the most rugged practices for the Savages. 2) The whirlwind behind this powerhouse team is Coach Don Parham. 3) Confidence makes for a good batter, as this player begins his swing during a practice session.

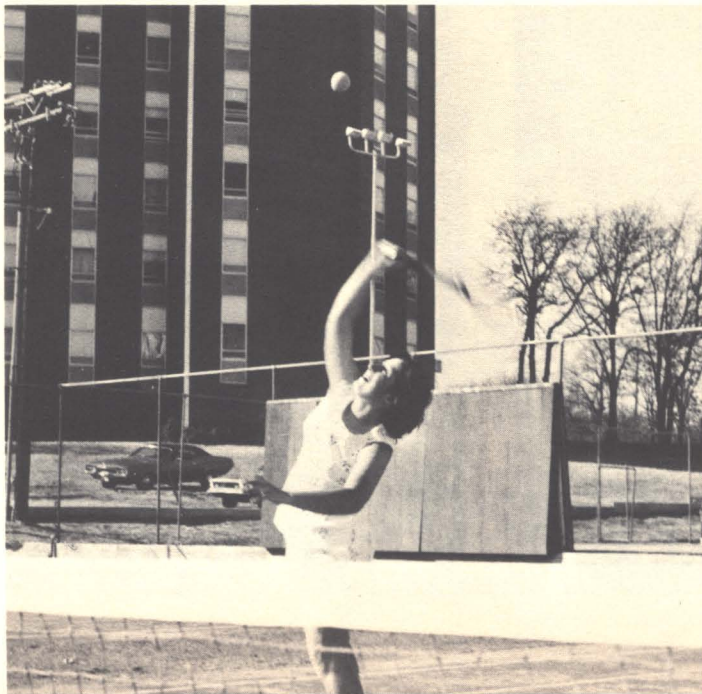

The tennis teams smashed through a heavy season to come up with a very substantial record of wins. Both the men's and women's teams practiced hours on the recently renovated courts. (1, 2) These women are practicing their more difficult serves and returns. (3) The women's tennis team, coached by Roberta Wescott, traveled to distant meets. (4) The men's team also traveled throughout the country winning matches and tournaments. (5, 6, 7) It takes practice to become good enough to make the tennis teams, and it also takes practice on their weakspots to make a winning team.

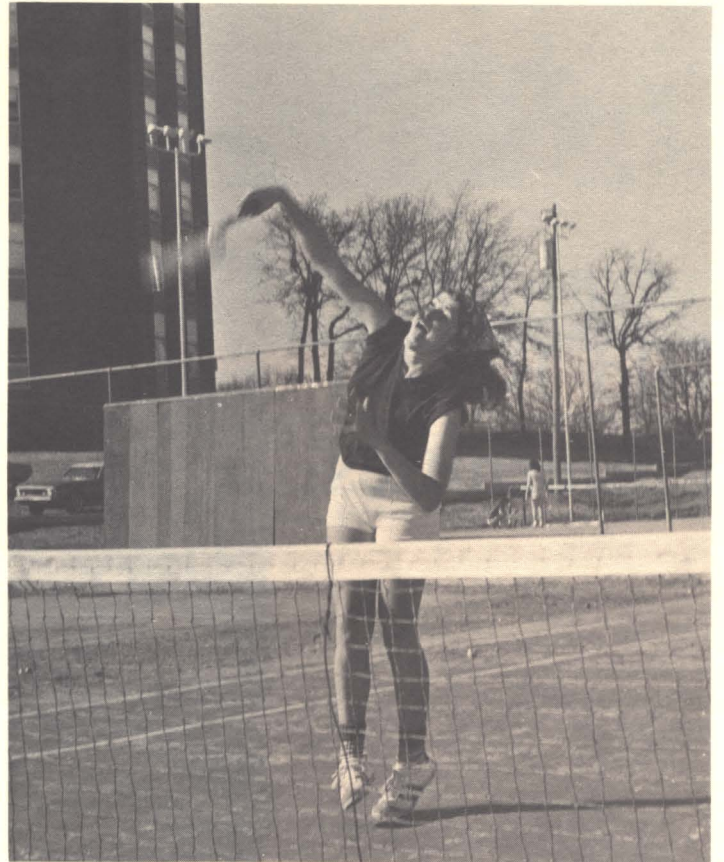

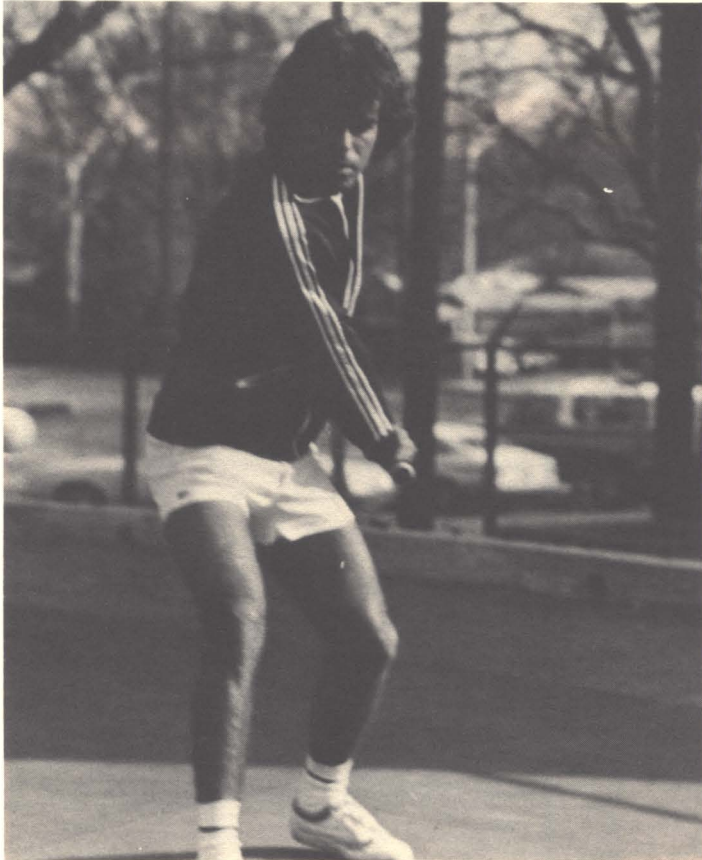

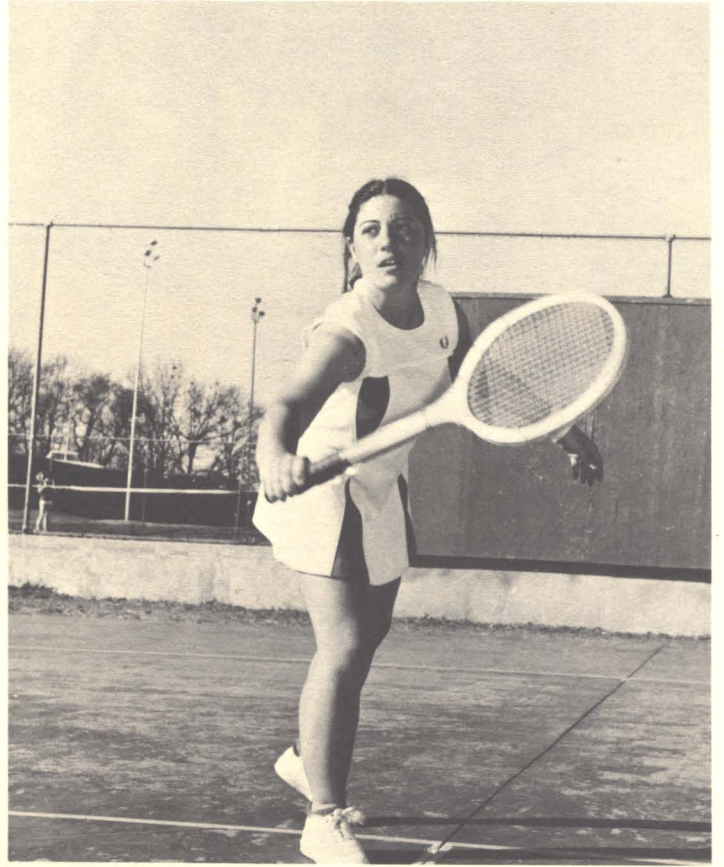

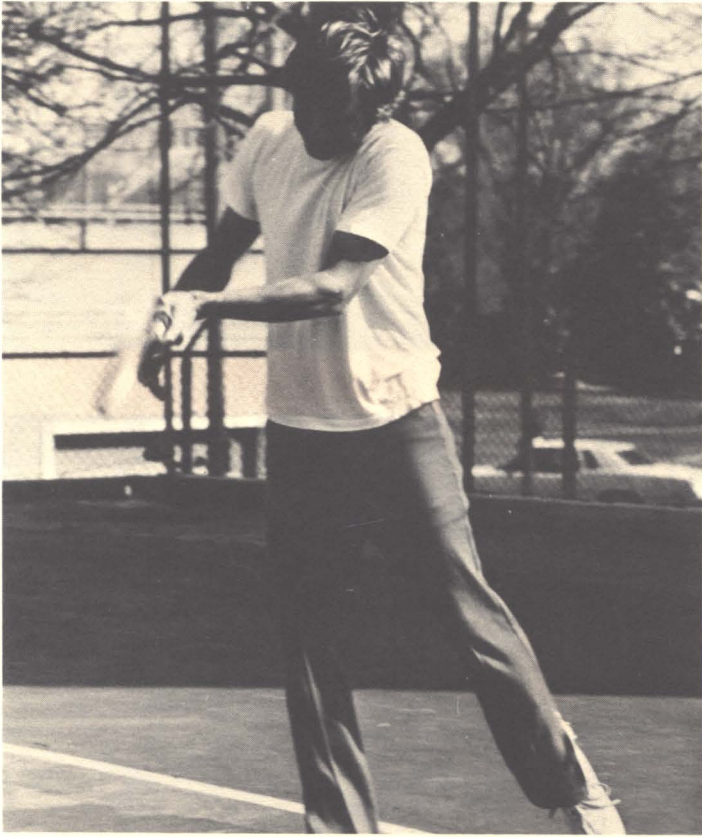

Tennis Teams Smash Through A Good Season

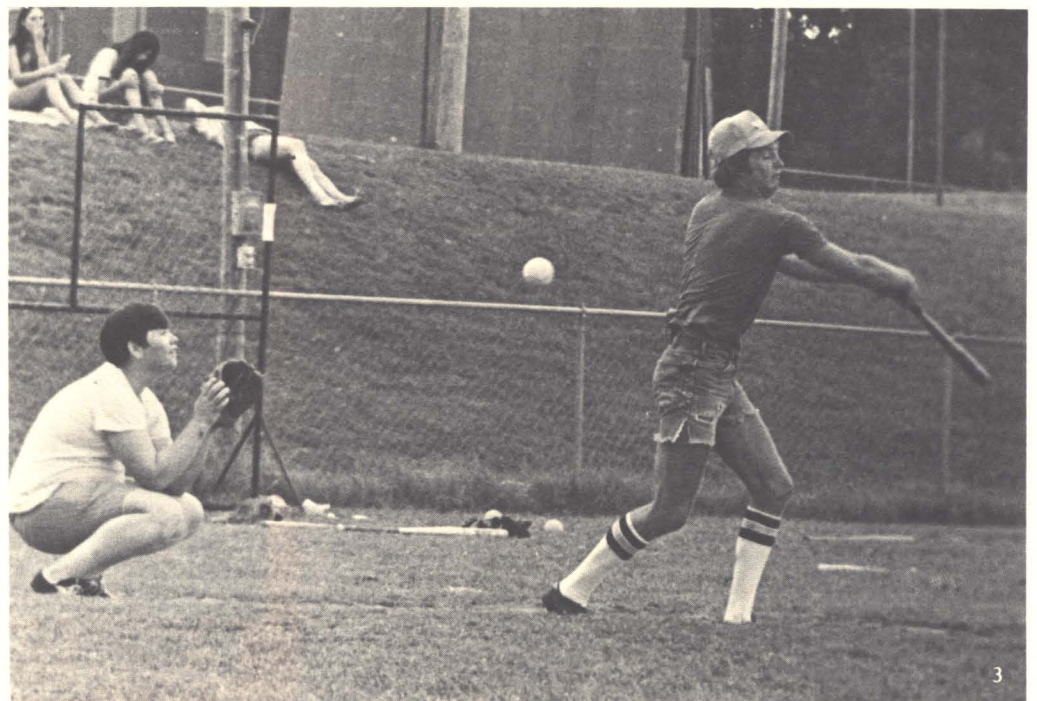

Individual Players Spend Hours In Practice On Courts

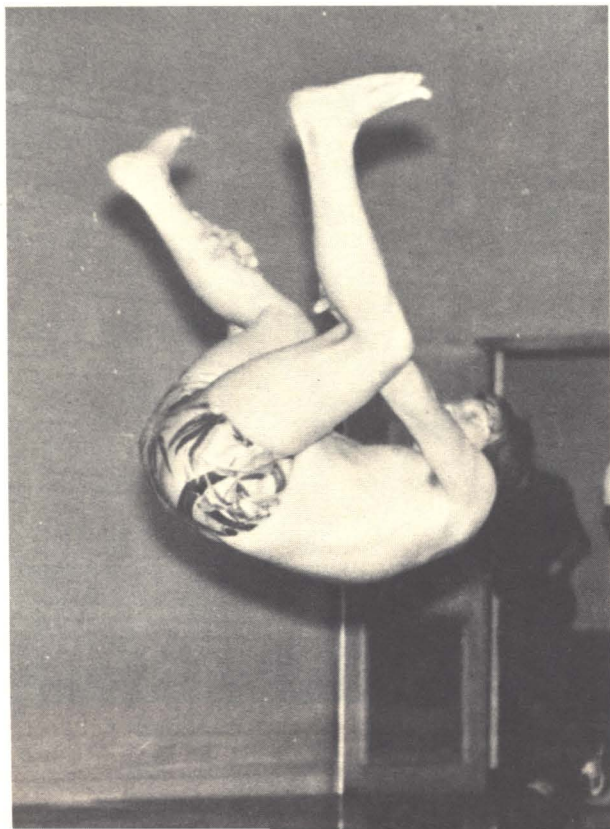

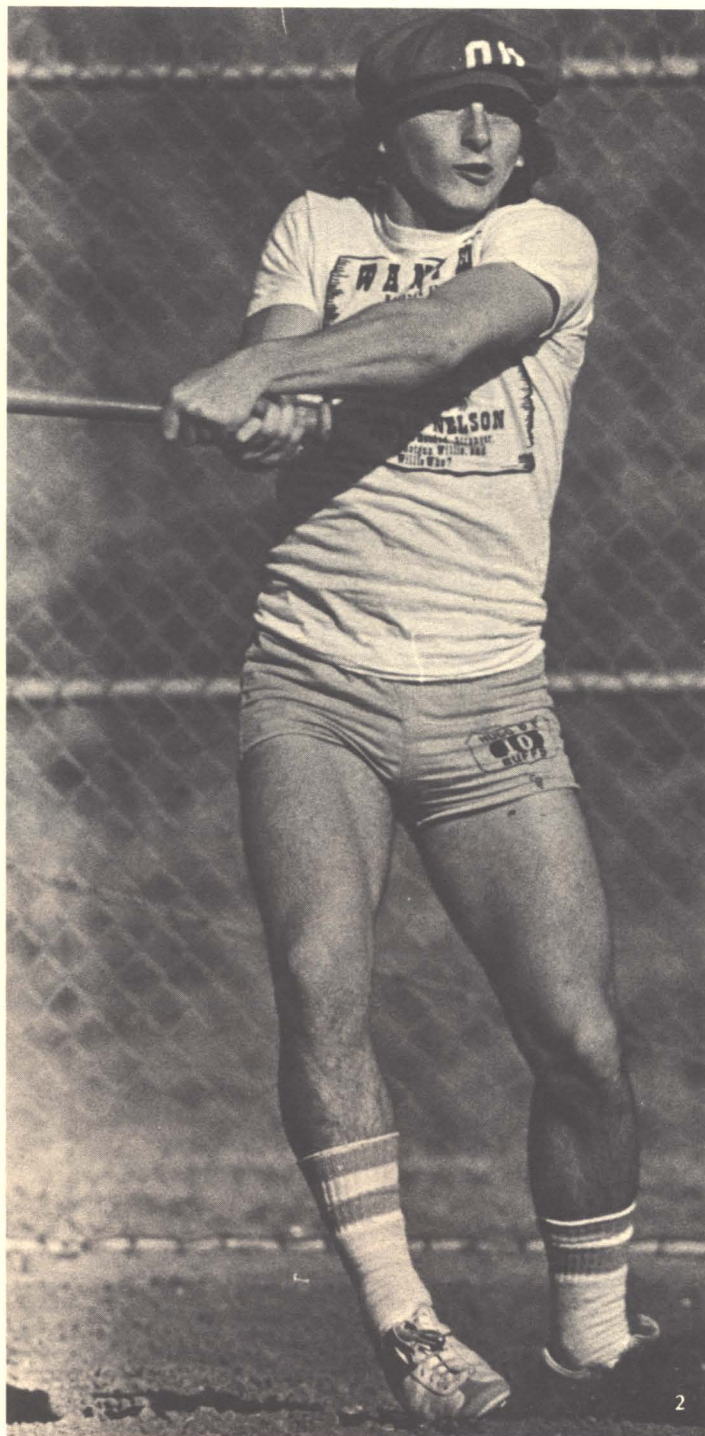

Intramurals Held By All Fraternities

(1) Softball for both men and women rate high as intramural sports. (2) A friendly, competitive game of basketball keeps a weekend alive. (3) Striking out at softball occurs more often than a player thinks. (4) Creating new dives requires time and practice. (5) Base stealing comes natural to these intramural athletes. (6) Fall brings intramural football.

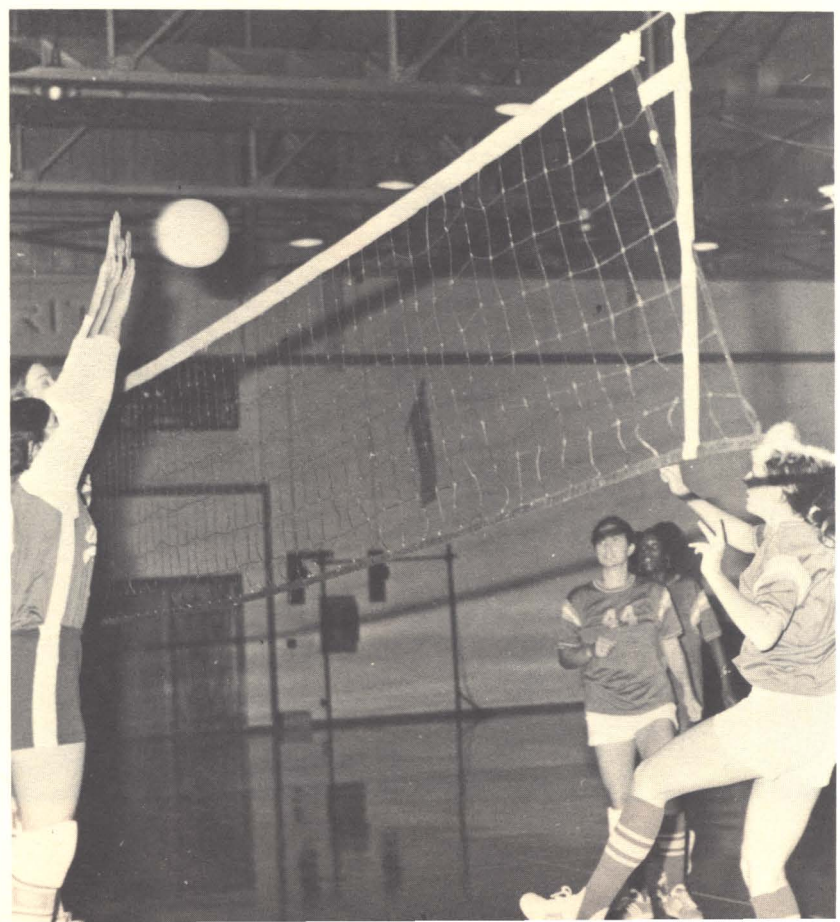

Athletic participation was a way of life at Southeastern. The program at SSU included activities for those who wanted to play for enjoyment. Sports included (1) tennis, (2) softball, (3) football, (4) soccer, (5) baseball, and many other sports.

Intramurals Encompass All Competitive Sports

Women's Volleyball Played Active Season

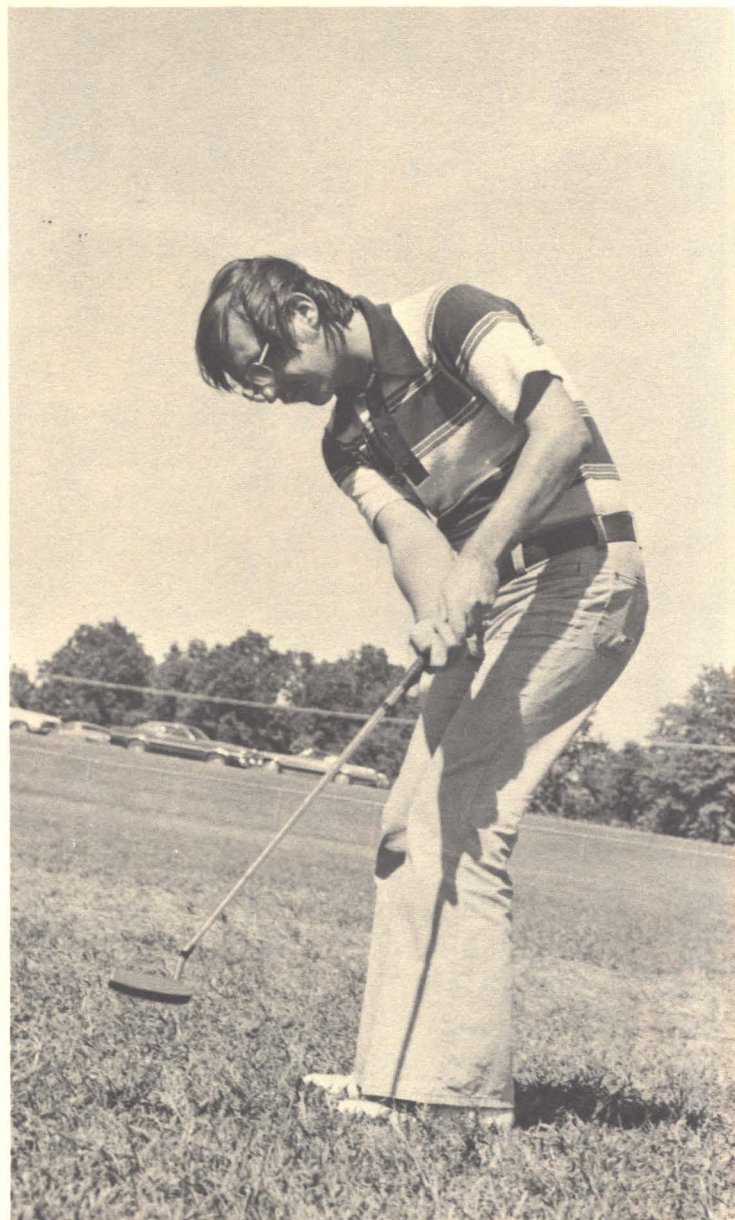

1

Women's Volleyball played an active season. They played many teams both intramural and at other schools. (1) Each game draws more fans that the last. (2) A team huddle is called in order to play the strategy against the tough OU team. (3) Rapid action takes place during a 'hot' scrimmage. (Page 293, 1) Ready to receive a slicing drive, Southeastern managed to score on that play. (Page 293, 2) Cutting close on this slap, Southeastern scored as time ran out in the game.

HONORARY

Sigma Tau Delta And Pi Delta Epsilon Sponsored By Raymond Piller

Pi Delta Epsilon and Sigma Tau Delta were both sponsored by Mr. Raymond Piller, library chairman. Their membership contained the same officers and most of the same members.

(1) Pi Delta Epsilon (page 296) officers were Raymond Piller--sponsor, Lela Lyons--executive committee, and Robert McGee--executive committee. (2) Lela Lyons, a graduate student, served as President of the executive committee. (3) Julia Daphne Davis is the member at large. Page 297, (1) Raymond Pillrt serves as sponsor. (2) Sigma Tau Delta Officers were Robert McGee--president, Lela Lyons--secretary and treasurer, and Mr. Piller, advisor.

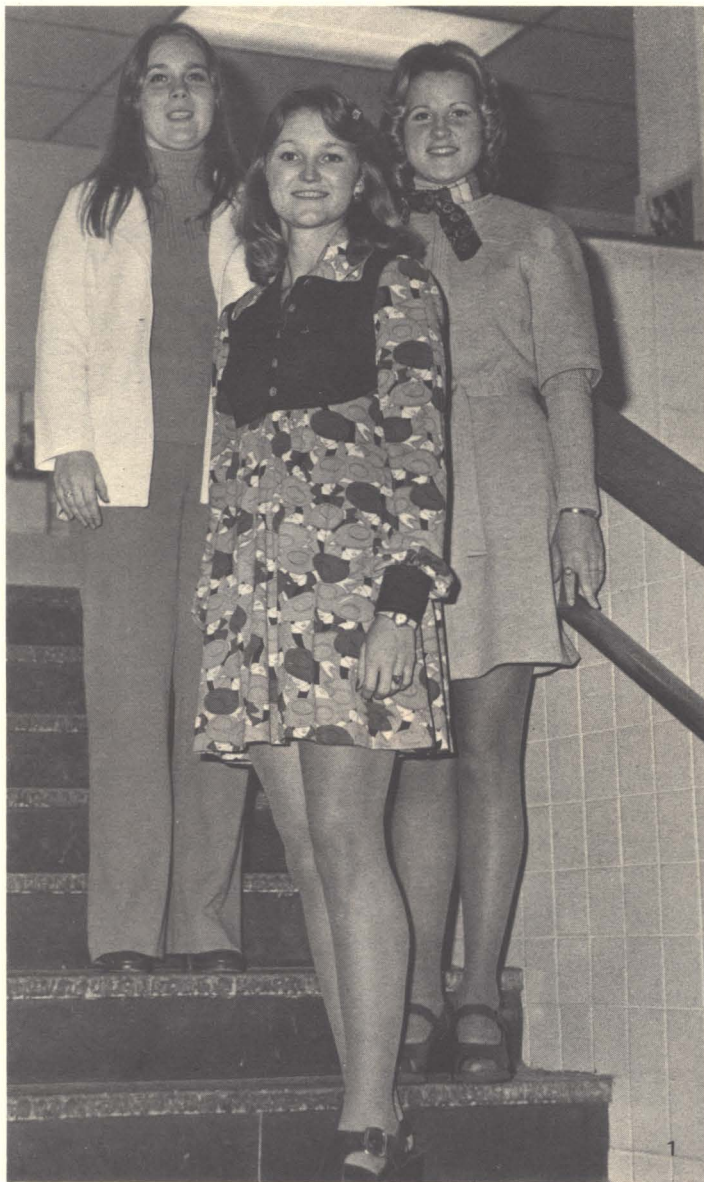

Ex-Blue Key President Sponsored His Alumni Club

Blue Key is one of the most elite men's organizations on campus. Sponsoring this organization is former Blue Key president Joe Wiley. 1) Blue Key members, officers and sponsors include Joe Wiley, Tim Hauser, and Johnny Carroll. Sitting is David Barker. 2) Blue Key members often meet on the steps as they go to class.

Cardinal Key Strives To Attain Academic Goals

Cardinal Key, sponsored by Miss Katie Frank Slack, was the most sought after organization on campus. In order to become a member, a woman needed to be nominated, have a good grade point, and be accepted by the other members. There are other requirements that need to be met. Cardinal Key members for Southeastern were: (1) officers Cindy Blackburn, Barbara Campbell, and Kathy Stockton, (picture 2, Row 1) Barbara Campbell, Debbie Beall, (Row 2) Judy Stevenson, Cindy Blackburn, Margaret Hollingsworth, (Row 3) Kathy Stockton, Cindy Carpenter, Denise Whitehead, (and Top) Pam Gerheart, Miss Slack, and Shauna Andrews.

Phi Alpha Theta Studied Historical Events Of Oklahoma

During the spring of 1934, a chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, national history fraternity, was installed at the college. Its present membership is in excess of fifty, including students, faculty, and alumni. Slated meetings were held every semester. Among the activities of Phi Alpha Theta were the sponsoring of an annual address by some national authority.

(1) Officers are kept busy by the members. (2) Membership includes: (Row 1) John Carrington, Gregory White, James Jacobs, Charles W. Goss, Homer Welch, Louis G. Johnson, Edward L. Byrd, Rade Radasinovich, John Dickson, (Row 2) Margaret Mobley, Carla Willis, Lou Ann Webb, Mary Jo Barton, Judy Moore, Claude Cameron, L. David Norris, James C. Milligan, Mary Jane Gallaway, and Raymond Piller.

People Make Campus
Life Comfortable And
Enjoyable Each Year

Pandemonium

The whims of the wind
Have for ages and
Ages aged the earth
Blowin and rolling
Like a kettle drum
Reaching a climax
Reaching an impasse
Creating deep deep
Depressions in the Land and in the mind.
Classical ideas
Of Antiquity
Arise from the dust.
The whims of the wind
Become the whims of Mankind.
The docile
Creatures of habit
Are left thinking of Pandemonium.
The stoics and the Gnostics likewise are Left and swept along
Blown throughout the Imagination
And shoved into the
Deep deep depressions
Of the earth.

A tip of the hat
At four of the clock
To the man below
Who shovels snow
At thirty below
Show quite a lot
About an awful lot of our Awful lot.
A tip of the hat
At four of the clock
Is as perfectly
Harmless As a heave ho
Or a ho hum
To the man below
Who shovels coal
For the devil's fire.
A tip of the hat
To the man below
Who's passed away
Says everyone must go
His separate way
Soon or late
To a brighter day.
Tip your hat to God
Wink twice at the devil
And go down below
And learn the lesson
Of living all alone.

(Untitled Poem of Life)

It came as quite a
shock to me
when my teacher revealed unto me that rainbows could be explained
scientifically

The refraction of the sun's rays
in falling rain
form in the sky
the arc containing the colors of the spectrum

God's promise, a symbol and a reality of the beauty of the earth
of His love
of the life to come in the promised land

Is it only for the children?

So we walk around like old men with metal detectors searching searching for buried treasures
in a junk-filled world
while the children look to the sky.

It came as quite a
shock to me
when it was revealed unto me that millions of people suffer from food deficiency

Ten thousand die of malnutrition
each week
ten million will die this year
most of them children
under five years of age
Africa Asia South America
hunger all over the world

The poor you have with you always but do not we have anything better than modest proposals
to pit suffering is but human to relieve it, God-like

Human beings looking not for a pot of gold
but for a bowl of grain

Let us think of human needs and the ends of the earth as we fling rice at the bride and groom as we stuff our stomachs with meat and bread.

It came as quite a
shock to me
when the ways of the world
revealed unto me
that people were
no longer free

Busing demonstrations
Vietnam War/peace riots
Communism
Detente
Governments
Economic recessions
Welfare
Energy shortage
Affluence
Oppression
Nuclear weapons

God won't have to destroy the earth
Man will do that...

We
We are hapless victims caught between the ideal and the reality between the citizens of the state
searching for freedom running to a fallout shelter

So we read the newspapers and wait for the bombs
and realize that nothing
comes as quite a shock anymore.
Anymore.

A rainbow blesses
a spring rain
children shower rice
on a wedding party
Is it only for the children to know the truth
and be made
truly free?

TO: The Student Body

FROM : Julia Daphne Davis, Savage Editor

Be it good or bad, I am an incurable optimist and romantic. I see Southeastern as the greatest campus in Oklahoma, even though I am University of Oklahoma football fan. I consider the privilege granted to me to record the events, and the people, of our campus the greatest that ever happened to me. I am proud of this above all.

In the beginning of this yearbook, I felt nothing could ever go wrong, but life would be dull without friction. And goodness knows, we've had our share. I wanted (at times) to transfer out and leave the mess to someone else, but I would not become a quitter. Also I will not leave the journalism office unless I felt I could not contribute something.

Although putting the book out was hard, and teaching the people my ideas in producing a yearbook that was consistent was definitely impossible (we never did get together), the hardest job is thanking those wonderful people who served as my backbone--my staff. They were not hard to get along with, they were not only super--those people put up with me. I owe you so much but all I can say to you is:

"Thank You,"

to

Rhonda, who stuck out the entire year and worked hours on pictures and identification; David, who did as much as he could during his free hours; Teresa and Debbie, though they had to quit because of class schedules, they did a lot in their time on the Savage; The Southeastern, who put up with us using their stories for ideas, and who often helped when the going got pinched; James Weaver and his photographers, they spent hours and hours taking most of the pictures we used; Dr. Jim Harmon, the neatest guy who ever volunteered taking pictures and giving me a big surprise with them; and Lela Lyons, the 1974 editor who warned me that good plans go astray about half the time.

But the people I want to thank most and haven't the words (or space) to thank properly are Rudy Manley, you being in the office all the time made us all more aware of how hard we had to work to do 1/10 of the work you do, thank you for giving me the Bicentennial newspaper that sparked our theme, and Kenneth Nichols. Ken, the big boss, who taught me that to use my imagination, try my wings, and to be myself was the best thing a person could ever hope to be. You showed me that I should appreciate the things that come hard to me as well as those that come easily.

I should like to thank my friend Robert McGee, the 1975 Savage editor who was always there to listen to me as Lela was for him and later for me, also. Thank you for those golden moments of peace with myself and my friends you helped me discover.

And thank you, the student body at Southeastern. You are the yearbook, and the yearbook is yours. It is based on you, your friends, and the things you did. I know we covered everything we could cover that we knew about, but I know that we only scratched the surface.

Julia Daphne Davis
