For the second year in a row, Southeastern Oklahoma State University hosted the E3 Summit, an economic development seminar bringing educators and members of the community together to discuss how to develop the community in a way that is beneficial to everyone.

The 2013 E3 summit was held June 4 in the General Classroom Building as part of the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education Making Place Matter initiative.

nance, and the speakers were: Kathy Hendrick, director of the Center for Regional Competitiveness; Donnalla Miller, owner of Princess Transport and My Own HR Coach; Kerry Manning, director of Southern Workforce Board Durant; and Bob Rhoden, business services manager of Workforce Solutions Texoma.

The second category was Social Inclusion. Speakers in this category were Kenny Simpson, executive vice-president of Rural Enterprises of Oklahoma, Inc., John Redman, rural development specialist with USDA Rural Development, and Bill Carter, state director of Small Business Development Center.

Liveable community was the topic of the third category of speakers, who were Brad Underwood, direct for Texoma Area Para Transit System, Tony Kaai, president of Denison Development Alliance, and Sen. Josh Brecheen.

The final category was Innovative Economy and speakers included Brian Aspell, manager of Champion Cooler.

OKLAHOMA SHAKESPEAREAN FESTIVAL ()

The 2013 Oklahoma Shakespearean Festival offered a variety of shows over the summer, performed by a range of actors from professionals to participants in the young actor's studio.

The season opener was a performance of "Mr. Gremory's Caravan of Curiosities," with performances on June 14-15 and June 21-22. "Mr. Gremory" is a one-man show, written by and starring senior acting and directing and theatre management double major Dustin Curry. Curry performed magic tricks such as levitating a voodoo doll that is supposedly a former possession of Marie Laveau, the infamous voodoo queen.

In addition to "Mr. Gremory," the 2013 OSF season featured: the young actor's studio performance of "Fame" June 26-28, the children's theater performance of "Wizard of OZ" June 28-30, Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors" July 12, 16 and 19; the musical "Smoke on the Mountain" July 13, 17 and 21; and "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas" July 14, 18 and 20.

Molly Risso, a former theatre faculty member, started OSF in 1979.

FRESHMAN CONVOCATION

Freshman Convocation was held Saturday, Aug. 17 in Montgomery Auditorium at Southeastern Oklahoma State University. Following a short program, incoming freshmen and their parents enjoyed a cookout on the front lawn. Fall classes began the following Monday, Aug. 19.

WELCOME WEEK

Welcome Week is the official kick-off to the 2013 fall semester at Southeastern. Welcome Week is a week full of activities for not only new students but returning students as well. Welcome Week began on Saturday, Aug. 17, when new students were able to move into their assigned dorm rooms and included events such as Sundaes on Sunday, a hypnotist, a social stickball game and a block party.

My favorite part is the block party. This is the day that everyone is there, and it is awesome to see everyone at one place having a good time.

MISS INDIAN SOSU

LaTisa Davidson was crowned Miss Indian SOSU for 2013-14 at a pageant held Wednesday, Aug. 28 in the Glen D. Johnson Student Union. Davidson is a junior nursing major from Rattan. She is a member of the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma and works as a resident assistant. She was also a Mason ic Lodge "Student of Today."

"I love being at Southeastern, and it's important for me to represent my tribe in a positive way," Davidson said after the pageant. She recently joined the Native American Students Association and said she was "really excited" to be picked from the three contestants.

The runner-up contestants were Katelynn Humphries, a sophomore elementary education major from Durant, and Erin McDaniel, a senior hospitality management major from Durant.

Each contestant was introduced to a crowd of around 100 people gathered in the auditorium classroom in the Student Union.

Davidson sang a traditional Choctaw hymn; Humphries offered storytelling; and McDaniel performed a monologue about the resilience of Native Americans.

NASA Acting President Brenner Billy asked questions of each contestant. A panel of three judges (SE graduates Nicole Billy, Twahna Hamill and Stacey Wesberry) were tasked with scoring each participant. Each contestant wore the traditional long dress of the Choctaw Nation, with accompanying beadwork.

Davidson was crowned with a blue, white and gold beaed crown as well as a sash.

This is the third year of the Miss Indian SOSU pageant, and for the first time the winner was introduced at the Choctaw Nation Labor Day Festival.

MASCOT REVEAL

"We're thrilled to have this opportunity to present a new Savage Storm mascot," said Southeastern Oklahoma State University President Larry Minks. "Our mascot will become demonstrative of the pride, resilience and strength we believe personifies Southeastern. People will have the opportunity to not only see the mascot at athletic events, but at many other events within the university community and the Durant area."

HOMECOMING

Cool fall weather greeted everyone on Saturday morning for the annual Homecoming parade held in downtown Durant. Saturday afternoon at Paul Laird Field, the Southeastern Savage Storm hosted the Texas A&M-Commerce Lions. After a lengthy weather (lightning) delay, the visiting Lions emerged with a 31-29 victory. At halftime, Sheridan Hill and Domanick Hubbard were crowned Homecoming Queen and King.

Nearly 100 Southeastern students, staff and faculty joined "Take Back the Night," a rally against domestic violence, on Oct. 7 Members of the President's Leadership Class took center stage at the rally point in front of Paul Laird Field. A one-mile walk was held at dusk from the SE campus to Durant Market Square to join a community-wide candlelight vigil in honor of victims of domestic violence. "This raises awareness about domestic violence and sexual violence against women," said Debra Fulenchek, a clinical counselor at the SE Counseling Center. "The vigil is in honor of those women who have died as a result of this violence." In addition to the President's Leadership Class, campus groups Psi Chi and Resident Life were participants in "Take Back the Night."

P

SE set new standards for Halloween with the Residence Life Safe Trick or Treat event Halloween 2013. Jamey Keffer, the Shearer Hall and Suites hall director and an adjunct instructor, said that in the past, residence life has "quietly hoped at some point the event would reach at least 1,000 people." For Halloween 2013, they had an attendance of 1,113 people, which beats their previous numbers of 800 people last year and 998 the year before.

Trick or treat events must have one thing: candy. One week before the fun, $1,500 worth of candy was purchased. That was not enough, however. Before 7 p.m., $500 more was spent on candy to make it through the rest of the night. According to Keffer, Bolt, the new mascot for SE, came to enjoy the festivities and took pictures with the crowd.

Keefer said about one-third of Shearer Hall and Suites participated by handlng out candy.

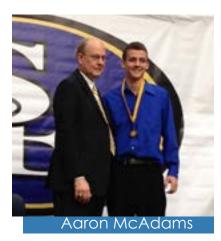

Since there were so many volunteers, some were placed in a lounge or halls, even a laundry room, according to Keffer. Other SE groups and organizations participated, such as SE Cheer and Honors Program. "That's 127 volunteers in all, in addition to 20 Resident Life staff," said Keffer.

North Hall hosted a haunted house which could be G rated at the parent's request. For the older kids, a "full fear experience" was expected, according to Keffer.

SAFE TRICK or TREAT

TOP TEN FRESHMEN

The 2012-13 Top 10 Freshmen were honored Friday, Nov. 1 in the Glen D. Johnson Student Union. The ceremony featured a speech by the Student Government Association President Joseph Badan and SE President Larry Minks.

Tim Boatmun, associate dean of academic services, was the master of ceremony. According to a news release on the Southeastern website, the Top 10 Freshmen Award is to recognize, celebrate and nurture the success of first-year students.

Quoting Albert Einstein, Boatmun started the ceremony by welcoming all who attended and thanking the honorees, their parents and the past award recipients in attendance. A committee of representatives from faculty, student government and university administration

A committee of representatives from faculty, stude selected the students who were honored.

The students have to be involved in numerous activities and leadership roles across campus, all while keeping a collective grade point average of 3.8.

The Top 10 Freshmen were awarded their medals by Minks and congratulated by Badan, Boatmun, Vice President of Academic Affairs Douglas McMillan and Vice President of Student Affairs Sharon Robinson.

NATIVE NOVEMBER NATIVE SYMPOSIUM

More than 100 people attended the 10th Annual Native American Symposium banquet on Nov. 15. The symposium was one of many ways the campus celebrated Native November. The keynote speaker for the banquet was Cultural Resources Specialist Dr. Brad Lieb.

Chris Wesberry, director of the Native American Center for Student Success, said, "Dr. Lieb is a walking history book regarding events in the Chickasaw and Choctaw homelands. There are many events that may not be common knowledge for others. For instance, the battles between the Chickasaws indicated a higher level of war skills than most would expect."

Lieb described the history of certain Indian tribes such as Choctaw and Natchez. Lieb also discussed many artifacts that he discovered throughout Mississippi that showed to be of Choctaw heritage.

According to Wesberry, "The entire banquet was great. A mixture of academics from the keynote to history with the Code talker play and ending with Choctaw social dances."

Professor of English and Humanities Dr. Mark Spencer and Wesberry introduced the banquet. Dr. Larry Minks, SE president, welcomed all those in attendance to enjoy their meal and the Native American culture.

CANDLELIGHTING

The Candlelighting was originally scheduled for Monday, Dec. 9, but was postponed due to the winter weather.

The concert once again included the audience singing of traditional Christmas carols focusing on the festive nature of the season.

The Southeastern Brass Ensemble, under the direction of Dr. Ben Shaffer, joined in for the traditional carol sing.

Cardinal Key and Blue Key Honor Societies also served as acolytes in the candlelighting portion of the evening.

The traditional Candlelighting event is designed to reflect the festive nature of the season, and serves as a great way to start holiday celebrations.

FALL COMMENCEMENT

Thirty-eight students graduated with honors Dec. 14 at Southeastern Oklahoma State University's fall commencement, held in Bloomer Sullivan Arena. Guest speaker was Scott Crain, a local businessman and 1984 graduate of Southeastern.

Summa Cum Laude graduates:

Charles A. Bull, Millsap, Texas; Joshua E. Dobbs, Newcastle; Diana Joyce Gillum, Sherman, Texas; Bridgett Renee Hertz-Olson, Broken Bow; Bree Anna Labeth, Wilson; Royce E. Martos Jr., Newalla; Vy Le Phuong Nguyen, Dalat, Vietnam; Kathryn Marie Robertson, Wapanucka

Magna Cum Laude graduates:

Ryan Joseph Dobbs, Sherman, Texas; Shelby Paige Fraser, Flower Mound, Texas; Kolton Garrett Hall, Bonham, Texas; Kaylee Michelle Johnson, Durant; James Russell Keeton, Ardmore; Kelsey Rae Lee, Davis; Allie McKinzie, Atoka; Shacole LeWanda Smith, Durant; Vickie Lynn Smith, Smithville

Cum Laude graduates:

The Southeastern campus hosted SE Live, bringing about 130 high school students to discover more about the campus, on Feb. 5.

This same day showcased Native visitation day where SE students teach incoming college students of the Native American presence on campus and the resources available to teach their culture, according to Native American Student Association Vice President Michael Noah.

The event began at 9 a.m. with a welcome session to tell the students a little about the campus and outline the schedule for the day. Then the students began rotating sessions with small groups which alternated between four classes: Breaking Out of Your Comfort Zone, Money Matters, Native Culture Class and College Success Class.

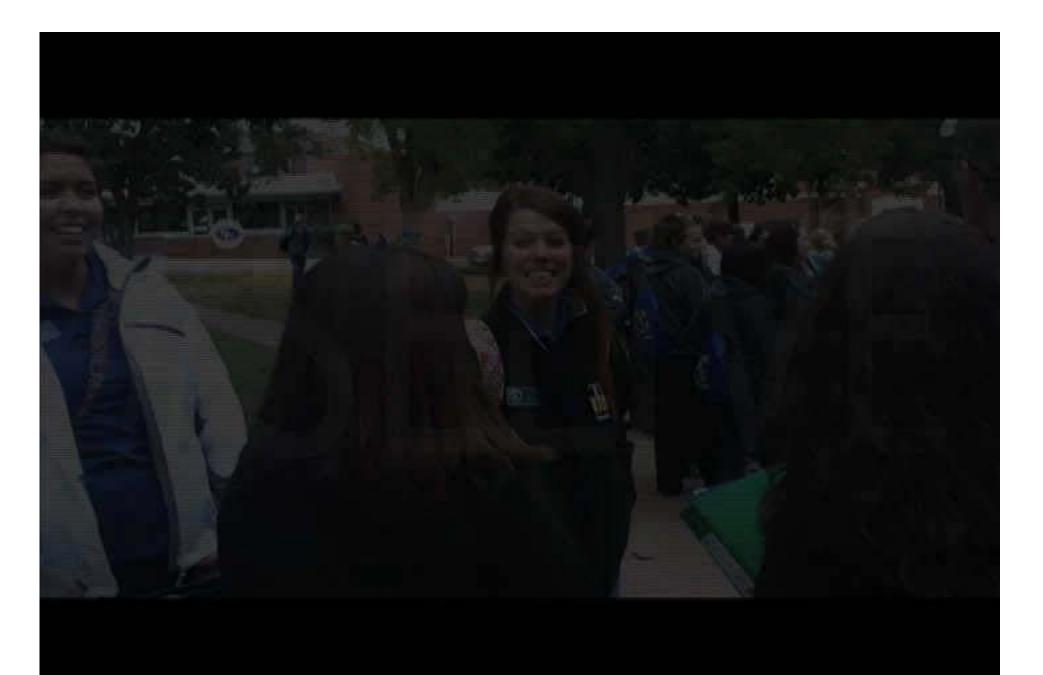

Noah said he believes that having SE Live and Native visitation day at the same time "will increase the amount of students that attend because it broadens the student range that can join into Native American Culture."

The next event was lunch sponsored by First United Bank as well as an academic department and student life fair.

This fair included booths from the Baptist Collegiate Ministries, student life and the bookstore. Some of the departments represented were biological sciences and art, communication, and theatre.

Following the day's activities, there were optional sessions for band and choir auditions as well as another opportunity to tour the campus or play stickball.

Noah said that by the end of the event "about 10 students were interested in joining NASA" and that "students usually act on their interest" in the group.

HONORS DAY

FOUNDER'S DAY

The second annual Founder's Day celebration at Southeastern featured a crowd favorite, the peach cook-off.

The peach cook-off was held in the Glen D. Johnson Student Union prior to a program with guest speakers such as President Larry Minks and Dr. David Norris, author of "A History of Southeastern Oklahoma State University Since 1909."

The SE Chorale also performed "The Hymn to the Gold and Blue" at the Founder's Day program.

According to Stephanie Makke, Founder's Day committee facilitator and coordinator of child care resource and referral, Southeastern was placed on a former peach orchard when it opened in 1909.

Keeping with the history and now the tradition, the special ingredient for the cook-off is peaches.

There were three categories for the cook-off, the first being pies and cobblers. The second was jams and jellies, and the final category was cook's choice, such as salsas, cakes or pastries.

Although the cook could choose what they wanted to enter for the cook's choice category, the main ingredient had to be peaches.

There were three judges for the contest invited by the Founders' Day committee, said Makke. The judges were Kenneth Furtado, Sodexo chef; Sheridan Hill, Southeastern student and 2014 homecoming queen; and Dave Williams, senior consultant/ emergency preparedness and business continuity for the Oklahoma Small Business Development Center.

The winners in each category were announced during the program. There were 18 entries total and all the winners were from Durant.

Susan Chalk finished first in the pie/cake category with her version of a peach cobbler.

In the jam/jelly category, Janet Scribner took home first place with Nana's Peach Jelly.

All entries were avai able for tasting after the program in the student union.

CURRICULUM CONTEST

Southeastern Oklahoma State University hosted the 101st annual Curriculum ContestThursday, March 27.

More than 1,600 students from 68 area high schools participated in 41 contests with trophies and medals presented to winning schools and individuals.

Exams covered numerous subjects including art, accounting, speech, journalism, literature, drama, modern languages, science, English, social science, music and computers.

One of the oldest events of its kind in the state, the first Curriculum Contest was held at Southeastern in 1910.

Contest director Dr. James Britton said, "The curriculum contest offers an opportunity for high school students in southeastern Oklahoma to demonstrate their proficiency in a broad range of subjects as they compete against their peers."

SPRINGFEST

Students of SE were treated to a week of mud, grime and excitement during Springfest 2014. The teams, which consisted of people from student organizations to departments, made up the Honorable Honors, the Risky Bismuthes, the Wranglers, the Mud, Fratguys and Pretty Women, the Legends, the Ramrods and the Mud Hatters.

The events officially began on Sunday, April 6, kicking off with a food relay, where students raced to tables lined with combinations of condiments and other snacks. Notable moments range from eating a combination of sauerkraut and dark chocolate to wading through mud and water in a volleyball match.

Brooke Taylor, criminal justice major, presided over the events as Springfest chair, greeting players and explaining the rules of play.

Taylor said, "I think it (Springfest) went really well. We had a lot of good teams participate."

During the food relay, the Legends took first while Risky Bismuth took second and Ramrods third. Teams played in dodge ball and tug of war tournaments, while the volleyball match was single elimination.

For dodge ball, the Wranglers won first, Frat Guys and Pretty Women won second and Risky Bismuth third. As for tug of war, the Mud, Fratguys and Pretty Women won first place while the Honorable Honors came in second and the Risky Bismuthes hit third.

In mud volleyball, the Ramrods placed first, the Wranglers second and the Legends third. In the Minute to Win It dance challenge, the Wranglers scored first, followed up with the Honorable Honors in second place and the Mud Hatters in third.

Each team designed and carried a flag, which were judged early on in the week.

Thursday, April 10 concluded Springfest with Splatterbeat and the awards ceremony.

Students were given white shirts to protect their regular clothing from paint during Splatterbeat during which, overturned trash cans with piles of multi-colored paint on them could be beaten upon by students to give the shirts a personal spray of color and mess.

BRAINSTORM

BrainStorm 2014 is a two-week long event, which began on Monday, April 14, centering on research, creativity and scholarly works of SE students, faculty and staff. These events are hosted by the John Massey School of Business, School of Arts and Sciences and the School of Education and Behavioral Sciences.

Events included the Student Art Exhibition, which ran April 14-25, music, dance and theatre performances and a student panel discussion of whether or not to abolish the National Endowment for the Arts.

One key part of BrainStorm is the presentation of posters. "Warm Hands, Warm Heart," "The Spanish inquisition," "Developing Effective Decision Making Techniques" and "The Conservation of Turtles of the United States" are just a few of the unique topics that were presented.

EARTH DAY

SE students celebrated Earth Day by planting red bud trees April 22. A total of seven trees were planted by volunteers from organizations on campus including Psi Chi and the Student Government Association.

A RT OMMUNICATION & HEATRE®

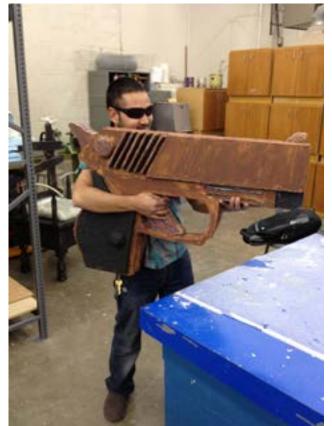

The Department of Art, Communication and Theatre offers dynamic academic instruction and a wide variety of activities that support the student's growth in the visual art, communication and theatre disciplines. The department also provides activities available to all university students and offers several chapters of organizations in which students may participate: Lambda Pi Eta (communication), National Broadcasting Society, Alpha Epsilon Rho (broadcasting), Pi Kappa Delta (speech and debate) and the Alpha Psi Omega (theatre).

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES

The Department of Biological Sciences is dedicated to providing the courses and programs that enable students to discover and achieve their highest potential. Students are prepared for careers by the breadth and rigor of each program; students develop the knowledge, skills, and habits necessary for responsible citizenship and continued self-improvement through lifelong learning.

CHEMISTRY[®] COMPUTER & PHYSICAL SCIENCE

The Southeastern Oklahoma State University Department of Chemistry, Computer and Physical Sciences annually advances in science and technology challenge students, instructors, and degreed professionals alike to stay abreast of the most current and productive practices of science and technology to remain competitive in the global marketplace. SE CC&PS primarily meets these demanding challenges by preparing students for baccalaureate degrees in Chemistry, Computer Science, Computer Information Systems and Science Education with an emphasis on blending theory and application into the major field of study. CC&PS also partners with the SE Department of Biological Sciences to offer an interdisciplinary major in Medical Sciences.

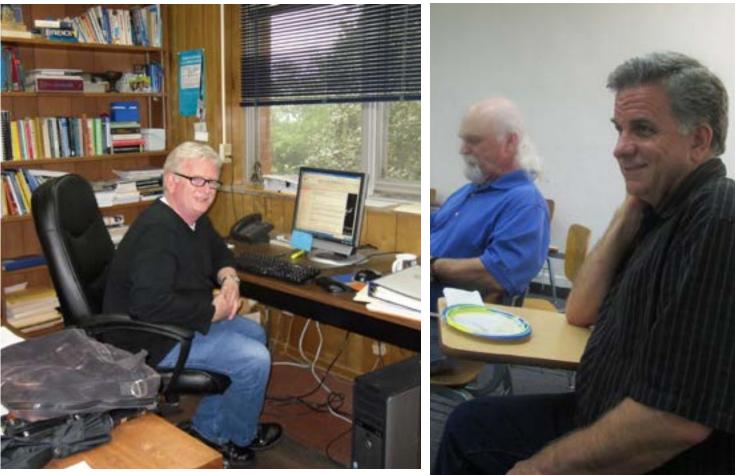

ENGLISH HUMANITIES & LANGUAGES

The study of language, literature, and the humanities is integral to every institution of higher learning. The Department of English, Humanities, and Languages fulfills a central role in Southeastern's General Education Program by offering courses in English, Humanities, Spanish, Choctaw, German, French, and Philosophy. The Department hosts a chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, the national English honor society, and also publishes Green Eggs & Hamlet, a student-produced literary and art journal.

In the English department, our mission is to prepare students for careers in education, professional writing, technical writing and communications, administration, and public relations. The major programs also prepare students to pursue graduate degrees in English and law. The Languages Department offers a minor and a B.A. in Spanish, with two options: Spanish and Spanish Education.

MUSIC

The Department of Music at Southeastern offers an opportunity for the study, development, and refinement of musicianship in order to prepare students for careers in music. We foster a self-fulfillment and self-determination that will enable our students to attain their highest potential and expand their creative scope. We promote a curiosity and an attitude towards life as an unending learning experience leading to futures as effective self-teachers with high musical and humanitarian standards. Specifically, we believe that a student of music must have a working, functioning knowledge of the elements of music combined with basic skills in manipulating those elements (theory, composing, scoring, arranging). performance). The course of study in music at Southeastern is designed to enhance and support these objectives.

The Department of Occupational Safety and Health at Southeastern Oklahoma State University is dedicated to educating and training individuals for supervisory, management, and training roles in business, industry, government, and education.

The department strives to develop future safety professionals and leaders in Occupational Safety and Health needed for the 21st Century.

The program is up-to-date with the latest technology, industrial hygiene, construction and noise and vibration labs, and confined space training. The program offers both undergraduate and graduate degrees in occupational safety and health, and satisfies the needs of the profession in numerous ways.

OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY & HEALTH

Accounting & Finance

A degree in accounting provides the necessary training to succeed in just about any area of the business world.

Accounting is commonly called the "language of business" and few business decisions are made without input from the accountant.

Furthermore, individuals with training in accounting are found at all levels of the business organization from Board of Directors to Corporate Management to CPA firm partners.

AVIATION SCIENCES INSTITUTE®

The primary mission of the Aviation Sciences Institute is to provide its students with the highest quality aviation education and flight training possible. The fundamental belief of the ASI is that the best trained students will be the safest and most successful aviation professionals. The Aviation Sciences Institute will strive to excel as a world leader in Aviation Education. To that end, the Aviation Sciences Institute will provide the students with the most current information, technology, and personalized training available in the aviation profession.

Management and Marketing

The Marketing degree program provides instruction in marketing principles and concepts while enabling students to take advanced courses that build broad backgrounds and contribute to career goals. Courses emphasize the development of marketing strategies and marketing research.

The Management degree program provides instruction in management principles and concepts, while enabling students to take advanced courses that build a broad background and contribute to career goals. Courses emphasize the continual development of communication and planning skills, problem solving, entrepreneurship decision making, and the ability to adapt to a changing environment.

The primary mission of the Department of Management and Marketing is to provide baccalaureate programs in Management, Marketing and General Business within an environment of academic excellence. Academic and applied experiences are employed to prepare students to operate in a diverse and global environment. The long term goal is to develop an interest in lifelong learning in each student.

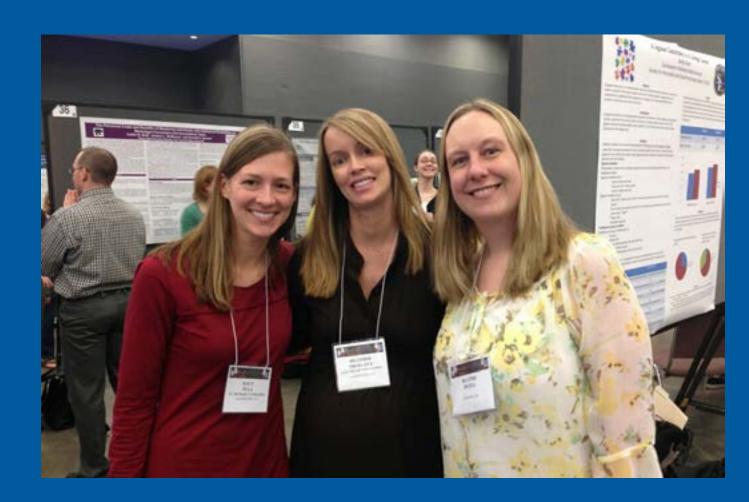

BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES

The mission of the School of Education and Behavioral Sciences is to provide an environment of academic excellence that permits students to reach their highest potential as professionals for the 21st century. The essence of our mission is to challenge student-learners to become professionals that are effective, committed and ethical. Through access to exemplary instruction, challenging academic programs and extracurricular experiences, students will acquire the knowledge, skills and dispositions essential to their career preparation in education, behavioral sciences, health/physical education or recreation. The School of Education and Behavioral Sciences will continue its recognition, in North Texas and Southeast Oklahoma, as offering premiere degree programs in education, psychology, clinical mental health counseling, school counseling, criminal justice, sociology, physical education and recreation.

BRANCH CAMPUSES

As a branch campus of Southeastern Oklahoma State University, Southeastern Oklahoma State University-McCurtain County Campus has a commitment to student success. Along with our community college partner institution, Eastern Oklahoma State College, we offer accredited courses under the guidance of the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education. For over thirty years as a higher education center and six as a branch campus, we have placed our students first.

Since 2005, we have been busy in the development of our first phase of the branch campus conversion. We are in the planning stages for future programs and services: Allied Health programs, additional degrees and the further development of an admission and recruitment office. Please let us know if we are able to assist you. Thank you for visiting the Southeastern Oklahoma State University-McCurtain County Campus web site. We are your hometown University. The University Center of Southern Oklahoma, located in Ardmore, Oklahoma, delivers degree programs from East Central University in Ada, Oklahoma, Murray State College in Tishomingo, Oklahoma, and Southeastern Oklahoma State University in Durant, Oklahoma. The University Center offers undergraduate and graduate courses in a wide-range of areas that enables students to earn an associates, bachelors, or masters degree through one of the three participating institutions.

Residence Life

The Department of Residence Life creates a living environment that supports student learning, fosters personal growth and development, and encourages the development of personal integrity and civic responsibility. We effectively manage well-maintained and reasonably priced residential facilities. We value the individuality of each student and the diversity reflected within our community.

The Residence Hall Association (RHA) is a the primary student leadership organization representing resident students. RHA works towards building better residential communities, planning activities for resident students, advocating for resident student issues, and providing leadership opportunities for resident students. All resident students are considered members of RHA.

Some of the events that RHA sponsors include: Free T Shirts for all residents (distributed during the fall check-in process), free massages during fall check-in weekend, and Sundaes on Sunday (ice cream social during fall check-in weekend). RHA often works with other organizations on campus to co-sponsor events aimed at resident students. The programming committee of RHA is primarily responsible for planning and implementing such events.

Student Affairs has existed at Southeastern, in one form or another, starting back in the 1920's with Hallie McKinney. Student Affairs cultivates a student-centered, holistic environment which fosters personal growth, a sense of community, and learning through both curricular and co-curricular experiences. The VPSA provides leadership for the Student Affairs Division, promoting diversity, responsible citizenship and student achievement. Advocacy for the individual student is central to our mission.

Student Affairs hosts Camp SE (Parent Orientation) and participates in most campus events including Homecoming, Parents' Day, Commencement, SE Live, SE Cares, Honor's Day, and Camp SE. Student Affairs is proud to have been a vital part of the effort to build the new Student Union, Shearer Hall and Suites and renovation to the Towers.

Upward Bound is a college based program that combines academic instruction, tutoring, college preparation, and cultural awareness to provide participants a solid foundation for secondary and postsecondary success. The program provides services throughout the school year to each student in their home school and weekly/bi-weekly after school meetings. In addition, the students will meet once a semester on the campus of Southeastern Oklahoma State University.

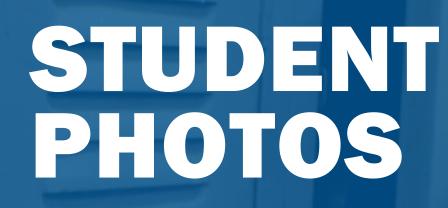

During the summer, eligible students are given the oppurtunity to participate in a residental program. The students reside in a residental hall on Southeastern's campus and attend classes to improve their academic skills or obtain college credit. The experience prepares them to succeed in a college environment after they graduate from highschool. Some students will be eligible to earn from 6 to 13 credit hours when they complete the program. Which is equivalent to a semester of college paid for by the Upward Bound program.
